FOURTH GAME OF SERIES GOES TO RED SOX, 2 TO 1

Young Shore Holds Phillies Safe; Both Pitchers Twirl Tight Game, Hits Being Scattered

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]
BRAVES' FIELD, Boston, Oct. 12.—"Ernie" Shore came back today and placed his name among the winning pitchers of the series when he out-pitched George Chalmers in another great battle of moundmen. It was another tight like that of yesterday and 41,096 spectators cheered the young twirler on to victory.

Boston had the game well in hand until the eighth inning when the Quakers scored when Fred Luderus hit safely. In no other inning did the Phillies threaten although a single or double at times would have scored a runner. The final score was Boston 2, Philadelphia 1.

The stands were again packed when Philadelphia took their place at bat in the first inning. Pat Moran selected George Chalmers and Carigan decided between Burns and Shore and picked the latter. Shore had been beaten in the first game and asked for a chance to win. The big right-hander warmed up to the satisfaction of the Boston boss and was sent into the box to stop the Quakers.

Both Shore and Chalmers worked well for the first two innings and the fans were expecting another pitching battle. Shore was working the corners and held the Quakers safe. In the last of the third Boston hit safely and scored. For the next two innings both pitchers were sending the batters back to the bench. Philadelphia weakened in the sixth and the second run of the day came in.

In the eighth Luderus started the fireworks for the Quakers and the first run of the day for Philadelphia was scored. Then Boston came to bat in their half and sent two men to first. The next man went out and one walked. There were three men on the bases, one out and Larry Gardner at the bat. A hit meant a certain victory for Boston but Gardner slammed the ball down to the infield and the Quaker inner works spoiled a score with a fast double play. Philadelphia could not score in the ninth and Boston had won three straight games.

Shore and "Duffy" Lewis were the Boston stars. Throughout the game the Red Sox pitcher remained cool and was pitching good ball in every inning. He kept his hits well scattered and was master of the situation at all times. Lewis was the star defensive player. On many occasions he stopped a Quaker attempt to score by remarkable fielding.

Fred Luderus, the big first baseman of the Quakers, was the real hitting star of the day. He started rallies on two occasions with his hits, and in four times at bat annexed three safe hits off Shore. Boston hit at opportune moments today, which gave them the victory over the Nationals. Neither pitcher showed the control that has been a feature in the games thus far, and Shore walked four, while Chalmers sent three runners to first via the pass route. Chalmers fanned six Red Sox, and Shore struck out four.

Tomorrow's game will be played in Philadelphia, and Moran will in all probability send Alexander into the breach to stem the tide. A victory for the Red Sox tomorrow means the winning of the series, and both managers will be out to send their best pitchers into the box. Carigan has not used "Babe" Ruth as yet, and the southpaw may be given an opportunity to stop the Phillies in the game at Philadelphia.

INFIELD STARS WHO HAVE HELPED PHILLIES

Above—Dave Bancroft, the young star of the Phillies, has been playing sensational ball in the field though not hitting up to his regular season form. Fred Luderus, the veteran first-sacker, was the batting star of today's game and has helped the Phillies set their wonderful record of fast fielding for the series to date.

NIECE OF GREAT BRITISHER TOURS WORLD INCOGNITO

Two Young English Girls Arrive at Honolulu, Traveling Under Assumed Names

Traveling incognito as "Miss H. E. Halliday" and "Miss Edna Salter," two young British girls who are making a tour of the world arrived today on the Matsonia. One of the young ladies is a niece of one of the best known members of the British cabinet, and the father of the other is said to hold a rich estate in north Ireland.

"Oh, no, we could not tell our names," one of the young ladies said. "We simply wanted to travel, and all the men are at war, so we came alone. We simply coaxed until they let us go and—here we are.

"We have had a simply extraordinary time. First, we saw Scotland and Ireland. We were booked to New York on the Lusitania, but she was torpedoed on her way to England and we had therefore to seek another boat. We traveled over Canada and the eastern states and through the Panama Canal from San Francisco. Difficulties held our boat, the 'Kronland,' 10 days and just after we passed through another slide, I have read, blocked the canal. We are always just in time to be lucky.

"Honolulu is delightful. We had intended not to stay long, but since landing we have decided to remain until Christmas, when we will leave for Japan, China and India. After that we have no definite plans, only to continue to travel. Sometimes we are criticized for traveling without a chaperone, but it really makes no difference. Everyone has been very courteous and we are having a splendid time."

