CHAMPION KAMEHAMEHA BALL TEAM WILL LOSE MANY MEN

Six Players Who Helped Win Interscholastic Championship Will Leave This Year—Pennant Won First Time Since '08

Athletics at Kamehameha ended for the term last Saturday afternoon, when the school team won the interscholastic championship after defeating St. Louis College in the final game of the series, 5 to 0. This victory brought back the pennant to Kamehameha, after an interregnum of seven years.

The team this year was handicapped at the beginning of the series, as several of last year's players were barred at the last moment, and it was necessary to try out some new material for the positions left vacant. As the season went on, the team improved a great deal under the coaching of J. L. Hayward and Captain Correa. J. Pekelo, who pitched all season last year, did not come to form this year, and after pitching a few games was replaced by Werner, a recruit, who sprung a surprise on the other teams of the league. Young Werner proved a star in the championship game last Saturday, striking out 17 men and allowing only five hits, two of which were made by Nye, who has joined the big league team. I. Cockett, who was at the receiving end for the school battery, was one of the stars on this year's team, working in great form with Werner.

Kama Reioice.
Six of this year's champions graduate with the class of 1915 next Monday, leaving a big hole to be filled on the team next year. Captain Antonio Correa, who has held down the second station for the past year, is one of the valuable men to go. Correa has been on all the athletic teams for the past three years. He was one of the stars on last year's football team. Frank Shipman, who was brought in from the field and placed at third base during the last few games, is another good athlete to leave school this year.

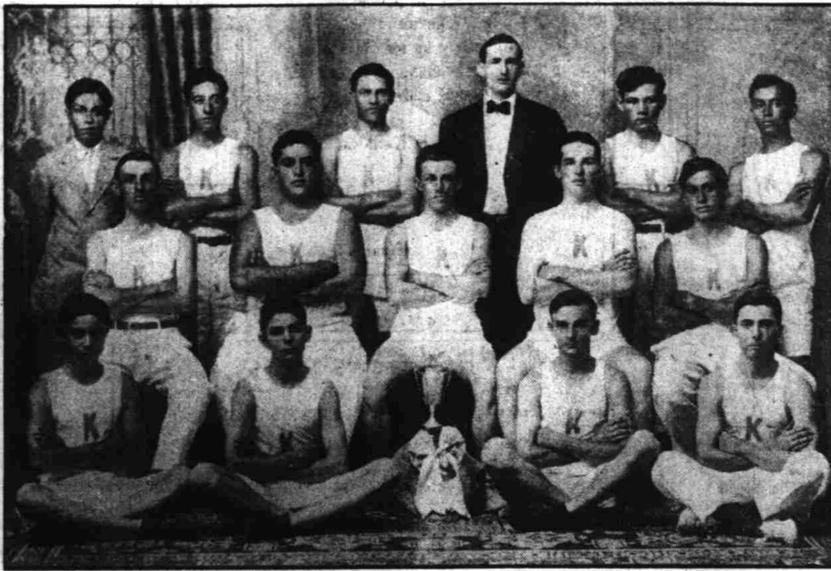

Shipman will continue school in California next September. He was captain of the track team which won the Cornell meet in March.

Among the other players who graduate this year are Albert Mitchell, who covered third during the first part of the season. Mitchell has been on the ball nine for the past three years, but has not played up to form this season. John Makanani has also played on the ball team three years and was a star on the soccer team. Joseph Pekelo entered Kamehameha last year and was the school's star pitcher last season. He played out in the field part of the time this season. Pekelo will be with the Mills team next season, as he continues his studies there next term. Isaac Cockett, who has held the backstop position all this season, is also going out with this year's class. His position will be a hard one to fill next year.

The school team will still have several good players left. Werner is available as a pitcher. Godfrey, who has held down the first sack, will probably do the catching. Ah Sam, who pitched only two innings this year against Punahou, will be on hand to help Werner out. G. Akana, one of the youngest players on the team, will again fill an outfield position. Akana has been playing out in the field for the past three seasons. He is rated among the best stickers this season. Hila and Kanakaole are two other fielders left for next year.

The record of the school team this year is as follows:
May 3—Kama 12, Mills 11.
May 8—Kama 2, Saints 8.
May 10—Kama 6, Punahou 5.
May 15—Kama 12, Mills 4.
May 17—Kama 7, Saints 4.
May 22—Kama 5, Punahou 7.
May 29—Kama 5, Saints 0 (play-off game).

CHINESE PLAYED ONE TIE GAME THAT WENT FOR 11 FAST FRAMES

The local All-Chinese ball team that made such a successful campaign in Manila recently, played one 11-inning game with a picked team from the Philippine capital. Honolulu fans who read the appended account of the game from the Manila Bulletin of May 3 will wonder what made Kan Yin fall for the old trick that tied the score in the seventh. He is too wise a bird to be caught napping in that way as a regular thing.

