Bent Bones

Abraham Lincoln Loved to Take his Boots off

HE used to remove them frequently to "let his feet breathe," he said. He knew the folly of binding the feet up constantly in narrow, unnatural shoes.

A narrow "fancy" shoe bends the bones of the feet, thereby manufacturing corns, callouses, bunions, ingrowing nails, flat-foot, etc.—foot misery. Such foot troubles affect your whole system, causing a loss of 20% or more of your bodily efficiency.

Why lose this valuable energy? Why—when you can put your feet into Rice & Hutchins Educator Shoes, which do not bend your foot bones—which abolish corns, bunions, etc.

Educators are made scientifically in the shape of a perfect, natural foot. They have plenty of room for all five toes, without looseness. Made for men, women and children. A handsome, correct shoe that is good sense plus good looks. Prices from $1.35 for infants' to $5.50 for men's "specials."

Call at the store today and see how good your feet look—and feel—in Educators.

THREATENING LETTERS TO GIRL CALL FOR ACTION OF THE POLICE

Strange Series of Missives Prove Mystery That May Be Hard to Untangle

A strange series of anonymous letters threatening her life and that of a man described as "the stranger" has come to the attention of the local authorities through the appearance at the police station of Miss Marguerite Wentor, who rushed there this morning, pale and shaken and on the verge of a nervous collapse, bringing the menacing missives with her.

Hints of a story of love and jealousy and hate are found in the strange letters, which are clothed with the mystery of hidden identity. Short, bitter, bold—the missives carry the cry of a jilted lover, who alternately proclaims his devotion and threatens the girl's life. He will kill her, he says, if she goes out with "the stranger."

At first believing the letters were a part of a practical joke, Miss Wentor paid little heed to them; but certain strange circumstances surrounding the receipt of the last one—the most threatening of all—impressed her with the gravity and imminent danger of her situation, and she fled to the police for protection.

Recently coming here from Cloverdale, Cal., she says her friends here are few; and she declares positively that she has no knowledge or suspicion as to the identity of the mysterious writer, or of the stranger referred to in the letters. She says she has lived with friends at Kailua since arriving here; has seldom gone out, except with them.

The last letter received was thrown in her bedroom window. In the morning she says she found chalk marks in the design of a skull and crossbones, on the lanai. This last letter, which is the third, is bolder and madder than the former ones. Captain of Detectives McDuffie, who is making a quiet investigation, believes the girl is the victim of the hallucinations of a lunatic; but he nonetheless believes that her position calls for immediate and careful protection.

The letters are published below in the order of their receipt:
"Death. You hear—death. For you and him the stranger. He's bad and I'll get him and you if you go out with him again. Enough—you know."

This is the second:
"I love you but I'll burn you with acid if you go out again with him. I'm going bats; he's bad. He's married. Didn't know that, eh? I'm telling his wife. Look out."

The last one reads:
"Good-by. Learn to pray. I see you want to die. You don't think I mean what I say. You think I'm drunk—I'm not—but I am going to kill that stranger and you. I watched you last night by the keawe tree and could have kicked you with my foot you were so near. Why didn't I kill you both then? Because I thought I'd give you another chance. This is the last I got vitriol today. You know what that means. I may be mad but not so mad that I will not kill you both."

The girl is reticent on several subjects. For instance, the authorities say she gave evasive answers when asked her reasons for coming to Honolulu, and her positive statement that she does not know any young men in the city is not accepted quite at its face value. The girl is young—about 22 years—she is attractive, though not pretty. She says she is a stenographer but not in work now.

All the letters she received were left on her lanai, thrust under the screen door, or thrown through the bedroom window. Referring to the last one, in which it is said she was seen by the keawe tree, the girl declares that she did not leave the house on that night. A special officer may be assigned to "cover" the house.

PROGRAM PLANS FOR KAMEHAMEHA DAY ARE MADE

At a meeting Saturday afternoon of the officers of the several local Hawaiian societies, a tentative program for the proposed celebration of Kamehameha day, which occurs June 11, was drawn up and accepted. It is expected that these plans will be accepted as permanent ones, although a few slight changes may be made. The finance committee now is working on a scheme to raise funds for the occasion, and predicts that less than $5000 will be needed.

Following is the program:
Sunday, June 7—Services by the Hawaiian societies at Kawaiahaeo church.

Thursday, June 11—9:00 a. m.—Parade of the societies. The men will form at Aala park, the women at the armory, and march to the Kamehameha statue in Judiciary Square. A platform will be erected on which to show the arrival of Kamehameha as conqueror of the island of Oahu.

10:30 a. m.—Swimming races and canoe races at Alaeka slip, under the auspices of the A. A. U.

3:00 p. m.—Landing of Kamuaui and Kamehameha. This stately pageant will be staged at the public baths, Waikiki.

8:00 p. m.—Honoku dance at the Armory.

New committees were appointed as follows:

Parade and sports—Edgar Henriques (chairman), Mrs. Chung Hoon Sr., Mrs. Webb, Mr. Akana.

Kamuaui pageant—Mrs. Edgar Henriques (chairman), Mrs. Webb, Mrs. Rosalie E. K. Blaisdell, Mrs. Dwight, Mrs. Reis.

Dance committee—J. C. Anderson (chairman), Mrs. S. C. Dwight, Mrs. Fred W. Macfarlane.

GOVERNMENT TO GIVE AID TO THE HAWAII COLLEGE

Prof. Vaughan MacCaughy has received the following letter from John H. Desha, secretary to Delegate Kulo, which assures federal aid for the College of Hawaii:

"Committee of Agriculture, House of Representatives, U. S., Washington, D. C.

"March 14, 1914.
"Mr. Vaughan MacCaughy, College of Hawaii, Honolulu, Hawaii.

"Dear Sir: Under separate cover, I am sending you a copy of the Lever agricultural extension bill, which has passed both houses, but is, at the present time, in conference. Owing to the fact that the agricultural appropriation bill is now before the house of representatives, with Mr. Lever in charge, the conference is hanging fire. However, by the time you receive this letter, the bill will perhaps have become law.

"If you will look at the bill, you will notice that the section under which Hawaii will receive the benefits of this measure, is an amendment put in by the senate. The house refused to give us recognition, so I took the fight over to the senate, and there succeeded in getting an amendment which let in Hawaii, at the same time barring the insular possessions, Porto Rico and the Philippines. Even Alaska is barred, as you will notice that the sum appropriated is $490,000, $10,000 for each of the 48 states and Hawaii.

"According to indications, the amendment will be accepted by the house.

"Very truly yours,
"JOHN R. DESHA,
"Secretary to the Delegate."

A CHILD'S LAXATIVE IS "SYRUP OF FIGS"

They love to take it and it doesn't harm the tender little stomach, liver and bowels.

If your little one's stomach is coated, it is a sure sign the stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When your child is cross, peevish, listless, pale, doesn't sleep, eat or act naturally, if breath is bad, stomach sour, system full of cold, throat sore, or if feverish, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the clogged-up, constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food will gently move out of the bowels, and you have a well-playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure. They also know a little given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. Get the genuine, made by California Fig Syrup Company. Don't be fooled!
