SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
 SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 24.
 —Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Naylor were the guests of honor at the delightful buffet supper given by Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Naylor on Wednesday evening; before the mounted service hop. Those invited to meet them were Capt. and Mrs. John Fair, Maj. Ralph Harrison, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Lieut. and Mrs. William Gardenhire, Lieut. and Mrs. Rawson Warren, Mr. John McCaulay, and Colonel and Mrs. William Forsyth.

The week has been crowded with social affairs of delightful nature, but foremost among them in point of charm was the attractive buffet luncheon given by Col. and Mrs. L. W. V. Kennon on Tuesday in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Dean C. Worcester. A large number of service people stationed at Schofield renewed acquaintance with Mr. Worcester which was formed in the Philippines during the early days of the civil government. The Kennon quarters presented a lovely and hospitable aspect; bowls of fragrant sweet peas stood on tables and mantels, while hanging baskets of ferns formed a daintily cool background. Mrs. Americus Mitchell, at the flower-wreathed punch bowl, ably assisted by Miss Anne Carpenter, graciously presided over the colonel's popular brew: Mrs. Gose and Mrs. Bailey served in the dining room at the luncheon table, loaded with good things to eat. Here baskets of yellow and white daisies and ferns formed the decorations. In the receiving line Mrs. Kennon presented the guests to Mr. and Mrs. Worcester and Mr. and Mrs. Forrest. Those present were Gen. and Mrs. John Wisser, Col. Carl Reichmann, Col. and Mrs. Waldo Ayer, Maj. Ralph Harrison, Col. George Sands, Col. S. D. Sturgis, Mrs. D. L. Howell, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Willard, Capt. Marshall Childs, Mrs. Clyde Crusan, Maj. and Mrs. Gose, Maj. and Mrs. George Bailey, Miss Stella Mayer, Miss Anne Carpenter, Capt. George de Grasse Catlin, Capt. and Mrs. Americus Mitchell, Maj. Julius Penn, Capt. and Mrs. Campbell King, Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillipson, Lieut. and Mrs. Jerome Pillow, Lieut. and Mrs. James Higgins, Lieut. and Mrs. Carey Crockett, Lieut. and Mrs. John Hinemcn, Lieut. and Mrs. George Gay, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Miss Welcome Ayer, Miss Nellie Carleton, Capt. and Mrs. Frank Hopkins, Capt. and Mrs. Pelham Glassford, Capt. Bates, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold, Lieut. Charles Meals, Lieut. Livingston Watrous, Capt. and Mrs. James Parker, Maj. and Mrs. Edmund Dutts, Capt. and Mrs. William Chitty and Maj. and Mrs. Gideon Van Poole and Lieut. and Mrs. Waldo Potter.

Mrs. William Doane, who will leave for the coast on the July transport, was the honor guest at the beautifully appointed luncheon given by Mrs. David Stone on Saturday last. The color scheme used for the tables was corn-flower blue and was exquisitely carried out in the graceful clusters of corn-flowers and maiden-hair ferns that were the center-pieces—through the blue and white embroidered doilies to the place cards, and even to the mints, which were a most cerulean shade of blue, the whole effect being daintiness itself. After a luncheon of numerous courses each one more in...viting than the last, the guests were entertained delightfully by a musical program arranged and given by Mrs. Potter, Mrs. Meals and Mrs. Stone, the combination of whose voices and musical talents gave their hearers great pleasure and brought to a close a charming occasion. The guests were Mesdames John Wisser, Edmund Butts, Ernest Gose, Charles Meals, William Doane, Charles Willard, Richard Taylor, Mathew Palen, John Hunt, Waldo Potter, Charles Day, William Ganoe, Miss Farrell, Livingston Watrous, William McCleave and George Harrison.

Captain and Mrs. Pelham Glassford are entertaining this evening in honor of their sister, Miss Nellie Carleton, their house guest. Fifty friends of the post have been invited to supper to meet Miss Carleton and later the party will motor to the moonlight dance at Haleiwa. The list of guests includes Colonel and Mrs. L. W. V. Kennon, Major William Guignard, Captain George de Grasse Catlin, Captain S. S. Creighton, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold, Lieut. and Mrs. Fred Coleman, Lieut. and Mrs. Louis McKinlay, Lieut. and Mrs. John Hatch, Lieut. and Mrs. William McCleave, the Misses Gertrude Hopkins, Carrie and Esther McMahon, Louise Freeman, Welcome and Constance Ayer, Ruth Barclay, Dorothy Forsyth, Norma Mason, Margaret Fealy and Anne Carpenter, Captain Harry Williams, Lieuts. Ballard Lyster, Harold Huntley, William McCulloch, Oswald Saunders, Wallace Phillion, James Ullo, Wilbur Rogers, Charles Haverkamp, Freeman Bowley, Wallace Hall, Walter Winton, Mr. Macaulay, Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Marr and Lieut. and Mrs. Waldo Potter.

