NO JOKE FOR JAPAN.

Some men live altogether outside their own souls; some live altogether within their own souls; some pass out and in; these last are the best men.—Dr. Austin O'Malley.

A FEAT TO THE CREDIT OF THE U. S. NAVY.

A notable feat in American naval history—in fact, in all naval history—culminated at midnight last night when the submarine F-4 was brought to the surface and made available for skilled inspection to determine, if possible, the cause of an unique and dreadful accident.

The most difficult and dangerous part of the work was accomplished in the deep water outside the harbor, where divers as daring as any in the world and with records no other nation has equalled descended 300 feet below the surface of the heaving sea and fastened the towing-lines that dragged the vessel into shallower water. In wrenching the submarine from this depth of water, up a steep and hidden slope which offered almost insurmountable obstacles, the navy men did remarkable work. Less spectacular and dangerous but hardly less difficult were the later feats, including the arrangement of pontoons which finally floated the heavy steel submarine.

From start to finish the salvaging of the F-4 has been a record-making performance. It would be unfair to single out any man or set of men of those who have worked on the task for sole praise. From the brains which conceived the engineering features, now crowned with success, to the ready hands which carried the ideas to fruition there was always notable cooperation, good feeling and harmony. Newspaper men who have "worked on the F-4 story" know and appreciate the unanimity with which the navy authorities have labored. Such discussions as arose and differences of opinion as developed were all directed toward the one prime end—of getting up the F-4 and learning, if possible, the secret of her disaster.

Another project more sentimental in character is the sending of parties of school children to China to visit with the school children of that country. Still other plans receiving consideration are those to arrange a Sino-Japanese exhibition and to establish a Sino-Japanese bank. The exhibition project is favored by business men generally and supported by the department of agriculture. A bill providing for the founding of the bank will probably be introduced into the next session of the diet.

Uncle Sam's ambassador at Constantinople is now holding down seven embassies besides his own. That's nothing—think of how many jobs are swung gaily along by our superintendent of public works.

Berkeley policemen are to study psychology. Honolulu's cops don't need psychology nearly as much as some other things that don't grow in books.

Henry Ford is going to join a military training camp. We are afraid this little item is going to start a whole new flock of Ford stories.

MUST MAKE EVEN GOOD DEMOCRAT SICK TO SEE KOREA LEAVE RUN

That is Parting Word of Judge Cooper, Carnival Director-General, Going to Coast

Director-General Cooper of the Mid-Pacific Carnival sailed for the coast at 10 o'clock this morning in the Pacific Mail liner Korea, to be gone probably about six weeks.

As if to emphasize the fact that his mission is to be largely one of making the best of a bad transportation situation, blast after blast of the fog horn, blended with the melancholy wail of the siren, sounded a long farewell to Honolulu. The Korea will not be seen here again.

"Well," said Dr. Trotter of the quarantine service, "she's pau. That's the last of her."

"It must make even a good Democrat sick," said Judge Cooper, "to think that a splendid ship like this is driven from the Pacific by adverse legislation. It comes home to you when you are one of those to make the farewell voyage; when you hear the whistle sound and think that its echoes will never be wakened in these islands again; when you see the hand-kerchiefs waving from the pier and realize that nobody ever will stand again at these rails to wave back; when you think that the Stars and Stripes at the forepeak soon will sink behind the horizon and never rise again. Goodbye."

Shortly before Judge Cooper sailed he received a call from J. Walter Doyle, who returned this morning in the Wilhelmina to Honolulu with a choice for the Carnival of three pyrotechnic displays. The Carnival already has been in correspondence with the fireworks company which submits the offers, and its proposals will be held for consideration until Judge Cooper's return.

During his stay on the coast he will visit the Panama-Pacific exposition at San Francisco, where H. P. Wood of the Hawaii exposition commission has placed his offices at his disposal, and the Panama-California exposition at San Diego.

China's boycott of Japan has gone beyond the stage of a polite diplomatic joke. At first the Japanese officials, particularly those grouped around the foreign office, were inclined to treat the boycott lightly and to argue that pretty soon Chinese cupidry would get the best of Chinese patriotism. But the effects on Japan's trade were immediate and serious.

Now an Associated Press correspondent, writing from Tokio, declares that the retaliatory boycott in China against the Japanese because of Japan's demands on China has caused profound concern throughout the empire and extensive plans are being formulated to overcome the movement. Japanese merchants are beginning to complain at heavy losses in trade, and thoughtful leaders in various walks of Japanese life are worried over where the Chinese hostility will end and over how it will affect the future relations of the two countries.

The chamber of commerce of Osaka, which is a very progressive body, has already organized a special commission whose assignment is the elimination of the Japanese boycott by friendly propaganda and the advancement of Japan's trade interests in China. The commission will also investigate the possibilities of economic developments as a result of the new treaties with the government of Peking.

The members of the chamber will be despatched to all important parts of China. The first party will visit Mongolia and that part of South Manchuria which has not yet been explored. A second group will tour north China and a third the south. Other chambers of commerce are joining the movement.

Adapting the American custom, the Japanese business men mean to get in personal touch with the Chinese, find out what the trouble is all about and then try to find the proper remedy. They will try to prove that the interests of China and Japan are identical.

MAYOR ASKS CITY ENGINEER'S SIDE OF AUTO WRECKS

Mayor Lane called in City Engineer Whitehouse this morning and asked for an explanation of two alleged "joy-riding" incidents, one of which the grand jury is expected to investigate. The first one to be reported is the alleged "joy ride" of Road Overseer Charles Clark last Sunday on the Kaneohe-Pall road, in which Clark's city-owned machine turned turtle.

Later it was reported that Whitehouse drove a city-owned machine, a Cadillac, into the ditch near his home while using the car for private purposes and not on official business. It is said this car is now being repaired at the city's expense, if the city will pay the bill. City Purchasing Agent Bots said today that he cannot approve the bill because Whitehouse long ago exhausted his automobile maintenance and repair allowance.

CHARLES F. LOOMIS: That was a splendid round-the-island hike that the Catholic boy scouts finished yesterday. Wouldn't it be a fine thing if some of the other churches took as much interest in their boys as the Catholic church does?

W. H. WINERNY: The more I think over this question of solving the congestion that exists in ocean traffic, the more am I of the opinion that the Matson company is the one on which we must depend mostly for help. I am anxious for the reports to come in from the various companies that we may get to work on the problem.

E. C. PETTIT: Here is a suggestion for keeping the traffic policemen out of the boiling hot sun: Stretch a big piece of canvas over the street intersections above the street-car lines and other interfering wires. Cut a hole in the middle so when it rains the canvas won't fill with water. Guy it so that it can't flap loose. This idea is not patented—Honolulu can have it.

CHESTER A. DOYLE: What impressed me the most forcibly was the calm, cool, painted old women and the senile, superannuated old men, seeking to renew their youth dancing in the afternoon, who spur their jaded nerves on the waxen floors of the cafes imagining that the terpsichorean art is the great panacea for alleviating all the human woes when the women ought to be home with their tating and the men with their pipe and slippers.
