

GOSSIP

THIS IS LENT, so of course most of the good folks of society are keeping quiet—catching up back sleep, turning attention to neglected correspondence, casting a thoughtful eye on depleted spring wardrobes. It follows therefore that, socially speaking, things are dull. In addition there are a lot of otherwise nice children who have insisted on having the mumps and measles and whooping cough—in fact it seems to be mumps season and not to make a face at the sight of a lemon makes one distinctly out of things, both adult and infant. But these are little whims which must be enjoyed at home, in the privacy of one's boudoir as it were, without the pleasures of social intercourse—and though individual glory is very gratifying, society and its activities are losers again. Of course there has been entertaining of an informal character—small dinners and teas with tennis and golf and swimming to lend a vigorous touch. But dances and large receptions and "sich like" are temporarily in abeyance. Tango enthusiasts are distinctly bored—there is nothing for them to do but possess their souls in patience until Easter and the renewal of dances, both the "the" and "cabaret." Bridge lovers are happy enough—one can always get up a quiet little foursome which does not interfere with the conventions of Lent. For the most part, however, the period of rest is welcome to our hostess, giving, as it does, opportunity to recuperate after a rather strenuous month. The hectic pace set by the society worlds of the mainland was never meant for busy Hawaii with its enervating climate. We kept it up madly for a while. Then suddenly we go as flat as a punctured tire—and gladly we stay flat until the fever strikes us again. Society is suffering from just such a flattened spell now—which makes Lent doubly advantageous of course. And as I said before it is comforting its soul with back correspondence and new clothes, and church every Sunday.

Miss Atherton's Tea.
Miss Marie O'Brien is being the model for considerable entertaining prior to her departure next month. Miss O'Brien has spent the past year in Hawaii with her aunts, Mrs. L. L. McClelland and Mrs. John A. McClelland, and during this time has made many friends who are anxious to extend hospitality to her before she leaves. An informal tea was given in her honor yesterday by Miss Violet Atherton. The guests brought thoughtful and devoted the afternoon to sewing. Among those present were Miss O'Brien, Miss May Marshall, Miss Nellie Marshall, Mrs. Frank Hoops, Mrs. Jack Young, Miss Marjory Gilman, Mrs. Jack Guard and Miss Laura Atherton.

Mrs. Rosenbaum's Bridge.
The only affair at Fort Shafter this week was the bridge party given by Mrs. O. Rosenbaum on Wednesday in honor of Mrs. Clyde Parker and Mrs. Herbert O'Brien. The first prize—a pair of silver shoe buckles—was won by Mrs. F. P. Black. The second—a silver inlaid Japanese tray—went to Mrs. Walter Johnson, while Mrs. W. R. Gibson captured the consolation prize.

Mrs. Barnes' Bridge.
Mrs. J. B. Barnes was the motif for a very charming bridge party given on Wednesday by Mrs. S. D. Barnes at her home on Anapuni street. The afternoon was devoted to royal auction of course. After a number of gaily contested rubbers the prizes—large Japanese baskets of flowers, caught with pink ribbon—were awarded to Mrs. M. T. Clew, Miss Anne Hadley, Mrs. Pathway, Miss Lila McDonald and Mrs. Sarah Newcomb. A velvet corset rose was given to Mrs. Barnes as guest prize. Dainty refreshments were then served. Among those invited were Mrs. Harold Hayselden, Mrs. Edward Dekum, Mrs. Katherine Yates, Mrs. J. B. Prentiss, Mrs. Frank Scudder, Mrs. H. E. Hendrick, Mrs. Gamble, Miss Barrie Gamble, Mrs. F. M. Swamy, Miss Nora Swamy, Mrs. Ferguson, Mrs. J. B. McDonald, Miss Lila McDonald, Mrs. Reardon, Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. M. T. Clew, Mrs. George McDougall, Mrs. M. T. Clew, Mrs. M. M. Macomb, Mrs. Ralph Lister, Mrs. D. M. Appel, Mrs. C. B. Wood, Mrs. W. M. Graham, Mrs. A. N. Campbell, Mrs. G. Angus, Miss Louise Lucas, Miss A. Hadley, Miss B. Hadley, Mrs. Woodford, Mrs. Arthur Bump, Mrs. Sarah Newcomb, Mrs. George Freeman, Mrs. L. C. Howland, Mrs. Joseph Sheedy and Mrs. A. Hocking.

