

From S. F. 1 Alankh, Mch. 25. For S. F. 1 Wilhelmina, Mch. 25. From Vancouver: Marama, Mch. 25. For Vancouver: Makura, Mch. 24.

Evening Bulletin, Est. 1882, No. 5811. Hawaiian Star, Vol. XXI, No. 6851. 12 PAGES—HONOLULU, TERRITORY OF HAWAII, TUESDAY, MARCH 24, 1914.—12 PAGES. PRICE FIVE CENTS

FROM REBEL CAMP, HODEL COMES HERE

Noted Journalist, Who Has Important Facts in Benton Case, Arrives Here
WAS WITH GEN. VILLA JUST AFTER THE KILLING
European Newspaperman Believes That Huerta Will Crush Revolution

Direct from the rebel camps in Mexico, and from the scene of the killing of William S. Benton, British subject, there arrived in Honolulu yesterday afternoon a man who already has contributed to the Benton investigation some important information and who may be called upon to contribute more.

He is Dr. R. J. Hodel, special correspondent for the great German newspaper, Frankfurter Zeitung. Dr. Hodel is widely known as a correspondent who has "covered" many assignments for his paper of international interest. His forte is European affairs and for eight months he was in the Balkans, until peace was reached, and then he was hastened to Mexico to handle the situation there from the news standpoint.

His work has brought him into personal contact with Gen. Huerta, Gen. Villa, John Lind, the American special envoy, Nelson O'Shaughnessy, American charge d'affaires at Mexico City, and the diplomats and consuls of all the countries officially represented in Mexico.

He was in a room with Villa at Juarez only a few minutes after the killing of Benton. His first-hand testimony as to some of the circumstances has already been telegraphed back from San Francisco to Juarez, presumably for the use of the consular corps there in the efforts to ascertain the true facts of the tragedy that has started and incensed Europe as nothing else has done during the past year.

May Write of Hawaii.
Dr. Hodel is in Honolulu for a five days' stay. He arrived on the Hongkong Maru and is returning to Europe by way of the Orient, contributing articles to his paper as he goes, and Honolulu and Hawaii will probably be given considerable space.

To tell the truth, I am more interested in beautiful Hawaii and in the entrancing Pacific ocean around you
(Continued on page three)

MEXICANS FAVOR U.S. INTERVENTION SAYS HONOLULAN FRESH FROM MEXICO

Fresh from a glimpse of the Mexican war, the scenes of outrages, pillage and awful brutalities, Mrs. E. O. Child, formerly Miss Hazel Hellbron, daughter of William F. Hellbron of the Metropolitan Market, arrived here for a few weeks' visit on the new Matson liner Manoa this morning.

