Court Reduces Bonds for McGrath, Bower and Boggs From $10,000 to $7500

Jack Scully, R. A. Bower, John T. McGrath and P. H. Boggs, all charged with first degree robbery as a result of the war against the alleged opium ring, were arraigned in Judge Ashford's court this afternoon.

After considerable argument Judge Ashford reduced the bonds for McGrath, Bower and Boggs from $10,000 to $7500. Scully is now out on $14,500 bail.

Boggs, the first to be arraigned, pleaded not guilty and demanded an immediate trial. He asked it be set for tomorrow morning.

P. H. Boggs was out of jail a short time Saturday on a writ of habeas corpus, obtained by his attorney, C. H. McBride, who went before the supreme court and asked a reduction of the $10,000 bond set by Circuit Judge Ashford.

Boggs, Bower and McGrath spent Saturday night, Sunday and today in jail, except when taken into court for their arraignment.

L. M. Straus as counsel for Bower asked that Bower be released in his custody until 2 o'clock, to enable Bower to see his friends and try to arrange for bail.

CHARLES K. MAGUIRE, OUT ON PAROLE, DIES

CHARLES K. MAGUIRE, Former Auditor of Hawaii County.

[Special Star-Bulletin Wireless] HILO, March 22.—Charles K. Maguire died yesterday at Huihui, Kona.

Charles K. Maguire was recently released from the territorial prison on parole. He had been serving a sentence for embezzlement of moneys of Hawaii county, of which he was auditor for a number of years. Two years ago the Hawaii county scandal was uncovered by investigations made under the senate holdover committee following the probe of H. Gooding Field and his revelations, and as a result of the prosecutions Maguire was sent to prison. His health had already begun to break down when he was paroled. It was realized that he had only a short time to live. He was known throughout Hawaii and the news of his financial irregularities was a territory-wide sensation.

THOUSANDS MAKE HAWAII BUILDING MECCA AT FAIR

and if the plan of Commissioner Rivenburgh is followed, Hawaii Day will see automobiles draped in these paper leis which will pass along the streets of San Francisco, distributing them to the crowds to further spread the popularity of Hawaii.

Another feature he has suggested, and which will be adopted will be a monthly reception to be held in the Hawaii building to which foreign and state commissioners and their wives will be invited to partake of Hawaiian pineapple, Kona coffee and other native delicacies served by Hawaiian maids who will also drape the guests with leis to the strains of Hawaiian singers. The idea which is now being given a great attraction and will help further towards Hawaii's popularity in hospitality.

The parking round the exterior of the building, which has been neglected, and the interior planting which having been installed before the heating plant was completed, has suffered in consequence, have been placed under the direction of Commissioner Rivenburgh, who will immediately superintend the replanting and parking in the approach to the building, and a great improvement is soon expected. At the same meeting the music was placed under the direction of Commissioner Wood assuming the responsibility of the office.

The aquarium has also suffered, not so greatly from the transportation of the fish as the handling at this end, so many formalities being necessary that as a result more than half the fish have died. Seven tanks more, however, are expected on the Matsushima, and that a revival of public interest is anticipated with the accomplishment of greater daily crowds. Honolulu Folks at Fair.

NEW GOVERNMENT EXCURSION TO WAIHOLE BORE NEXT SUNDAY

A warm fight against Senator D. E. Metzger's bill to reorganize Hawaii county's government is promised in the upper legislative branch tomorrow afternoon, when the measure is to be considered by the senate as a whole. It appears the introducer is the only Big Island solon who favors the bill. The other three, Baker, Makekahu and Rev. Desha, openly oppose it and declare they will institute a vigorous battle against the feature.

The reorganization scheme provided in Metzger's bill has received considerable publicity the last year. It is the outgrowth of the Hawaii county graft scandal and the attendant investigation, and the changes proposed in the Metzger bill are taken practically intact from the report of a committee appointed by the Hilo Board of Trade last January to suggest revisions in the county act. It was felt that the graft scandal among the county officials was due in large part to the method of government and the revision of the laws was suggested primarily to remedy such faults.

