

MORE CHARGES AGAINST SCULLY TO BE RAISED?

Federal Officials Say Alleged Gangster Will Be Tried Again

FURTHER VIOLATIONS OF U. S. LAWS ARE ASSERTED

District Attorney McCann Calls Jury Disagreement "Postponement of Fatal Day"

John T. Scully is facing four new charges in federal court as an aftermath of the case against him which last night resulted in a disagreement after the jury had been out about five hours.

This is according to federal court officials who today outlined the present status of the optimum case as follows:

Under the facts which came out in the case it appears that several persons impersonated federal officials, which is a violation of the federal law.

It also appears that a number of persons formed a conspiracy to violate the federal laws, which is a felony and which is punishable by fine and imprisonment.

Facts regarding other optimum trans actions also were brought out in the case.

John T. Scully seems to have been connected with each matter.

From statements made by federal officials, it now appears that four new charges will be brought against Scully: Impersonation of a federal officer, conspiracy and two optimum charges. These charges will be brought regardless of the manner in which the present case ends.

In company with the information regarding the new charges comes the report that a special session of the federal grand jury is to be called. It was first thought that the jurymen would be summoned for Monday, but District Attorney Jeff McCann said that a meeting probably will not be held until the middle of next week.

Nothing definite could be learned as to whether the district attorney will bring the four new charges against Scully to the attention of the grand jury at this time. Persistent rumors, however, say that he will. A number of other cases are said to be awaiting investigation by the grand jury.

Commenting on the disagreement by the jury in the present Scully case, District Attorney McCann said: "It was the worst thing that could have happened to Scully, as it is simply a postponement of the fatal day."

This statement is taken to mean that Mr. McCann is confident of a conviction when the case is retried. The retrial will begin Monday morning before Judge Charles F. Clements. One federal official, commenting on the outcome of the case today, said that it now is evident that the local community is not going to stand for persons going unpunished when charged with offenses such as Scully's.

The jury which disagreed last night stood five for acquittal and seven for conviction, a federal official said today. Those who stood for conviction, he said, were Oliver G. Lansing (foreman), H. A. Giles, Marshall H. Webb, George B. Henderson, Charles J. Campbell, Fred Turrill and Donald MacIntyre. Those who were for acquittal were John Rothwell, William Cummings, Frank L. DeMoraux, George S. Bromley and F. W. L. Humphrey, the official asserted.

"We want the public to know who turned Scully loose," the official said. "A report coming from a well-informed source in the federal building today is that Scully will enter a plea of guilty which his case is called up for retrial. The official who made the statement said that the general belief is that Scully does not want any more trials.

Mr. McCann says that, technically, this charge has nothing to do with any other charges which may be brought against the defendant.

There is nothing in the policy of this office which leads me to believe that a settlement of one case will mean a settlement of the others," he added.

SEVERAL OFFICERS OF THE MARYLAND WILL BE RELIEVED

Lieut-commander David F. Boyd, who is to relieve Commander J. J. Raby as executive officer of the cruiser Maryland, is due this afternoon in the Manchuria, and will take over his new duties. Mr. Boyd is well known here, having been executive of the West Virginia at the time of her last call here, when she towed two of the submarine boats across the Pacific. Commander Raby goes in Annapolis to head the department of seamanship. Three other officers of the Maryland are due for relief in the near future. They are P. A. Surgeon H. A. Garrison, who will leave the ship at San Francisco; Lieut-commander Henry G. S. Wallace, navigator, and Lt. Milton S. Davis, chief engineer.

RECLAMATION OF WAIKIKI SWAMPS WILL BE PRESSED

"First Unit" In Big Improvement Scheme to Be Undertaken Soon

KEWALO PAYMENTS ARE FILLING 'REVOLVING FUND'

Necessary Money Will Soon Be Available, Says Acting Superintendent Wheeler

Work on two of the biggest and most important reclamation projects in the territory will commence as soon as preliminary arrangements have been completed. Assistant Superintendent of Public Works A. C. Wheeler, acting for the superintendent, C. R. Forbes, announced today that notwithstanding contrary reports, preliminary work on the "first unit" of the filling and draining of Waikiki swamps, will start immediately.

Whether or not the Waikiki swamps would be drained during the biennial period of 1916-1916 has been a matter of much speculation. Mr. Wheeler's announcement that the local swamps will be reclaimed probably will be received joyfully by residents along the beach. For years these residents declare they have suffered in being forced to inhale the "dead odors" arising from the swamps and carried to the beach by the winds.

Members of the Outrigger Canoe Club also welcome the news. The club's beach has gradually been carried out to sea because of a marsh stream passing through its property. The draining of the Waikiki swamps will enable the club to dam the stream and fill in sand in the creek bed.

