

GO ON

Members of Hoogs-Wadman Bridal Party

MISS HELEN McLEAN
Maid of Honor

MISS ALICE HOOGS
Bridesmaid

MRS. CYRIL JOHNSON HOOGS

MISS RUTH SOPER
Bridesmaid

MISS FANNY HOOGS
Bridesmaid

MISS MARGARET CENTER
Bridesmaid

CUPID, the fatal archer, has been more than cutting capers this past week. With one big wedding, a half dozen or more affairs in honor of brides-to-be, and the announcements of two or three new engagements, the little god should be more than pleased with the results of his labors. Hawaiian moonlight has ever proven a model innoculating agency for love, but it seems that in the months of May and June it is positively irresistible. As was brought out in the play, "All of a Sudden, Peggy," one may harbor the little germ for some time, perhaps through the winter months, but it takes the bright, happy days and soft dreamy evenings of May and June, to develop the case.

Thus, the calendar for these months is always full, for no sooner have we launched one bride upon the sea of matrimony than another announces her intention to follow, and the social ball is kept merrily rolling.

Hoogs-Wadman Wedding.

One of the most beautiful weddings of the year was that which took place last Tuesday evening at the Methodist Episcopal church, when Miss Franc Marcuerite Wadman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Wadman, became the bride of Mr. Cyril Johnson Hoogs.

The decorations for the occasion were exquisite. Mrs. Marjorie Smith, assisted by others of Miss Wadman's friends, had succeeded in transforming the church into a veritable green and white bower. The pulpit was a mass of ferns and greens relieved by large silver and gilt baskets filled with Shasta daisies and Marguerites, and tied with royal tuff bows of tulle. At either side, stood tall bowls of white Easter lilies, while in front was a large, glistening white arch, beneath which the bride and groom knelt. It was covered with hundreds of large white daisies with a touch of green here and there, and was surmounted by a snow-white dove in a cloud of filmy tulle.

The church was filled with relatives and friends and shortly after eight Miss Margaret Clarke took her position at the organ, playing a number of soft, rich melodies. Promptly at half past eight she broke into the sweet strains of the wedding march, and the bridal party entered the church.

The ushers, Mr. William Morgan, Mr. William Guderik, Mr. Frank Hoogs, and Mr. Walter Love led the way, followed by the four bridesmaids, Miss Fannie Hoogs, Miss Alice Hoogs, Miss Margaret Center, and Miss Ruth Soper, the two sisters leading. Their gowns were of white satin with a lace-trimmed bodice and a short tunic of American Beauty chiffon. They wore blue, white lace caps, fashioned after the tango caps, and having a bow of American Beauty chiffon in the back with streamers. Consistently or unconsciously, these caps were turned up in such a way as to suggest a Marguerite. Each bridesmaid carried three long-stemmed American Beauty roses.

Next came the maid of honor, Miss Helen McLean, gowned in American Beauty satin with rhinestone trimmings, made en train. She carried a shower bouquet of white Marguerites. Last came the bride on the arm of her father. She looked exceedingly beautiful in her ivory-satin robe trimmed with shadow lace and pearls, and her lovely silk veil which was caught up here and there and about her face with orange blossoms. Her train was short and pointed and she carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Her only ornament was a magnificent ring, a large opal surrounded by diamonds, which was the gift of the groom.

Rev. Mr. Wadman, assisted by Dr. Doremus Scudder, performed the ceremony, also giving the bride away.

Mr. William H. Hoogs, Jr., acted as best man for his brother.

Mrs. Wadman wore a stunning gown of white charmeuse satin with an overdrape of black lace and a flash of green. Her hat was white, trimmed with golden-tipped plumes.

The bride's gift to each of her four bridesmaids was a pair of rhinestone slipper buckles. Miss McLean, her maid of honor, she presented with a pearl brooch.