Desha, Makekahu and Baker, it is understood, will base their opposition to the bill on several arguments. For one thing, they argue the proposed new system would entail additional heavy overhead expense, greater than the expense under which the county government operates at the present time. Another objection is that the franchise would be taken from the electorate. The Metzger bill would have the supervisors appoint the county clerk, treasurer, sheriff, engineer and attorney. At the present time these officials are elected by direct vote of the people.

At the present time, there are seven supervisors, six elected from individual districts and a seventh at large, who becomes chairman of the board and under a new law, effective July 1 next, receives a salary of $250 a month.

The Metzger measure would divide the island into seven districts, having the citizens in each district elect a board of five overseers, each board of overseers in turn to elect one of its members as member of the board of county supervisors. It would have each board of overseers meet once a month, the members being paid $5 a day for three days, in addition to mileage going to and from the sessions and certain other expenses incidental to their attendance at the meetings. Besides this, each member of the board of supervisors would receive $50 a month salary.

These, it is expected, are the principal features to which the three Big Island solons will object and on which they will base their opposition to the entire bill.

The other members of the senate had a "hunch" the Big Island trio would try to kill the bill the other way, when it was brought before the body for reference to a committee. Makekahu and Baker fought to have it referred to the Hawaii county delegation. Having the balance of power in that committee they might have been able to keep it from getting before the senate, but the members from the other islands blocked the move and caused it to be referred to the committee of the whole. It is set for the special order of the day tomorrow.

Police & Hospital Reports

Seven Japanese, found by the police at a gambling game, were tried and convicted in the district court this morning. Each was fined $5. Judge Monsarrat remitting the costs.

The police yesterday found that John Aglo, a young boy, was making his home in a pile of lumber at the Allen & Robinson yards. The boy said he feared the wrath of a relative should he return home. The police may send the boy to the industrial school.

Pikoi Kahanamoku, brother of the famous Hawaiian swimmer, a member of a bathing party at Waikiki yesterday, fell from a stone wall, receiving injuries for which he was treated at the hospital. He was reported today as sufficiently recovered to return to his home.

Suffering from a number of burns caused by an explosion of powder, James Santos was treated at the hospital yesterday and is now out of danger. Santos and some boy companions found a quantity of explosives in a pile of rubbish near Asylum road and Emmeluth lane, which they carried to a livery stable. By an improvised fuse they set fire to the powder. William Jones also received minor burns on the explosion.

The proprietor of the Shimata restaurant on Maunakea street is in trouble with the police because of a sale of intoxicating liquor alleged by License Inspector Fennell to have been made yesterday. Matsubara, a waitress, was charged with selling sake to two customers who called at the place yesterday morning. Fennell and his officers came into the restaurant and found marked money in the cash register. The case was heard before District Magistrate Monsarrat this morning. The woman was convicted of selling liquor without a license. Decision was reserved until tomorrow.

SENATE REFUSES $5000 TO BRING NEWSPAPER MEN

The words "distinguished visitors" was inserted with the distinct understanding of all the senators that this meant the newspaper correspondents.

Senator Wirtz raised another interesting point. "The second whereas in this second bill," said he, "casts a reflection on the newspaper correspondents. It says that some doubt may arise whether newspaper men will be classed as within the original appropriation. Since the original bill, now law, provides for distinguished visitors, this bill would assert that it is doubtful whether the newspaper correspondents can be classed as such."

Another point then arose, as to whether Territorial Secretary Thayer, as disbursing officer in charge of the entertainment fund, would interpret "distinguished guests" as including newspaper men. The secretary happened to stroll into the chamber at that psychological moment and Senator Metzger put the query to him.

