The Vogue of the Ukulele.
The ukulele, Hawaii's own instrument, is being treated with much favor on the mainland and is to be given more prominence than in former years, according to an article in the San Francisco News Letter. Alvin and Kelvin Keech, two Honolulu boys whose musical talents won fame for them in their island home, are now taking steps towards making the ukulele popular in California.

The News Letter says of them: "San Francisco has always been fond of the plaintive music of Hawaii. It has long since taken the ukulele to its heart. So there is a great deal of satisfaction in musical circles at the announcement that the Keech brothers have opened a studio here. Kelvin Keech and Alvin Keech scarcely need an introduction. The many San Franciscans who mingle from time to time in Honolulu society know them well. They are Hawaiian-born Americans, with special prominence in college and fraternity circles. In the islands they operate the largest ukulele factory in the world. The Keech ukulele is famous because it is the genuine Hawaiian musical instrument, and not an imitation. So it is very interesting to know that the brothers have fitted up two stories of the building at 435 Powell street as a studio for handling the beautiful instruments. The Keech brothers are prepared to give instruction on the ukulele, either to individuals or to clubs. They furnish native Hawaiian singers for dances, teas and concerts and naturally their talent is the very best procurable. Kelvin Keech, by the way, has just completed a ukulele instruction book. This is a noteworthy achievement, as he has standardized the ukulele and Hawaiian music."

Honolulu will be amused to note that, the Keech brothers own the largest ukulele factory in the world and that it is situated in Honolulu, for when they were in the islands the boys were too busy with their studies and music to operate a factory of any kind. The San Francisco papers, however, are always willing to make residents of Honolulu prominent in the business world, and Honolulu are usually credited with being sons of sugar planters, if not the planters themselves, or kings in various industries.

another of the younger matrons in the army set.

Lieut. Halloran is with the 2nd Infantry, stationed at Fort Shafter and is one of the most popular young officers at the post. The news of the engagement was unexpected but already Lieut. Halloran's friends are planning entertainments for the bride-elect.

Mrs. A. E. Schlanser to Entertain.
Mrs. A. E. Schlanser, wife of Dr. A. E. Schlanser, has cards out for a bridge tea on Friday afternoon to be given in honor of Miss Harriet Ellis at the Schlanser's bungalow, Pensacola street.

Miss Ellis has been visiting her sister, Mrs. R. O. Mason, wife of Capt. R. O. Mason, at Schofield Barracks, and while there she met Lieut. Percy Deshon, one of the younger officers in the 1st Field Artillery, to whom her engagement was announced a few days ago. The date for the wedding has been set for the 22d of December and will be one of the elaborate social functions at the army post.

Miss Ellis has been feted extensively since her arrival at Schofield and there are numerous entertainments planned for her during the coming two weeks.

Mrs. Castendyk is one of the most charming society women of the Crescent City, and entertains extensively at her Reed's Island home.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Wood, Jr., who have been visiting in the islands and who have been entertained extensively during their stay here, left for the mainland yesterday.

Returning to Honolulu in the Matsonia were Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Brown, who have been visiting their summer home in Boston.

Mr. and Mrs. Bode Smith, who spent their honeymoon in Hawaii, were departing passengers in the Manoa.

A Birthday Party.
Celebrating his seventh birthday, Allen Moore, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Moore, entertained a number of his boy friends at a moving picture party. After spending the afternoon watching the screen they indulged in ice cream, and then spent an hour or so inspecting the toys in the toy shops. Those present were Dowssett Brewster, James Brewster, Howard Benner, Donald Young, Howard Moore and Allen Moore.

Miss Myrtle Schuman to Remain on the Mainland.
It was with keen disappointment that the members of the younger set learned that Miss Myrtle Schuman plans to remain on the mainland for some months. Miss Schuman is one of the most beautiful of Honolulu's girls and is popular in the social affairs of the younger folk. She plans to remain in Berkeley for some time to come.

