

LOCAL MERCHANTS MAKE FINE EXHIBITS AT SCHOFIELD FAIR

The exhibits made by a number of the local merchants are very creditable and are one of the distinctive features of the fair. Several of these firms are handing out free chances on a Morris chair, a gold watch and coffee percolator. Among the local firms exhibiting are: E. O. Hall & Son featuring four separate departments of their business, namely, household, general hardware, sporting goods and Indian motorcycles. H. F. Wichman & Co. had a splendid display of silver and jewelry topped Chinese carved stands. W. W. Dimond & Co. had a creditable display from the immense stock of goods carried in its store in town. Benson, Smith & Co.'s exhibit was tastefully arranged, making a feature of Rexall remedies and toilet articles. The food things (to eat) of this fair were well displayed by Henry May & Co. The Coyne Furniture Company and J. Hopp & Co. had displays that would tempt most anybody to go to housekeeping. The Bergstrom Music Co. made a specialty of victrolas and pianos. The Honolulu Music Co. made a specialty of its line of business in musical instruments. Wall, Nichols

& Co. made a specialty of talking machines and sporting goods. Lewers & Cooke's exhibit of building material for every part of the house from the foundation to the flag pole was well made. The Hollister Drug Co. was well to the fore with a choice selection of toilet articles and other things one would expect to find in a well regulated drug store. Honolulu Photo Supply Co. was very much in evidence with cameras and "everything photographic." R. W. Perkins had a neat display of samples of work done in his photo studio. Dharmadas & Watumull, the East Indian merchants, had a catchy display of fine embroideries and hand-made lace from the "Indies." The Hawaii and South Seas Curio Co. supplied the souvenir end of the entertainment. Gurry's had a place in the fair grounds but had a placard put to the effect that he was doing no business for that day. T. H. Davies & Co. was strictly before the public with "Reach" brand of sporting goods, guns, etc. Love's Bakery was a distinctive feature that carried conviction as to the proper place to leave pastry orders. M. A. Gunst was there with the "smokes."

BAZAAR NIPPON IS SELLING OUT CHEAPLY

The Bazaar Nippon, that interesting Japanese store located in Postoffice Alley, next to W. W. Dimond & Co., has been hit heavily by hard times and will go out of business the latter part of this month. From next Monday on, for the next two weeks, a sacrifice sale of all the goods will be held, in order to get rid of every article quickly, and for cash. The reductions in price average about 50 per cent.—advertisement.

EVERYBODY WAS HAPPY IN LAND OF THE SOLDIER

owing to the late arrival of the Ad Club train, but when the two sections finally pulled into the station no time was lost in starting the funmaking. The Ad Club brought its own music in the form of the Hawaiian band, led by Captain Berger, and besides the bands of the 15th Infantry and 1st Infantry, there was an officers' band in hayseed get-up that helped the musical fun along.

The first of the scheduled events was the circus, of which Lieutenant Glassford, 8 feet some inches high in his plug hat, acted as ringmaster. There was some good clowning, and some trick riding by men of the 4th Cavalry in circus get-up of both sexes, that showed plenty of rehearsing. The riding stunts ended with a six-rider pyramid that made quite a hit, and with a high jump competition.

After the circus, the visitors spread themselves over the grounds, taking in the various sidshows and exhibits, and of course the midway, which contained everything one might expect to find there—and then some. The features were too many to check off one by one, but when it is said that everybody entered into the spirit of the affair and kept things moving without a trace of dullness, the sidshow business is about sized up.

Toward 8 o'clock the tempting aroma of soldier "chow" coming from the field ovens and bakery under the management of Captain Holbrook, turned everybody's thoughts to supper, and for the next hour or so good fare, and plenty of it, was handed out at nominal prices. This soldier cooking was an exhibit of interest in itself, and one that attracted the attention of many people before it was time to sample the product.

In the evening there was a vaudeville show that showed the amateur talent of the post to considerable advantage, and showed also the amount of painstaking work that had gone to make the performers perfect in their various parts.

County Fair money, in 5 cent denomination, was the medium of exchange, and the criticism freely heard was that things were too cheap. However, the marked absence of "gouging" made everyone inclined to loosen up on their own account, and probably as many dollars went to the money changers as would have been the case had prices been higher.

The crowd from Honolulu was increased in the evening by a trainload of Bilks and their friends, who left town in a special at 6 o'clock, and who jumped right into the game on arrival and helped roll the ball along.

Predictions are that attendance records will be broken tomorrow, and that the County Fair, probably the most ambitious affair ever given in the United States army post, will close as auspiciously as it began.

HONOLULU IN WAR ZONE SENDS NEWS OF TROUBLE IN MEXICO

Out of far-off Mexico comes to Honolulu first-hand news concerning the present embargo between that country and the United States. P. O'Sullivan, now a resident of Imperial Valley, California, in writing to his son, Henry P. O'Sullivan, secretary of the Public Utilities Commission, has the following to say concerning the conditions of things at Calexico, on the Mexican side, and at Mexicali, on the Hawaiian side.