While several passengers on the Matsonia accidentally discovered the identity of the adventurous girls, they would not give their names for publication.

BASEBALL CHAMPS OF BIG LEAGUES WILL GO TO COAST FOR GAMES

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 12.—It was definitely announced today that regardless of the outcome of the world series in Boston, both the Red Sox and the Phillies will come to the coast with every player for a special San Francisco series, beginning October 29.

PITTMAN SAYS NO FEDERAL PLUM IS TO DROP FOR HIM

"Here to Practise Law," Declares Brother of U. S. Senator From Nevada

Frank Pittman, a well known Nevada attorney and a brother of Senator Key Pittman of the same state, arrived this morning on the Matsonia to make his home in Honolulu. Mr. Pittman will take up the practice of law here as soon as he has rested up from the voyage and had a chance to look around.

Since the coming of the Pittmans was announced several weeks ago in the local press, rumor has been rife that the Nevada attorney was slated for the position of U. S. district attorney, and that his establishment of a law practice here is merely a forerunner to a larger position.

Mr. Pittman declined to discuss politics this morning, however, and when asked as to the judicial rumor, refused to make any answer either pro or con. "I am here to practise law as an attorney," he said, "and I have brought along all of my law books with me."

In addition to his law books, Pittman has also brought a large number of introductory letters to various Honolulu people, from several well-known senators and representatives on the mainland.

Mr. and Mrs. Pittman were forced to leave Nevada because of Mrs. Pittman's poor health, the Nevada climate not agreeing with her. Both expressed delight at their view of Honolulu this morning, and feel that they will have no trouble in making their permanent home in Hawaii.

Oregon Banker And California Girl Wed at Sea

No Time for Ceremony in San Francisco, Married By Capt. Peterson on Matsonia

One of the events of the voyage from San Francisco of the Matsonia, which docked today, was the marriage at sea October 7, of Mrs. H. I. Olive and Mr. A. E. Evans, in the captain's cabin, with Capt. Peterson officiating. It was the first wedding ceremony to be performed on the ship since she was launched in 1913.

Without any announcement to the other passengers Mrs. Olive and Mr. Evans arranged with Capt. Peterson to marry them quietly, with Chief Engineer Kinsland as best man, Miss K. E. Kratz as maid of honor and L. J. Freeman and Miss Edith Patton as witnesses.

Supper was served later in Capt. Peterson's cabin with the Hawaiian orchestra playing the "Wedding March" at the door. No amount of persuasion could induce the bride and groom to become the guests at a deck dance which was held later.

To make the knot doubly sure Rev. L. L. Looftbourou, the new pastor of the First M. E. church of this city, who was on board, performed most of the ceremony, while Capt. Peterson did the actual "tying," as required by maritime law when a vessel is more than three miles from shore.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans had planned to be married in San Francisco. Their train was so late, however, getting in from Portland that they did not have time to secure a license and a minister to be married before the ship sailed. As it was, they reached San Francisco barely in time to board the Matsonia before the gangplank was taken away.

Mr. and Mrs. Evans will pass their honeymoon here. They were appropriately congratulated by the passengers, and Capt. Peterson says that, although this was his first experience marrying a couple, he would not have missed it for anything.

"I think I can marry the next applicants quite calmly," he remarked this morning. "I was about as nervous as the bridegroom though, this time."

ENTIRE AREA OF ALAA PARK GIVEN TO CARNIVAL MEN

Legal Opinion of City Attorney Over-Ridden by Unanimous Vote of Supervisors

SHINGLE PLEADS FOR WHOLE-HEARTED ACTION

Larsen Fears Injunction if All of Area is Enclosed, But Votes With Majority

Honolulu's city supervisors once again dared the fates last night and put themselves on record as brave men when they voted against the legal opinion of the city and county attorney and decided to grant the use of Alaa park to the Mid-Pacific Carnival Company Ltd.

Because of the fact that the carnival company is a "private" corporation, and because Alaa park is a public playground, it was deemed by the municipal attorney that the board should not lawfully close the park, setting it aside for the exclusive use of the company during the week of carnival. A portion of the park could be granted to the company, but not the entire area.

Robert W. Shingle stood for the "whole hog or none" idea. He told the board that he did not feel that he cared to hold back any of the park in order to get around a mere technical phrasing of the law. "Maybe it will be illegal to grant the whole area," said Mr. Shingle, "but even if it is I had rather do this thing in a whole-hearted manner than to do it on the half-way style."

"If there should happen to be any citizen in this town who is mean enough to bring an injunction against me for this act, he would not get his injunction in, pending order for six months, and by that time the carnival will be over."

