CHARLES R. BISHOP DIES ON COAST AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS; CITY MOURNS

Death of Man Who Played Great Part in Upbuilding of Hawaii Shadows Community—Businesshouses Close and Flags are Half-masted—Public Memorial Service May Be Held

Charles R. Bishop, one of the notable men in the annals of Hawaii, whose name is inseparably connected with the upbuilding of the islands industrially, educationally and socially, died in San Francisco this morning, at the age of 93 years and four months.

Though he had resided in San Francisco for the past 20 years, his countless friends in the islands have always retained the liveliest respect, love and admiration for him and when the news came today that death had resulted from a brief illness, the entire city instantly prepared to do honor to his memory.

It is not unlikely that a special public memorial service will be held in Honolulu and, in addition, at various schools and philanthropic institutions generously aided by himself and his wife, the Princess Bernice Pauahi Bishop, there will be commemorative exercises.

Through his advanced age had shown in recent years in some physical feebleness, it was a shock for his relatives and friends here to learn last Thursday that he was seriously ill, the first news coming in a despatch to the Star-Bulletin. This was followed by news that he was better but it was realized that his weight of years was against the chance of recovery.

Flags on all public buildings and at the public schools are flying at half-mast, at the latter institutions on an order issued by Superintendent of Schools Kinney. The schools were not closed today.

Mr. Bishop came to Hawaii in 1846 from his home in New York. He was born January 2, 1822, at Glenn Falls, N. Y. From the early 50s until he removed to San Francisco 20 years ago he was a valued citizen of Hawaii and after getting a start in business here came to command a powerful and a kindly influence both in public and in private affairs.

His ancestors were New Englanders for a number of generations before his advent upon earth, his maternal grandfather having fought for the colonies in the Revolutionary war. Orphaned in his early childhood, Mr. Bishop went to live with his grandparents, attending the local grammar school. His first real employment was at the age of 15, when he left home, went to a neighboring village and took work in a country store.

He was the sturdy product of sturdy New England stock. An appreciative sketch of him, given in the San Francisco Chronicle a few months ago, contained the following salient facts of his life.

Mob Rushes Convention in Mexico City, Demanding Food—Women and Children Collapse in Surging Masses—More Than a Million in Danger of Starvation in Capital of Republic

(Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless)
MEXICO CITY, Mex., June 7.—The so-called "national convention" of Mexicans held today in the Chamber of Deputies to discuss the serious situation resulted in scenes of the wildest disorder.

The galleries and the floor were packed with spectators and the speakers were rushed from the forum by a mob of hungry men, women and children, shouting, "We want corn! We will give but one day!"

Ten thousand people surrounded the building, among them hundreds of women and children. Three hundred women and children and old men collapsed from the excitement and injuries caused by the surging masses of people, and were attended by Red Cross forces hastily summoned.

The Mexican crops are short and the desperate need is increasing. Unless relief comes from the outside, it is declared, 13,000,000 people are in great danger of starvation.

"Little Korea" in Honolulu today is experiencing a revolution within a revolution. The trouble, which began when the president of the Korean National Association was arrested on a charge of embezzling the association's funds a month ago, is now at high pitch.

The factional fight among the Koreans has reached fever heat. The old party of which Kim Chong Hak, late president of the association who was arrested on a charge of embezzling $1265 of the funds, is opposed by a new party under Dr. Syngman Rhee of the Korean mission and compound.

Last night, Yee Hong, a Korean, appeared at the police station much battered and bruised. Upon his testimony warrants were sworn out for 19 members of the association, charging them with assault. The police say Yee looked as though a threshing machine had run over him.

In addition to the 40 special talemen there were five jurors present who are members of the regular panel. These were called into the stand first for examination.

The members of the special venire are Richard H. Trent, J. Andrade, F. W. Thrane, A. E. Goble, A. P. Taylor, W. R. Farrington, John Watt, Palmer Woods, C. B. Wilson, C. F. Loomis, Robert Law, Stephen Gumpfer, Alexander Hume Ford, C. J. Scheid, W. W.
