

BIG INDUSTRIAL PROJECTS MADE POSSIBLE SOON

The property consists of 25 acres in the district west of Kahaloa, just Ewa of the Oahu railroad property between the road and the Standard Oil plant. All of it borders on the site of the proposed Kalihi channel; the project which is now up before the authorities in Washington. The project already has been given the approval of the war department engineers and it likely will be under way in a short time.

The completion of the channel and the construction of a harbor will give the inter-island company possession of a tract of great commercial value. Not only will it be able to keep its repair shops and docks there but in case of congestion will be able to dock small freighters there, thus reserving larger wharves nearer downtown for bigger vessels.

The inter-island by this deal has acquired a frontage of more than 1600 feet on the proposed channel.

The announcement today is the culmination of negotiations which have been going on for two years. Since the first move was made for the dredging of the channel it is understood the inter-island company has made advances for the property. Every step has been taken with great secrecy, however, and it was not until a few days ago that it was known even by men on the inside via the prospective purchaser was.

Even today the steamship officials were reluctant in discussing their plans.

SMALL PLANTERS COME TO APPEAR AT HOUSE PROBE

Three cane-growers of the island of Hawaii arrived on the steamer Mauna Kea this morning, under subpoena to appear before the house committee on agriculture tonight at the Capitol in the investigation of relations between the sugar mills and the small planters.

A. G. Curtis of Kuriatowa, A. MacAulion, a cane-grower of Kuriatowa, and John E. Gamalison, farmer of Kaunama, Hawaii, are the three who arrived today and who are said to have been subpoenaed. In addition, it is rumored that there will be other witnesses when the investigation starts at 7:30 p. m. in the hall of representatives.

Attorney R. W. Breckons, who appeared at a recent meeting of the committee on behalf of some of the small planters, also arrived on the Mauna Kea this morning.

Referring to the agitation in the house last Saturday over his departure for Hilo with blank subpoenas, he said that he was going to Hilo on another matter and offered to take along the subpoenas as a special agent of the house to save the expense of a special messenger, with no thought whatever of anticipating any action of the committee.

Attorney Harry Irwin of Hilo, who also represents the small planters and who has been in attendance frequently on the legislative sessions, also arrived on the Mauna Kea to be present at the hearing.

Ten or more witnesses may appear before the committee of the house of representatives tonight.

The hearing promises to bring out important data and verbal "fireworks" are expected by some of the legislators. Any evidence before the committee will be recorded and turned over to the federal government. In the event that the resolution introduced by H. L. Holstein, under which authority the hearings are now being held, passes the house and Congress grants the petition prayed for in the resolution. The memorial asks Congress to investigate local conditions in the sugar industry.

RECIPES OF OUR PIONEER MOTHERS

For the home treatment of disease were wonderfully dependable. True, they knew nothing of drugs, but owed their success to the roots, herbs and barks of the field. It is interesting to note that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, the most successful remedy for female ailments, was originally prepared for home use from one of these recipes. Its fame has now spread from shops to shops, and thousands of American women now well and strong claim they owe their health and happiness to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Advertisement.

SUICIDE IS VERDICT IN DANIELS GIRL'S DEATH

Death from mercurial poison, taken with suicidal intent, was the gist of the verdict given by a coroner's jury which met today to investigate the death of Mary Daniels, a Hawaiian girl. Deputy Sheriff Asch called two witnesses. They were unable to assign any motive for the act. The girl is said to have kept company with an enlisted man from Fort Kamehameha. The remains took charge of the remains which were buried on the windward side of the island this morning.

Map Shows Importance of Kalihi Channel Deal

Honolulu harbor, Kalihi harbor, still to be developed, and the proposed Kalihi Channel are shown on the map above. The Dowsett estate property, the sale of which is announced today, occupies a position of "strategic importance" in reference to the Kalihi Channel, as it borders directly on this channel. It is also close to the oil-storage district and the factory and other commercial sites.

HOUSE INBORESSES BILL COMPELLING ARMY TRAINING

Recommending that the Holstein compulsory military education bill for all able-bodied citizens of 18 years of age be passed by the house of representatives, the health, police and military committees reported in the lower body today through Chairman J. H. Coney. Representative Silva was the only member of the committee opposing the bill and his opposition is because of the fact that the bill in its present form includes native-born Americans of a certain nationality.

The report of the committee was adopted after lengthy discussion between Representative Rawlins, Chairman Coney and Representative Crockett. Rawlins wanted the bill deferred until the arrival of the navy, the adjutant-general of the army and the head of the national guard had been invited to address the house on the bill. Crockett arose in defense of the measure, relating the needs of an organized military reserve in emergencies and citing the Japanese strike at Lahaina, Maui, in 1904 as an example in favor of the bill. He urged that the report of the committee be adopted.

The report was adopted on a unanimous vote. Later Speaker Holstein said that he would invite the army and navy officers to address the house, the members sitting as a committee of the whole and the military leaders acting in a private capacity. Owing to the fact that "General" Kaweah, one of the members of the military committee, will be absent for a week, and upon his motion, third reading on the bill was postponed until next Tuesday. In the meantime arrangements will be made by the speaker for the addresses by the military authorities.

HOLD UP ORDER FOR REMOVAL OF WAIKIKI PIERS

The question of the removal of the Waikiki pier owned by the Moana Hotel and of the other piers owned by J. B. Castle and Mrs. John Cassidy remains "in statu quo." This means that although the Moana Hotel and Castle have been asked to demolish the structures no step has been taken to comply with the harbor commission's order, and that the commission is not going to press its order for at least a few weeks longer.

The reason for this, it developed at the commission's meeting today, is that the board is somewhat in doubt as to its authority in the matter. A bill defining the commission's jurisdiction over waterfront properties such as these is to be introduced in the legislature shortly, and until action is taken on it the board probably will not attempt to enforce the order against the piers.

This feature of the Waikiki pier matter appeared when a letter was read from Mrs. Cassidy, asking that she be permitted to maintain the pier in front of her property. It is understood the board has not yet issued any fact to her, demanding the demolition of the structure she owns. She asks for the "control and exclusive use" of the so-called Cassidy pier, and in her communication brought forth the point

CLOSE BIDDING ON SEVEN BUILDINGS AT KAMEHAMEHA

Hair-line bidding by five local firms, caused the department quartermaster and his assistants to recheck the figures when proposals for seven buildings at Fort Kamehameha were opened this morning.

The Lord-Young Engineering Company was the only concern to put in a reserve bid, conditional on the award of all the work or none. When all the proposals were read off it was found that the low bid on the seven buildings would divide the work between John F. Bowler, the Honolulu