Haven-Barnard.
Honolulu folk who remember pretty Miss Lillian Barnard, who visited here four summers ago as the houseguest of Mrs. Jack Guard (Juliet Atherton) will be interested to hear of her approaching marriage to Harold Haven of Oakland. The young S. T. A. Miss Mary Hamilton was at her home in Manoa Valley. The guests danced upon the wide lawn, which extends around two sides of the house, until the hour grew late, when the doors of the dining room were thrown open and refreshments served. Those present were the Misses Dorothy Raab, Beatrice Smith, Margaret Smith, Sally Collins, Irene Aiken, Shirley Foster, Messrs. Will Morgan, Paul Lemke, Will Barnhart, Leola Hicks, Harold Starrett, J. P. Morgan, Ralph Girdler, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Ertworth, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie C. Clark, Dr. and Mrs. A. Andrews, Mrs. I. B. Alexander, Mrs. B. O. Clark and Miss Clark.

Col. and Mrs. McDonald's Dinner.
The first of what will surely be a long series of entertainments in honor of General and Mrs. William Carter is being given this evening by Col. and Mrs. J. E. McDonald at their home on Keeaumoku street. Other guests will include Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, Major M. A. DeLaney, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow and Miss Lila McDonald. The decorations will be in delicate tones of pink, roses and silken-shaded candelabra with favors and place cards to match.

College of Hawaii Dramatic.
There is a rumor abroad at the College of Hawaii that something new in the way of dramatics is to be presented in the near future. Last fall the men of the college gave a concert in order to raise funds for the A. S. C. H., the student organization of the institution, which is somewhat heavily taxed this year as it is being drawn upon for the rental of a piano and the completion of the tennis courts. At the time of this concert, it was understood that the comedians would later have their turn at under-taking some stunt, and now it is said that they are about to announce the event and the date. They say that two of the undergraduates have written a comedy which the comedians are going to produce. As they have asked no man to take part in the play, it is evidently going to be a serious, ette affair. The machine department is very curious as to the production, and many guesses are hazarded as to whom the playwrights may be.

General Edward's Dinner.
General Clarence Edwards has already become an immense favorite with the island set and as they say, the most of his guests are really from the mainland.

Sarah Newcomb at the Hawaiian hotel. Her drawing-room, and equal were unmissed with palms, ferns and cut-flowers, the fragrance of the latter giving a final delightful touch to the evening. A very enjoyable musical program was rendered by Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mr. George Davies, Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, Mrs. Elsa Cross Howard and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt. A delicious buffet supper brought the evening to a close. Among those present were General and Mrs. M. Macomb, General Clarence Edwards, Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, Col. and Mrs. J. B. McDonald, Miss Lila McDonald, Mr. and Mrs. John McCandless, Miss Marie O'Brien, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, Dr. and Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton G. Ballentine, Mrs. Elsa Cross Howard, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Westervelt, Col. W. C. Rafferty, Mr. and Mrs. George Davies, Mr. Edgar Newcomb and others.

Islands C. H. Stocktonians. A call to the Hawaiian Islands and the Orient seems to have been heard by a great many Stocktonians this winter. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. John M. Perry will leave for San Francisco and on Thursday they sail for Japan, spending a day in Honolulu on their way over and several days in Manila and a few weeks in Honolulu on the return. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Harrold and daughter, Miss Mary, will go to San Francisco, leaving on the following day for a trip similar to that of the Perrys, except that they will spend a long time in China. Mrs. P. B. Fraser and Mrs. J. D. McDougall have returned recently from a two months' visit in the islands; Miss May White and Miss Emma Neumiller are just home; Mrs. Otto Atwood and her father are now in the "Paradise of the Pacific," as are also Mrs. McDonald Douglas and nephew, John Whitton. Carl Rehbush and Will Kuechler have also visited there this winter.—Stockton Record.

