EXPERTS OF T & M CLUB PLAN HIKE

Seasoned Climbers Will Blaze New Trails in the Near Future

For many months the Trail and Mountain Club has conducted its week-end tramping and motor bus trips to the mountains and seaside places of Oahu Island. For a month or more ahead interesting trips are booked up and a plan of putting each week-end trip under a special committee will get up its own party, arrange its own entertainment features, and at the end of several months the success of these will be compared and the best methods of each permanently adopted.

On Saturday of this week about a dozen of the most experienced hikers in the Trail and Mountain Club will gather at Wahiawa, making the rest house at the intake of the Wahiawa stream in the Koolau range Saturday evening. The night will be spent there, and early the following morning the tramp will be made to the ridge above Kahana, and from there the trail enters, each armed with a bolo, will strike out for the six or seven-mile hike through an unbroken country to make connection with the Castle-Punaluu trail. It is expected that the second night will be spent at the Castle rest house above Kaliuwa falls. Hopes will be carried, and an attempt made to get down over the falls, the object of this trip being to lay out the beginning of a new system of trails with a hotel at the beginning and end of each. There is a hotel at Wahiawa and one at Hanalei, and if it is feasible to make the connecting link between the Kahana trail and the Punaluu trail, and then either a trail or a road down over Kaliuwa falls, one of the greatest booby traps in the islands will be the result—a day trip will be a better matter than a week-end tramping trip of the seasoned hikers of the club will be to the Hanalei Hotel over to Wahiawa and then to the trail above the army camp. Already the army camp has been done and trail signs in this direction and the trail will be a good one to an easy day's hike from Hanalei a trail already exists to the trail going to Leliehua and the hotel at Wahiawa. This will be put in order, so as to complete the triangle—Wahiawa to Hanalei, Hanalei to Wahiawa, and Hanalei back to Wahiawa, with a good night's rest in each of the three hotels. It is also contemplated to put in condition the several rest houses grouped together at the head of Makaha valley on the Waianai side of Kaala. Several of the trail and mountaineers are the only ones that have ever crossed Kaala from Waianai to Leliehua, and these will act as guides, if this trail is placed in condition for the use of the public.

The Trail and Mountain Club has now completed its splendid map of all of the trails leading out of Honolulu to and over the mountains about the city. Each trail is numbered, as well as having a series of sign posts of its own, and the sign posts will soon be placed in position with directions and numbering, so that no one can possibly get lost. Each sign post will tell the distance from the summit of the mountain to which the trail leads, and the distance from the nearest car line, as well as giving the elevation. About 1000 of these signs will be needed, and will be placed in position after the distances have been measured off. The Trail and Mountain Club will probably secure the services of Gilbert Brown to carry on this work, while the three-color map which has been prepared by Professor Donoghio after four years' labor with the assistance of the army engineers, work commenced at once on this big undertaking.

The membership in the Trail and Mountain Club is but $5, and this secures for the members many benefits in the way of substantial reductions on the cost of the week-end trips, as well as the excursions to the other islands, which from now on will be a feature of the Trail and Mountain activities.

From a dead in the Delaware river at Philadelphia, N. J., Miss Josephine Schooley, 26, a scuba diver, was believed to have wandered to her death, dead.

The plans of the 2nd battalion have been altered so that they will go to Wahiawa instead of Makapu and will leave the post about the middle of July. The work will consist largely of mountain climbing and locating trails and accessible crossings in that region. In addition to this, the aerodrome management has announced that Tuesday night will be the big night at the aerodrome, and members of the Bevan Grand Opera company will be on hand to entertain the men from 7:30 to 9. The aerodrome is one big success, and has developed quite a bunch of talent in the regiment that was lying idle.

Target practice for the 2nd infantry is about finished. The recruits of the 2nd Battalion and attached men from the 3rd Battalion will begin their record practice tomorrow morning, and when this is completed it will end the "know distance" work for the

GOLF GOSSIP

CHARLES ("CHICK") EVANS.

A peculiarity of golf is that skill is not slowly acquired and in consequence few, if any, of its followers jump to sudden fame. This is a fact well known to all who are at all familiar with the history of tournament golf in this country. I know that Quiet is generally supposed to be an exception, for many are unacquainted with his golf record. But in reality few older golfers have had longer or more severe training than he.

Boston golfers had known Quiet as a good player since his early teens, and only the fact that he did not play so well away from home kept the knowledge from the rest of the country. His failure to qualify in several national tournaments had led a public that judges only by results to misunderstand his game.

All those who know Francis Quiet know there was nothing of a fluke in his great success at Brookline. There was good luck in the place and the apparent rapping in the early stages of the tournament by the world-famous players, but the boy was there ready for the chance with the game that he had steadily built up.

It seems to be necessary to hit thousands and thousands of balls before one can get an idea of the game; after that a certain natural ability, or a great opportunity, singles a player out from the crowd.