After the ceremony, an informal reception for the relatives and bridal party was held at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. and Mrs. Wadman, where congratulations and good wishes, as well as quantities of rice, were showered upon the young couple.

Later while the guests were busily looking over the array of exquisite gifts, Mr. and Mrs. Hoogs slipped away. They left for Kapapala ranch on Hawaii on Wednesday morning, where they will spend several weeks. Many friends were down to see them off, and wish them a pleasant trip. Mrs. Hoogs was radiant in a modish black and white checked traveling suit.

Upon their return from Hawaii, the young couple expect to spend a month at Kahala, after which they will be temporarily at home in Manoa valley.

Jorie Gilman, Ethel Carter, Margaret Waterhouse, Nora Sturgeon, Mary Lucas, Hattie Lucas, Agnes Buchanan, Fannie Hoogs, Mary Catton, Sarah Pratt, Helen Girvin, Belle McCriston, Alice Bond, Laura Atherton, Mrs. Richard Cooke, Mrs. Frank Thompson, Mrs. Jack Guard, Mrs. Ralph Johnstone, Mrs. Stubbs, Mrs. F. A. Baldwin, Mrs. Bruce Cartwright, Jr., Mrs. William B. Lymer, Mrs. Livingston, Mrs. Collins, Mrs. Robert Paris, Miss Eunice Pratt and Mrs. Smith.

Miss Clarke's Recital.
The pupils of Miss Margaret Clarke will give a piano recital on Monday afternoon at 3:15 o'clock in her studio at Punahou. Some time ago it was announced that Miss Clarke would give an evening recital in Bishop hall, but on account of the numerous other student activities at present she has decided to give instead a school recital on Monday.

All those who are interested are cordially invited to attend. The program, which promises to be interesting, will be as follows:

- Rondo in C major.....Beethoven
- Ruth Anderson.....Wrangell
- Arabesque.....Karganoff
- Berceuse.....Stavenhagen
- Menuette Scherzando.....Evelyn Webster
- Sing to Me, Sing.....Clayton Johns
- Etude.....Mildred Chapin
- Intermezzo from Suite in G. von Wilh. Shirely Foster
- Etude.....Jensen
- Sketch.....Dubois
- Hazel Buckland
- Reading-Epilogue to Lessing's Laocoon.....Matthew Arnold
- Catherine Ashley
- Berceuse On the Water
- Nocturne
- From Moonlight Sketches.....Esther Gronon
- Genevieve Young
- Characteristic Waltzes, Nos. 1, 2, 3.....Coteridge Taylor
- Florence Campbell

Mrs. Rietow's Birthday Party.
Mrs. Ray Rietow entertained a number of her friends with their little sons and daughters on Thursday afternoon in honor of her little son, Gibson's first birthday. The children's table was very prettily decorated, the centerpiece being an artistic arrangement of violets and sweetpeas. Mrs. Rietow was assisted in serving and in the entertaining of the children by Miss Miriam Stackler, Miss Mildred Chapin, Miss Gertrude Ripley, Mrs. Henry Ginaca, Miss Inez Gibson and Mrs. T. H. Gibson. Among those invited were: Mrs. Lewis Underwood and her baby, Way; Mrs. James Guild and daughter, Edith; Mrs. Nicoll with her twins, Beatrice and Barbara, and Nelvin, Jr.; Miss Iolani Ingalls, Mrs. T. Melanphy and Margaret; Mrs. Lorrin Smith with Lorrin, Jr.; Mrs. Kenneth Brown and Lila;

Mrs. McLean and Jessie; Mrs. Frank Barrere with Waldron; Mrs. Henry Berger and Lehua; Mrs. Jonas and Harriet; Mrs. Chandler with Dorrance Chandler; Mrs. Gus Prescott with Donald and Warren; Mrs. L'Homme-dieu and Charles; Mrs. Charles Smith with Rauline and Elsa; and Mrs. Marshall Webb and her daughter, Barbara.

