

NO ASSURANCES OF FREIGHT FOR GREAT NORTHERN

owing to the fact that the season is virtually over. Mr. Ivers asked Mr. Stone if the Great Northern would go to both the Crockett and Western reineries.

"We'll go wherever the other boats go," answered Stone, and in response to another question said he expected that his company would make the same rates as other steamship companies.

"Do you intend to go to Hilo?" Mr. Stone was asked by E. H. Wodehouse of Davies & Company.

Mr. Stone replied that this was not the intention at the present time and was told by Mr. Wodehouse that the sugar which his company handled was sent out direct from Hilo to the coast.

Fred L. Waldron rose and suggested representatives of the sugar interests talk the matter over with Mr. Stone some time later in the day, and tell him definitely what could be done in the matter of rates.

"Mr. Stone is going to leave this evening," said Mr. Waldron, "and I should like to take him out to see some of the island today if possible. Definite Action Urged."

Mr. Peck again urged the fact that his committee was heart and soul in the matter of getting the Great Northern to come here. "We should leave no stone unturned," he punned innocently.

It was at this time that Mr. Withington offered his motion. The motion was urged by L. A. Thurston. "I am not a member of the committee of 15," said Mr. Thurston, "but I think the question is a vital one for Hawaii, and with all my strength I back Mr. Withington's motion."

"What we want to do is to get down to brass tacks on this subject, and get something done. I do not doubt," continued Mr. Thurston enthusiastically, "that if a hat was passed around the community this amount of money necessary toward bringing the Great Northern here could be secured."

Mr. Stone rose at once. "Neither the Great Northern, Northern Pacific nor Burlington lines is asking any community to pass the hat," he said. "I see what you mean, Mr. Thurston, but just the same we aren't asking for a collection."

Mr. Peck suggested that the heads of local firms now on the coast, representing the sugar interests in Hawaii, should be cabled and asked to take up the matter of freight for the Great Northern.

W. A. McInerney called attention to the fact that the Great Northern people were offering to spend $50,000 in WAILUKU, Sept. 13.—Through the generosity of Mrs. W. W. Hall of Honolulu a large number of valuable books have been added during the last few days to the Maui Library Association.

Miss Cleo Case left last week for the coast. She will enter Mills College this fall.

A. D. Gordon of the office staff of the Kahului Railroad was obliged to return to the mainland because of his poor health.

Dr. and Mrs. Durney of the Kula Sanitarium and their two children left Maui Saturday afternoon for a 10-day sojourn in Honolulu.

Mrs. Alva C. Hill, who has spent the summer on the coast, returned to Wailuku this past week. She was a passenger on the Ventura.

Superintendent of Schools Henry Kinney made a flying trip to Maui last week. His aim was particularly to visit the Hana schools in which district he made some important changes.

No new school will be erected at Hamoa in spite of the petition of a large number of people of the district. A school house is now stationed at each side of the Hamoa district.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Livingston left their Kula home last week and will live in Honolulu from now on. Mr. Livingston has accepted an important position at Punahou Academy for the coming year.

Mrs. L. C. Jones, the new librarian of the Maui Library Association, began her work on Wednesday last. She has spent some little time in Honolulu libraries studying methods. Mrs. Jones will live at the Alexander House.

Mrs. C. McPhee and Miss McPhee, mother and sister of Angus McPhee, arrived last week from Wyoming. They will spend some little time on Maui and have taken the residence recently vacated by Hugh Howell and family.

Rev. John Charles Villiers, accompanied by his daughter, went to Honolulu Friday evening. Miss Villiers will enter Punahou this fall. Rev. Frank J. Coker of Lahaina preached for Mr. Villiers yesterday morning at the Church of the Good Shepherd in Wailuku.

Mrs. E. A. Claybourne, who has recently been visited by Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Young of Kahului, has taken a position of house mother at the William and Mary Alexander Parsonage during the absence of Mr. and Mrs. Dodge in the states. Mrs. Claybourne has with her her two daughters.