When a golfer goes in for excellence he is likely to find the game most discouraging many times, and the older golfer soon loses his keenness for championships, giving up all thought of practise while following the lure of the friendly game.

The college athlete who has been able to win all the honors in two years with but little extra work and a great deal of natural physical advantages, is apt to be a bit disappointed in golf, for a golfer with but two years' experience considers himself something of a beginner in the championship class.

We are constantly having brought home to us that a golfer who expects to succeed in competition must not only have skill, but he must also have tournament experience.

While Company H, 2nd Infantry, was firing at 500 yards on Saturday afternoon considerable excitement was caused by a large deer running across the range. This is the second time this has occurred, the other occasion being last year when the 1st Battalion were firing and a large buck came down the reservoir ridge, looked on for awhile and then turned and lumbered up the ridge. The engineers, in their work in the rear of Fort Shafter, have killed a great many wild pigs, but though deer tracks are plentiful they have not had the sport of getting a shot at one.

First Lieut. Clyde R. Abraham, 2nd Infantry, has been detailed to take over the duties of exchange officer for the 2nd Infantry on July 1, relieving 1st Lieut. F. A. Cook. Lieut. Cook has been ordered to the states and was due to leave on the August transport, but has asked for a leave, and it is granted, with a view himself of the opportunity of seeing the Panama Exposition before joining his new regiment. Lieut. Abraham expects to leave for the mainland about October 1.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA TO PLAY U. OF W.

Berkeleyites Will Go Back to American Football After Long Lay-off

Now that football relations with Stanford are severed, the University of California is going about the arrangement of its 1915 football schedule in a thoroughly businesslike manner. Rugby is in the discard, and the Berkeley lads are making preparations to break back into the American game. The University of Washington will be California's main opponent this fall. It is 12 years since these two colleges met on the gridiron, the last game resulting in a tie.

Dates for the football games to be played this fall between the University of California and the University of Washington have been arranged between John A. Stroud, graduate manager at Berkeley, and the student authorities at Seattle.

The initial game will take place at California Field on November 6 and on the following Saturday, November 13, the U. C. team will meet Washington in Seattle.

It has also been decided that the 1916 game in Seattle will be played on Thanksgiving Day. The date for Berkeley has not been definitely settled, but it will most likely be on a Saturday preceding the northern contest.

To show that they are consistent in their attitude toward freshmen eligibility in varsity contests, which California strenuously opposed in its negotiations with Stanford, the Berkeley boys have insisted that freshmen be barred from the contests between California and Washington. The northern university has agreed to this, although in its contests in the Northwest Washington has not made any distinction between freshmen and other students.

No arrangements have yet been made for matches for the California freshmen, but it is likely that the principal games of the season for the freshmen will be with the University of Southern California which has been playing the American game for a season already and will continue to play this game this year.

Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence) SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, June 29.—K Company got a strangle hold on the 25th Infantry championship when A Company, the post champions, lost to E Company Saturday afternoon. The balance of the series should be smooth sailing to the pennant for Manager Noble's last team.

Roger Bresnahan Has Shown Speed on Bases

Roger Bresnahan, Cubs' Leader.

One of the big surprises of the 1915 baseball season is the base stealing of Roger Bresnahan, manager of the Chicago Cubs. Bresnahan looks anything but a sprinter. He is built like a truck horse, and the fact that he is getting away with so many thefts of extra base is not easily explained by those who study baseball dope.

When the fact is considered that he has scored knockouts over more men than Jess Willard, and over a better class of men than Willard met before he battled Johnson, one might seriously consider Coffey's challenge for a chance at the champion.

Coffey is 24 years old, weighs 200 pounds in fighting condition, is six feet two and one-half inches tall, and he's still growing. He may reach six feet four inches before he hits in the upward movement. He is as solid as a marble spike, and a perfect specimen of manhood.

Coffey was working as a street car motorman in New York, and for $15 a week. He's worth nearly $5000 today.

Mike Donovan, the old middleweight fighter, "discovered" Coffey and induced him to drop anchor to the New York Athletic Club where Mike was acting as boxing instructor. Mike took Coffey under his wing and showed him a few tricks in the ring game. A short time later Coffey got a side issue job as sparring partner for Carl Morris. Morris broke Coffey's nose with a punch one day and that made Coffey peevish.

JIM COFFEY HAS AMAZING RECORD IN PRIZE RING

His Performances Should Entitle Him to Battle Willard For the Title

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Jim Coffey, the present sensation of the pugilistic world, has fought 39 battles since he became a heavyweight battler and he has won 26 of them via the knockout route—the most amazing record ever compiled by a fighter.

Coffey never has been defeated. He has won 10 other of his fights through decisions, two were no-decision affairs in New York, and the other was a 10-round draw that he fought with Battling Levinsky.