Miss Guild's Luncheon.
An informal but very attractive affair of the week was the luncheon given by Miss Dorothy Guild yesterday in honor of Miss Daphne Damen whose birthday it was. Those who helped celebrate the happy occasion were Miss Beth Wood, Miss Ruth Songer, Miss Myrtle Schuman, Miss Alice Hoops and the hostess.

Mrs. Morse's Bridge.
Among the pretty affairs of the week was the bridge party given on Thursday by Mrs. C. P. Morse in honor of Mrs. Charles Bon and Mrs. Fred Lyser, who are leaving soon for the mainland and Europe. The list of guests included Mrs. Philip Freeman, Mrs. Otto Bierbach, Mrs. J. L. Young, Mrs. A. H. Tarleton, Mrs. P. J. Lindemann, Mrs. M. T. Clew, Mrs. D. E. Mooney, Mrs. S. de Frost, Mrs. Guy Gere, Mrs. W. Dyer, Mrs. St. C. Sayres, Mrs. G. P. Bush, Mrs. Charles Frazier, Mrs. George Angus, Mrs. F. E. Blake, Mrs. Randolph Moore, Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Irving Hurd, Mrs. E. Bennet, Mrs. Farmer, Mrs. Benton Hind, Mrs. Glenn, Mrs. Cherry, Mrs. Kelly Brown, Mrs. John Drew, Miss Jessie Smith and the guests of honor. The first prize was a pretty green rotary vase won by Mrs. Lyser. The second was a cup and saucer awarded to Mrs. Moore. The third was an embroidered Madeira centerpiece won by Mrs. Blake. The guest prizes were not opened, instructions forbidding this until the recipients are on the briny deep.

Mrs. Peery's Tea.
Mrs. F. W. Taylor was guest of honor at a small but very enjoyable tea on Thursday afternoon given by Mrs. Antonio Peery at her home on Emma street. The guests brought their thimbles and the afternoon was devoted to dainty needlework until 5 o'clock, when tea was served. Invited to meet Mrs. Taylor were Mrs. Louis Davis, Mrs. E. Marshall, Mrs. F. E. Trotter, Mrs. Robert Hair, Mrs. John T. Warren, Miss Margaret Dietz and Miss Genevieve Swain.

Dr. and Mrs. Cooper's Dinner.
No week is complete, these days, without several affairs complimentary to General and Mrs. Macomb—in fact, the latter's time is completely taken up from now until the 27th, when they sail for the mainland. One of the most charming events of this week was the dinner given in their honor by Dr. and Mrs. Charles B.

Cooper. The table was dainty in its holiday dress of pink roses and ferns, with little favors and place-cards to match. Included in those present were General and Mrs. Macomb, General Clarence Edwards, Col. and Mrs. L. V. Kennon, Mr. and Mrs. Gerrit Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. James Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Governor Pinkham, Mr. and Mrs. Dreyfus-Barney.

Miss Carr's Luncheon.
A small but charming event of the week was the luncheon given by Miss Marjory Carr on Monday at the Country Club. A fluffy-topped maidenhair plant formed the centerpiece of the table, while at each place were corsages of violets and gardenias. Covers were laid for Miss Emily Farley, Miss Elnora Sturgeon, Miss Cordelia Walker, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Miss Susanne Bottomley, Miss Anna Bottomley and the hostess.

Lieut. W. C. Rose was an arrival on the transport last week after several months' leave of absence spent on the mainland. "Billy" is being warmly welcomed by his many friends in Honolulu.
