quiet day, with no evidence whatsoever of drunkenness or disorder. I remember remarking to my associates that Honolulu might well take pointers from Maui."

As regards Mr. Wadman's further assertions I would say that, during my residence of 19 years in the islands, 12 of which have been spent on Maui, it has been my endeavor always to give of my best whatever I had to give for the good of the public and I shall continue so to act according to the dictates of my own sense of what is right and wrong even though it may not meet with the approval of Mr. Wadman, his timid informers, or any other self-constituted critic.

Mr. Wadman, you are engaged in furthering a great and good cause, that of temperance. You daily advocate temperance in the use of drink. Would it not be wise for you to practise temperance in the use of your pen? Do not lessen your influence for good by intolerance and narrow-mindedness.

Yours for fairness,
D. H. CASE.
