MAINLAND OFFERS NO BETTER SUMMER RESORTS THAN ISLANDS

A. P. Taylor Says Both Scenery and Climate Here Rival Coast Attractions

The old saying that a prophet is not without honor save in his own country, applies very largely to the extraordinary climatic and scenic attractions of the hinterlands of Hawaii, Maui and Kauai, with reference to vacation periods of island people. In the opinion of Acting Director Taylor of the Promotion Committee.

"I am perfectly aware that our island people get severe attacks of 'wanderlust' at frequent intervals," says Mr. Taylor, "and this attack appears to bring visions of California and the fogs and the cold, quiet obscuring the splendid uplands of our own islands and causing a general forgetfulness of the fact that on the island of Hawaii, for instance, and near the crater of Kilauea, they get regular Lake Tahoe weather, but with the greatest living volcano in the world at their feet instead of the placid Lake Tahoe; that the island of Maui has wonderful regions with cold highlands, deep gorges, surpassing those of California because they are lined with tropical verdure, and above all the greatest marvel of the world, the extinct crater of Haleakala, with its awe-inspiring solitude; and that Kauai is a garden island in itself at any time of the year, with vast canyons and gorges and mountainous ravines, open to the camper and the hiker.

Just the other day one of our Honoluluans returned from Hawaii after a sojourn of many weeks at and near Waimea. He returned full of vigor and vim, thoroughly appreciative of the cold climate of that region, and converted absolutely to the idea of patronizing home industry, that is, with reference to spending vacation periods in the islands. He said that with a better patronage at some of these little hotels and boarding houses on the other islands, they could eventually be built up into great places and might become mountain resorts as well known as many of those throughout California. He talked of rising in the early morning when the air had a tang about it which made him feel like a new man; or horseback rides along great stretches of pasture land and through mountain forests; of drives with the cowboys of the district; of real breakfasts and real lunches and real dinners, at which he enjoyed every mouthful and, like Oliver Twist, asked for more; of the delight of feeling that every day was a day of increasing health.

"Above all the amount of money spent for his stay over there was far less than had the same amount of time been used on a trip to the mainland.

"The Inter-Island Steamship Company provides steamers for service to the other islands, which are excellent, as all islanders know; there is no difficulty whatever on reaching any of the landings, or in finding auto transportation to whatever point they wish to go; and while some of the little resorts may not have the exaggerated types of architecture that one finds on the mainland, yet the climate is there and can't be removed. It just sticks around and stays with you until you start back for home."

PUBLICITY WAVE IS ASSURED FOR PINEAPPLE DAY

Hawaiian Pineapple Day, which comes on November 23, is already being much advertised throughout the states, and hotel, railroad and steamship companies have expressed their willingness to cooperate with the Promotion Committee by advertising Hawaiian pines on their menus for that day.

Through the generosity of the Hawaiian Pineapple Packers Association, a shipment of 65 cases of choice fruits will be sent to prominent governors, mayors and business officials throughout the mainland. The list which is now being prepared, includes the names of President Wilson, Vice-President Marshall, Secretary of State Lansing, Secretary of War Garrison and Secretary of the Navy Daniels.

Ex-Presidents Taft and Roosevelt, Maj. Gen. Leonard Wood and Miss Mabel Boardman of the Red Cross Association will also be remembered with gifts of pines.

SATURDAY NIGHT SPECIAL CLASS IN ATHLETICS

Owing to the demand which has existed for some time for athletic instruction by classes, a regular Saturday night course has been put on at the Y. M. C. A. under the supervision of S. W. Robley, physical director.

This course, which is to start next Saturday night, will run through the vacation season. The class will be held from 7:30 to 9, and will take up special work in Indian club swinging, callisthenics, work on the parallel bars and horse and other interesting features of gymnasium instruction. Volley ball and other games suitable for the warm season will also be played.

While trying to escape pursuing dogs, a young buck deer ran in front of an express train of the Central New England Railroad, near Brewster, N. Y. It was struck and killed.

SCRIBNER'S TO HAVE ARTICLES ON ISLAND LIFE

Hawaii, its history, its people, its scenic beauties and industrial life will be reviewed in Scribner's magazine in three articles by Katherine Fullerton Gerould, according to advices received today by Acting Governor Thayer from Mrs. Gerould.

Mrs. Gerould, accompanied by her husband, Professor Gordon Hall Gerould, instructor of English at Princeton University, will reach Honolulu on the returning trip of the Matsonia, which sails tomorrow for San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Gerould are friends of the acting governor.

It is believed that the recent visit of the congressional party to the islands influenced the magazine company to commission Mrs. Gerould to write on Hawaii.

EACH PASSENGER ON MATSONIA TO BE WEARING LEI

Crowds at San Francisco Dock Will Wonder When Honolulu Shriners Disembark

With the time of their departure distant but one brief day, the stanch and stalwart pilgrims of the Arab Patrol, Mystic Shriners of Honolulu and Hawaii, are losing none of the enthusiasm which has characterized the making of plans during the past few weeks. Ed Towse, manager of the publicity committee and general head booster of the pilgrimage, feels that the fair name of Hawaii is to be graven deep in the hearts and minds of the people of the Pacific Northwest.

"We shall not march in order to the boat tomorrow morning," said Mr. Towse, "but every one of the 27 nobles going on the voyage will wear his lei in honor of the occasion. We are taking along for distribution to the passengers on the Matsonia, some 300 leis, in order that every passenger may be decorated with the Hawaiian emblem when he steps from the gang-plank in San Francisco. Several thousand leis will also be taken along to be given to the citizens of San Francisco and Seattle. We plan to do a great deal of drill work on the boat and during the four days' stay in the exposition city."

Mr. Towse wishes it stated to the general public that the story of the water buffalo is not a fake, as some people seem to have considered it. A fine big water buffalo has been sent on ahead, and will be one of the novel features of the parade in Seattle. At the big banquet in Seattle 3000 nobles will sit together and various groups will vie with one another in yells and songs. The songs from the Honolulu crowd will be printed on large sheets of paper which will be passed around to all these present.

After the convention the delegates will separate to go their various ways. Mr. Towse is to journey on to Chicago. He is taking with him leaflets and lantern slides advertising Hawaii. Samuel Walker will make a trip to Alaska, and Capt. Lester Petrie will visit in the eastern states.

Dr. Francis L. Strickland, president of Simpson college, Indianola, Iowa, announced his resignation as head of the institution to accept a position as head of the philosophy department of the University of West Virginia. His successor has not been selected.
