of importance to the officials of the meet and other competitors since the A. A. U. rules forbid those who have competed against professionals from participating in races against Simon pure amateurs. The men of the various regiments were all anxious enough to furnish any data called for but unfortunately they had but hazy recollections upon which to base certificates so the Carnival authorities decided to place the enlisted men's races in a separate class. This class will be called immediately upon the conclusion of the regular swimming races and will consist of two events. The first will be a 100-yard dash open to all men of the army duly designated to represent a regiment or similar organization, and the second will be a team relay race of six men each. In this race each member of a team will be required to swim 75 yards. A handsome cup provided by the Carnival will be awarded the winner of the single and a larger and more elaborate cup for the team event. The time of the races will be on Saturday afternoon immediately following the Carnival swimming meet. There will be a big field in both events as the full limit of entries has been made by all organizations entitled to representation in the races. The 2nd Infantry is particularly keen on these swimming races as it was at the earnest request of that regiment that the Carnival officials arranged for the two events that have been scheduled. The 2nd is, however, not dead certain that their men can take both events but feels quite sure that the big team event will come out Shafter way next Saturday afternoon and has hopes that the single race may also fall to this garrison.

BEST TENNIS EVER PLAYED IN ISLANDS

Castle and Eklund Play Larned and Lowrey 61 Hard Games—Match Unfinished

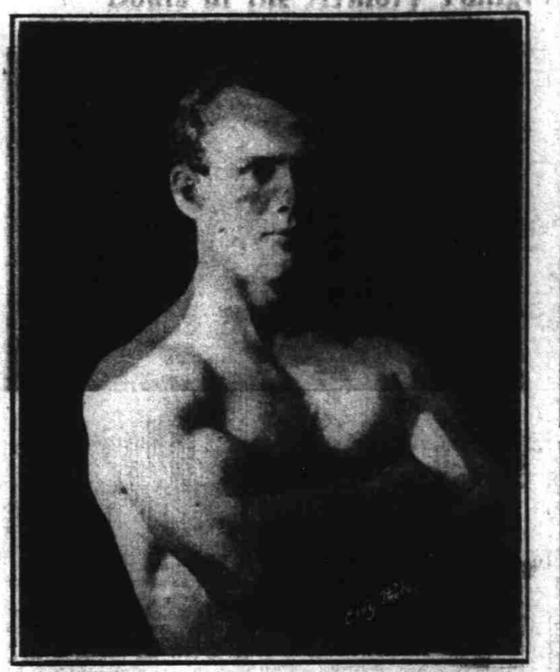

TODAY'S TENNIS. (Pacific Courts.) 3:30—Dr. Downey vs. Wm. Eklund. 4:30—Castle and Eklund vs. Larned and Lowrey (unfinished match). 5:00—Lieut. Robertson vs. W. M. Argabrite.

The best and most exciting tennis match ever played in the Hawaiian Islands, was staged yesterday afternoon at the Pacific courts. After 61 whitewind games it became too dark to see the balls and the match was called with the score 9 all in the fourth set. The match was the final of the clubs' invitation doubles tournament. A. L. Castle and Wm. Eklund facing E. P. Larned and A. J. Lowrey. Castle and Eklund won the toss and elected to serve and for 24 games the server won. In the 25th game Castle and Eklund broke through Larned's service and also won the next game, taking the set 14-12.

The second set went to Larned and Lowrey, 6-1, but it was not nearly so one sided as the score indicates, most of the games going to deuce. The third set was another hard fight. Castle and Eklund finally winning, 6-4. In the fourth set both teams played almost perfect tennis, and for once a Honolulu crowd loosened up and showed some enthusiasm. The team play on both sides was excellent, there being practically no interference. It was a match of hard hitting, the wind being too strong for effective lobbing. A number of fast rallies at the net featured the play, with all four men volleying accurately.

The match will be resumed today with Larned serving. Should Castle and Eklund win the set a couple more exhibition sets will be played. There are many, however, who fancy the chances of the Larned-Lowrey combination and believe that if they can get the jump on their opponents and annex the fourth set they will carry off the match. The two singles matches on the card today are preliminaries of the Carnival tennis tournament. According to the arrangement Eklund will have to play a singles match just prior to the doubles, but as he is in excellent condition this should not affect his chances.

Mat Experts Are Ready For Bouts at the Armory Tonight

Harry Cobb has been chosen to referee the wrestling match between Sam Searle and H. Hansen for the 160-pound championship of the islands at the armory tonight. Principals and managers got together this morning and agreed on Cobb as the third man on the mat.

Besides the main event there will be some excellent preliminaries and a jiu-jitsu exhibition by Japanese experts. The first prelim, to start at 8 o'clock, will be between Ed Searle and J. Degen at 145 pounds. In the second event E. Andrade and Sailor Austin will come together.

The main event will be between the regular army and the National Guard, with Searle representing the militia and Hansen the 2nd Infantry. The match is creating a lot of talk and a big crowd is assured. reasons for a number of brilliant affairs by the Country Club sets and the exposition officials. At the same time from the Eastern polo fields society people are coming in parties to attend the tournaments and races. Lawrence Waterbury of New York will be out here to take part in the polo meet. He has engaged a box for the entire season, as have E. W. Ross and the Duke of Leinster, the Countess of Leven, Sir John Carey of Guernsey and Hon. Alan McDonald of Banff, N. B., have written friends here to say that they will leave England within the next few weeks and will arrive for at least a part of the polo tournament. The Countess of Leven Corbetts and H. W. Leadbetters have already subscribed for boxes. So have the George I. Cochran, the Carlisle Burkes, the Edward Dohneys, the friends.

