BILLY SUNDAY'S LIFE CONFOUNDS HONEST ENEMIES

So Says F. M. Davenport In Judicial Review of Evangelist in The Outlook

"If Sunday's life and labor, even up to date, were examined critically from the standpoint of his social value, I am inclined to think, from these and many other fragments of evidence which have come to me, that the conclusions would confound his foes as well as his honest enemies," writes Frederick M. Davenport in a recent issue of The Outlook. Mr. Davenport has been contributing a series of articles to that magazine, dealing with political and social conditions in the Middle West. So impressed was he with the influence of Billy Sunday in many places that his last article was headed "The National Value of Billy Sunday."

Says Mr. Davenport: "Just at noon one day when I was in the Capitol building at Des Moines there came rolling up the stairway a volume of religious song. What I heard was a new experience for me in such surroundings. I found, upon inquiry and investigation, that there was a large noon meeting of officials and department employes going on several weeks after Billy Sunday had been in town. I talked with the mayor and all sorts of people who would know, and there is no question that Sunday profoundly stirred the whole community."

"Cautious observers informed me, that, among other important influences, his meetings had quickly ripened the prohibition issue; and that Des Moines would soon be dry. Only a few weeks after I was in Iowa the prophesies of my friends in Des Moines were fulfilled, Des Moines and the legislature going dry together, and the latter repealing the Muley Law by an overwhelming majority. Helped in Colorado:

"In Colorado also I found evidence of a more intimate influence of Sunday and his message upon certain powerful business personalities than he himself knows or that I am at liberty to relate. Sunday was in that state while the fight was pending last summer over the governorship and prohibition. The effect of his meetings on both of these issues was perhaps determining. In Colorado Springs and Denver, where he held meetings, a comparison of last fall's vote upon the prohibition issue with previous votes on that same issue, indicates that the fight was really won there."

"The article continues to tell of the remarkable way in which the Sunday meetings 'cleaned up' Fargo, N. D., which is characterized as one of the most difficult places in which the evangelist ever worked."

"There is no gaining Sunday's influence upon community life, upon the family, and upon sobriety," states Mr. Davenport emphatically.

"Entirely aside from that great and important element of the recent immigrant in our population to which I have just referred, the average American of the present day of nearly every economic or social stratum has very little use for topianness or mere dignity or diluted sweetness and light or mealy-mouthedness. He wants his religion, just as he wants his baseball, human, vital, efficient, on the square; a player called out on first when he is out; the theory and the rules of the game intelligible enough so that he can comprehend them—a part of his actual life right here and now. The simple moralities and realities in both their temporal and their abiding aspect awaken a tremendous response within him if they come to him in his own vernacular and on his own level, from somebody whom he believes to be absolutely genuine. Helps Men in Street.

"It is from this angle, I take it, that the judgment of Sunday should begin. We have probably never had a religious evangelist in this country who came so powerfully close to the heart and mind and conscience of the man in the street as Sunday. As a consequence, locomotive engineers, commercial travelers, fraternal organizations—the great human groups of husky Americans—are devoted to him wherever he goes.

"If Sunday's life and labor even up to date were examined critically from the standpoint of his social value, I am inclined to think, from these and many other fragments of evidence that have come to me, that the conclusions would confound his foes as well as his honest opponents. We must remember that this is not the America of the evangelist Moody's day.

"The danger to masses of men because of overwrought emotion and delusion and excess of fanaticism is very slight with Sunday. He is the religious evangelist of the as yet crude but earnest and vital democracy of America at the beginning of the 20th century. Sunday really understands what a simple and intense nation we are, after all, underneath. We are still in that religious and political stage of development where a man who 'puts the cookies on the lower shelf' wins the heart and directs the will. The tremendous overmastering energy of the man, the very violence of his vitality, is American. And then he makes the impression upon vast audiences, and upon those who meet him casually in private, and upon his intimates, of human, simple, genuine personal character. The family, the home, the workshop, the trade union, the lodge, the city, the state, are more precious to tens of thousands of men in a community after Sunday leaves it. These are the simplicities of democracy, but they have enormous social value."

LEAVE ON MANOA TO BE PRESENT AT CONVENTION

The following letter has been received from Dr. Parley A. Baker, general superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League of America, addressed to Dr. John W. Wadman, the superintendent of the local league, and indicates the trend of the rapidly advancing temperance movement on the mainland.
"Governor Willis of Ohio has appointed 20 delegates at-large to our national convention in Atlantic City. I am giving you this information simply so that if you feel it would be of any influence to use with your governor, in case there is doubt in his mind about making a like appointment, you can use it."