Miss Howatt Honored.
Miss Marie von Holt was hostess at a very enjoyable supper last evening given in honor of Miss Muriel Howatt, who is soon to become a bride. The table was artistically decorated with pink begonias and fluffly maiden-hair ferns. Covers were placed for the Misses Muriel Howatt, Alice Cooke, Bertha Kopke, Esther Kopke, Laura Atherton, Lila McDonald, Ruth Harrison, Jessie Kennedy; Messrs. Alan Lowrey, Stanley Kennedy, Albert Horner, Walter Spalding, Cyril Spalding, Ed. Hedemann, Reginald Carter, Lieut. Robert C. Goetz, Lieut. Eugene W. Fales, Lieut. William C. Rose, Mr. Theodore Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Dowsett and Miss von Holt.

After supper, the young people journeyed to the Country Club, where dancing was enjoyed for the remainder of the evening.

Miss Esther Kopke entertained very informally, though none the less enjoyably, at tea on Thursday afternoon in honor of Miss Muriel Howatt. It was simply a gathering of a few of Miss Howatt's most intimate friends, who spent the afternoon sewing and chatting, after which dainty refreshments were served.

The Mission Play.
The Hawaiian Board of Missions held a very interesting meeting last Tuesday evening at Central Union church. A most original and clever program was arranged and given under the direction of Miss Ruth Shaw. The entertainment opened with a selection by the stringed quartet, consisting of Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, Mrs. E. A. Ross, Miss Elizabeth Hopper and Miss Alice Hopper, with Mrs. Howard Hitchcock at the piano.

This was followed by a very interesting masque called "The Spirit of Missions." The argument was as follows: The Spirit of the Missions, realizing that her work in this one-heaven land is nearly accomplished, pauses to review certain stages of that accomplishment, invisible to her workers, by her influence she causes some from among them to speak of different periods in its history. The periods represented were the Early Mission, Era of American Board in 1820; the Transition, Era of Hawaiian Board, 1870; and the Present, the Era of Community Service.

The cast for the masque was as follows:
The Missionary Mother.....Mrs. John P. Erdman
The President of the Woman's Board.....Mrs. Frank C. Atherton
The Treasurer of the Woman's Board.....Miss Kate Reynolds
The Social Worker.....Miss Mabel E. Boshier
The Spirit of Missions.....Miss Alice E. Knapp
Attendants:—Primitive chiefs and attendants:
Group of Honolulu workers.
At the conclusion of the program, Miss Bertha Kemp sang a delightful solo, the music of which was composed by Mrs. Walter F. Krear, while the words were written by Mrs. P. L. Weaver.

The County Fair.
It was announced that all of Honolulu was invited on Wednesday and Friday to visit the County Fair at Schofield Barracks, and it certainly seemed as if all of Honolulu took advantage of the invitation and went. The trains were crowded to overflowing while the long white road was hidden by one continuous dust cloud as the stream of machines speeded toward the plains of Leilehua. Of course, Governor Pinkham, Major-General and Mrs. Carter, Brigadier-General Edwards, Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, and all of the other prominent army and navy people, as well as all of the town people who could go, were there and enjoyed every moment of the varied entertainments. Most of the women of the barracks were hostesses at dinners in the evening besides taking part in the different events of the busy days. In brief, Wednesday and Friday were both gala days for Schofield Barracks and the County Fair was a huge success.

Miss Atherton's Luncheon.
Miss Laura Atherton was hostess at a delightful luncheon given yesterday afternoon at the Country Club in honor of Miss Muriel Howatt, who is soon to become a bride. The table was beautifully decorated with violets and sweet peas, while the place cards bore little handpainted sprays of violets. Beside each guest's plate was a dainty corsage bouquet of violets and sweetpeas. Covers were placed for the Misses Muriel Howatt, Alice Cooke, Bessie Hopper, Alice Hopper, Marie von Holt, Jessie Kennedy, Mary Lucas, Harriet Lucas, Sarah Lucas, Florence Gurrey, Ruth McSheeny, Marjorie Gilman, Fannie Hoogs, Mrs. Frank Hoogs, Mrs. Arthur Riee, Mrs. L. L. Sexton and Miss Atherton.