ATHLETICS WILL 'COME BACK' IS THE PREDICTION

This is going to be a fortunate year in sports—for some—the testimony of Charles J. Butts of Sandusky, Ohio, is believed. Mr. Butts hurls out into the sporting predicting situation, not through any knowledge of the subject, but because this fall he has batted 1000 in the matter of predicting the deaths of famous persons.

The demise of former President Grover Cleveland and of King Edward of England were among those foretold accurately by the Ohio seer. After considerable urging, Butts consented to try and locate a few public dead ones, not without success, according to him. Among the crows who will pass as title-holders the present twelvemonths are Jack Johnson, world's heavyweight fight champion, and Boston Braves, world's baseball title-holders.

Here are the predictions with reference to sports of Mr. Butts, who has never seen a baseball game or a fight, and has no special knowledge whatsoever whereof he speaks: An unknown white man will wrest the title from Johnson in Australia, late in the year. Connie Mack's Athletics will come back and win the world's championship. John McGraw's Giants will win the National League title. Johnny Kilbuck will be beaten for the featherweight championship.

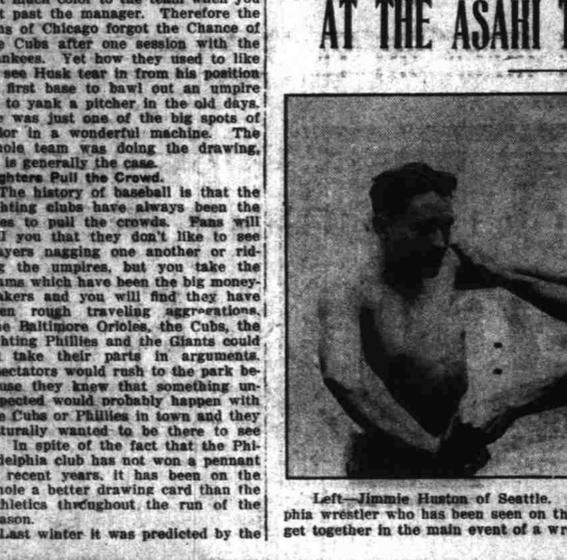

Three noted heavyweights, two of them old-timers, will die before January 1, 1916. Nap Lajoie will make such a showing for the Athletics that the Cleveland fans will be sorry he was turned over to Mack. Thus it will be seen that Mr. Butts brings back to life almost as many as he condemns to death.

During the last 30 days of his administration former Governor West of Oregon freed conditionally 59 convicts. Former Governor Martha H. Glynn of New York will spend February and a part of March in the Panama canal zone. Three bandits were captured in a shack near Granite Springs, N. Y., at which they had robbed the postoffice there. Last winter it was predicted by the

SCRAPPY BASEBALL TEAMS DRAW THE LARGEST CROWDS

By CHRISTY MATHEWSON. There is a question in my mind as to how strong any single ball player draws at the gate. I believe Cobb and Hugh Jennings are always good for a crowd because of their tactics. They constantly pull something new, and there is what a baseball crowd likes. There is a lot of color to the Detroit club as a result. But as a rule the team and not a player is responsible for the crowds. Frank Chance was one of the biggest baseball idols Chicago ever had when he was leading his old Cubs to pennant after pennant, and the park used to be packed to see his team play. Any time the Cubs came to New York a capacity crowd could be counted on. After Chance left the Cubs and went to the Yankees as the bench manager he drew one big crowd in Chicago on Chance day. After that the Yankees, with him at the helm, did not pull any stronger than they had before. The old atmosphere of the fighting Cubs had fallen from Chance with the change. He was now only the bench manager of a club that was struggling along in the ruck and there was not much color to the team when you got past the manager. Therefore the fans of Chicago forgot the Chance of the Cubs after one session with the Yankees. Yet how they used to like to see Husk tear in from his position at first base to bowl out an umpire or to yank a pitcher in the old days. He was just one of the big spots of color in a wonderful machine. The whole team was doing the drawing, as is generally the case. Fighters Pull the Crowd. The history of baseball is that the fighting clubs have always been the ones to pull the crowds. Fans will tell you that they don't like to see players nagging one another or riding the umpires, but you take the teams which have been the big money-makers and you will find they have been rough traveling aggressions. The Baltimore Orioles, the Cubs, the fighting Phillies and the Giants could all take their parts in arguments. Spectators would rush to the park because they knew that something unexpected would probably happen with the Cubs or Phillies in town and they naturally wanted to be there to see it. In spite of the fact that the Philadelphia club has not won a pennant in better years, it has been on the whole a recent drawing card than the Athletics throughout the run of the season.

GRAPPLERS WHO WILL BE SEEN AT THE ASAHI THEATER MONDAY

NOBILITY WILL BE ON HAND FOR BIG POLO EVENT

SAN FRANCISCO—The news that a number of the British nobility will be here after all to attend the universal polo tournament, to be held at the Exposition polo field from March 15 to April 26, has been most welcome to the local smart set. When the war broke out the majority of English polo players and aristocrats were called to the front to the disappointment of society's elect, who had hoped to entertain them here. However, that may be, private advices have been received lately to the effect that there will be any number of English society folk here during the exposition, several of whom will arrive in time for the polo tournament, the golf tournament and the harness races which follow. The Earl of Elgin, Sir James Wilson, the Duke of Leinster, the Countess of Leven, Sir John Carey of Guernsey and Hon. Alan McDonald of Banff, N. B., have written friends here to say that they will leave England within the next few weeks and will arrive for at least a part of the polo tournament. The Countess of Leven Corbetts and H. W. Leadbetters have already subscribed for boxes. So have the George I. Cochran, the Carlisle Burkes, the Edward Dohneys, the friends.

BICYCLES

Riders in the Mid-Pacific Carnival Races should guard against breakdowns by using a high grade, light-weight wheel.
