

FISHERMEN MEET DEATH IN SURF OFF GOLDEN GATE

Brave Attempts at Rescue Rendered Futile By Treacherous Undertow

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 25.—Before the eyes of thousands of Sunday afternoon sightseers, four men, believed to have been Italian crab fishermen, were drowned in the surf here today.

Aviators dropped life preservers beside them and mounted policemen galloped along the beach, knee-deep in the water, cracking their automatic pistols in an effort to attract the attention of the doomed men, but it was doubtful if they saw or heard.

From the moment that their launch capsized, they were picked up and hurled helplessly, a tangle of whirling arms and legs, in the rush of the combers. And as fast as the crumbling wall of waters slammed them down on the hard sand, they were sucked out again by the wicked undertow.

Life-savers at the South Point station were the first to appreciate the danger. Silas Christofferson and his brother Harry have their hangar a few hundred yards from the station. Realizing that the Christoffersons' biplane could take the air quicker than their own heavy lifeboat could be launched, the life-savers ran down the beach with 15 life preservers.

The Christoffersons soared out over the surf, almost as the launch was swamped, and were in time to circle overhead, at an altitude of only a few hundred feet, dropping life preservers all about the men while they were still struggling in the water.

The bodies have not been recovered and the identity of the men is unknown.

The annual meeting of the woman's auxiliary and guild of St. Andrew's cathedral will be held Tuesday, April 27, at 3 p. m., in the Guild hall. Plans will be made for the convention.

SPANISH CONSUL OWES LIFE TO JAPANESE FLAG

[Special wire to Hawaii Shipper] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., April 24.—With the safe arrival of Senor Caso to the Spanish consul at the City of Mexico, on Texas soil yesterday, comes the dramatic story of his escape from assassination at the hands of the soldiers of Gen. Obregon. Following the eviction of the Spanish minister from Mexico, the anti-Spanish sentiment among the Carranzistas broke all bounds and the consulate was stormed by a mob. Senor Caso fled, hotly pursued by a body of soldiers, threatening to kill him.

The consul sought refuge in the Japanese embassy, from which the mob undertook to drag him. Minister Adachi got between the soldiers and their victim and held up the Japanese flag, defying the Carranzistas to shoot, and announcing that Caso was under the protection of Japan. He further stated that he was prepared to resist any further attempt to secure the Spanish consul and stood ready to take the consequences.

He called upon the embassy attaches, who came armed, to the number of 20, driving the Mexicans from the embassy and taking up guard before it.

Caso was kept safely at the Japanese embassy until it was possible for him to slip out of Mexico disguised.

TRAIN SMASHES AUTO AND KILLS CHILDREN

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] CRESSWELL, Ore., April 26.—Four children were instantly killed and a man fatally injured yesterday when a rapidly moving train smashed into an automobile crossing the railroad track. The man was taking the children to Sunday school when the accident occurred.

SEE IF THE CHILD'S TONGUE IS COATED

Mother! Don't hesitate! If cross, feverish, constipated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Look at the tongue, mother! If coated, it is a sure sign that your little one's stomach, liver and bowels need a gentle, thorough cleansing at once. When a child's tongue is coated, the pale, yellowish, whitish, or brownish coating on the tongue, the stomach, liver and bowels are clogged, and the child suffers from indigestion, sour breath, bad stomachic, sore throat, diarrhoea, and of cold, give a teaspoonful of California Syrup of Figs, and in a few days all the foul, constipated, waste, undigested food and sour bile is carried out of its little bowels, without cramping, and you have a well, happy child again. You needn't coax children to take this harmless, natural laxative; they love its delicious taste, and it always makes them feel splendid.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of California Syrup of Figs, which has directions for babies, children of all ages, and for grown-ups, plainly on the bottle. Beware of counterfeits sold here. To be sure you get the genuine, ask to see that it is made by "California Fig Syrup Company." Refuse any other kind with contempt.—advertisement.

THAMES RIVER CHANGING.

[Associated Press] LONDON.—The Thames river, down below the bridges, is changing rapidly with various modern improvements nearing completion. Something of the picturesque of the old river must go, to be superseded by great docks and machines for the modern and efficient handling of the commerce of the city.

The greatest of the port enterprises now under way is the new King George dock, which is to be completed by midsummer, after nearly three years of work. The great area which goes under this title includes a wharf with a frontage of a mile and a half and an area of 64 acres; a dry-dock 750 feet long and an entrance lock 800 feet long.

COLLEAGUE OF LINCOLN DIES AT RIPE OLD AGE

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] MONTROSE, N. Y., April 26.—Frederick William Seward, son of William Henry Seward, secretary of state in the cabinet of President Lincoln, died here yesterday of diseases incident upon advanced years, at the age of 85. Or late he had lived in retirement on his Westchester county estate here.

Not so well known as his more famous father, Frederick Seward nevertheless was closely identified with some of the gravest events in the history of the nation.

It was he who was chosen to warn Lincoln of the plot to assassinate him that had been hatched in Baltimore. Warned of his danger, the President elect took a special train at Philadelphia, and, instead of passing through Baltimore on the line of the Baltimore and Ohio, made a detour by night through Harrisburg, Penn.

Seward served as assistant secretary of state, not only for Lincoln, but in the succeeding cabinets of Johnson and Hayes, during whose terms he was at times acting secretary.

Seward Saved His Father.
When the attempt to assassinate William Henry Seward was made in April, 1865, it was the son that saved him, nearly at the loss of his own life.

In addition to participating in the negotiations for the purchase of Alaska, he also took part in the acquisition of Pago-Pago, American Samoa.

SENATOR WORKS SAYS WILSON'S LOBBYING WAS SCANDALOUS

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] LOS ANGELES, Cal., April 25.—Senator Works, in an address made before the members of the University Club yesterday, declared that the worst failure of the last Congress was in its inability properly to rebuke President Wilson for his illegitimate interference with the work of legislation.

"The president's interference with the work of Congress was more grave than in the last session than it has ever been, the effort to dictate regarding legislation from the White House being worse than at any time in the history of Congress. The failure of Congress to rebuke him for his unconstitutional activities was the worst failure of the session.

"The lobbying of the president on the ship purchase bill was the most glaring example of the efforts of the administration to usurp the powers of Congress, but there were many other examples, while the power of the secret caucus was frequently invoked to force members to vote contrary to their own convictions.

"Undoubtedly the president was sincere in attempting to put through the administration bills, but he had no constitutional right to attempt to dictate as he did."

Declares Vessels In Good Shape and Personnel Up to Maximum

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless] WASHINGTON, D. C., April 26.—In defense of his administration of the navy department, Secretary Daniels gave out here last night the text of a long letter to President Garfield of Williams College, Massachusetts.

The secretary gives in detail a review of the work of the department for the past two years. He sets down figures on the efficiency of all vessels in commission, the quality of training that is given, the methods of practice in which men and officers are drilled, and the progress of the department toward making its own guns and armor.

There are now in commission, he writes, 225 vessels of all kinds, which is 36 more than he found when he assumed charge of the department.

As illustrating the preparedness of the navy for defense, Secretary Daniels writes that the country now has 4355 line, staff and warrant officers on active duty, and 53,171 enlisted men, which is the maximum strength allowed by act of Congress.

Clarence V. Baldwin of Bridgeport was held for trial in the federal court by United States Commissioner Wright of New Haven, on a charge of using the mails to defraud. His bond was fixed at $500.