Three weeks later he met Levinsky again and knocked him out in six rounds.

Coffey's friends claim that he has a punch with the power of a mule's kick and his record seems to bear them out. Any man who can send 26 of 39 powerful foes to the mat in an unconscious condition surely must have a terrible wallop concealed in his shoulders.

Coffey is one of the fastest and most aggressive fighters the heavyweight division has ever known. He doesn't know the meaning of the word "stall." Nor does he use caution. He rushes into battle at the sound of the first gong with the fury of Terry McGovern and he never stops his terrible rushing until the fight is over.

Coffey has knocked out 26 fighters in a total of 99 rounds—an average of less than four rounds to an opponent. He has won six fights in the first round—a record without a parallel in the history of heavyweight pugilism. Five other of his fights were won in two rounds, and four others in three rounds.

When the fact is considered that he has scored knockouts over more men than Jess Willard, and over a better class of men than Willard met before he battled Johnson, one might seriously consider Coffey's challenge for a chance at the champion.

COBB IS STILL LEADING IN THE AMERICAN LEAGUE

[By Latest Mail.]
CHICAGO, Ill.—T. Cobb, still the only 400 hitter in the major circuits, continues in front in the American League averages published here June 12, including only those players who have participated in ten or more contests, show that Manager Fisher, despite his illness, which has kept him much on the side lines, is setting the pace in the Federal, and that Schneider, the Cincinnati pitcher, is leader in the National, though Daubert of Brooklyn is crowding him closely.

The Federal League's 300 hitters, with games played and averages, are: Tinker, Chicago, 13, .375; Magee, Brooklyn, 41, .374; Watson, Buffalo, 10, .364; Campbell, Newark, 38, .358; H. Myers, Brooklyn, 33, .348; Evans, Brooklyn, 45, .348; Hofman, Buffalo, 27, .341; McDonald, Buffalo, 29, .340; Quinn, Baltimore, 12, .333; Kauff, Brooklyn, 40, .333; McConnell, Chicago, 17, .324; Lafitte, Brooklyn, 12, .323; Mack, Chicago, 35, .321; Westeral, Brooklyn, 33, .321; Strand, Newark, 10, .320; Easterly, Kansas City, 28, .313; Lennox, Pittsburg, 15, .312; Cooper, Brooklyn, 45, .308; Ford, Buffalo, 11, .304; Wilson, Chicago, 37, .303; Tobin, St. Louis, 45, .303; Horton, St. Louis, 45, .302; Magee leads in stolen bases with 19. Evans leads in total bases with 82 and in runs scored with 27, and Zwilling, Chicago, and Koentz, Pittsburg, in home runs with five each. Bennie Kauff, it will be seen, has surrendered temporarily the honors he held. Brooklyn with 332 and Newark with 263 lead in team batting.

Leading Fed Pitchers.
The Federal pitchers credited with 700 averages who have played in ten or more games are: Allen, Pittsburg, won 8 and lost 2; Cullop, Kansas City, 5 and 3; Maine, Kansas City, 7 and 3, and Lafitte, Brooklyn, 2 and 3.

With 22 stolen bases to his credit already, Cobb has a chance to break the base-stealing records this year. He leads the league in total bases with 96 and in runs scored, 26. His batting average is .410 for 51 games.

When the fact is considered that he has scored knockouts over more men than Jess Willard, and over a better class of men than Willard met before he battled Johnson, one might seriously consider Coffey's challenge for a chance at the champion.

Chicago, 11, .264; Jackson, Cleveland, 39, .264; Thompson, Philadelphia, 14, .245; Fournier, Chicago, 43, .242; Mays, Boston, 11, .233; Veach, Detroit, 49, .232; Crawford, Detroit, 51, .231; Kavanagh, Detroit, 47, .217; Egan, Philadelphia, 36, .216; Turner, Cleveland, 30, .210; Russell, Chicago, 12, .208; Connelly, Washington, 11, .206; Chapman, Cleveland, 43, .201; Strunk, Philadelphia, 33, .200. Detroit leads in club batting with 364, and Chicago is next with 261. Oldring leads the home-run hitters with 4.

The leading American League pitchers are: Faber, Chicago, won 10 and lost 2; Benz, Chicago, 5 and 1; Daus, Detroit, 10 and 3; Foster, Boston, 6 and 2; Cloveskie, Detroit, 7 and 2.

