The Bauer Concert.

Honolulu is indeed the musician's Mecca, exponents of that art always finding a hearty welcome and excellent patronage in the Paradise of the Pacific. On Monday evening, when the final appearance at the Hawaiian Opera house, society gathered at the place of amusement en masse. And matrons and maids arrayed in fashion's latest modes gladly gave up frivolous entertainments and spent an enjoyable evening with the musician. It was noticed that many of the women who have devoted much time to the study of music carried with them copies of the selections the musician rendered and followed the music as he played, paying particular attention to his new mode of phrasing. Mr. Bauer made a host of friends in the islands when he visited Honolulu a few months ago and many in the audience were personally acquainted with the pianist.

Some of those noticed at the entertainment were Mrs. W. D. Westervelt, Mrs. George Castle, Miss Beatrice Castle, Miss Stevens, Mrs. Elia Cross Howard, Dr. and Mrs. S. D. Barnes, Professor and Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Agnes Judd, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Tulloch, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, Miss Ermine Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Will Love, Mrs. Royal D. Mead, Miss Mary Moore, Professor and Mrs. Hermann J. Hering, Mr. and Mrs. Wallace R. Farrington, Mr. and Mrs. John Dominis, Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Miss Nora Sturgeon, Mr. and Mrs. Newcomb, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur G. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Balch, Mr. and Mrs. William Thompson, Mrs. Brodero, Mrs. Lydia Ogan, Mrs. J. B. Atherton, Mrs. Arthur Arledge, Mr. and Mrs. F. Prosser, Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Mrs. Albert Horner, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Richards, Mr. and Mrs. C. Heidemann, Mr. and Mrs. George B. Carter, Miss Elizabeth Carter, Mrs. C. B. Cooper, Mrs. F. A. Schaefer, Miss Pauline Schaefer, Miss Richarda, Miss Sutherland, Mrs. Charles Adams, and Mrs. B. F. Dillingham. At the close of the first half of the performance, Mr. Bauer was presented with a number of beautiful floral pieces, one of them being an attractive arrangement of carnations, a gift of the Morning Music Club.

Children's Party.
In celebration of his seventh birthday, Master Chasley Cooke, the young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, entertained a number of his young friends on Friday afternoon at the Cooke home in Manoa valley. Several hours were spent in children's games after which the goodies that are the delight of every child were served to the youngsters. Among those present were the Misses Marguerite Ault, Martha Cooke, Anna Cooke, Mary Alexander, Betty Lindsay, Gwendolyn Gurrey, Betty Steere, Caroline Cooke, Kenneth Ault, Norman Ault, Clarence Cooke, Harry Cooke, Jack Myatt, Jack Bottomley, Wallace Waterhouse, Jack Waterhouse, Richard Gurrey, Frederick Steere and Charley Cooke.

At Haleswa.
Haleswa has indeed been the center of much jollification for the past two weeks, for many of the army ladies whose husbands are with the 2nd Infantry have been at the hotel, which is also miles distant from the camp. There have been a number of little motor and dinner parties there too, at which the army folk have entertained.

Mrs. Ernest Alvin Coons, formerly Miss Edith Maud Warrington of Berkeley, California, who, with her husband is now visiting here.

To Study Art.
Miss Rosamond Swanzy, the talented daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Swanzy, left for the mainland in the Wilhelmina last week and is on her way to New York, where she is planning to study in the New York Art League.

Leaving Hawaii.
Mrs. W. B. Deas, with her daughter Miss Milward Deas, arrived in Honolulu Thursday from their home on Maui and will leave in the Matsonia on Wednesday for the mainland. The Deases expect to make Berkeley their future home. Miss Deas was a member of the class of 1914 of Punahou Academy and for several years has

TALES OUT OF SCHOOL

Honolulu, Sept. 15.

Dearest Polly:
Of course it's lonesome here without all you girls but just the same I know I am going to love Honolulu. School teachers are not at all out of society here, though quite contrary to the impression I had there are not ten men ready to snatch up girls; on the contrary there are dozens of Honolulu girls, extremely beautiful, who will naturally be first choice.

School opened last Monday but I have not had a single minute to write to you. It seems that Punahou is the institution where the young children of the society folks seek their education. The girls dress wonderfully, and they are not a single minute behind the times in their headgear. They all wear the French twist.