On Wednesday of last week Lieut. and Mrs. Waldo Potter gave a dinner for 20 friends of the garrison. Two large tables were set for supper, at each of which 10 covers were placed. Baskets brimming over with daisies, yellow and white, formed the centerpiece for each table, whose color scheme of yellow and white was carried out in the dainty candle shades and dinner cards. Present were Maj. and Mrs. Ernest Gose, Capt. and Mrs. David Stone, Capt. and Mrs. Charles Willard, Maj. and Mrs. Edmund Butts, Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillipson, Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Meals, Lieut. and Mrs. William Ganoe, Miss Irene Farrell, who is visiting the Ganoes; Mr. John Macaulay, Capt. and Mrs. Lucius Holbrook and the hosts. The party later were present at the hop in the Cavalry-Artillery Cantonment Club.

After the hop on Wednesday, which was one of the enjoyable events of the week, Miss Gertrude Hopkins gave a delicious supper in honor of her guest Miss Louise Freeman. After the supper, informal games of various kinds were enjoyed, and the evening was brought to a close with music. Those present were the Misses Freeman, Nellie Carleton, Rose Herbert, and Irene Farrell, Lieut. and Mrs. Orville Tyler, Lieut. and Mrs. William McCleave, Lieut. and Mrs. William Dodds, Captain S. S. Creighton, Lieuts. Wallace Phillion, Oswald Saunders, Wallace Hall, Guy Chipman, and Charles Haverkamp.

Major William S. Guignard was a charming host on Wednesday, entertaining for eight at an attractively appointed dinner. A low mound of brilliant red exotias with their glossy dark green foliage made an effective centerpiece, which was enhanced by the soft glow from the four red-shaded candles. Covers were placed for Miss Nellie Carleton, Captain and Mrs. Campbell King, Lieut. and Mrs. Irving Phillipson, Captain and Mrs. Pelham Glassford, and Major Guignard. After dinner the party attended the hop at the club.

Mrs. Ely Denson entertained with a bridge afternoon on Thursday last. Among those who enjoyed the series of interesting games were Mesdames Edmund Butts, George Harrison, Richard Taylor, William McCleave, Manton Mitchell, Charles Wyman, Franklin Rice and William Mapes. Attractive sandal wood fans were presented to the winners of high scores for the afternoon who were Mesdames Rice, Taylor and Mapes.

Mrs. George Apple was hostess at a bridge luncheon given on Wednesday. Present were Mesdames John Wisser, L. W. V. Kennon, William Forsyth, George Bailey, John O'Shea, Roger Mason, Harold Naylor, Percy Dashon, James Parker, Chas. Meisls and Lester Will Young. Dainty comesoles were won as prizes by Mrs. Mason and Miss Meals. Mrs. Parker, as the guest of honor, was given a powder box as a souvenir.

Mrs. Orville Tyler gave a most enjoyable picnic supper on Tuesday of this week, in honor of Miss Rose Herbert, who was her guest for a few days. The party motored down to Haleiwa, where after a dip in the sea a jolly supper was spread on the sands. Present were Miss Herbert, Mr. Chipman, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, Captain S. S. Creighton, and Lieut. and Mrs. Tyler.

Captain and Mrs. George Apple gave a dinner for eight on Friday of last week, entertaining for Major and Mrs. Edmund Butts, Captain and Mrs. Roger Mason and Captain and Mrs. Gordon Kimball. Yellow flowers were used effectively in the gracefully arranged centerpiece of which tints were reflected in the candle shades and place cards.

Lieut. and Mrs. Livingston Watrous gave a buffet supper before the hop in the Twenty-fifth Club on Friday last, entertaining for Lieut. and Mrs. William Ganoe, Miss Irene Farrell, Col. Carl Reichmann, Lieut. and Mrs. Robert Harbold, Lieut. and Mrs. Ivens Jones and Lieuts. Oswald Saunders and Wallace Phillion.

Lieut. and Mrs. William Dodds were dinner hosts on the same evening, entertaining in honor of their house guest, Miss Rose Herbert of Honolulu.

Captain and Mrs. Apple entertained again at dinner on Saturday, in honor of Lieut. and Mrs. John Hatch who are recent arrivals in the garrison, having come to Hawaii from Fort Sill where they were married in May. At the dinner were present also Lieut. and Mrs. Percy Deshon and Lieut. Bernard Peyton.

Captain and Mrs. Frank Hopkins on Wednesday gave a dinner in honor of their house guest Miss Louise Freeman of Cincinnati, who is staying at the Moana. Covers were placed for six, including Miss Freeman, Lieut. Ballard Lyster, Captain S. S. Creighton, Miss Gertrude Hopkins, and the hosts.

A party of young people from the post enjoyed a moonlight supper on the Waimea beach on Thursday evening. Starting about five o'clock, various motors transported the party to the shore where the ever delightful swim was enjoyed, leading more zest to the picnic supper which came later.

Major and Mrs. William Cruikshank returned to the post on Tuesday after a most interesting trip to Maui, having accompanied Colonel and Mrs. Frank Cleatham on a visit to "the scenic volcano" of that island.

Lieut. and Mrs. James Higgins entertained at dinner on Friday Captain and Mrs. William Doane and Lieut. and Mrs. Chaney.

FT. SHAFTER SOCIETY

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
 FORT SHAFTER, June 26.—Ladies' night at the Officers' club was very gay and more of the bridge lovers are turning out each week. Monday night there were five tables, and everybody enjoyed the game.