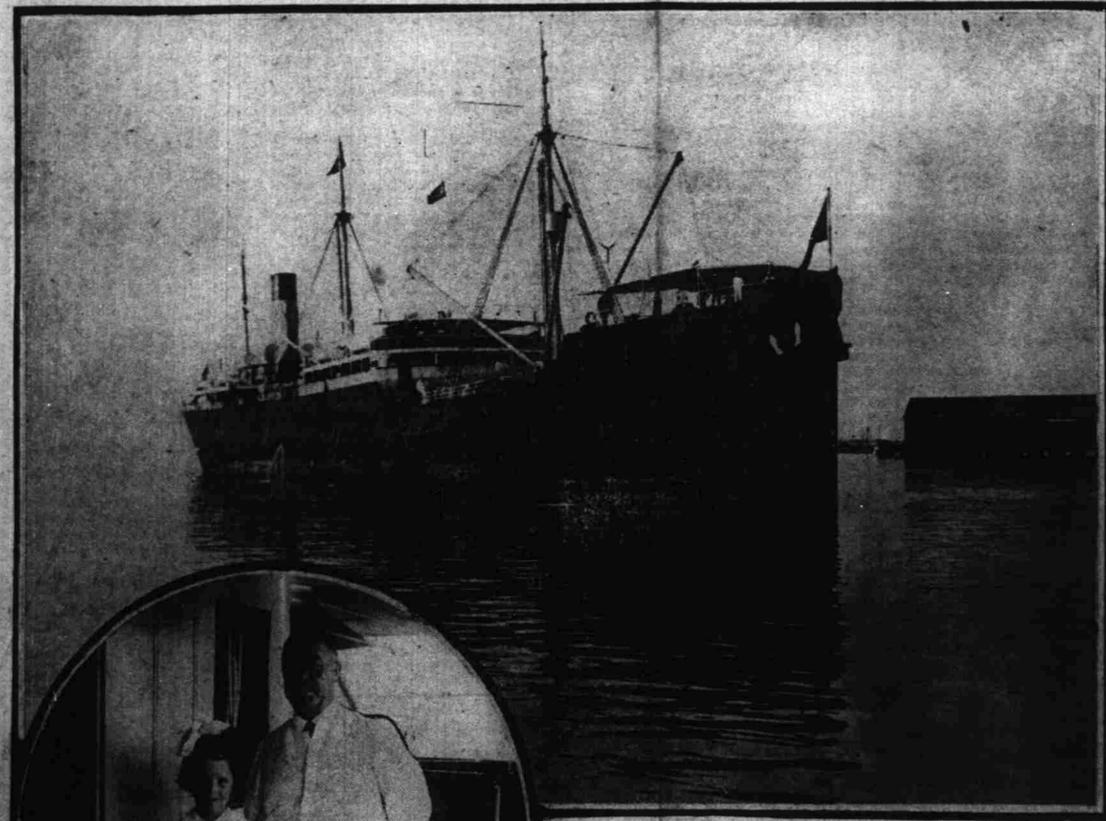

Declaring that the Americans of Mexico are bitter against the present administration for delaying intervention, and that the citizens of Mexico even are anxious for the United States to take a military hand in settling the troubles of their country, feeling that there can be no peace without intervention, Mrs. Child has joined the ranks of those who believe that this country should stop summarily the endless battling and give Mexico a form of government similar to Cuba.

Accompanied by her husband, Mrs. Child sailed from New York for Panama. There she saw the giant project in its almost completed shape. Leaving Panama, she took passage on the steamer Newport, stopping en route at Salina Cruz, Acapulco and Manzanillo, and other smaller ports.

At Acapulco she found the rebels a short distance from the city, passing before they descended on the city to rob and slay and take captive. "The entire city was in a state of terrible excitement," she said this morning. "They had experienced armies before—to their great loss. Whether federal or constitutionalists, the soldiers pillaged just the same. That is why the average Mexican is as opposed to one side as the other; he has suffered losses and outrages from both. Many of the Mexicans feel there, and in other cities as well, that peace without intervention is an impossible thing. They say that no matter who is put up as president, or under what conditions, the fighting will go on just the same. They are more like desperadoes than soldiers. "The Newport picked up en route Guadalupe Figueroa, his wife, a son and four daughters. All in rags. They were forced to flee for their lives from their rich mining property at Jalisco, near Guadalajara, a price had been set on his head, he had been forced to ransom his 17-year-old son, Manuel. We made up a purse for them, and managed to find clothes for them."

REGAL CARS FOR SALE.
1 Roadster 25 H. P.
4-Passenger 25 H. P.
5-Passenger 35 H. P.
H. E. HENDRICK, LTD.
Phone 2648. Merchants & Alakea Sts.

Hawaii's Growing Commerce Brings New Liner Here Latest Addition to Matson Fleet. S. S. Manoa, Arrives on Maiden Voyage

—Kodagraph Print.

Above—The new Matson liner Manoa steaming into the harbor this morning. Below—Captain Henry F. Weeden and Miss Carolene Alexander Cooke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke. Little Miss Cooke was sponsor for the vessel at the launching at Newport News, Va., and among the first to greet Captain Weeden and the vessel upon their arrival today.

Absence of Steerage Quarters Proves Surprise To Local Shipping Men

Proof of Hawaii's growing commerce and prophetic of the increased passenger and freight demands of the Pacific, the modern and stanch Manoa, latest addition to the Matson fleet, arrived in Honolulu this morning on her maiden voyage to the islands.