A Coming Wedding.
Miss Muriel Howatt has announced the 19th of this month as the date of her wedding to Mr. Theodore Cooke, which same will take place at St. Andrew's cathedral at half past eight o'clock in the evening.

Miss Alice Cooke will attend Miss Howatt as maid of honor, while Miss Laura Atherton, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Esther Kopke, and Miss Marie von Holt have been named as the bridesmaids.

Mr. Alan Lowrey will act as best man for Mr. Cooke, while the ushers will be Mr. William Hoogs, Mr. Richard Catton, Mr. David Larsen, and Mr. James Morgan.

Dr. and Mrs. Andrews' Bridge.
Dr. and Mrs. A. L. Andrews entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening at their home in Manoa valley. After an evening of spirited bidding Mrs. C. F. Schmutzler was awarded the lady's prize, while Mr. Herbert S. Walker captured the highest score for the men. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. K. B. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gaynor, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Schmutzler, Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Hunt, Miss Irene Aiken and Mr. Herbert S. Walker.

SOCIAL CALENDAR FOR THE WEEK.

- Wadman-Hoogs Wedding.
- Miss Atherton's Luncheon.
- Dr. and Mrs. Andrews' Bridge.
- Kunahu Chowder.
- Miss Clarke's Recital.
- Mrs. Smith's Tea.
- Mrs. MacCaughy's Tea.
- Mrs. Rietow's Birthday Party.
- Women Honored.
- The "County Fair."
- The Mission Play.
- Birthday Dinner.
- Engagement Announced.
- Miss Howatt Honored.
- Miss Kopke's tea.
- "A Spring Garden."
- Moani Music Club.
- Fort Shafter Reception.
- An Omaha Wedding.

Mrs. MacCaughy's Tea.
Mrs. Vaughan MacCaughy entertained the ladies of the faculty of the College of Hawaii at tea this afternoon at her home in Manoa valley. The rooms were very prettily decorated with potted ferns and many different varieties of red flowers. The ladies brought their sewing bags and a busy and much enjoyed afternoon delicious tea was served. Those present were Mrs. Frank Dillingham, Mrs. John M. Young, Mrs. Arthur Keller, Mrs. John Illingworth, Mrs. W. A. Bryan, Mrs. Letson, Mrs. A. L. Andrews, Mrs. Cousins, Mrs. John McTearart, Miss Florence Lee, Mrs. E.

of having to omit a large part, brought out the real psychology and fine spirit of Jane Austen admirably. This comedy of character may be divided into two kinds of action from the actor's point of view, the inner and outer action. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett, the principle representatives of the outward action, had so given themselves over to their task and so lived themselves into their parts, that they brought out the contrast between themselves really excellently and deserved hearty applause. Mr. Collins, the so-called "faux devot," had certainly spent much thought on his part and played it indeed well, but not exactly according to Jane Austen's own idea. Mr. Darcy and Elizabeth, the principals of the inner action, undoubtedly had the hardest work to do, as they had to express everything through facial expression, not through any definite action. In their characters lies the conflict between pride and prejudice. The ladies had courage to undertake the parts, but were certainly clever in their interpretations. All the minor parts were well sustained, especially those of Jane, Miss Bingley and Sir William Lucas.

The whole performance was very good and very harmonious for amateurs. The chief lesson in such productions lies in the willingness of each taking part to subordinate the individual to the whole, and to give up any personal caprice. Of course, really worth while, aesthetic opinions which assist in the artistic success of the whole, should be considered. The charming scenery with the out-of-door background made the entrances and exits especially attractive and added greatly to the general charm, as did the costumes also. Mrs. Castle certainly gave her audience two very interesting hours.