"Just as soon as the governor of your territory appoints the 'twenty' will you kindly send me their names and addresses, as we desire to get information to them concerning the convention at once."

The national convention referred to is to take place in Atlantic City, N. J., July 6-9, and it is expected that at least 25,000 delegates representing all the states in the Union, including the territories of Hawaii and Alaska, will be present. The convention, meeting on the new Million Dollar Pier of Atlantic City, will be addressed by some of the most noted speakers of America, including former Secretary of State Wm. J. Bryan, Congressman Hobson, Senator Sheppard, Governors Patterson and Hanley, and Doctors Aked and Bushes.

National prohibition will be discussed in all its bearings and plans made to make America dry in 1920, the three hundredth anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrim Fathers on Plymouth Rock. A delegation of 5000 will be appointed to visit Washington, D. C., at the close of the convention and present a monster petition to President Wilson, praying for national prohibition.

On the Manoa, Rev. D. C. Peters and Sam Kamalopoli of the 1st department took their departure as Hawaii's delegates to this convention, and are to be joined by Hon. C. H. Dickey, Prof. Vaughan MacCaughy, Theo. Richards and W. Spencer Bowen, at points on the mainland, so as to reach Atlantic City in a body at the opening day of the huge convention.

EARLY NOTICES FOR CHURCHES REQUESTED
Owing to the growing number of churches and religious institutions which desire to be represented on the special page devoted to churches each Saturday, and the consequent larger amount of preparation necessary, the Star-Bulletin finds it necessary to request that notices be sent earlier in the week. It has been customary to receive notices up to Friday evening, but it is now desired to have all such matter in on Thursday evening. Pastors and other church officers who cannot at times give their Sunday programs thus far in advance are requested to send in a note with information as to when their programs will be ready. Address all communications, "Church Page News, Star-Bulletin." Cooperation will secure the best results and insure the accurate publication of church news and notes.

BOOK HOLDS REPORTS FOR LAST TWO YEARS
The new Year Book of Central Union church is just off the press, and copies may be obtained after the Sunday service or at any time during the week from the church office. This book contains the reports for the years 1913 and 1914, as there was no year book issued in 1914.

World's Strides In Temperance

Saloons Closed.
Just before adjournment the New York legislature voted to levy an increased tax upon the liquor traffic under which it is "feared" that 1250 saloons of New York City may have to close. Retail licenses are to be made higher by 25 per cent.

And the New York Times, in commenting upon this act of the legislature, remarks: "There is nothing more absurd than the notion that the closing of these saloons will injure the working man or cause him to lose his job, unless it be the idea that we have no right to close a saloon anyway."

Personal Liberty Sacrificed.
Mayor Brown of Franklin, Pa., has issued an edict against the use of liquor which applies to all city employees: "We do not intend that the money paid out by the city shall be spent for liquor when so many persons have a hard time earning enough to obtain bread. Off will come the hood of any city employe who pursues this course," said the mayor. "I am not turning prohibitionist," he explained, "I simply wish to guard against the spending of the city's money for liquor, when it might be used for bread and other necessities of life."

France Wholly Committed.
It seems that France having already banished absinthe, is to take another forward step and is following the example of Russia in becoming a prohibition nation. The Petit Parisien says it has been informed that the French government will introduce a bill prohibiting absolutely the manufacture, sale and transportation of all alcoholic drinks during the progress of the war. Even beverages containing a slight percentage of alcohol, it is understood, will be prohibited.

The Knights Templar of Pennsylvania, it is reported, at their annual convocation, passed by a big majority a resolution which makes it impossible in the future for any one directly or indirectly connected with the liquor traffic to join any Commandery in the state.

College Men.
Dartmouth College has lined up with the intercollegiate movement now making tremendous headway among university men in favor of national prohibition. So have the state colleges of the Dakotas and also the University of Beloit of Wisconsin.

From Oxford, England, comes the announcement that Jesus College has decided to bar alcoholic beverages while the war continues. Similar action has been taken by Oxford. It is expected that others will do likewise and that the entire university soon will bar alcoholic drinks.

Big Business.
"Employees of this company are not permitted to visit saloons during the noon hour. Violations of this order will be at the employee's risk." In conspicuous places about the Wisconsin Steel Company's plant in Chicago this ruling was posted the other morning, and at noon the horde of workers filed straight by the three saloons located near the company's gate.