"A better sea-boat has never plied the Pacific in the coast-to-island trade than the new Manoa," was the cheery greeting of Captain Henry F. Weeden. He stood on the promenade deck of the new Matson Navigation liner and was a target for an avalanche of felicitations from many Honoluluans, who filed aboard the steamer upon its arrival at Pier 15 at an early hour this morning.

The steamer was off port at 4:33 o'clock and docked at 7:50 o'clock. "The Manoa steamed from the east coast of the United States to San Francisco by the way of Magellan straits in 43 days, if you please," added Captain Weeden, correcting the general impression gained here that the vessel had consumed 45 days in the passage. "When you take into consideration that the Manoa was greeted by some of the nastiest weather that it has been my lot to encounter in many years of seafaring, the record is an enviable one.

"Loaded to its capacity with cargo, the new liner is a mighty steady craft. While the speed is listed at 14 knots the Manoa has done much better than this."

The proud and happy skipper, who has been coming into the port for a number of years as master of the Lurline was the center of a group of friends and well-wishers who hastened to extend their congratulations at his well-earned promotion to the latest addition to the Matson fleet.

NEW PLANS MADE FOR HAWAIIAN FAIR BUILDING

H. P. Wood Visits with Governor Upon Return—Work Is to Proceed

Immediately upon his return from San Francisco this morning in the Manoa, H. P. Wood, chairman of the Hawaii Fair Commission, called upon Governor L. E. Pinkham at the latter's request, and was closeted for more than an hour and a half with the chief executive of the territory, going over the details of his three-weeks' visit to the Panama-Pacific exposition grounds and explaining his final decision regarding the selection of a new site for Hawaii's building, the site recommended by the governor after having received from the fair commission a statement of that organization's proposed expenditure of the legislature's appropriation, as well as the plans which the commission had in view for the building and its equipment.

HAWAIIAN OPPOSITION TO SEAMAN'S BILL VOICED

By C. S. ALBERT.
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 11.—Hawaiian opposition to the LaFollette Seaman's bill was voiced last week. A protest by the Chamber of Commerce, at Honolulu, had been previously filed and was made the basis for a hearing before the house committee on merchant marine and fisheries.

Secretary Desha and others interested in such changes in the pending measure as would remove the features detrimental to Hawaiian interests, appeared before the house committee and submitted arguments.

Promotions in the army will follow the action of the retiring board in retiring Col. William A. Nichols, Col. Lea Febigier and Lieut.-col Jacob F. Kreps, who were found incapacitated for further service.

AUTO PARTY IS CLOSE TO DEATH OVER THE PALI

Stout Fence and Providence Step in When Car Runs Partly Over Cliff

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Frick witnessed a hair-raising spectacle at the Pali last Sunday morning, wherein a Japanese driver nearly sent an entire automobile party over the cliff, only a kindly, mysterious fate intervening to save the party of six from certain death.

The car, with its load of humanity paralyzed with fright, moved slowly and deliberately down onto the fence, pushed the fragile barricade out to an angle of 45 degrees and the front wheels began climbing up the boards. At that instant, when it seemed another inch would send the fence and automobile crashing forward over the brink, the engine stopped, and the straining fence slowly pushed the car back to the ground.

The terror-stricken witnesses, as well as the occupants of the machine, nearly collapsed. Finally one elderly Japanese crawled out of the tonneau, slumped down on the road, took off his hat and began fanning himself furiously, despite the fact that the air was very cool at the time.

JOHN D. ACKERMAN, OLD RESIDENT OF KONA, DIES, AGED 88
[Special Star-Bulletin Wireless]
HILO, Mar. 24.—John D. Ackerman, for many years a resident of Kainaliu, Kona, died this morning at the advanced age of 88. He is survived by a widow and 11 children, two daughters, Mrs. Thomas O'Brien and Miss Lillie Ackerman, residing in Honolulu.

