

DETECTIVE SENT AFTER FUGITIVE REPORTED LOST

John Woo, member of the detective department, who was sent to the windward side of the island on Saturday morning to arrest a Korean charged with jumping bail, is missing. A posse directed by Sheriff Rose and Captain McDuffie left at noon today to seek the officer.

Captain McDuffie learned shortly after Woo had left on his mission that his wife was very low and not expected to live. A telephone message to Deputy Sheriff Walter Davis brought the reply that Woo had not reported at Koolauoko.

Woo, a Korean detective who has been with the department for a number of years, was ordered to proceed to Waiholo, where it was said the Korean wanted by the police was hiding. He left the city early Saturday morning in a stage.

His failure to report or return on Saturday evening did not cause much alarm in police circles. It was believed that he had followed the trail of the Korean to one of the several pineapple camps.

Mrs. Woo died at the hospital yesterday morning.

Captain McDuffie tried to get into communication with the officer yesterday. The police on windward Oahu visited Waiholo yesterday, but reported that the missing officer was last seen by the Japanese and Chinese walking along the road in the direction of the tunnel.

That Woo may have met with foul play is the opinion now held by the police.

The Korean sought by the officer is alleged to have been convicted of gambling in the district court. He was released on $50 bail pending a hearing of the case at the circuit court.

German Submarines Actively Push Attempted Blockade of England.

This picture shows German submarines at Kiel. It is believed that all the underwater craft stationed there are now in action in the attempted blockade of England. Germany is said to have built 100 heavy submarines for carrying mines. Whatever is the truth of his report, it seems to be true that Germany is laying mines around England and that all her submarines are actively on the alert to attack enemy shipping.

YOUTH OF HAWAII WRITES ARTICLES ON ITS BEAUTIES

The management of the Mid-Pacific Magazine announces that from now on this interesting journal will go in actively for home promotion work. Following out this policy the best three articles in the April number are by youths of Hawaii between 15 and 17 years of age. The Mid-Pacific Magazine is seeking to train the young men of Hawaii to write about Hawaii.

The leading article is by Lorrin P. Thurston, on the subject of surfboard riding in Hawaii. Young Thurston is still at Punahou Academy, yet Jack London, who is an authority, says this is the best article that has yet been written on surf-riding. It took A. H. Ford, the editor of the Mid-Pacific Magazine, some months to persuade young Thurston to write what he knew about surf-riding, but so excellent was the result that during his Christmas holidays he was given a position on one of the daily papers. The article itself, now in print for the first time, is illustrated with both half-tones and color cuts of surfboard riding at Waikiki.

From a promotion standpoint one of the most instructive and interesting articles yet published in Hawaii is that by Joseph B. Stickney, a high school boy in the junior class, who accompanied the editor of the magazine on his tour around the Pacific. Young Stickney's article describes the wonderful college at Chullis House, Sydney, where young men are trained in promotion work. The third article by a young boy is that of Jack Walker of Maui, the youngest guide in the islands. He tells how he conducted a party through Haleakala and back to Paia by way of Kanpo Gap, Hana, and the Ditch Trail. "Jack" Atkinson also contributes an interesting article, describing his experiences in Siberia. Alexander Hume Ford gives a glowing account of the recent pilgrimage to the Waimea canyon.

The most interesting page in the magazine for April, however, is that on which is announced the fact that with the next number of the magazine will begin the publication of the "Log of the Shark," appearing in print for the first time. This will be continued from month to month, as will be a series of Hawaiian-South Sea articles from the pen of Jack London.

RUEBSAM GETTING LINE ON FEDERAL BLDG. SITE

E. C. Ruebsam, special agent for the treasury department, is here from Hilo and for several days will investigate the federal building site situation. As already reported in the Star-Bulletin, Ruebsam's visit to Hawaii again brought up the federal building site discussion publicly. The Spreckels site is said to be held at $275,000 and the Irwin site at $253,000. It is estimated that there will be no immediate decision on the site and the coming of Byron Newton, assistant secretary of the treasury, with the congressional party may delay the decision several weeks.