"I am right in the middle of the war game here at Calexico, Cavalry, Infantry and artillery of the United States are stationed here, while at Mexicali, across the street, is a part of the Mexican army, some 8000 to 10,000 strong. Calexico and Mexicali are practically the same town, and the two custom houses are directly across the street from one another. Calexico does all the legitimate business, while at Mexicali all the business is done in saloons, dance halls and gambling resorts.

"There are plenty of bull fights, and an occasional prize fight at Mexicali. Personally, I go back and forth across the line and no one seems to care," he concludes.

LOCAL BOURBONS HOPE AGAINST HOPE THAT "SOAPBOX" MAY WIN

Has "Soapbox" Barron still a chance for appointment to the position of postmaster of Honolulu? Despite the message which was received here from Washington stating that William F. Young has been confirmed as postmaster, statements were made by politicians that the job is still unawarded.

"I saw a personal letter last night," said one, "written by a U. S. Senator, in which he stated that Young was being sent here as a chief inspector to make a report on the post office conditions.

"This letter of course was written before the wire was received here. But to my mind it proves that Young has not been appointed postmaster. I think a mistake was made in the message, and he is only coming here to inspect the postoffice."

JUDGE QUARLES RULES AGAINST JEFF M'GARN

considering the aforesaid affidavits, and the written response, under oath, thereto by the respondent, the attorney-general filed his report in which he finds that the respondent acted in good faith and recommends that the charges be dismissed. The respondent, feeling aggrieved at certain expressions of opinion contained in said report, from the files of this court. Unfortunately the report contains certain expressions of opinion which are apparently inconsistent, to some extent, with the conclusion reached by the attorney-general, but in our opinion the same relate to collateral matters which are immaterial. This motion came on to be heard and was argued at length, the argument taking a wide range. We have carefully examined the affidavits in support of the charge, and the verified written response thereto, which is lengthy; and, without going into details, we are of the opinion that the conclusion of the attorney-general, that the respondent acted in good faith and that the charges should be dismissed, is correct.

RICHARD HALSEY PROVES CLEVER AS LAW EXPERT

In Judge Whitney's court this morning, Inspector Halsey, of the federal immigration station, refused to answer certain questions put him by Attorney L. Andrews regarding the admission of a Japanese woman to the territory. Halsey appealed to the court, declaring that the regulations of his department made it impossible for him to divulge any of the "secrets" of the service.

Halsey laid down the law of the department in a manner that showed that he missed his vocation in life when he did not adopt the law as a meal producer. He tried in every way to avoid answering the simplest question and, when finally ordered to do so, wrapped the answer up in such a way that the attorney who was examining him had to insist on clearer answers to his questions.

"Don't you understand the English language?" asked Andrews of Halsey at one time, and then the people in court wondered what was going to happen. "I object," said Andrews, "to an officer of the United States trying to block an investigation which is of vital importance to the whole community. Surely Mr. Halsey can answer a question regarding the application of a Japanese woman to land on Hawaiian soil. He claims that the woman is not landed yet, as she is still at the immigration station. What possible harm can it do for the witness to tell of the application?"

Halsey, when pressed by the court, testified that three of his staff had just as a tribunal to investigate the woman's case. It took a lot of pressure to make the witness name the three inspectors who are investigating the matter.

The case arises out of the fact that a Japanese man, who claimed to be the witness, stated this morning that he was married to a woman twelve years ago and that he had three children by her, declaring that he was waiting for a divorce from her in order to marry another woman who is now in the custody of the immigration authorities. The wife is contesting the divorce suit and claims that her husband went to the immigration office and stated that he was the husband of the newly arrived woman.

PAIR OF COLONELS ON TRANSPORT THOMAS, GENERAL NOT ON BOARD

The army transport Thomas, which arrived in port at daylight this morning, did not have on board Major-General J. Franklin Bell, en route from the Philippines to command the 2nd Division, on the Mexican border. General Bell was scheduled to sail on the troopship, but while in Japan, awaiting the sailing of the Thomas, he learned by cable of the Mexican crisis, and sailed immediately for the United States on a line, by the northern route, to join his command as soon as possible. Mrs. Bell is on the Thomas, as is also General Bell's aide, Captain Charles H. Bridges.

Two colonels are among the Thomas' passengers. Colonel W. C. Butler, 24th Infantry, being on leave, as is also Colonel John B. Bennet, assistant chief of the Philippine Constabulary. Colonel Bennet is a major of infantry, holding his present rank during the detail. Major Philip M. Bannon, marine corps, is aboard the Thomas.