Here is the Manila story of the game:

The Manila Cits, the cream of the American civilians in the Philippines, and leaders in the race for the Manila league pennant this season, upheld their reputation as the fastest and most scientific collection of ballplayers on this little spot on the globe when they held down the brainy youngsters from the Hawaiian islands to a 5-3 score in one of the most exciting games ever seen in Manila, yesterday. The Cits stood well the test of strength, courage and brains to which they were subjected yesterday afternoon for 11 innings by the cool but aggressive ball tossers from the Paradise of the great Pacific. The celestials were not defeated but they were checked in their rapid advance to complete ruin the great monument of America's national pastime established on these shores sixteen years ago. The honor of Philippine baseball still stands on the balance, but the invaders have been checked and the flower of the American civilians have demonstrated that the Chinese from Hawaii have nothing on them in so far as inside baseball is concerned.

It was the lightning-like brain work of Roberts, the Cits' first sacker, that saved the game from going to the invaders. The happy occurrence took place in the last of the seventh. Keefe went to first on balls, and then barged second when Gratwick was sent to the bench via the strike-out route. Clifford rolled an easy one to second, which the man on that station fumbled, and Keefe landed on the third bag. Cliff stole second. Robinson was out on a puff fly to catcher, but Roberts was safe on first on the first baseman's error and Keefe scored. At this critical moment the score was five to four in favor of the Chinese, two outs on the Cits, and third and first occupied. The Cits must tie the score in this frame or lose the game. Roberts dashed for second in an attempt to force the Chinese catcher to throw to second.

His action was the product of a second's thought, for which Manila reaped a run which tied the score. Kan Yen, the Hawaiian catcher, on seeing Roberts tearing for second, shot one in that direction with the deliberate intention of ending the inning right there. It was just what "Katy" wanted, and instead of proceeding direct to second where he was bound to be caught he made a sudden stop and allowed himself to be chased. He was chased, but before he could be put out the runner on third had already crossed the plate and the score was tied.

Clifford was heralded as the man to save Philippine baseball honor from a complete run at the hands of the invading Chinese aggregation. There was loud applause throughout the park as the big "Chief" walked to the pitcher's box. For five solid innings Cliff pulled himself through masterfully. In the sixth, Clifford, as though in a trance, went up in the air, and for a moment it seemed as though all hopes to save the honor of Philippine baseball were to be shattered. Four scores were already registered when Farley was shoved in in place of "Wahoo."

Another run, was made, but that was all.

Clifford had four strike-outs recorded to his credit and six hits counted on him during the five and a half innings that he pitched. But by force of circumstances Cliff had to give way to Farley, who did wonderfully well for the Cits. The new man pitched the last five innings, retiring seven Chinese sluggers and allowing only one run, which was made while he was saving the situation which prevailed when Clifford left the box.

Luck Yee's performance on the mound yesterday was a revelation of remarkable endurance, control, and steady head work. He had nine strikes to his credit, which is a goodly sum, taking into consideration the sort of batters he faced.

Some sensational fielding was seen in yesterday's contest. This was expected, for the two aggregations were rated as first-class fielders. Chunky Keefe accepted four difficult chances and not one of them got by. The Cits had the game in hand from the third frame up to the sixth, when the Chinese rallied and the flow of fortune favored the invaders. In the last of the third, Gratwick received his pass, trotted to second on a wild pitch, and then proceeded to third after Clifford was out on one of the sensational catches of the afternoon made by the first sacker of the visitors. Robinson sent a long fly to center and Grat sneaked home for the count of one. In the succeeding inning Manila shaved in two more runs, making a total of three, which sum looked big enough to trim the invaders. But the memorable rally of the Hawaiians and Clifford's air ascension occurred simultaneously in the sixth frame, in which the Chinese scored five.

H. C. Yim was out on a roll to Clifford. H. Chim connected a two-bagger. Kan Yen walked. On H. K. Yim's single, the two advanced a base each. Apau was given first on balls. That scored Chin, and forced Yen and Yim to occupy third and second respectively. Sing Hung was hit by a pitched ball, and Kan Yen came home while Yim and Apau advanced a base each. Kam Fat reached first on a fielder's choice but Yim was put out, short to home. Luck Yee connected a timely bingle which scored Hung and they on an error of Smith, Kam Fat crossed the plate for the count of five. But, fortunately, in the seventh, as described above, Roberts made use of some inside baseball stuff, and the score remained tied till the game was called off on account of darkness.

Yesterday's game was the third of the series and the big crowd that attended was pleased with the fine exhibition the ball tossers put up.

