

HIS HONOR POSITIVE HE HAS TIME TO FILL SHERIFF'S JOB

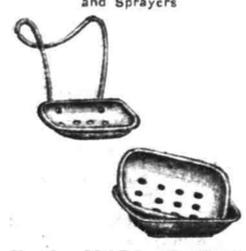

His Honor is not grasping but he appreciates situations, knows how to make the most of it. Twenty-four hours ago Mayor J. J. Fern had no idea that something might happen that would put him in a place where he could possibly reap twice his present salary. Yet, when the thing happened, unexpected as it was, His Honor rose to the occasion, and now, in addition to his being called the chief executive, he may have the title of sheriff of the city and county of Hawaii.

His Honor is not grasping but he sees an opportunity and needs the money. His expenses are without end just as is his need of humor and he feels that Sheriff Jarrett, being appointed to the high sheriff, it is nothing but right that he could take Jarrett's job, hold two salaries at once, in other words.

"Why not?" he challenged this morning. "What's to prevent me? I can hold both jobs at once—no pill-kin! And when I can't be down to the sheriff's office, Will Stiles, my secretary can be there for me. Eh? I need both jobs, so I just appoint myself to fill Jarrett's place."

His Honor is not grasping exactly. It would be pleasant to hold two jobs at once, draw two salaries at once, ride in two municipal machines at once, and eventually, as one falls into the ways of the double life, to smoke two cigars at once.

J. W. BROUGHER, NOTED DIVINE, LOCAL VISITOR

who thought of running for any office without seeking the support of the homely man whose ministry had become a city institution.

In Los Angeles, Doctor Brougher is the idolized pastor of the most individualistic Baptist church in the world. The church itself is a regular religious department store, under the direction of the pastor and a large number of salaried and volunteer assistants, ministering through a hundred organizations and committees to every conceivable need of mankind. Its congregation worships in a fire-proof building, with a beautiful bronze and green auditorium seating 3500 people. Here Doctor Brougher preaches to the largest regular congregation in the world. It is the usual thing to see the big lobby filled and overflowing at 6:30 Sunday evening, with two or more policemen to handle the crowd. The magnetic personality of the preacher, his bright optimism, his brimming mirth, his tender sympathy, his fiery eloquence, his passion for winning souls, his superb leadership, his genius for drawing and holding great audiences, have all combined to gather about him a large company of church members whose loyalty and enthusiasm are akin to hero worship.

Doctor Brougher is one of the most remarkable figures on the platform today. The spare, muscular frame, the dark, vivid face overhung with a fine crop of bushy black hair, the keen, humorous eyes, make him conspicuous under all circumstances.

When he steps into his pulpit a spell of hushed expectancy comes over the waiting congregation. One moment he toys with his audience as a kitten plays with a ball, the next he is transformed into a cyclone, sweeping everything before him. He chuckles his audience under the chin, pats them on the back, then lashes them for their follies and foibles. A man with such unconventionalality and independence, could not fail to draw the crowds and win them with his glad gospel. One of his brother ministers put it in a nutshell when he said, "Brougher is a genius." His lecture and sermon subjects are always popular. Here are some of them: "How to be Happy Though Married," "What's Under Your Hat?" "Lop-Sided People," "A Tenderfoot Abroad," "A Joy Ride on the Water Wagon," "People Who Ought to Be Muzzled," "When Reuben Comes to Town."

"There are innumerable things I could tell you about the Temple Baptist Church," said Dr. Brougher. "For instance, we have a vested choir of 250 voices; a paid quartet and musical director; and music that costs $5000 a year."

One of the most remarkable features of Dr. Brougher's church is the attendance on Sundays. Three thousand attend in the morning and in the evening more than 3000 are turned away, unable to secure seats or standing room in the auditorium. Then, the Sunday school has an attendance of 2250. Last year the church's expense budget amounted to $20,000 while the congregation gave $45,500 to foreign missions.

The Temple Baptist church leads all Baptist churches of the world in giving to foreign missions.

Personally, Dr. Brougher is a member of the Commercial Club of Los Angeles, a member of the Municipal League, Rotary Club, Ad. Men's League, University Club and Country Club. He is a graduate from California College, is a 32nd degree mason, a prominent Shriner, and a full-fledged policeman. For the past three years he has been the speaker at the annual Merchants and Manufacturers banquet, considered the biggest yearly gathering in Los Angeles. Mrs. Brougher is a personal friend of Mrs. A. J. Campbell and Mrs. G. P. Wilder of this city, and it is interesting to note that Dr. Brougher's father performed the marriage ceremony of both these local women.

Asked this morning as to the secret of attracting large crowds of people to his church, Dr. Brougher said:

"The secret is that the teachings of Jesus form a solution of every problem known to human experience. I claim that I know people and know what they need. I know human nature. I attract people to my church in a perfectly natural manner. I select sermons which are entertaining as well as instructive. I do not hesitate to tell a joke, and to let the people laugh."

"I believe there is more in a smile than in a snore. People can come to the Temple Baptist church and laugh all they want but they are not

CALDWELL HOME, SAYS PROGRESS IN HAWAII WORK

John W. Caldwell, superintendent of public works, returned from a seven-day inspection tour of Hawaii this morning, reporting splendid progress in all the contracted work under way.

"I went to the Puukapu district, where a $21,000 homestead road is to be built," said Caldwell. "The grading work has started there. I next went to the Mahukona wharf, and am able to report that it will be finished, weather permitting, in 10 days. It is so built that it will withstand all the rough weather."

"From there I went to Hanalei to inspect the repair work on that wharf. It is completed; the job is a good one. Makua from there, I went to Naalehu, to look at the changed location of the homestead road. Because of the steepness of the grade, it was necessary to make a change in the location."

"While on the island I decided the location of the Wood's Valley road for the homesteaders there; and from there I went to the Olaa homestead road. I found the moorings set for the Kuhio wharf in its new location. In Hilo I looked over the cemetery situation."

The question of the location of the Hilo cemetery is one that has called for the attention of Secretary W. W. Thayer, as well as Superintendent Caldwell. Incidentally, they both appear to be one in the belief that of the two proposed locations, the one farthest from town should be decided on. Both sites are owned by the Fishon estate; the more townward one is not offered to the territory, and it is said, if it is taken it will be only after condemnation proceedings.

"The difference in the price of the two sites," said Caldwell, "is enough to pay for the roads of a cemetery."

allowed to snore. We have almost every kind of music except 'sheet music.'"

Dr. Brougher professes to be one of the pioneers in the church advertising project, and said this morning that it is one of the greatest movements ever undertaken in the interest of religion.

Dr. and Mrs. Brougher leave for Hilo this evening for a visit to Hilo and the volcano. They will return Tuesday morning. This is their first trip to Honolulu and they expressed themselves this morning as being highly pleased with both climate and scenery.

PROVOST GUARD WILL USE THE OLD BUNGALOW

Governor Pinkham has decided to turn over the old National guard bungalow to the provost guard of the army. This news was conveyed through a letter from the chief executive addressed to the board of supervisors and read at its meeting last night.

It means that Governor Pinkham has reconsidered his offer of the bungalow to the board as offices for the sewer and water departments. Some time ago he informed the board that as it was about to take over the water and sewer systems from the territory, he would allow them use of the bungalow for offices. But the supervisors delayed in accepting the offer, and it is possible that this delay was construed by the governor to mean that it did not feel inclined to accept his offer.