Yes indeed, everybody here is dance crazy. My Mary Gunn has just come back from New York, and what do you think? She has taken lessons of the Vernon Castles and is prepared to teach society the latest inventions of the Casie House. Miss Hazel Buckland, who, by the way, is one of the most popular members of the younger set, has returned from San Francisco and it is rumored that she, too, is going to open classes in dancing. She has already opened classes for the tiny tots, but she has scores of friends here of her own age who want to take lessons of her. For the few of us who cannot spare the time for these classes, there is something almost as good in view. Both the Ladies' Home Journal and the Woman's Home Companion of this month have illustrations and directions for two of the new dances. The Ladies' Home Journal shows colored pictures of the Vernon Castles, and the directions are so explicit that the steps of the Castie Polka will easily be learned. The Woman's Home Companion illustrates Laura Jane Sawyer and her partner in the Maxixe. Then, of course, there are the new hesitations but I guess we will learn those a little later on.

It seems that they have no formal opening of the season here. But the Honolulu folks are wonderful at the most informal affairs and it seems that almost everyone entertains the whole year around.

A number of the town houses are closed at present, their occupants seeking refuge from the summer heat at the seashore and the mountains Kapaia, which is quite a ways out of town, is thickly populated with society folks who in all probability will remain there until October, for they tell me it is quite warm here through September.

I don't mind the heat in the least for I have a guest card at the Outrigger Diving Club, and find relief in the coolness there. That, by the way, is one of the most popular places of entertainment on the seaside and ever so many parties are given there every week.

The beautiful new mansion of the George Shermans on Nuanini Avenue is almost completed and they expect to move into it in the near future.

The Matsonia on Tuesday brought quite a number of honeymoon couples to Honolulu. Strange, all the newlyweds seem to think Honolulu the most romantic spot in the world. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Alvin Coons are here for a short time and are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gifford in Manoa Valley. The Billy Kings, another pair of these honeymooners, have come to Honolulu to live. They were married in Los Angeles two weeks ago. Mrs. King was the popular Ida Busser of Berkeley. You probably remember that the family went to Los Angeles a little while after they made the trip to Honolulu and Australia about a year ago. Then there are the Bibbers, who are spending their honeymoon at the Moana hotel.

The Manoa this week carried off Jack and Carer Galt, who are on their way to college. Everyone seems sorry for they are such jolly chaps and were much in demand at all the parties given by the younger set.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Gay, who have been here and at their home on Kuaui through the summer, expect to leave for the east in the Matsonia next week. Everyone is sorry for Mrs. Gay is such a charming woman it is a pleasure to entertain and be entertained by her.

The class bell has rung so I must stop all this gossip, but you will hear from me again next week.

Engagements.
Engagements are an ever interesting topic of conversation and while there seems to be a lull in the announcements in Honolulu, Cupid is quite busy elsewhere. An engagement announced in Oakland recently will be of interest to the army folk in Honolulu and particularly those who have been in the Philippines recently. A few days ago Miss Alice Hall of Oakland announced her engagement to Lieutenant Rapp Brush, U. S. A., to a few of the younger matrons and debutantes of the Oakland smart set. The engagement is the outcome of a romance that began during Miss Hall's recent visit to her brother in Manila. Lieutenant Brush, who is a son of General Daniel Brush, U. S. A., retired, is stationed in Manila. His regiment has been ordered to leave for the coast in February and it is expected that the wedding will take place then.

Dance at the Moana Hotel.
A pleasant affair of the week was the dance given by the management of the Moana hotel for the officers passing through Honolulu in the transport Logan on Monday evening. The

Honolulu Girl Complimented.

Mrs. J. Stowell of San Francisco entertained delightfully at tea recently in honor of Miss Ethel Fairweather of Honolulu who is visiting friends in California. An enjoyable afternoon was devoted to music and "conversations." Among those who contributed to the musical program were Miss Fairweather, the guest of honor, Mrs. Lowry, Miss Ruby Stuart, Mrs. Le Grosse, Miss Miriam Parke and Miss Lillian Capp.

Dinner at the Courtland.

With an attractive centerpiece of red carnations and red-shaded candelabras casting a rosy glow over the table, Mr. H. Ferg entertained a few guests at the Courtland on Sunday evening. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Myers, Mrs. Foucar, Mrs. H. Kennedy, Miss Schlader, Mr. Ferg and Mr. H. Ferg.

An Informal Dinner.

One of the week's informal affairs was the dinner at which Colonel and Mrs. Brownwell entertained on Tuesday evening at their home in Manoa.

Coons-Warrington.

One of Berkeley's pretty brides whom Honolulu is entertaining at present is Mrs. Ernest Alvin Coons (Edith Maud Warrington). The wedding which took place at Berkeley at the home of the bride was the culmination of a pretty romance begun when Mr. Coons and his bride were child playmates. A Berkeley paper of recent date gives the following partial account of the wedding:

"The Warrington home was ablaze Saturday night with a profusion of pale pink chrysanthemums and Japanese lilies, combined with a wealth of greenery when Edith Maud Warrington became the bride of Ernest Alvin Coons. Banks of flowers and potted palms tied with filmy ropes of white tulle formed an aisle in the living room through which the bridal party passed, while big jars and clusters of the blossoms also adorned the rooms."
"Miss Warrington was attended by Miss Annette Hunly of Los Angeles as maid of honor and by Miss Nell O'Brien of Los Angeles and Miss Florence O'Rourke of Berkeley as bridesmaids. The maid of honor led the bridal party, dainty in a gown of pale blue chiffon veiled in pink and draped with lace. The bridesmaids were dressed in white satin gowns with tulle of net and lace.

