FOREIGN TRADE DEPENDS ON NAVAL SUPREMACY

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—In financial circles here it is felt that there will be no immediate approach to normal business conditions relating to international credits and foreign trade. So soon as there is a decisive naval engagement and the mastery of the sea has been determined, it is thought that there will be resumption of foreign trade on a considerable scale, but not before.

BRITAIN WANTED TOO BIG A PRICE

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.—Prior to the German attack upon the Fort at Liege, Belgium, England attempted to impose as a price for her neutrality conditions which would have rendered the German navy inactive, thus giving Great Britain advantages to be gained only by the successful carrying out of the war by Germany. This is the gist of a statement given out today by Consul von Hainhausen, active head of the German embassy at Washington.

U. S. Representatives in Trouble Zone

The United States foreign representatives will be called upon to exercise the greatest diplomacy during the present war in Europe. Following are some of those upon whose judgment the attitude of the United States must hinge: No. 1, Maurice Francis Egan, envoy to Denmark; No. 2, Brand Whitlock, envoy to Belgium; No. 3, Thomas Nelson Page, ambassador to Italy; No. 4, James W. Gerard, ambassador to Germany; No. 5, George T. Marye, ambassador to Russia; No. 6, Henry Van Dyke, envoy to the Netherlands and Luxembourg; No. 7, George W. EUROPEAN BEET SUGAR INDUSTRY TO BE HARD HIT

Hundreds of Thousands of Russian Laborers Withdrawn From Germany

The effects of a European war will be to hit hard the sugar beet industry, particularly in Germany, is the belief of sugar men here, who, however, are chary about setting a figure on the price to which sugar may go if a general war continues for any number of months.

These estimates are borne out by statements of German experts as to the probable effects of a European war. In 1912 Freiherr von Busche Kessel, director of the German Labor Bureau of Berlin, wrote:

"The Balkan war, if limited to the Powers warring at present (at that time Turkey, Bulgaria and one or two other Balkan states) will scarcely affect our industrial development. But if a world war breaks out, the conditions would be different. The farmer would not worry about lack of workmen the factory needs, but immigration for the benefit of either industry or agriculture would cease. In such a case we have no means of finding a remedy. However, it would be a greater calamity for Germany, if, without her men going to fight, Austria and Russia were to mobilize and keep at home the men who otherwise would engage in agricultural pursuits."

At the annual meeting of the East German Union of Sugar Factories in February, 1913, Dr. C. Mayer of Berlin uttered these significant words with regard to the effect of war on the European beet-sugar industry:

"You are all aware of the fact that the German sugar industry and the beet-growing agriculturists depend very largely on foreign labor to carry on their work. Dark clouds have appeared on the political horizon and our (Continued on page three)

RUMORED REMOVAL OF GOVERNOR SOON EXPLODED IN WASHINGTON

One-Day Sensation Caused by Efforts of Little Clique to Embarrass Pinkham

By C. S. ALBERT

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence] WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 8.—The rumored removal of Lucius E. Pinkham as governor of Hawaii created a good one-day sensation here. The intimation that the recall was being put in operation by the president started at the White House. It spread rapidly to all of the big departments. Within an hour all the telephones communicating with the office of Secretary Lane were busy. In the end it developed that nobody seemed to know anything about the report. The ghost was laid but the permanence of its subsidence is conjectural.

When the rumor that Governor Pinkham had been withdrawn spread all over the city, Secretary Lane was absent on a brief vacation, from which he has not returned. All his assistants and aides declared that no communication to the governor has passed through their hands or the interior department. They considered it impossible that any action of the character indicated had been taken by the president without consultation with Secretary Lane, or transmitted through his department. They expressed unlimited amazement at the number of telephonic inquiries coming from various sources.

Those who know President Wilson best realize that he would be the last man to desert one of his own selections for office, or remove him without full investigation and hearing. It seems impossible that any change in the Hawaiian governorship can be under consideration by the president. Despite this kind of reasoning the rumors persist.

TWO CIRCUIT BENCH PLACES FINALLY FILLED

Ashford and Edings Confirmed by the Senate Late Yesterday

"WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 7. "Ashford and Edings confirmed this evening."
"Albert."

The above cable message was received by the Star-Bulletin late yesterday afternoon and the news at once communicated to Attorneys Clarence W. Ashford and W. S. Edings, who by action of the senate confirming their nominations are elevated to the territorial circuit bench.

Judge Edings said that he may receive a cablegram from the attorney-general directing him to take the oath of office before the supreme court and assume the Maui judgeship at once, even though his commission has not yet arrived. This is probable through the precedent of recent supreme bench appointments.

Judge Edings succeeds Judge Sheldon H. Kingsbury and Judge Ashford succeeds to the vacancy left by Judge Henry E. Cooper who quit office at the end of his term. This is the first judgeship of the territory since the BLOODY FIGHTING BEFORE LIEGE.

LIEGE, Belgium, August 8.—Refusing the 24-hour armistice asked by the Germans to succor their wounded and bury their dead, the Belgian forces are engaged today in bloody combat before the gates of the city.

The battling is of the most ferocious character. The Belgian forts are still untaken and are directing a deadly fire upon the charging German columns.

A German division which had penetrated the city retired when Belgian reinforcements arrived.

The trenches surrounding the city are filled with dead four deep, proof of the determined nature both of the assault and the defense.

President Poincaré of France has bestowed upon the city of Liege the Cross of the Legion of Honor in recognition of the brave stand made by the Belgians against the German invaders.

French cavalry is beginning to arrive near Liege to reinforce the Belgian defenders.

+ RISE IN STOCKS IS HELD UNWARRANTED +
+ Several well-informed and conservative financiers expressed the belief this morning that the rise on the local stock-market is unwarranted and that the element of speculation is entering too strongly.
+ "A word of warning is not amiss at this time," said a man this morning, who is in close touch with conditions. "The market is likely to be overstimulated because of the speculation. This rise is not warranted by the facts of the industry, particularly with free sugar in 1914 market."
