Hawaiian Evangelical Association Now in Convention

MISSION BOARD RECEIPTS TOTAL $57,105 IN YEAR

Theodore Richards, Treasurer, Makes Report at Evangelical Convention

This morning's session of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association convention was opened with a business session of about one hour. The principal matters of interest that came before the members was the reading of the annual financial report of Theodore Richards, treasurer of the Hawaiian Board of Missions, which showed the total receipts for the year past to have been $57,105.25.

Upon the nomination of the Hawaiian Board, Mr. Richards was this morning elected treasurer of the Association for the coming year. Rev. Rowland B. Dodge of Maui was elected as third delegate to the National Council to be held at New Haven in October. It was also voted to make an important change in the plan of the meetings in the future, and the following was adopted: To hold the annual meeting during the latter part of June or the first part of July each year, and that one day at this annual session be devoted to the business of the local Island Associations; that in the future there be only one session of the Island Associations, and that this be held in January or February each year on the different islands.

This plan seemed wise to the members of the Association and met with a very hearty response on the part of the delegates. A considerable portion of the time this morning was devoted to addresses. Rev. Henry P. Judd, field secretary of the Sunday School Association and acting-secretary of the Hawaiian Board, spoke for half an hour upon "The Message of Evangelism." He covered the subject by speaking of three great topics, namely, "The Character of God," "The Reality of Sin," and "The Necessity of the Atonement Made Possible Through Christ."

Rev. D. Yebina, moderator of the Congregational churches of Japan, who is in the city while the Tenyo Maru is in port, addressed the assembly in a few earnest remarks which were translated directly into the Hawaiian by Rev. O. H. Gulick.

Revs. J. M. Lydgate, J. Upchurch, A. V. Soares and George Laughton closed the work of this morning with earnest and helpful discussion of the topic "Civic Righteousness."

The Sunday Schools and Societies of Christian Endeavor are holding sessions this afternoon, during the latter part of which Rev. Frank S. Scudder is delivering an address upon "Young People's Work."

"MOTTLED BROWN" INSTEAD OF THE OLD "OLIVE DRAB"

As one of the results of the European war the color and the character of the uniform of the United States army and organized militia may be changed. The cloth under consideration in the quartermaster corps as a substitute for that which is used in the U. S. army at present is a mottled brown, which is produced by the blending of black and white wool without the use of any dye. It is a natural color and is therefore more durable than any dyed material. In common with the civilian clothes dealers, the war department is experiencing difficulty in securing cloth for the uniform of the army, because of the stoppage of imports of dyestuffs from Germany. This is only a temporary embarrassment to commercial concerns, but it is a serious matter to the war department. It shows the unwisdom of depending upon a foreign country for any of the essentials for the equipment of the army.

In looking around for a substitute for the German dyestuff Brig-gen. Henry G. Sharpe and Lieut.-col. R. M. Schofield, U. S. A., of the quartermaster corps, have about decided to dispense entirely with the use of dyestuffs in the specifications for the cloth for uniforms. After a number of experiments under the direction of Gen. Sharpe and Col. Schofield an entirely new cloth has been produced, its invisibility and durability are more than equal to those of the cloth now used in the army. The most satisfactory feature of the new cloth is that it is not only more durable than that used at present, but it is from 30 to 35 per cent cheaper. It will be suitable for field service and can be used for a dress uniform. This would dispense with the necessity of having three or four kinds of cloth for uniforms. The army would return to the old system of the Civil war days, when blue cloth was the only kind it used.

Just now, when there is a plan under consideration for an increase in the strength of the army and the creation of a reserve force, any reduction in the cost of uniforming the army will be of the highest importance. The change, if adopted, will not only reduce the cost of uniforming the soldier, but greatly simplify his clothing.—Army and Navy Journal.