"It certainly is an elastic term," said Thayer, "but I should consider that if the correspondents are distinguished by the Delegate, receiving invitations from him, they would be distinguished enough to receive the benefit of the fund."

Thayer added, however, that he did not think the $30,000 would be sufficient funds for the 137 congressmen, their families and the newspaper men. As H. B. 178 was worded the senate interpreted it as appropriating an additional $5000. Thayer said he thought the additional money would be needed. The senate did not appear to agree with him on that point, however.

On motion of Senator Wirtz, who referred to himself as "the official executioner," the committee recommended the bill be tabled, and the report was adopted.

OAHU PRISON INMATES HOLD ENTERTAINMENT

Oahu prison inmates held an entertainment in the prison last night. Vocal solos and selections by the prison mandolin and glee clubs were given by the men. Physical Director Royley of the Y. M. C. A., assisted by three boys, put on an acrobatic stunt. High Sheriff Jarrett presided. Many Honolulu guests were present.

URGES RADIIUM CONTROL BY THE GOVERNMENT

Dr. Abbe, a noted American physician and surgeon and also an expert in the use of radium for the cure of cancer, says of radium:

I believe sincerely that we have simply scratched the surface, and that if we have a sufficient amount of it we shall be able to do vastly more, but that is simply my belief. If it is not conserved, it will be sold everywhere by the makers who have the ways to sell, and it will be bought up by doctors all over the country, who would simply want to have a little as a toy, who do not know how to use it, and will not know for 10 years how to use it because the use has not been standardized. It will open up a fool's paradise. It appears in my mind that the great need for our country is that the use of radium should be put in the hands of the government laboratories or the government hospitals or very large institutions of merit. The latter will probably be able to purchase their own material.

JAPANESE OPPOSE SPECIAL POLL TAX

In the Saturday edition of the Nippon Jiji, Editor Soga strongly condemns Governor Pinkham's plan to establish a special poll tax of $1 annually to create a fund for fighting tuberculosis. He declares it will work an injustice on the poor. In part, his editorial is as follows:

"Let us see the condition which prevails among the plantation laborers. To pay the poll tax of five dollars out of their poor purses must be a great burden to them. We consider that any material raising of the poll tax, under any circumstance, is not an intelligent move. The stricter enforcement of the raise, the more delinquency on the part of the taxpayers will result.

"Though we are sincere in our desire to encourage the anti-tuberculosis work by raising a sufficient sum which may enable the workers to secure even better results in the campaign, we deem it our duty to oppose the plan which calls for any increased poll tax."

Delirius following an operation for appendicitis, William B. Baker jumped from the third story window of the Brooklyn hospital, killing himself. Because her husband made her carry coal and scrub the kitchen floor, Justice Mills of Mount Vernon awarded a separation to Mrs. Helen C. Pettis with $1500 alimony.

Giffard and William Thompson.

MAUI WOMEN HEAR MRS. PARK ON SUFFRAGE

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondent] WAILUKU, March 21.—Many Maui people were much disappointed this week not to have known earlier that Mrs. Alice Park was on the island. Had her presence here been known 24 hours earlier a large number of people from Wailuku and vicinity would have gladly heard her. As it was only a few ladies who had no other engagements were present at the home of Mrs. John Howell on Thursday afternoon to listen to the interesting speaker. Mrs. Park is an able and interesting talker.

9630 ACRES MAY BE OPENED FOR HOMESTEADS

Chairman Huddy of the public lands committee of the house of representatives reported favorably upon the petition of homesteaders on Hawaii island and to open for entry a part of the 9630 acres on the Big Island now under lease to the Parker ranch. The committee recommended that the petition be granted and that such parts of the acreage as was desired be opened for homesteading.

About 5900 acres of the tract is under lease at 10 cents an acre per annum and the committee reported that this land is the most dry, arid and rocky land in the territory and could be used only for pasture purposes. The report suggested that the homesteads be of about 50 acres each.
