off their backs; one instinctively shuts his eyes on the scene. "Had the disasters closed with these, Nanking could have recovered herself. But confidence was destroyed, business was suspended and the empty stores remained empty or nailed shut; schools were not opened and the teachers had idleness forced upon them; rich men who had not already fled, left the city and took all their possessions with them. Nor was this all. During all this time, and adding to all this distress, the water in the wells was getting low and ponds were drying up. Days lengthened into weeks, and weeks into months, and still we have no rain. Poor people are paying from 10 to 20 per cent of their income for the use of necessary water, thus increasing the cost of living.

DEATH OF MISS WHITE BRINGS SADNESS TO HER FRIENDS ON MAUI

WAILUKU, Maui, March 13. — The sudden death in Honolulu of Miss Sarah White of Lahaina brought sadness to her host of friends. She was one of the most popular young ladies of the old capital. For several years she had taught in the Lahaina kindergarten and was very much liked by both little people and parents. As the daughter of the Rev. D. W. K. White, pastor for many years of the Waihee Church of Lahaina, she was well known throughout all Maui by the church people and members of the young people's societies. For some time she was organist of the Waihee church, and played at the Hale Aloha services on Sunday afternoon most acceptably. She was 23 years of age at the time of her death. At 3 o'clock at Hale Aloha at the first service before the burial of the body a hymn was sung by the Lahaina boys, and prayer was offered by Rev. Collins G. Burnham, the board's agent for Lahaina. Immediately after the body was carried to the Waihee church, where an address was delivered in Hawaiian by Rev. S. Kapu, and one in English by Rev. Mr. Burnham. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. L. B. Kaunehelwa of Wailuku. At the grave Rev. Mr. Kapu read the committal service and offered prayer. Many beautiful flowers were sent from all parts of the island.

TOURIST CROP CULTIVATION BY AN EXPERT

address envelopes containing these souvenirs, and hand them in at the desk, where stamps are put on by the hotel. Each guest then becomes a publicity agent for the place, and the literature reaches people who are also in a position to travel. I don't think the hotels to stand all the expense of high-priced literature, for the tourist is a source of income to the entire city. The Promotion Committee might well afford to foot the bill, I should think. "Suppose now that your tourist has finally arrived here, what does he find? The good God himself put the finishing touches on his handiwork when he made Oahu, so the people who live here haven't any real reason to sit back in their chairs and brag about it. It is up to them to supplement nature with things: of man's making, and of these the first and foremost, from the tourist standpoint, is good roads. The roads were bad when I was here five years ago. With one or two exceptions they are worse today. Take your points of interest. Diamond Head—impossible. Punchbowl—as much as your life is worth to try and navigate the road. There is a good road from Moanalua to Schofield Barracks and beyond, but leading out of the city itself is one of the poorest apologies for a highway I have ever had the misfortune to be bumped over. I have been told that it is hard to get your local politicians to see the advantage of good roads. If that is so they must be very narrow minded and unobserving, for good roads is a straight business proposition that a child should be able to understand. The sort of tourist that this island wants is the man who brings a motor car, or who hires one by the week after he gets here, so that he and his coin can circulate freely. I fear that the man who brings a car or who hires one, doesn't get the proper interest on his investment. Roads are the season.

BISHOP RESTARICK TO LAY CORNERSTONE OF CHINESE CHURCH SUNDAY

Tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock Bishop Restarick will lay the cornerstone of the new St. Peter's Chinese church. The building is situated on Emma street, near Emma square. Great interest is shown in the event by the Chinese. A coming event of unusual interest for the Lenten season is the recital of Alfred Forman's translation in English verse of Wagner's Parsifal on Good Friday evening, Thursday, April 9, by Miss Evelyn MacDougal.

PLEASANTON MANAGER ENDEAVORS TO LEARN SENTIMENT OF VOTERS

Oahu Trustees Protest Against Liquor License for Hotel Near College

E. G. Duisenberg, manager of the Pleasanton hotel, who is considering making an application to the board of license commissioners, for a license to serve liquor at the hotel, sent out a circular letter to the registered voters of the fourth precinct, fourth district of the precinct and district in which the hotel is located—today, giving his reasons for wishing a liquor license for the hotel, and the use to which he plans to put it.

The letter is a counteraction to the protest made by the trustees of the Oahu College, which is published below. Commenting on his circular letter, Mr. Duisenberg said: "I have sent a copy of the following letter to each of the registered voters of the fourth precinct of the four representative district, territory of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii, setting forth my purpose in making application for a hotel liquor license for the Pleasanton hotel.

"If after a thorough canvass I come to the conclusion that it is the sense of the neighborhood that liquor should not be sold at meals in a hotel of the type of the Pleasanton, I shall gracefully acquiesce. "The report that we plan to erect a building in the grounds in which to serve drinks is absolutely untrue. We have no such plan. If a license is granted me, the liquor will be served in the main building to guests and in the main building.