The 300 batters of the National League are: Schneider, Cincinnati, 17, .381; Daubert, Brooklyn, 41, .374; W. Zimmerman, Brooklyn, 41, .374; Luders, Philadelphia, .372; Doyle, New York, 39, .349; Good, Chicago, 31, .347; T. Charles, Cincinnati, 37, .347; Groh, Cincinnati, 47, .345; Morin, New York, 33; Robertson, New York, 29, .331; Hyatt, St. Louis, 24, .327; Doan, Cincinnati, 10, .323; Burns, Philadelphia, 14, .323; Fletcher, New York, 37, .318; Sailer, Chicago, 44, .317; J. Smith, Boston, 44, .314; Wade Killefer, Cincinnati, 42, .314; Connally, Boston, 34, .313. The Giants, through their hard hitting in Chicago on Tuesday, and St. Louis on Wednesday, have taken the lead in club batting with 370. Cincinnati is next with 362. Johnston, Pittsburg, has tied Sailer for base stealing honors with 13, but the Chicagoan is still the leading run getter with 35 and the leading slugger with total bases numbering 101, including 19 doubles, eight triples and five home runs. Cravath, Philadelphia, leads in home runs, however, with nine.

Compared on the same plan as the American and Federal records, National League pitchers are: Pierce, Chicago, 30, .308; and last one, Starnes, Pittsburg, 8 and 19; McGee, St. Louis, 4 and 1; Mays, Philadelphia, 10 and 2; Schneider, Cincinnati, 9 and 7; Moran, Boston, 4 and 3; J. Smith, Brooklyn, 4 and 7; Alexander, Philadelphia, 19 and 7; Marquard, New York, 4 and 2.

BASEBALL MARATHONS SHOW ENDURANCE OF THE PITCHERS

Commenting on a 7-11 game played recently at Bridgeport, Wash., Portus Baxter, the baseball authority of the Seattle Post-Intelligencer, harks back to the endurance records of the game, especially those in which the pitchers stood the gaff for the entire round.

A couple of years ago Honolulu fans saw one of these marathons at old Athletic Park, with Al Castle pitching for the Punahou against Lots of the Hawaii. The latter team finally broke the tie in the twentieth inning. Both Castle and Lots pitched the full game, and neither showed an sign of faltering right to the end.

Following is Baxter's dope on the long games of baseball history:

Twenty-four years ago Tagawa beat Seattle, 6 to 5, in 22 innings. In this game a little fellow named Donalene pitched the 23 innings for Tacoma and held Seattle to 11 hits. Seattle used two pitchers, both of whom are now forgotten. O'Neil started for Seattle, but was taken out, and Keenan, a lad from New Jersey, finished the game. San Francisco defeated Oakland 10 to 9 in 24 innings at San Francisco June 3, 1909. Henley and Berry were the San Francisco battery. Jimmy Wiggs and Jerry Lewis pitched for Oakland. The only run in this game was scored by Nick Williams, who singled and was sent home by Tennant. It will be observed that both Henley and Wiggs went the entire distance. It was at Vancouver, B. C., July 31, 1909, that Portland defeated Vancouver 3 to 0 in 22 innings. "Chief" Pinnance pitched for Portland and Gilligan was in the box for Vancouver. As far back as 1877 Harvard college and Manchester, N. H., went 24 innings in Boston to a tie—0-0.

It was thought that the Brooklyn Athletic Club had set a mark that would stand for a long time when they defeated the East-End All-Stars at Cleveland, O., in 1907, by a score of 4 to 1 in 30 innings, but a week later reports were printed about a game at Columbus, O., where the Helms Victors and Columbus Selects battled 36 innings. When they stopped both teams were exhausted. Decker pitched for the Victors and had 30 strikeouts, and Roffus pitched for the Selects and fanned 19. Each pitcher yielded eight hits. Decker and Roffus went the entire 36 innings.

The most talked-of long game in the major leagues was the 24-inning battle between the Philadelphia Athletics and Boston Americans at Boston, September 1, 1906. The Athletics won, 4 to 1. Jack Coombs, who is now with Brooklyn, pitched for the Athletics, and held Boston to 10 hits. Ferris pitched for Boston. The Athletics got 16 hits off him—Boston had one error—and the Athletics' two "Jim Hunt" who died last week, umpired this game. At the end of 24 innings both teams wanted to quit, as it was getting dark, but Hunt insisted on finishing the game. The time of the battle was 4 hours and 40 minutes.

Today we think of Jack Coombs as a veteran slinger of the game. In my scrap book, which contains the details of the game, the following appears: "Throughout, the game was marked by brilliant play, but to Ferris, Parent and Coombs belong particular praise. Connie Mack's youngster pitched magnificent ball, showing control at all stages that would have swelled the chest of many a veteran. At three critical stages Coombs passed Boston batsmen, and in each case his judgment was vindicated. He also tried to pass Buck Freeman when the old reliable was put in to bat for Carrigan, but Freeman became so enraged that he stepped across the plate and hit the ball for an easy out. Between them Parent and Ferris accepted 29 chances without an error, many of them extremely difficult.

Parent and Ferris have passed out of the big show, and Coombs, the "youngster," is now doing the "come-back" stunt with Brooklyn.