Brevities From The Anti-Saloon League

Delegates.
The Anti-Saloon League of Hawaii will be well represented at the national convention to be held at Atlantic City, N. J., July 6 to 9. The list of regularly elected delegates includes Rev. D. C. Peters, whose name appears in the published list of noted speakers; C. H. Dickey, Theodore Richards, W. S. Bowen and Professor Vaughan MacCaughy of the College of Hawaii.

On to Washington.
It is proposed to elect a delegation of 5000 persons to proceed in a body from Atlantic City to Washington, D. C., in order to present a petition signed by the 25,000 members of the national convention to President Woodrow Wilson praying for the entire prohibition of the liquor traffic throughout the United States on grounds of efficiency, economy and ethics.

Adjourned Session.
Preparations are being made for the adjourned session of the annual conference to be held in Kaunakapili church July 21 in connection with the annual meeting of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association. Rev. George Loungin, the popular pastor of Hilo, has been invited to speak on that occasion as well as other well-known platform orators.

A Pathetic Incident.
A little girl in the fourth grade of a local public school, in signing the temperance pledge, asked her teacher if she might be permitted to sign it for her father, also, who was, as she stated, a drunkard. Upon learning that it might not do any good unless her father consented, she took a pledge home with the hope that she might be able to persuade her father to abandon his cups and sign the pledge for himself.

Lincoln-Lee Legion.
The Lincoln-Lee Legion movement grows. There are more than 5000 members now enrolled. These boys and girls, ranging in age from 12 to 18, have all signed the pledge, deliberately binding themselves to abstain from the use of alcoholic drinks. They are wearing the little campaign button in white, red and blue and bearing the sign of the engraved cross. One of the school principals of Maui, in writing the office for more pledges, states that his pupils, having signed the pledge themselves, are now seeking to persuade others to do so in their own homes, including the older members of their families and even their parents.

MISSIONARY LETTERS AT MID-WEEK SERVICE
The regular series of "Pauline Evenings," which are proving such an interesting feature of the mid-week services will be omitted this coming Thursday in order to allow the members of the church and congregation to spend "An Hour with the Central Union Missionaries." Some especially interesting letters have come from China and Oberlin, and all are invited to hear the good tidings.

"VISION" CHOSEN TOPIC
At the morning service at Central Union Church Dr. Scudder will speak on "Four Cardinal Christian Factors," taking the fourth factor, "Vision," for the theme of his address.

NEW NATIONAL BODY WILL AID IN WAR RELIEF

Senator Elihu Root Heads New "Committee of Mercy" Recently Organized in N. Y.

Information has reached Honolulu of the launching in New York City of a new organization for raising funds for war relief. The organization is known as the "Committee of Mercy," and has as its president Senator Elihu Root.

The vice-presidents of the organization are Charles W. Eliot, Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Miss Katherine B. Davis and Hon. John Purroy Mitchell, all of whom are well known throughout America. August Belmont is treasurer.

The finance committee is headed by Frederick H. Allen. Norman Hapgood is chairman of the states committee and John Mofat is chairman of the publicity committee. William H. Hamilton is secretary of the organization.

The Star-Bulletin has received the following letter from Vice-President Mrs. Harriman:

"The Committee of Mercy is endeavoring to relieve the suffering caused the women and children by the great war.

"The American people have responded nobly to meet the sad plight of the Belgian people. Belgium is still in need of assistance from America if her civil population is to be fed; but Poland and Serbia are in even worse straits. In Serbia typhus is prevalent, and summer will bring the danger of cholera. Unless checked these epidemics may sweep over Europe, making more terrible the scourge of war. Russian Poland west of the German lines is a veritable desert island on which are some 6,000,000 of people absolutely without food.

"This means that large sums of money must be collected; and we call on you to assist us in making our part of the work successful, which is raising funds sufficient to meet these conditions of suffering.

"A pledge of a stated sum each month will help to place the work of relief on a more assured basis. But the immediate need is for generous contributions up to the limit of the means of each warm-hearted American."

NEW TEACHER IS ORGANIST FOR SUMMER MONTHS

Miss Gertrude Marion Knowles of Concord, Massachusetts, who has come to Honolulu to take a position in the girls' department of Kamehameha schools, will serve as organist at Central Union church during the summer months.

Although but a young girl, Miss Knowles is an accomplished musician of great promise. During her high school course she won a scholarship in the New England Conservatory of Music, where she afterwards studied the organ under Mr. Robinson, one of Boston's foremost musicians, and the piano under Alfred De Voto.

Miss Knowles reached Honolulu on the Mongolia last week, and will take up her duties as organist this Sunday morning. She is the sister of Mrs. Earl G. Bartlett of Haiku, Maui.