Morning on CHANGE

Brewery, in one sale which was made between boards, lost a half point. Oats, 70 shares of which changed hands, all during the session, started at 1 1/2 1/2. These sales were the only ones reported this morning.

JOHN NITPAN CUTS THROAT WITH RAZOR

Austrian, Long Resident of the Islands, Is Dead by His Own Hands

Plentifully supplied with funds, and a steamship passage from Honolulu to San Francisco in his possession, John Nitpan, an Austrian, a resident of the Hawaiian islands for more than 18 years, was found dead at a late hour last night, an inmate in a lodging house conducted by Tai Loy, near the intersection of Beretania and King streets, with throat slashed from ear to ear, a blood-stained razor still gripped by his lifeless fingers, while a crimson stream found its way under the door into a hallway that aroused the suspicion of other lodgers.

Breaking open the door, Nitpan's body was discovered lying on the floor. Some hours before, residents in the block had made complaint that much noise and talking had been heard in the room. The apartment was visited by a Chinese attendant, and he reported to the proprietor that the Austrian was talking to himself and acted as one demented or under the influence of liquor.

It was afterwards learned that Nitpan had not used intoxicating liquors. He was seen to bid farewell to several friends who took their departure for the coast in the Matsonia, sailing from Honolulu yesterday morning. Sheriff Jarrett, acting in the capacity of coroner, visited the scene and was given $105.25 in gold and silver coin that had been taken from the dead man, the sum being found in a purse. A steamer ticket to the coast in the Oceanic liner Sierra, scheduled to sail next Saturday, was included in his effects.

As far as could be ascertained through inquiry made by the police, the man was married, and has a family on Hawaii or Kauai. The sheriffs of these islands have been asked to assist in locating the missing relatives.

Sheriff Jarrett will conduct an inquest this afternoon.

ALFRED NOBLE PASSES AWAY IN NEW YORK

Word has reached here that Alfred Noble, probably the best known consulting civil engineer in America, died recently in New York, the result of an acute attack of pneumonia. Mr. Noble recently underwent an operation, and his weakened constitution, together with his advanced years, was not proof against the disease.

Mr. Noble was selected by Secretary of the Navy Daniels to come to Honolulu and make an investigation of the Pearl Harbor drydock situation, when the navy civil engineers and the representatives of the contractors failed to come together on a general plan of construction. He came to Oahu last year, and spent several weeks in investigating conditions, finally submitting a report that brought to light a number of new features connected with the splendid problem. While here Mr. Noble lived very quietly at the Moana Hotel, but all those with whom he came in contact were impressed with his kindly nature, and warm geniality.

Alfred Noble was born at Livonia, Michigan, August 7, 1844. During the civil war he served three years in the army of the Potomac and after his retirement from military duty entered the University of Michigan, from which he graduated in 1870.

From that time until 1882 he was in charge of extensive improvement work on St. Mary's Falls Canal and St. Mary's River. Subsequently he supervised the construction of important railway and other bridges across the Mississippi, served on the United States Board of Deep Waterways, and was a member of the board of consulting engineers of the Panama Canal.

In 1903 he was president of the American Society of Engineers and since 1897 had been prominent as a member of the Western Society of Engineers. His home was in New York City.

HUI NALU CLUB CALLS MEETING FOR TOMORROW

An important meeting of the members of the Hul Nalu club will be held Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Moana Hotel Tennis club house. This is the notice sent out by Francis Evans, secretary pro tempore of the club.

Among the important topics to be discussed will be the plans for the June swimming meet and also for the Pacific coast meet on July 4. Will Rawlins, who just returned from San Francisco, will make a report on the plans for the club house. The club members are making every effort to get the building under way.

After the business of the meeting has been disposed of the Hul Nalus quintet will play and sing several songs, business then to be forgotten for a good time.

MISS ETHEL CARTER, of the superintendent of public works office has tendered her resignation, to take effect at the end of the month.

CITY OWNED BUILDING IS FUTURE HOPE

"The governor is in favor of the municipality owning its own building," said W. H. McClellan, chairman of the ways and means committee of the board of supervisors this morning, after leaving the office of Governor Pinkham, accompanied by Supervisor Lester Petrie and Chas. J. McCarthy, city and county treasurer.

"But the governor does not want to set aside a site under the location of the proposed new postoffice is known. He feels that we should wait until Washington decides definitely on the postoffice site.

"He does not believe the present is a favorable time to put up a municipal building. He believes we should wait until we have enough money to build a municipal home that will be a credit to the city; and in that I agree with him.

"But the first thing is a site. He can turn over to us a site, and we can hold it until the times are ripe for our building enterprise. And this he seems in favor of doing—just as soon as the federal postoffice site is decided on."

Attorney-General Stainback appeared in the supreme court yesterday and supported the motion made by him that his report on the McCarn-McBride matter be amended slightly, as announced in the Star-Bulletin some days ago. The court allowed the motion.