"Miss Warrington was unusually lovely in a handsome creation of white satin with a bodice of Carriek Muckross lace, the gown being fashioned with a long court train. A veil of filmy tulle fell from a wreath of tiny white butterfly orchids, while white orchids formed a shadow bouquet.

"A large number of guests came up from the south to attend the wedding, the groom's family being prominent in Los Angeles, where the Warringtons also formerly resided.

"Mrs. Coons is the charming daughter of Mrs. Mary B. Warrington."
"Mr. and Mrs. Coons will be in Honolulu for some little time and will be the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gifford. With Mr. and Mrs. Bibbero, who are also here on their honeymoon, the young couple left for a short trip to the volcano in the Matsonia on Thursday, but will return tomorrow morning.

"The young bride was one of the most popular of the society girls of Berkeley and also of Los Angeles. She and Mr. Coons will make their home in the southern city where Mr. Coons is engaged in business.

Spending Their Honeymoon in Hawaii.

The wedding of Miss Ida Marguerite Busser, the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Busser of Berkeley, California, and William Heath Dean King of Honolulu was the culmination of a happy romance begun on the Sierra last year when the young couple were on their way to Honolulu. Miss Busser, with her parents, was en route to Australia, and Mr. King was a member of the victorious Hui Nalu Swimming Club who were returning to the islands with a number of trophies. Six days on the ocean, six moonlight nights, and a great deal of Hawaiian music were indeed strong champions of Dan Cupid, and before the Sierra docked at the wharf Miss Busser had promised to make Honolulu her future home. The Bussers remained in Honolulu a week, during which time the romance progressed and Miss Busser made a grand proposal to her new home when she arrived here with Mr. King on Tuesday.

The Kings were married in Berkeley on the 5th of September, just a year after the pretty bride had left for her California home. The wedding was very quiet, only the relatives and close friends of the bride being present. Mrs. King graduated from Miss Head's school in 1913, and it was only a month after her graduation that she met Mr. King, Mr. Brasser, her father, has charge of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railway system and is well known all over California.

Mr. King is the son of the late Capt. James A. King, who for a number of years after the overthrow of the monarchy was minister of the Interior of the Republic of Hawaii, and who for years was also manager of the Wilder Steamship Company. Will King is an assistant collector of customs and is well known in Honolulu. He is a brother of Samuel Wilder King, U. S. N., now in the Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. King have taken a little cottage on Beach walk, for both the bride and groom are fond of swimming.

Social for the New Teachers.

The members of the Women's Society of Central Union Church were charming hostesses on Thursday afternoon when they entertained at a pleasant reception for the new teachers who have come to Hawaii this year.

The affair took place, was a veritable bower of dainty pink begonias and potting palms. Informally resigned supreme all afternoon and old residents of Honolulu mingled with the new. A pleasing literary and musical program was rendered, after which refreshments, for which the ladies of Central Union church are famous, were served. Some among those present were Miss Buchanan, Mrs. Foster, Miss Jones, Miss Sutherland, Miss Mullicha, Miss Pitts, Miss Fowler, Miss Day, Miss Long and Miss Little, all of whom are new teachers; and Mrs. Schunzler, Mrs. McNeil, Mrs. Coan, Mrs. J. B. Althoff, Miss Genevieve Young, Miss Nora Sturgeon, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Susan Clark, Miss Brantman, Miss Margaret Waterhouse, Mrs. Henry Waterhouse, Mrs. Randolph G. Moore, Mrs. I. H. Gere, Mrs. George Sutherland, Miss Caldwell, Mrs. Rowland and Miss Anderson.

Vacation on Molokai.

Having spent an out enjoyable fortnight as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George P. Cooke on Molokai, Miss Nora Swanzy and Miss Alice Cooke will return to the city tomorrow morning. Letters from the young women have contained amusing stories of their experiences in hunting, fishing and riding.

Homeward Bound.
Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Howatt have received a cablegram from their daughter, Mrs. Theodore Cooke (Muriel Howatt), with the glad news that she and Mr. Cooke have arrived safely in New York and are on their way home by the shortest and speediest route. Mr. and Mrs. Cooke sailed for Europe a few months ago, planning on a wedding trip to last at least a year. The war crisis on the continent forced them to change their plans and they are anxious to return to the Isles of Peace.
