

HONOLULU GIRL WHOSE WEDDING WAS ONE OF SEASON'S NOTABLE EVENTS

NOTABLE in its union of the daughter of one of Honolulu's prominent families and a member of the United States navy was the marriage last Tuesday of Miss Helen Sevier Spalding and Lieutenant Howard Douglas Bode, U. S. N.

The nuptial ceremony was celebrated at high noon at St. Andrew's Cathedral, scene of many beautiful weddings, of which this was one of the most memorable. Bishop Henry Bond Restarick officiated.

The cathedral was very simply but prettily decorated for the occasion. Pink and white were the colors chosen by the bride, and snowy white lilies and American beauty roses were gracefully arranged at the altar.

Just as the clock struck 12 the wedding party entered the cathedral. The bride entered the church with her father. They were preceded by the aisle by the ushers, Lieut. Charles Yates and Ensign Elroy L. Vanderkloot, and Mrs. Norma Adams, the pretty matron of honor.

The bride, who is an unusually pretty girl, as fair and dainty as any Brecken shepherdess, was simply gowned in a soft white net and shadow lace. The waist was fashioned with the little coat effect and the skirt, falling within two inches of the floor, was finished with shadow lace flounces. Dainty bows of white satin ribbon were the only ornaments worn on the costume. The bridal veil fell in a graceful train and was fastened with little groups of waxlike orange blossoms.

It was arranged about the fair face of its wearer with strands of pearls and clusters of orange blossoms. Instead of flowers, Miss Spalding carried an ivory-bound prayer book. Her only ornament was the bridegroom's gift, a diamond pendant set in platinum.

Mrs. Norma Adams was truly a picture of daintiness in her short frock of pink taffeta. It was fashioned with the new cavalier sleeves of chiffon and taffeta. She wore a becoming white tulle hat ornamented with folds of pink ribbon and finished with streamers of the same shade. In her arm she carried a huge white leghorn basket from which peeped dainty pink and white roses.

Mrs. Edward J. Spalding, the bride's mother, was in a handsome gown of cream colored Belgian point applique. She wore a large white hat adorned with a feather fancy. Her earrings and pendant were of diamonds.

After the wedding the bridal party and a few close friends of the bride and groom motored to the Spalding home on Hanabou street, where a wedding breakfast was served.

The table here was beautifully decorated with the pink and green prevailing in the colors, with which were mingled green and lavender. The cover was of Beantone lace and arranged along the center were tufts of pink, green and white tulle, caught gracefully with little wreaths of white gardenias. At the bride's place rested a silver vase filled with delicate lavender orchids and at the other end of the table stood another tall vase of American Beauty roses.

Some of these blossoms fell gracefully from their vase and, twined with tulle, drooped below the cover to the floor. Covers were laid at the breakfast for Lieut. and Mrs. D. Bode, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Spalding, the bride's father and mother; Mrs. Norma Adams, the matron of honor; Mr. and Mrs. Templeton Crocker, Mr. Irwin Spalding, the bride's brother; Miss Marion Newhall, Miss Beatrice Schwartz, Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds McGrew and Lieut. Charles Yates and Ensign Elroy Vanderkloot, the ushers.

After breakfast the guests danced until Lieut. and Mrs. Bode left for Haleiwa, where they will spend their honeymoon, and as they left the house good wishes and congratulations sped them on.

Mrs. Bode, who is the youngest of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Irwin Spalding, is the fourth of the Spalding girls to marry officers in the service of the United States. Miss Edith Spalding some years ago married Lieut. Manuel M. Garrett and is now at Niagara Falls; Miss Alice Spalding, one of the most beautiful of the sisters, married Lieut. Everett Sigman, who is now stationed at Columbus, Ohio; and Miss Ethel Spalding, a bride of two years, is the wife of Lieut. Joseph A. Rogers, now at Fort Bliss, Texas.

Mrs. Bode is easily one of the most popular of the young women in Honolulu. Since the announcement of her engagement she has been one of the most feted of the brides-elect of the season. Her marriage was the culmination of a romance begun three years ago when the Pacific fleet made a trip to the islands.

After a short honeymoon at Haleiwa Lieut. and Mrs. Bode will leave for San Diego, where Lieut. Bode is one of the officers of a submarine flotilla. They will sail for the mainland on July 14. Lieut. Bode is the son of Judge and Mrs. August Bode of Columbus, Ohio.

After spending four delightful days on the top of Tanalua, Miss Rosamond Swanzy and her house-guests returned to town on Thursday afternoon. In concluding their enjoyable party the young ladies decided to walk back to the city. Among those who enjoyed Miss Swanzy's hospitality were Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Pauline Schaefer, Miss Hilda von Holt, Miss Carol Low, Miss Peggy Center, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Catherine Jones, Miss Thelma Murphy, and Miss Nora Swanzy.