"The Pleasanton hotel caters to both home and transient trade. During the tourist season that hotel has done much to relieve the scarcity of hotel accommodations; during all seasons it has been a fairly popular hotel for Honolulu people. To some extent it is run on the same plan as the Moana, the Alexander Young, the Hawaiian and the Seaside. It would seem to me but fair that, within conditions and restrictions to be imposed by the board of liquor commissioners, made necessary by its location as a residence district, it should receive liquor privileges similar to those exercised by the other hotels named.

"In making application to the board, should my application be granted, I shall most readily agree to any conditions prescribed by the board. I will see to it that any privilege granted me shall not be abused; that in exercising it, no resident of the community shall be offended; and that in all things I shall scrupulously follow the directions of the board.

"Should any voter of the precinct be on principle opposed to traffic in liquor, I shall not ask him to refrain from making the protest. Should any voter of the precinct believe that liquor should not be sold within that precinct, I shall not ask him to withhold his protest. All I ask is that no voter of the precinct shall sign the protest with wrong ideas as to the use to which the privilege granted may be put.

"The Pleasanton Hotel is more or less a business proposition. Naturally I have endeavored to conduct it profitably for the owners. I, myself, believe that it may be more successful should the guests be afforded privileges as to liquors accorded guests in other hotels subject to the restrictions to which I have made reference.

Yours respectfully, E. G. DUISENBERG, Manager of Hotel.

Protest from College. Following is the text of the protest entered by the trustees of the Oahu College, against the granting of a permit for the sale of liquor at the Pleasanton Hotel. The protest of the college trustees reads: "The Pleasanton hotel is planning to apply to the license commissioners for a liquor license, and has been for some time and is now circulating a petition to secure the names of the property holders and lessees in favor of this. The signatures of a majority of the property holders and lessees living within a radius of 1000 feet of the premises on which the hotel is located must be secured as a prerequisite to the granting of a license. "The plan of the manager of the Pleasanton is to erect on a site near the tennis courts a clubhouse containing billiard and pool rooms, social rooms and bar. This is across the street from the main Oahu College building and within a block of two churches.

"The trustees of Oahu College object most seriously to the granting of a liquor license to the Pleasanton hotel. "They believe that enough, and more than enough, liquor licenses in Honolulu have now been granted and that the license commissioners should be supported in their efforts to limit the number of licenses.

"They regard such a place licensed to sell liquor at the very gate of the college as a menace to the school and to the students who attend it. This bringing of the open drink place to the very doors of our homes, schools and churches is intolerable to every parent who seeks to protect his children.

"It is sure to bring into a quiet residential section the usual accompaniments of drinking—attendance of 'joy riders,' night disturbances and carousals. It will make us uncertain of our boys and threaten the safety of our women and children.

"It is useless to assert that the hotel will impose conditions, or submit to conditions that others may impose, which will assure its respectability. With the best of intentions such conditions are impossible to maintain. They are not consistent with the sale of liquor which is the purpose for which the license is sought. Respectability is an argument for a liquor license which deceives nobody.

"The trustees of Oahu College therefore urge every person who as owner or lessee within the 1000 foot distance is eligible to sign a petition in this cause, to sign the petition against the granting of this license. Copies of this petition for signature may be had from A. F. Judd, secretary of the corporation, Judd building; Bishop Trust Company, Waterhouse Trust Company, Benson, Smith & Co., Hollister Drug Company and Chambers Drug Company.

"As a moral protest against this license, the trustees further ask every former Punahou student, Punahou parent and every other public spirited citizen who is opposed to granting it to sign and tear out the following protest and mail it at once to President A. F. Griffiths, Oahu College, Honolulu, Hawaii.

PLANTATIONS NOT AT PRESENT ABLE TO ADD LABORERS

board to make a report as to what is being done in the matter of investigating the cases of and assisting those people who now are out of employment. He reported that, during the early part of the period comprising the past six weeks, in many cases, work had been secured for the unemployed. But during the last three weeks, he continued, it has been almost impossible to obtain positions. He spoke enthusiastically of the work which the Associated Charities is doing along this line saying that, in a number of cases, it had given him considerable assistance.

"Feeling that he should exhaust all efforts to get the unemployed on plantations, Mr. Kearns reported that 10 days ago he addressed a letter to E. Faxon Bishop, president of the Planters' Association, calling the latter's attention to the large number of people who had, without apparent reason, come to Honolulu, in many cases from plantations, saying that it had been found difficult to secure other employment for them except plantation work.

He asked Mr. Bishop, he said, if it would not be possible to again have these people distributed among the various plantations. In reply to the letter, Mr. Kearns reported that he received a letter from Royal D. Mead, director of the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association bureau of labor and statistics, stating that at the present time the plantations had, in many cases, a surplus of labor and were not able to take on any of the unemployed in Honolulu.

The board came to the conclusion that, for the present time, the only thing that could be done would be to see that the unemployed were not in absolute need, and to give them such relief as would be proper. The members agreed with Mr. Kearns in his statement that, while the condition today is serious, the constant circulation of labor, and the demand which soon will be made by factories and pineapple canneries and plantations for more help, were not able to take on any of the unemployed in Honolulu. In connection with the employment problem, Mr. Kearns took up with the board the cases of several Russians and Spaniards who, through sickness, have become incapacitated for work. He asked the board to consider the matter of having these persons repatriated.