R. A. Wadsworth and family, who have been away on the mainland for several months, are expected back to Maui on the Matsonia this week. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Taylor, who have been living at the Wadsworth residence during Mr. Wadsworth's absence, will leave on the Manoa for the coast.

Seabury Short left on the last Wilhelmina for a six weeks' trip to the coast. Mr. Short will go directly to Bernicia, where he will visit his father, Rev. Wm. Short, formerly pastor of the Church of the Good Shepherd of Wailuku. Mr. Short will also take in the exposition and possibly make a few short tours about San Francisco before his return to Maui.

Richard Lillico, who for some 18 months has been in charge of the depot at Wailuku, has been transferred to Kahului and will be in charge of the Claudine wharf. This important place in the staff of the Kahului Railroad was recently made vacant by the resignation of M. W. Mitchell, who takes a position with the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company.

William McCluskey, the new supervising principal of the Maui schools, is occupying the residence of Mrs. John Weddick for a few weeks until Mrs. Weddick returns from the coast or Mr. McCluskey and family can get settled permanently in their Maui home. He hopes to be able to locate in Wailuku which he considers a very central place for his work about Maui County.

Rev. and Mrs. Rowland B. Dodge leave Honolulu Tuesday on the Manoa for a three months' vacation on the mainland. They will spend one or two days at the exposition, then go north by the Canadian Pacific route to Chicago. About one month will be spent in Massachusetts, and one in Oberlin, Ohio. On October 21 they will visit the National Council at New Haven, where they are delegates.

Miss Thureia Merriman arrived on Wednesday last for the position of kindergarten at the Baldwin House, Lahaina. Miss Merriman was formerly the head worker of the Alexander House in Wailuku, where she is well known. This position she resigned a year ago. The last 12 months she has been spending with relatives and friends at the coast and taking some special work preparatory to her year at Baldwin House.

The Molokai choir which so greatly pleased Maui audiences for two weeks and ended their Maui engagement by singing four beautiful anthems at the Wailuku Union church, netted quite a handsome sum from the trip to Honolulu and to Maui. In all close to $100 was secured. This money will be used to help meet the heavy expenses of the chorus on the trip to Hilo next year at the annual conference of the Hawaiian Evangelical Association.

The 140th anniversary of the founding of the Christian Presbyterian church was celebrated at Canonsburg, Pa.

REIGN OF TERROR BROUGHT TO END BY PISTOL SHOT

near the Y. M. C. A. building, instead of being consigned to jail he was allowed out on bond—and today's tragedy has resulted, as Fuji and the police prophesied.

"Nakashima had been warned by Judge Monsarrat not to dare to approach my premises while his wife worked there. I had him arrested during the summer for trespassing."

"When Fuji came back from Wailuku I was warned not to reemploy her because of the practical certainty of Nakashima's making trouble for her. Then I tried to get her in the Salvation Army Home, but they were afraid to give her a refuge, and recommended that I try the Susannah Wesley Home. The reply was the same at the latter institution, and a Japanese minister also said that he was afraid to aid or shelter the woman."

"We were eager to help Fuji and intended to get her a place to work on one of the other islands. Failure, to find her a refuge here, she went to a Japanese hotel, where Nakashima evidently located her and forced her to go to his house."

OUTLAW RETURNS AND FIGHTS FOR FRANCE IN WAR

PARIS.—The Paris banker, Henri Rochette, whose prosecution for swindling developed into a bitter political struggle, and was incidentally responsible for the Caillaux-Calmette tragedy, is reported to have returned to France. After the inquiry by the parliamentary committee into the circumstances under which the trial of his case was postponed, Rochette, who was hiding in France, was supposed to have gone to Switzerland. A law was introduced in parliament at that time extending the time limit in which the charge against him might be outlawed; then it was stated Rochette went to Chile, from where he recently returned to enlist in the French army under an assumed name.