Police & Hospital Reports

The proprietor of the Shimazu restaurant on Maunakea street is in trouble with the police because of a sale of intoxicating liquor alleged by License Inspector Fennell to have been made yesterday. Matsubara, a waitress, was charged with selling sake to two customers who called at the place yesterday morning. Fennell and his officers came into the restaurant and found marked money in the cash register. The case was heard before District Magistrate Monarrat this morning. The woman was convicted of selling liquor without a license. Decision was reserved until tomorrow.

JAPANESE OPPOSE SPECIAL ROLL TAX

In the Saturday edition of the Nippu Jiji, Editor Soma strongly condemns Governor Pinkham's plan to establish a special roll tax of $1 annually to create a fund for fighting tuberculosis. He declares it will work an injustice on the poor. In part, his editorial is as follows:

Let us see the condition which prevails among the plantation laborers. To pay the roll tax of five dollars out of their poor purses must be a great burden to them. We consider that any material raising of the roll tax, under any circumstance, is not an intelligent move. The stricter the enforcement of the raise, the more delinquency on the part of the taxpayers will result.

"Though we are sincere in our desire to encourage the anti-tuberculosis work by raising a sufficient sum which may enable the workers to secure even better results in the campaign, we deem it our duty to oppose the plan which calls for any increased roll tax."

John C. Banner, president of Stanford University, resigned to become effective July 31.

BEEF SHIPMENTS FROM AUSTRALIA FOR ARMY ONLY

Gilbert J. Waller, manager of the Metropolitan Meat company, returned to Honolulu today on the Oceanic liner Ventura and gave out the statement that he does not expect any embargo on shipments of Australian beef to the United States government.

Mr. Waller explained that for several months there has been an embargo on beef shipments to all nations except Great Britain, owing to the war conditions. The embargo, however, excepts all beef to be consumed by the military forces of the United States. Mr. Waller said that his company will receive a large shipment of beef from the Far Eastern continent via the Sonoma Thursday. This shipment, like those preceding, he said, would be supplied to the army in Hawaii and will not be sold to civilian patrons of the meat company.

Morning on CHANGE

The market strengthened considerably today, the firm firm day in more than a week. There was no unusual activity but bids all were higher and all the transactions closed were at stronger figures. Olan and McBryde were 1/4 higher, the former 6% and the latter 6%. Oahu Sugar gained 1/4. H. C. & S. firm and sold for 35. Ewa went at 2 1/4. Offerings for this stock have been lower in the last few days. Pabing went back to 10 after its temporary weakness.

GERMANS ASSERT AIRSHIP RAID ON PARIS A 'LESSON'

Paris and the railroad junction of Compiègne. "On the east, the Russian attack was repulsed between Orulow and Orzyz, two officers and 600 Russians being imprisoned. Two Russian night attacks on Yednorogk broke down under German fire.

TODAY'S SITUATION. The following cablegram from official German sources was received today:

"WASHINGTON, D. C., March 22.—German headquarters report March 22:

"A French attempt to take the German position on the south slope of Lerretto Height has failed, the attack being made at night. Also in Champagne north of Lemesnil a French night attack failed. All the French endeavors to take back the position at Rehebaekerkopf have been without success.

"The Russians who had occupied Memel, in the extreme north of East Prussia, were driven out yesterday after a short engagement south of the town and tenacious fighting in the streets.

"Protected by Russian troops, a Russian mob has looted private property of German citizens and carried cartloads of the loot across the frontier. A special report on this will be published.

North of Mariannopol Russian attacks have been repulsed. Losses were heavy for the Russians. West of Orzyz near Jednorogk, northeast of Prasznyz and northwest of Ciechanow the Russian day and night attacks have broken down under the German fire. Four hundred and twenty Russians were taken prisoner."

NEW CIGARETTE CURE ADVOCATED BY Y. M. C. A.

A new cigarette cure is posted in the Y. M. C. A. which is different from past cures in that it does not promise effectual cure in less than six weeks. Silver nitrate solution of one-eighth per cent is prescribed for a month wash after each meal for three days. When the desire for a smoke comes the patient must chew genatin root. A diet of fruit, cereals and milk is considered best, while a Turkish bath every day is advised to draw out the nicotine with which the body of a cigarette smoker is saturated.