Mrs. Howard Douglas Bode

On the thirtieth day of June—
Want you to come over and play
At a party that they'll give soon.
There's sure to be a jolly time.
You will all be so delighted,
When it is whispered in your ear
That no boys will be invited.
Remember! the last day of June
Is the day in your mind to fix:
Edythe Ham and Pauline Merrill
On that day will both be six.
On ladies that delight the hearts of it,
The girls were played and every moment was busy, the large bungalow rooms and the spacious lawn being devoted to the enjoyment of the little ones. Prizes were given to those who won in the games.

A lunch table, specially constructed for the occasion, made a most pleasing sight with its load of cakes and flowers, and gaily set off with a big birthday cake, in the center of which, written with pink frosting, appeared the names of the two little girls in whose honor the party was given, and on that cake burned the proper number of candles. The girls were the recipients of many beautiful birthday gifts.

Those invited and attending this party were Pearl Palmer, Margie Moore, Frances McGrath, Eugenia Frée, Antoinette Porter, Belle Bird Kellogg, Lucy Boyen, Elenore McCoy, May Arstad, May Ramsay, Iva Colby, Roberta Clark, Dorothy Horn, Margaret Ham, Florence Horn, the two hostesses, Edythe Ham and Pauline Merrill.

Miss Thelma Murphy a Hostess.
During the warm weather picnics seem to be the most popular of the entertainments, and most every day sees groups of young folks winding their way to Kahala or Kaalawai or even to the other side of the island for an outing.

On Monday Miss Thelma Murphy was hostess at a delightful picnic when she entertained at Kahala in honor of the Misses Helen, Margaret and Catherine Jones and Miss Rosamond Swanzy, who have recently returned from school in the East. After spending several hours in the surf a luncheon was served, and the guests motored back to town just in time for supper.

Miss Murphy's guests included, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Catherine Jones, Miss Rosamond Swanzy, Miss Myrtle Schuman, Miss Peggy Center, Miss Rose Herbert, Miss Jessie Kennedy, Miss Mary Lucas, Miss Carol Low, Miss Bernice Halstead, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Phoebe Carter, Miss Bud Carter, Miss Eleanor Gartley, Miss Pauline Schaefer.

News of the Owens.
The following from a San Francisco paper will interest Honolulu friends: Mrs. Robert Hilliard, wife of Naval Constructor Hilliard, U. S. N., and Miss Emelie Eleanor Owens were the incentive for a delightful tea given by Mrs. Arthur Owens Friday afternoon at her home at Mar Island.

Miss Owens has been attending a fashionable boarding school in the East, and returned to her home at Mar Island the first of last week. She and Mrs. Hilliard were, traveling companions across the continent. Mrs. Hilliard has been visiting relatives in New England for the past two months.

Capt. and Mrs. Owens' home was decorated with Killarney roses and sweet peas. Mrs. Frederick Bradman poured the tea. Among the invited guests were: Mesdames Curtis Munger, J. Fautleroy McGill, Richard Kieran, U. R. Webb, Benjamin Duryea, William Upshur, Alexander Van Keuren, Thomas Fee, Schuyler Heim, Elizabeth McCudden, John Graham, John M. Elliott, Emily Cutts, Leo Sahn, Charles McReynolds, Hugh Wyman, Franklin D. Karns, Theodore Arms, Ralph Pope, Ulrich R. Zivnuska; Misses Patty Palmer, Frances Hall, Priscilla Elliott, and Marion Brooks.

Miss Owens came to San Francisco for several days' shopping, and was the guest of Lieutenant and Mrs. Jack Potts at the Presidio. She was one of the belles at the tea dance given by the officers at the Presidio Tuesday afternoon.

Capt. and Mrs. Owens were stationed in Honolulu about three years ago and took a prominent part in the social life. Miss Emelie Eleanor then attended Punahou Academy, where she made a host of friends.

Dinners at Heinie's Tavern.
Among the most popular entertainments of the past few weeks have been the dinner-dances at Heinie's Tavern, and this week especially hostesses have chosen the Tavern as the scene of their parties.

One of the handsomely appointed dinners of Thursday evening was that at which Mr. and Mrs. Templeton Crocker entertained. An exquisite centerpiece, an arrangement of American Beauty roses, ornamented the center of the table and hand-painted cards marked the place of each of the guests.

Following the supper Mr. and Mrs. Crocker and their guests remained for the dancing. Covers were laid for Col. and Mrs. Charles Bromwell, Col. and Mrs. Frank Chatham, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Dillingham, Judge and Mrs. William L. Whitney, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Castle, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Miss Marion Newhall, Mr. and Mrs. George Potter, Mrs. John S. Walker, Mr. Alan Lowrey and Maj. M. A. De Laney.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris Entertain.
Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Morris were host and hostess at a prettily appointed dinner on Tuesday evening, when they entertained for Mr. and Mrs. William T. Rawlins, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Lowell and Miss Sally Brown, their daughter.