An Omaha Wedding.
News comes to us through the Omaha World-Herald of the wedding of considerable interest to many Honoluluans, which took place in Omaha on April 18th.

Trinity Cathedral was the scene Wednesday evening of one of the largest and prettiest of the spring weddings when at the hour of eight Miss Berth Emessa Dickey, daughter of Mrs. John Jay Dickey, and Mr. Harold Blomfield Brown of Honolulu, were united in marriage by Dean James A. Tancock.

Previous to the wedding hour, Mr. Ben Stanley, organist of the cathedral, gave a concert. For the entrance of the bridal party he played the Lohengrin "Wedding March," during the ceremony he rendered "Santus," and for the recessional, the Mendelssohn "March," following which the chiming of the cathedral were rung for the bridal couple.

The bridesmaids were Miss Daphne Peters, Miss Mary Burkle, and Miss Katherine Thummel, and were followed by Miss Helen Goble, cousin of the bride, who was maid of honor. The bride entered on the arm of her brother, Mr. Lisle Dickey of Tulsa, Okla., and was given in marriage by her mother, Mrs. Dickey.

The bride wore a beautiful gown of point applique over white charmeuse. The bodice was made "V" neck, edged with pearls, short sleeves, draped with white tulle and lace. Her long tulle veil was held in place with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The only jewel worn was a lavelier, set in platinum with diamonds, the gift of the groom.

Mr. and Mrs. Blomfield-Brown have gone to Monterey, Cal., for their wedding trip, and will fall from that place for Honolulu on April 28. They will be at home after June 1 at Wahiawa, Oahu, Territory of Hawaii.

The bride's traveling suit was a tailored gown of blue cordelion, short jacket with bouffant skirt. With this she wore a Milan straw hat to match, trimmed with pink rosebuds, and wore a corsage of lilies of the valley and Killarney roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Blomfield Brown arrived on the Manchuria last Tuesday and are at present the guests of the bride's uncle, Mr. C. H. Dickey.

Engagement Announced.
A most enjoyable little supper was given on Thursday evening by Miss Marjorie Smith, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Smith, who made it the occasion of announcing her engagement to Mr. Edward Roberts Tracy. The rooms were artistically decorated with white Easter lilies and brown-eyed Marguerite. In the center of the table were arranged two groupings of maidenhair fern. The place-cards were attractive little scenes decorated with tiny hearts. From each card, a white ribbon extended to the center plates, fastened to the end of which, and hidden beneath the flowers was found a little heart-shaped leaflet, together with a lovely white carnation. Inside the former, was a small picture of Miss Smith and Mr. Tracy. The young couple were immediately showered with the best wishes of those present, who were: Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Gaynor, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Emmons, Miss Cornelia McCarr, Miss Bess Kenner, Mr. Glen Jackson, Mr. Dan King, Mr. George Banta, Miss Marilla Smith, Mr. E. R. Tracy, and Miss Marjorie Smith.

Moani Music Club.
The young ladies of the Moani Music club enjoyed their last and largest meeting of the year this afternoon at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hoogs on Makiki street. Each member had the privilege of inviting three guests, so the room was quite crowded. Besides the excellent program scheduled, Miss Avis Tates, delighted her audience with two violin solos. After the musical entertainment, delicious refreshments were served.

Those taking part on the program were: Miss Stella Hoogs, Miss Albee Gibb, Miss Gertrude Turner, Miss Peggy Campbell, Miss Genevieve Young, Miss Beth Woods, Miss Julia Campbell, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Dorothy Hoogs, and Miss Glenn Macken.

Lovers of Jane Austen and of "Pride and Prejudice" in particular, must have been keenly interested in the performance of Jane Austen's book as given last week at the Alfred Castle and in the characterization of each taking part. Mrs. Castle dramatized the novel herself, and in spite