Mr. Larsen was not of the same opinion in regard to injunctions, however. As one looked at him it was almost easy to imagine that he had in his mind bright memories of certain injunctions on road work filed against the city fathers.

Larsen Voices Warning.

"Don't you be too sure about that, Mr. Shingle," he said. "Let me tell you that a temporary injunction restraining the city from going ahead with the work could be brought about in 24 hours, and there's your whole town on the bum. Don't be too sure about these injunctions."

Mr. Logan volunteered the idea that the supervisors ought to go ahead with some work without ever asking the opinion of the city and county attorney. The attorney could do no different than render this opinion, he said, when if the request had been granted

CALLED 'HELLO' TO HER HUSBAND ON SUBMARINE

Matsonia Altered Course for Wife of Lieut. Bode; One of Boats Being Towed?

Because Mrs. H. D. Bode wanted to call "Hello" across the water to her husband, Captain Charles Peterson, last Saturday altered the course of the Matsonia so that she passed through the center of the fleet of submarines en route to Honolulu under convoy of the Maryland and the supply ship Iroquois.

Mrs. Bode's wish was gratified, when through a megaphone she said "Hello Howard," to her husband, Lieut. Bode, commander of the submarine K-7, and heard his answer float back across the water.

The Matsonia passed within a few hundred yards of the K boats, and passengers and sailors waved greetings. As the liner passed the Maryland less than a quarter of a mile away, the warship's band played "On the Beach at Waikiki," and the 700 sailors of the Maryland lining the rail answered the fluttering handkerchiefs of the Matsonia passengers with similar greetings.

Although the sea was not high the submarines were making heavy weather of it, plunging through the waves and at times sinking out of sight in the trough of the sea. The fleet is due here some time Friday.

Pursuer Peter Whitney of the Matsonia said this morning there was every indication that one of the K boats was being towed when the liner passed. Three of the boats were close together, traveling under their own power, but the fourth was a mile away with no sign of any engine, and a convoy ship preceding it, apparently towing the submarine, which left a wake different from the other boats, and was lower in the water.

F. L. HOOGS AND ABRAMS BEFORE ASHFORD TODAY

Two Well-Known Men Expected to Enter Pleas on Embellishment Charges

BOTH RETURNED FROM COAST VOLUNTARILY

Former Bank of Hawaii Teller Arrested on Arrival of Matsonia This Morning

Two embelishment cases which have stirred Honolulu were scheduled for court procedure this afternoon, Frank L. Hoogs, former teller at the Bank of Hawaii and Louis Abrams, secretary of the Hawaiian Trust Company, having been slated to appear before Judge C. W. Ashford at 1:30 o'clock to be arraigned and enter formal pleas.

Hoogs returned from the coast on the Matsonia today. Hoogs' bond restitution.

About a month and a half ago City Attorney Brown brought to the attention of the territorial grand jury the case of Frank L. Hoogs, who, it was alleged, had embezzled certain funds from the Bank of Hawaii, where he had been employed as teller. Prior to this time, Hoogs had left for the coast with his wife. It was understood that he had made a partial restitution of the embezzled funds to the bank, and that the officials of the bank had declined to prosecute for this reason.

The territorial grand jury, after an investigation, returned a "no bill" against Hoogs. A few weeks later, however, Circuit Judge Ashford called the members of the jury together and, in a lengthy written address, urged that the members reconsider their action in returning a "no bill."

On October 1 the grand jury indicted

WILL SECURE 13 JURORS IN CASE OF M. A. SCHMIDT

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Oct. 12.—Thirteen jurors will be secured to sit at the trial of M. A. Schmidt on the charge of conspiracy to murder, as a result of the Los Angeles Times explosion in 1910. One more than the ordinary number of jurors is being secured, so that in case of sickness in what promises to be a long-drawn legal battle the case will not be stopped. Four jurors have been passed so far. Many have been excused.

It is expected that the jury will be secured this week and testimony begun next Monday.

[Associated Press Service by Federal Wireless]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 12.—The United States, in a note which has been despatched to Germany dealing with the case of the ship William P. Frye, sunk at sea by a German naval auxiliary, asks that if it is found necessary to destroy American ships carrying absolute contraband, the passengers and crew be removed to a safer place than the small boats to which they are sometimes consigned when the vessels are sunk.

The United States agrees to leave the settlement of the losses sustained in the destruction of the Frye to two experts, one from the United States, the other from Germany.