Col. and Mrs. Charles Bromwell Entertain.
One of the very charming affairs of this week was the dinner at which Col. and Mrs. Charles Bromwell entertained on Tuesday evening at their home in Manoa valley. The guests of honor at the party were Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, who are soon to leave for the mainland. An attractive arrangement of Cecil Bruner roses and maidenhair ferns ornamented the table. Attractive cards marked the places of the guests, including Admiral and Mrs. C. B. T. Moore, Capt. and Mrs. Richard Cutts, Mr. and Mrs. C. Hedemann, Mr. and Mrs. L. Tenney Peck, Judge and Mrs. Sidney M. Ballou, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Glover, and the host and hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hemenway Entertain.
One of the delightful informal affairs of this week was the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Hemenway entertained on Thursday evening at the Country Club. A simple arrangement of flowers ornamented the center of the table and covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Clarence H. Cooke, Miss Harriet Young, Mrs. Benjamin Nichol, Miss Nichol, Mr. Fred Lowrey, Mr. Waterhouse and the host and hostess.

Miss Lady Macfarlane a Hostess.
Swimming and motorings were among the pastimes indulged in by the guests of Miss Lady Macfarlane yesterday when she entertained informally at the Macfarlane home at Ahimannu. The guests motored to Ahimannu in the morning and after a luncheon was served went ringer hunting. Among those present were Mrs. Harry Macfarlane, Mrs. George Carter, Mrs. Emma Macfarlane, Mrs. Harry J. Lord, Miss Wilhelmina Tenney, Mrs. George Collins, Miss Alice Cooke, Miss Harriet Hatch, Miss Nora Swanzy, Miss Mary von Holt, Miss Hilda von Holt, Miss Helen Jones, Miss Margaret Jones, Miss Catherine Jones, Miss Pauline Schaefer, Miss Bud Carter, Miss Phoebe Carter, Miss Peggy Center, Miss Ruth Soper, Miss Aileen Dowsett, Miss Ruth Anderson, Miss Carol Low, Miss Rose Herbert, Herman von Holt, Ronald von Holt, Mr. Bunke, Vivian Dyer, Vernon Tenney, Gilchrist Hatch, Arthur Sewell, "Sonny" Macfarlane, Jack Galt, Francis Brown, Marcus Bilson and Llewellyn Dowsett.

Dinner at the Country Club.
One of the very informal affairs of this week was the dinner at which Mr. Francis Brown entertained on Thursday evening at the Oahu Country Club. Dainty spring flowers and lacy maidenhair ferns were arranged in an attractive centerpiece for the table, at which covers were laid for the Misses Marion Chapin, Carol Low, Ruth Soper, Rose Herbert, Ruth McChesney, Messrs. Vernon Tenney, Vivian Dyer, Robert Purvis, Hamilton and Francis Brown.

After dinner Mr. Brown and his guests motored to the Bruce Cartwright home, on Liliha street, where they spent the evening dancing. Other guests of the Cartwrights there included Miss Abbie Buchanan, Miss Edith Williams, Mr. and Mrs. George Collins, Lieut. Jones, Lieut. Charles Lyman, Messrs. Marcus Bilson, Charles Lucas, Charles Herbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Ranney Scott Entertain.
Mr. and Mrs. Ranney Scott entertained at a prettily appointed dinner on Tuesday evening at Heinie's Tavern. Flowers and ferns were attractively arranged in the table centerpiece. Covers were laid for Dean C. Worcester and Mrs. Worcester, Miss Claire Kelley, Mr. and Mrs. C. Montague Cooke, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Robbins B. Anderson, Mr. W. W. Goodale, and the host and hostess. After dinner the guests remained to take part in the dancing.

Honolulu has not had frequent opportunity to see the latest dances exhibited by persons who make dancing their profession. The appearance of Miss Fanchon Wolf and her brother Marco some months ago at the Moana Hotel was practically the only occasion at which Honoluluans had the opportunity to see such exhibitions in their home city. The announcement, therefore, that the management of the Moana has again made arrangements for such exhibitions will undoubtedly be welcome to those who are fond of dancing.

The invitations issued by the management for a dance on the evening of July 5 announce the appearance of Mme. M. Lester and Mr. Chas. Ransford. Mme. Lester has been for some years prominent in social affairs of Western Canada, and particularly Vancouver, where she has about a year ago opened a ball room and dancing academy, known as Lester Court. Mr. Ransford comes more recently from London, England, and has made a reputation as Mme. Lester's partner on the floor. After a professional trip to Australia, Mme. Lester and Mr. Ransford passed through Honolulu and, showing a willingness to remain here, the management of the Moana Hotel made them an acceptable proposition. The dance at the Moana on Monday evening is strictly an invitational affair, and there is no doubt that a large number will respond to the invitations issued.

