

HAWAII BUILDING HOLDS MANY CHARMS FOR EXPOSITION VISITORS

Typical Island Scenes Shown; Singing Boys Dispense Music to Large Crowds Daily

BY KAMA'AINA.
[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]
SAN FRANCISCO, March 26.—After passing the Palace of Fine Arts and while one is still marveling at its beauty and artistry, one comes suddenly and unexpectedly upon a small square concrete building, nestling among graceful groups of trees. Serving as an approach to it, a park has been designed, a park which, through the improvements anticipated by Commissioner Rivenburgh during the next few weeks will invite the passer-by to new wonders within the building—and whenever a coach, on a siding, bearing the inscription, "United States Fisheries," is seen, the result is that believing more fish have arrived crowds flock into the aquarium.

A border at the top of the building bears the names of the various islands of the group, and in its near vicinity groups of people are to be seen, nervous anticipation hurrying them up the concrete steps, through the colonnade and into the swining green-framed glass doors.

On the brick floor of the portico stand two kiosks, lighted from within, and inviting all to inspect the beauties of Hawaiian scenery. But the strains of music drifting out with each open door is too alluring for most and they hurry in to hear the songs and see the fish that have made our building famous.

Tropical Garden Growing.
The brick floor of the main lobby is interspersed at the sides and in the center by gardens of tropical plants and ferns, the tall tree-ferns and palms encircling and half concealing the music boys on a platform in the middle garden being very effective. At the right as one enters is the lecture room with a seating capacity for 50 persons, where slides and moving pictures of Hawaii and the volcano are to be seen.

Next to this is the concession room, where in a small corner of about eleven feet Kumalee exerts his efforts to invite the crowds to buy. But a great many of these are more willing to listen to his music boys singing snatches of songs behind the counter than to inspect the curios offered for sale, keeping at a safe distance while the music lasts, then beating a hasty retreat.

In here are two desks with folders of Hawaii which may be sent by visitors to their friends.

Leaving this room one saunters around the circular portion of the building wherein are the ten small tanks which have gained Hawaii fame in the shortest time on record, and where continually the visitors press around to see the fish, only a small percentage of them, however, having been able to survive homesickness and the change of their natural conditions. Already the squid has perished, only having been on exhibition, two days, and many dead fishes are found each morning.

There is another kiosk in the center of the aquarium, but it is passed unnoticed in the eager curiosity aroused by living creatures.

Surf-riders in Staturey.
Passing out at the opposite side of the aquarium, one pauses to rest on a seat at the base of a wonderfully beautiful group of surf-riders by Mr. Gordon L'borne. This group, done in brown clay, represents three figures gracefully balanced and poised on surf-boards, their hair blown by the wind, their arms charmingly outstretched, a happy radiance to their faces. Two children have fallen into the billowy sea and their happy faces smile upward toward the riders more fortunate than they. This is a group of which Hawaii may well be proud to have on exhibition as a perfect yet artistic representation of life at Waikiki.

Here one sees groups forever standing before the music platform and watching with animated interest the boys, led-begecked, who smile at them and sing to them the songs they love so well. Their efforts are always rewarded with generous applause, and often moist eyes when the touching and pathetic melodies are played.

Waikiki and Pali Shown.
To the right now, on one's exit from the building, is the ladies' rest room, a small apartment, furnished in wicker, where those who are weary may find a moment's relaxation, and next to this one passes a diorama (to balance another of the Pali opposite) of Waikiki, the moving water, tiny trees, sung little houses and Diamond Head always interesting those more who have not seen the islands, those who have admitting that the reproduction is a disappointment.

The office comes next, with its desk, stenographer and endless pamphlets with all the courteous information visitors may desire. In charge of the office and lecture room is Commissioner Wood, who exerts every effort to please and handles his duties in an efficient manner. In the office Mrs. Clanton, well known in Honolulu as Beatrice-Taylor, acts as stenographer, while Messrs. Paul Nieper and Eddie Lyon are always on hand to give any necessary information.

Old Hawaii Expected.
Although those who have heard so much of Hawaii and her attractions are usually a trifle disappointed at the lack of exhibits, and feel that something more is wanted in the building, all are unanimous in their praise of what is there, and feel more relieved when they realize that certain conditions made exhibits impossible by the strict rules and regulations of the exposition authorities, these regulations applying not only to the Hawaii building but to all other buildings as well. But it seems that in reality the old Hawaii is what they all expected, a modern Hawaii not conforming to their general impression.