CHINESE MAY GET TWO SUNDAY DATES WITH COLLEGIANS

Announcement in the Star-Bulletin two days ago that the All-Chinese ball team now touring the Orient had decided to cut out the Japanese end of their schedule, and would be home in Honolulu June 15, has caused no end of interest in local baseball circles.

This change of plans means that the Chinese will be able to get two Sunday dates with the Stanford collegians and arrangements are now under way to provide for these games. The Portuguese team will be switched to another date, so that the fans can see the new Far Eastern champions in action against the visitors.

Stanford makes its next appearance this coming Saturday, against the All-Army team, which scored over the Cardinals Sunday last. The collegians are still smarting under the sting of that defeat, and they are out to win by any fair means. The game should be a real one.

WILL BE A BIG YEAR IN UNITED STATES TENNIS

American Stars Can Play in More Tournaments Than in Former Seasons

The tennis world is confronted with two momentous facts this year which render predictions easy on one hand, while on the other there exists a doubt. The war has eliminated any possibility of the Davis cup matches, so it can be safely presumed that the foremost players in the country will participate in more tournaments than if they were forced to train for the international competitions. With this condition it is only necessary to glance over the country where the largest tournaments are held to discover which ones will attract the western players—Maurice E. McLoughlin, R. Lindley Murray, William Johnston, or such players of lesser ability as Ella Fottrell, Clarence Griffin and John Strachan.

When a player has won two legs on a challenge cup, valuable because of the many names engraved upon it, he is apt to consider pointing for the place where that tournament is held with the idea in mind of attempting to carry the prize away. At Lake Forest, just outside of Chicago, the western championships are held, usually late in July, and McLoughlin has won two legs on a challenge trophy there that the Onwetsia Club donated to the Western Tennis Association. The past two years he has been unable to participate in this tournament because of the international matches, but this year on his way East to New York it is fair to predict that he will stop off in Chicago and attempt to have his name placed for the third and last time on the time-honored trophy.

Leaving Chicago McLoughlin could arrive in good time to defend his title at Longwood for the Western championship and the Longwood tournaments are generally held during successive weeks in July. After Longwood the New York state championship is held at Bay Ridge, but McLoughlin will likely rest that week and enter the Southampton tournament in preparation for the national championship in New York. McLoughlin is training at this present moment for the national title, which he lost to R. N. Williams last year at Newport. No other tournament will interfere with the "California Comet's" plans as concerns his physical and mental efficiency, which he knows full well must be at the highest standard during the progress of the national championship.

There are times when most men would like to turn on the briny flow—but they are ashamed to do it.

If we look back a few years we all will agree that no department of the game has changed like the playing of first base unless possibly it is the pitching. There was a time in baseball when hitting superseded everything else in connection with playing the game. A heavy hitter was the first player selected. It did not matter much if he could handle grounders or catch a fly, if he could only do execution with a hickory stick he was "the boy wanted" and considered the best player in the bunch.

Roger Connor, Capt. Anson, Dan Brothers, Dave Orr, Al McKinnon and John Morrill were all sluggers of the old school and were hired for their ability to hit the ball. Fielding was made a second consideration. A first baseman was simply expected to catch what balls were thrown into his hands, but as to the idea of his covering ground around first base that was not considered at all. If the ball was not thrown directly into his hands the other fellow got the error. He was needed to make home runs in a number of other ways make himself useful by knocking the cover off the ball.

As for running bases, that was not to be thought of. To see a first baseman steal a base caused the most utter surprise and the fact was commented on for many moons. As the game progressed, it was seen that the fielding had about as much to do with winning games as batting.

Charley Comiskey showed this to perfection while a member of the St. Louis Browns. He began to play deep and teach both his pitchers and second basemen to be ready to cover first. It was an every-day sight to see a pitcher, be it Caruthers, Poff, King or Hudson, taking the throw from Comiskey on the bags; the same can be said of Yankee Robinson, the second baseman.

As the pitching improved in skill, batting deteriorated and fielding came to the front. For several years pitching predominated, rules were made that made the pitcher the big hit, then fielding had its day. Then suitable rules were put in force so the pitcher could not face the second baseman and then turn and aim the ball to the batter, he was forbidden to put the ball behind his back, the running jump of the boxman was abolished, the pitching distance was changed, and other rules made, which put others in the game besides the pitcher.

This equalization of matters made it necessary for a man to do something besides one thing. He must hit, and do his share of fielding and run bases, too. So it has gradually developed that a small built, agile, hustling first baseman who covers ground is now superior and has superseded the big fellow whose whole stock in trade was his bat. It is merely the evolution of the game made necessary by the improvement in its science. First-sackers like Daubert, Chase, McInnis, Saler, Beck, Burns, Holke, Koney and Borton have come to stay and they are "only doing" what Comiskey started years ago back in St. Louis with his four-time winners, "Der Preunds."