Double Birthday Party.
On Wednesday, June 30, a double birthday party was a special feature of the afternoon at the Charles F. Merrill home on Fifth avenue, Kaimuki. Little Miss Edythe Ham and little Miss Pauline Merrill having arrived at the advanced age of six years, their mammas had arranged a joint birthday party for them.

Invitations which noted the time of the party at from 2:30 to 5 p. m. were sent to a number of little girl friends of near their age, and promptly at the hour the invited guests arrived, several being accompanied by their mothers. The party was for little maids only. The invitations bore the following verse:
"Two little maids, born the same day

Mrs. Norma Adams, who was matron-of-honor at the wedding of Lieut. and Mrs. Howard Douglas Bode.

The table was attractively decorated with flowers and ferns. Later in the evening the party motored to the Young Hotel for the Tuesday evening dance.

Miss Rose Herbert a Hostess.
Miss Rose Herbert was hostess at a delightfully informal dance on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Sylvia Purvis, who left for a visit on Maui on Wednesday. Miss Purvis has been the house-guest of Miss Herbert for several weeks and during her stay in Honolulu has been much entertained.

To Visit Honolulu.
Mrs. J. C. Cochran and two daughters of Parkersburg, West Virginia, who had been visiting at the home of Professor W. A. Beer, left last night for San Francisco, en route to Honolulu on a pleasure trip.—Eugene (Ore.) Guard.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Chillingworth Entertain.
One of the informal affairs of the week at Heinie's Tavern was the dinner at which Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Chillingworth entertained on Wednesday evening. Covers were laid for 12.

Miss Thelma Murphy to Entertain.
Miss Thelma Murphy has invitations out for an informal tea for next Thursday afternoon at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Murphy on Victoria street.

Lieut. and Mrs. George Humbert Entertain.
Lieut. Carl Moore, who is visiting in Honolulu this summer, was guest of honor at an informal dinner on Tuesday evening at which Lieut. and Mrs. George Humbert entertained at their quarters at Fort Ruger. An attractive centerpiece of dull red African daisies combined with red and green tulle ornamented the table. After dinner the party motored to the Young Hotel to take part in the roof garden dance.

Lieut. and Mrs. Humbert's guests included Lieut. Carl Moore, Miss Watson, Miss Florence Hoffman, Capt. and Mrs. C. T. Harris, Mr. E. A. H. Watson.

Young Maui Couple Wed.
(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WAILUKU, Maui, July 1.—Yesterday morning at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Pratt of Paia their daughter, Louise, was married to William Smith of Lahaina. The wedding was a very simple but beautiful ceremony.

Only the immediate members of the family, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Rosecrans and Miss Clara Mosser, intimate friends and near neighbors of the bride, were present as witnesses. Rev. A. Craig Bowdish, minister of the Paia Union church, officiated. After the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served at the home. In the afternoon the bride and groom took the Claudine for a short honeymoon in Honolulu. They will return to Lahaina, where they will make their home.

Mrs. Louise Pratt Smith is well-known on Maui, her father having been connected with the Maui Agricultural Company for many years. Mrs. Smith was graduated from Maunaloa Seminary, the first girl of other than foreign parentage to enter and graduate from the Maui school for girls. She afterwards continued her studies at the coast where she fitted herself for kindergarten training to be a teacher of children. She held the position of head kindergarten at Wailuku in the Alexander House Settlement for a year, and then a similar position at Lahaina. Mr. Smith is the electrician of the Pioneer mill, Lahaina.

To Attend School in the East.
Miss India Wayson, the oldest daughter of Dr. and Mrs. James T. Wayson, expects to leave for West Park Seminary, where she will take a three years' course in preparation for her college work at Stanford University. This select seminary is within a few miles of Washington, D. C., and is one of the most delightful of the girls' academies in the East.

Mrs. Wayson will go East with her daughter, leaving Honolulu early in September and remaining in the East only a few weeks.

Picnic at Diamond Head.
An enjoyable affair of this week was a picnic supper given by a number of young folks on the beach beneath the Diamond Head light on Thursday evening. The party left town at 5:30 and walked to the light-house, where they cooked supper over heated stones. The hours of the evening were devoted to singing. The party included Mr. and Mrs. Ray B. Rietow, Mrs. Henry Gianca, Miss Marguerite Briand, Miss Miriam Stackey, Miss Ruth Stacker, Miss Dorothy Hoogs, Miss Sybil Carter, Miss India Wayson, Miss Mable Williams, Sam Carter, Fred Carter, Paul O'Neill, Dan Day, "Bill" Noonan, Blaine Brown, John Lander and Sam Stacker.