Off the main office is the private office of the commissioners, the last room in the building, which in turn opens on to the portico. In this room are desks and typewriters where all private business connected with the building is transacted and where callers on the commissioners are received.

SUBMARINE L-1 TAKES DEEP DIVE IN TRIAL TEST

Latest of Uncle Sam's Sea Wasps Undergoes Severe Strain Successfully

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
QUINCY, Mass., April 2.—The new submarine L-1 went through her trials yesterday in splendid fashion, returning from Cape Cod last night from her trial trips and submersions. During her trials the L-1 submerged to a depth of 200 feet without showing any sign that the strain of the water pressure was affecting her plates. Her submergence for forty-eight hours, the final test in the trials, will come later.

CALIFORNIA JAPANESE HONOR DEAD STAESMAN

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 2.—Yesterday, the first anniversary of the death of Ayoa Gattori, the memorial tablet erected in San Mateo cemetery to commemorate the great Japanese statesman who died while working for the good of the Japanese in California was unveiled. Many prominent Japanese residents were present at the ceremony.

TO PUT ON FLESH AND INCREASE WEIGHT

A Physician's Advice.

Most thin people eat from four to six pounds of good solid fat-making food every day and still do not increase in weight one ounce, while on the other hand many of the plump chunky folks eat very lightly and keep gaining all the time. It's all both to say that this is the nature of the individual. It isn't Nature's way at all. Thin folk stay thin because their powers of assimilation are defective. They absorb just enough of the food they eat to maintain life and a semblance of health and strength. Stuffing won't help them. A dozen meals a day won't make them gain a single "stay there" pound. All the fat producing elements of their food just stay in the intestines until they pass from the body as waste. What such people need is something that will prepare these fatty food elements so that their blood can absorb them and deposit them all about the body—something, too, that will multiply their red blood corpuscles and increase their blood's carrying power.

For such a condition I always recommend eating a Sargol tablet with every meal. Sargol is not, as some believe, a patented drug, but is a scientific combination of six of the most effective and powerful flesh building elements known to chemistry. It is absolutely harmless, yet wonderfully effective and a single tablet eaten with each meal often has the effect of increasing the weight of a thin man or woman from three to five pounds a week.

SOLDIERS WARNED AGAINST BAD HABITS

BASEL, Switzerland.—German army surgeons are distributing pamphlets warning soldiers against loose habits. It is stated in these pamphlets that 40,000 soldiers are in hospitals on account of excesses of various kinds, and are occupying beds which should be reserved for the wounded.

FROM AMERICAN BOYS TO BELGIAN BOYS

Thousands of Belgian boys are suffering. Thousands of boys are homeless orphans. Food is being sent into Belgium; but these destitute boys need strong, warm clothing. The world has sent aid to the men, women and small children of Belgium, but has neglected the boys of from 10 to 18 years of age. Whether the war continues or whether it ends, these Belgian boys will still be destitute and with the coming of another fall will need clothing just as urgently as they do today. An appeal has been made to the boys of America to give a little from their plenty to help those suffering boys in Belgium. Money is needed to buy boys' clothing and with the clothing is to be sent a message of encouragement and sympathy from American boys to Belgian boys. This work is being done by "The American Boy—Belgian Boy Relief Fund," which is being conducted by The American Boy, Detroit, Mich. This magazine for boys is meeting all the expenses of acknowledgement, administration, etc., so that every cent contributed by an American boy will go into clothing for a Belgian boy. Contribution is not limited to readers of The American Boy, but is open to all American boys anywhere. Money may be sent in any amount and will be acknowledged both directly to the contributor and through the pages of the magazine. Address contributions to "The American Boy—Belgian Boy Relief Fund," Detroit, Mich.

SOLDIER KILLED AND THREE HURT IN PANAMA RIOT

Bad Blood Between Panamans and U. S. Soldiers Has Fatal Ending

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
COLON, Panama, April 2.—A riot of the kind which took place a few weeks ago between some of the American soldiers on duty in the Zone and the Panamanian street toughs took place last night, resulting in the death of Corporal Langdon of the Coast Artillery Corps, London, with a squad, was on patrol duty in the tenderloin district when an argument between a Panamanian policeman started a general fight. The patrol attempted to quell the disturbance and before this was accomplished the corporal had been killed, shot through the head, and three other American soldiers were injured.