Pretty Wedding at Kau.
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
KAU, December 5.—The people of Kau witnessed a very pretty wedding last week, when Mrs. Louise Campbell became the bride of Mr. Wilmot Vredenburg at the home of Mrs. McCarthy of Waiohino. The McCarthy residence was prettily decorated with palms, asparagus fern and white Shasta daisies. Miss Evelyn de la Nux played the wedding march. The bride looked very sweet in a beautiful gown of white embroidered pina silk. She carried a bridal bouquet of white roses and ferns. Amid showers of rice, the bride threw her bouquet, which was caught by Miss Evelyn de la Nux. The guests were then taken to the Waiohino hall, where they all enjoyed a most delicious luau, after which everyone danced until a late hour. The young people received many beautiful gifts. They will reside at the Kahuna ranch of which Mr. Vredenburg is manager. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Ogg, Mr. James Ogg, Mr. and Mrs. J. Lino, Miss Gibson, Miss L. Melnecke, Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Potter, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. de la Nux, Misses Zalida and Evelyn de la Nux, Mr. and Mrs. W. Lowrey, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gibb, Mr. and Mrs. Apiki, Judge and Mrs. Hayselden, Miss Emma Kahiwa, Mr. and Mrs. Smith, Miss L. Auld, Mrs. Nora Vredenburg, Messrs. R. Kay, W. Gibb, L. Forrest, Chas Macomber, C. Melnecke, Mr. and Mrs. G. Becker, Miss D. Feder, Miss Chang, Mr. and Mrs. A. Patten, Mr. E. Edwards, Mrs. H. Bartells, Mr. and Mrs. F. Eaton, Mrs. McCarthy, Rev. Fr. James and others.

Spending Their Honeymoon in Hawaii.
The Matsonia arriving in Honolulu yesterday brought three young married couples who are spending their honeymoon in the islands. They were Mr. and Mrs. N. C. Strong, Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Macleish and Dr. and Mrs. O. C. Large.

KAIMUKI FOLK HOLD SOCIAL GATHERING

Kaimuki had one of the pleasant community gatherings last night which the local improvement club occasionally gets up, about 150 people, including school children, coming together in the assembly hall of Liliuokalani school. C. S. Cran and A. F. Cooke had charge of the arrangements.

First came an impromptu variety entertainment by members of the Honolulu School for Boys, which revealed a large amount of budding comic talent, the program comprising: Dress parade of Gen. Bluffmusk's army, recitation of Hood's "A Parental Ode to my Son," a violin solo, Chinese orchestra, "Anchored," sung by the glee club; recitation of Tennyson's "The Revenge," and performance of the "Hoosier School" burlesque.

Next came dancing to excellent music by the local Maile sextet, which was enjoyed until 10 o'clock. During the evening fine fruit punch was served by ladies in the lobby.

Mrs. Hyde-Smith Entertained.
Mrs. Eleanor Hyde-Smith, who left Honolulu some months ago to visit relatives in San Francisco, was the guest of honor recently at an elaborate luncheon at which Mrs. Alexander Garceau entertained.

Miss Anna Paris, who has been traveling through the East for nearly two years, was a homecoming passenger in the Matsonia. Miss Paris is one of the charter members of the Daughters of Hawaii and is active and enthusiastic in the work of the organization, of which she is the historian. It is expected that Miss Paris will have many interesting things to tell the Daughters at their next meeting.

Mr. J. B. Atherton, who has been on the mainland for a few months, was a homecoming passenger in the Matsonia. She was accompanied by Mrs. Theodore Richards, who sailed for San Francisco a little more than a month ago to meet her mother, Mrs. Atherton.

St. Clement's Guild Sale.
The ladies of St. Clement's Guild are busily preparing for the sale they are to have in the Blaisdell building next Saturday morning. There will be any number of dainty things for Christmas gifts, that will surely attract hundreds of people. Pretty fan bags and party bags fashioned from the daintiest Dresden ribbon will be a feature of one of the tables.

There is little need to speak of the delicatessen table, for the ladies of St. Clement's have a reputation for the cakes, pies and candies they have for disposal at their sales. There will be an unusually large supply of these sweets at the coming sale for the one complaint made of similar affairs given on previous occasions is that there has never been enough cake and candy.

The sale will be the last of the season, and it will be one of the best, according to the ladies who are working so earnestly for it.

Engagements Announced.
The news of an engagement announced in Alameda, California, recently will be somewhat of a surprise to Honolulu society folk. Late in November at an informal social gathering the engagement of Miss Retta Boyd Hunter to Lieut. George M. Halloran was made known.

Miss Hunter is a charming girl and is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hunter of Alameda. The definite date for the wedding has not been announced as yet but it is rumored that the marriage will take place in the near future, and Honolulu will have

Mr. and Mrs. C. Castendyk of Honolulu arrived in Honolulu yesterday and will remain several weeks in the islands.