During the session of the 1915 legislature the board of health submitted a requested communication to the house of representatives holding the Waikiki swamp lands to be insanitary. There was doubt expressed at that time whether the territory had sufficient funds to proceed with the work at Waikiki during the next two years, the Waioalama project at Hilo having been started before that time.

"We now see our way clear to reclaim both the Waioalama and the Waikiki swamps," Acting Superintendent Wheeler said today. "There was some doubt as to whether or not the territory would have sufficient funds for both projects in the near future, but as it generally known the reclamation appropriation is carried in a revolving fund."

"On the whole, the Kewalo property owners have been prompt in their payments and as a result the revolving fund is increasing until now we are assured of sufficient funds to start work at both Waioalama and Waikiki. The Hilo work has started already and must be finished, but by the time the Waikiki project's preliminary details are completed and we are ready to commence actual work, the department believes sufficient money will be coming into the revolving fund from property owners at Waioalama to take care of the Waikiki project."

To reclaim swamp lands, much preliminary work must be done, according to law. The board of health condemns the land as insanitary and orders the owners to fill and drain their marsh land. A stated time is allowed for this work. If the property owners fail to fill and drain their lands, then the board of health notifies the department of public works and under the direction of its superintendent, the department proceeds to do the work under contract.

After the completion of the reclamation work by the territory, a lien stands against the property for the cost of the filling and draining and the property owner is allowed three years to pay the cost. If he fails to make the payment the territory may proceed to collect on the lien by forced sale.

Superintendent of Public Works Forbes is en route to the mainland in the steamer Wilhelmina and Mr. Wheeler has been delegated by him to act in the superintendent's stead during Mr. Forbes' absence.

NEW PRIMER AND READERS FOR THE SCHOOL CHILDREN

Under an act created by the last legislature Miss Harriet Needham, former principal of the Liliuokalani school, has been commissioned by the department of public instruction to gather material for a new primer and first, second and third reader for the public schools of the territory. The act provides for the preparation of readers suitable for the pupils of the public schools, and states that the person preparing them must be a duly qualified teacher possessing a Hawaiian grammar grade certificate. Prior to her resignation as principal of Liliuokalani Miss Needham had taught in the territory since January, 1895.

The material for the primer and readers will be gathered by Miss Needham after which the department of public instruction will attend to the publication. It is the idea of the board to have the text of the new books deal with things more Hawaiian than do the present readers and primers. The work will begin at once.

MAYOR LANE IN LETTER DENIES DISCRIMINATION

party visiting these islands, I find your letter of the 6th awaiting an answer.

"I am greatly disturbed to learn that any seaman or enlisted man of the United States navy or army should consider that he has been intentionally discriminated against at the luau given by the mayor of Honolulu to the visiting congressmen and invited guests.

"The luau was an official entertainment; the guests were the distinguished visitors from the mainland and those invited to meet them. The luau was in no sense public but strictly by invitation and no one had the right to be present whose attendance was not requested by a written invitation. The luau was given on the grounds of the city baths at Waikiki, and during the entertainment, the grounds were closed to all except those entitled to be present at the luau as above stated. The only authorized exception to this rule was that the husbands of a number of women, who voluntarily and without remuneration prepared and served the luau, were allowed to come inside the enclosure, and this only because of the services of these women and as a courtesy to them.

"I must disclaim any discrimination such as set out in your letter, or any intentional discrimination of any kind.

"I am aware that articles have appeared in the public press charging discrimination at this luau, but I have not yet had the time to investigate the matter. I beg to assure you that whatever the facts may be, there was no such discrimination authorized or wished by me. On the contrary, no one holds the uniform of our country in higher respect than myself, and I would be the last to do anything tending to humiliate the men wearing that uniform.

"I am,

"Very respectfully yours,

"JOHN C. LANE,

"Mayor of the City and County of Honolulu."

"Special Shipping"

Lesing Called to Leave Oil.

To deliver 15,000 barrels of oil that remained after its visit to Kahului, Maui, the steamer Lansing called at Honolulu today. The Union oil tanker is expected to leave for the California coast tomorrow. It left Port Harford with 44,000 barrels of the product.

Hawaii Sugar List.

Officers in the Inter-Island steamer Mauna Loa returning from Kona and Kau ports today report the following sugar awaiting shipment to Honolulu or to the coast: Punaluu 3675, Honouso 2152, Kalua 5000, Honokaa 10,500, Kakaia 1000, Panahau 16,000 sacks.

Chancellor Searched for McGrath.

From truck to keelson, officers and men directed by Capt. Gus Holmes, searched the Associated Oil Company tanker J. A. Chancellor for Jack McGrath, supposed to have escaped to the mainland in the vessel. The Chancellor steamed early on the morning that McGrath is believed to have left the city and county jail, according to officers in the tanker, which