ATLANTIC FLEET SAILS FOR SPRING PRACTISE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 2.—The Atlantic fleet sails for Tangier sound from Guantanamo this morning. At the sound the fleet will engage in spring practise. Early in May the fleet is expected to spend a week in the North River, where it will be reviewed. Following the review the fleet will sail for San Francisco via the canal. The passage through the canal will probably be made early in July.

Because officials of the Mandor Manufacturing Co., Springfield, Pa., do not believe in praying for peace and selling arms, the concern turned down an order for 100,000,000 copper bullet caps for use in Europe.

HOW TO SAVE YOUR EYES

Try This Free Prescription.

Do your eyes give you trouble? Do you already wear eyeglasses or spectacles? Thousands of people wear these "windows" who might easily dispense with them. You may be one of these, and it is your duty to save your eyes before it is too late. The eyes are neglected more than any other organ of the entire body. After you finish your day's work you sit down and rest your muscles, but how about your eyes? Do you rest them? You know you do not. You read or do something else that keeps your eyes busy; you work your eyes until you go to bed. That is why so many have strained eyes and finally other eye troubles that threaten partial or total blindness. Eyeglasses are merely crutches; they never cure. This free prescription, which has benefited the eyes of so many, may work equal wonders for you. Use it a short time. Would you like your eye troubles to disappear as if by magic? Try this prescription. Go to the nearest wide-awake drug store and get a bottle of Optona tablets; fill a two-ounce bottle with warm water, drop in one tablet and allow it to thoroughly dissolve. With this liquid bathe the eyes two to four times daily. Just note how quickly your eyes clear up and how soon the inflammation will disappear. Don't be afraid to use it; it is absolutely harmless. Many who are now blind might have saved their eyes had they started to care for them in time. This is a simple treatment, but marvelously effective in multitudes of cases. Now that you have been warned don't delay a day, but do what you can to save your eyes and you are likely to thank us as long as you live for publishing this prescription.—Adv.

ORIGINAL "HUCK FINN" HAS 90TH BIRTHDAY

PORTLAND.—B. F. Finn, the original Huckleberry Finn of Mark Twain's books, has just celebrated his 90th birthday at his ranch on the McKenzie river near here. He has a vivid recollection of Mark Twain, with whom he worked on a Mississippi steamboat, but says Twain really didn't get much from himself of what he wrote about Huckleberry Finn except the name. "We called Clemens 'Charley' in those days," said Finn. "He and I both worked on the steamer Shotwell running out of St. Louis. I was nicknamed Huckleberry, and Clemens seemed to take a fancy to the name. Tom Sawyer was my chum, but I was well grown before Clemens knew me. Finn has lived on the McKenzie river here for forty years past, and seldom emerges from his retreat.

The Russian government prohibited the export, without a special permit, or any article of forage or food.

BRITISH BLOCKADE POLICY STIRS CONGRESSMAN METZ TO WRATH

Declares 'Americans Should Kick a Few Holes' in International Law Themselves

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless.]
PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 3.—It is time to kick a few holes in international law, according to Herman A. Metz, congressman from the Tenth New York district, president of the H. A. Metz company, manufacturers of dyestuffs and chemicals, who addressed a convention of dyers here last night. Congressman Metz devoted his remarks to the difficulties now faced by American textile manufacturers and others who depend upon German aniline dyes in the announced embargo by Great Britain and France against any trading with Germany, Austria and Turkey.

"Unless this policy of England and her ally can be changed, to allow American mills and manufacturers to secure from German sources the dyestuffs they need, hundreds of American factories will soon have to close and there will be three hundred thousand operators thrown out of employment.

Americans Must Act.
"If the manufacturers of the United States would meet the English embargo by an embargo of their own on American exports, England would very soon change the conditions she has laid down, or would perhaps be forced to end the war."
"It is time we Americans kicked a few holes in the international law ourselves," he said in conclusion.

GERMAN WOUNDED WILL BE CARED FOR IN BATH RESORTS

[Associated Press.]
WIESBADEN, Germany.—As the first step toward establishing in the various baths of Germany nursing homes for injured Austrian, Hungarian and Turkish soldiers, a committee has been formed here, with ample funds at its command, to investigate the feasibility of such action. The hotels and pensions of the baths will be utilized as homes for the wounded allied soldiers, and the springs and "cures" in each place will place, free of charge, all their facilities, including medical treatment, at the disposal of the proponents of the plan.