UPHEAVAL IN ENGLAND NOW INDICATES MINISTRY MAY HAVE TO GO BEFORE PEOPLE

BRITISH PRESS, INCENSED AT ASQUITH'S EXCUSES FOR ARMY OFFICERS' DESERTIONS, HITS OUT SHARPLY

Predicts Early General Election—John Redmond Says Parliament Won't Dissolve Until Home Rule Bill Passes—Major-General Sent to Ulster Pays Respects to Carson—Liberals Discontented, While Opposition Is Jubilant

LONDON, Eng., March 24.—The British press generally severely condemned the government's course in relation to the resignations of officers from the army, in speeches in the house of commons yesterday, Premier Asquith and Col. J. E. B. Seely, secretary for war, placed the blame for the resignations on Sir Arthur Paget, commanding general for Ireland, saying that there had been a misunderstanding. They stated that Sir Arthur made a mistake in informing the army officers that they were to move on Ulster.

The conciliatory tone of the premier's speech is sharply criticized. The press calls the government's course a surrender to titled officers who refused to serve against Ulster.

The liberals are disheartened while the opposition is derisively jubilant. The powerful Manchester Guardian says, "It is with deepest regret and some shame that we heard Premier Asquith's even partial acceptance of the doctrine that officers have the right to lay down conditions under which they will serve the king. They are so treated because they are rich. There is one law for the rich and another for the poor, one standard for the Tory officer's loyalty and another for that of the private."

Ulsterite Leader Receives Significant Call

BELFAST, Ulster, Mar. 24.—Major-general Sir Cecil Macready, whom Col. Seely, secretary of state for war, sent to Ireland to confer with Brigadier-General Gluechen, commanding the 15th Brigade of infantry, today visited the headquarters of Sir Edward Carson to pay his respects to the Ulster leader. Macready was in full uniform and the incident has attracted much comment.

Redmond Confident Bill Will Be Passed

LONDON, Eng., Mar. 24.—"There will certainly be no dissolution of parliament until home rule passes," John Redmond, the Irish leader, told the Associated Press today in a statement setting forth the determination of the home rule advocates to force the bill through.

Gen. Villa Captures Suburb and Torreon Now Seems Sure to Fall

JUAREZ, Mex., Mar. 24.—At a heavy cost to both sides, the rebels under General Villa have won an important engagement in their campaign against Torreon. After a furious all-night bombardment, the rebel troops this morning massed for an assault, directed by Villa. The assault was successful and Villa captured Palacio Gomez, a suburb commanding the stronghold of Torreon.

Naval Scandal Causes Japan Cabinet to Resign; Much Unrest

TOKIO, Japan, March 24.—The naval scandals and disagreements over the financial budgets are responsible for the resignation late yesterday of Premier Yamamoto and his cabinet, which was announced shortly after the imperial edict proroguing parliament. Both houses will be adjourned for three days.

Lieutenant-general Viscount Saionji Sega declares that naval discipline has been destroyed and that the Japanese bluejackets despise their superiors because of the revelations and charges of graft that have been freely circulated recently.

Col. Roosevelt is Safe
NEW YORK, N. Y., March 24.—That Colonel Roosevelt is safe in the reassuring news received here today by the American Museum of Natural History. The news came in a consular cablegram from Brazil, and it is presumed that further word has been received from the Roosevelt exploring party now far in the interior.

RETRENCHMENT IN ROAD DEPT. HITS WITH THUD

Whitehouse Discharges Laborers 120, Lunas 5, and 3 Steam-roller Men
Oppressed by a lack of funds and determined to keep the road improvement work within the appropriations made for it, City and County Engineer L. M. Whitehouse issued an order yesterday discharging 120 laborers, 5 lunas and 3 steam-roller operators, thus with one stroke suspending all street work with the exception of the Kalihi-uka road and the Kapahulu and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August 19 last, moved rapidly toward its conclusion in Circuit Judge Robinson's court today. The prosecution finished its evidence shortly after noon yesterday. Nine witnesses for the defense were disposed of this morning and at 11:30 Marshall took the stand in his own defense. In response to a few leading questions he gave a brief review of his version of the trial of John W. Marshall, held for the killing of Charles R. Quiering at Madam Pischel's lula house August