

BOOST FOR MARK TWAIN DAY FROM BIRTHPLACE OF GREAT HUMORIST

Of the scores of letters now coming in to the Promotion Committee from various parts of the mainland to which requests were sent that November 20, the birthday of Samuel L. Clemens, be set aside for lovers of Mark Twain day, none perhaps are more interesting than a letter which has just arrived from Hannibal, Missouri, the birthplace of the great humorist.

Miss Josephine Baker, who gives lectures on Mark Twain, writes commending Hawaii for the effort to set aside a Mark Twain day.

"Your effort to honor Missouri's great son so fittingly," says Miss Baker, "should meet the enthusiastic indorsement and hearty cooperation of every lover of Mark Twain, especially every Missourian."

"If in the future I can at any time assist you in widening these circles of interest I shall deem it both a pleasure and a duty. I am sure I voice the feeling of my native state, Missouri, when I say that we appreciate any honor you show to the greatest and best loved son of this commonwealth, Samuel L. Clemens.

"I am sending you a booklet of some pictures of interest to lovers of Mark Twain, and shall send soon some newspaper clippings that will be of interest also."

Miss Baker sends also the "aloha" of Mrs. Mary McKay Smith, an aged woman of 96 years, the widow of Maj. McKay, who died in Honolulu in 1881. "She is a most interesting, alert, and charming old lady," says the letter.

In all 508 letters were sent out by the Promotion Committee, mostly to city and county school superintendents, stating that Mark Twain day would be set aside as a special day in Hawaii, and asking that similar action be taken throughout the states. Many letters expressing willingness to do so are now coming in each mail.

BIG MATSON SHIP MAKES UP TIME LOST IN BLOW

With 125 cabin passengers and 158 sacks of mail, also one of the biggest freight cargoes she has brought this year, the Wilhelmina tied up at Pier 15 shortly after 8 o'clock this morning. Captain Peter Johnson, her commander, made the best speed possible after Diamond Head was sighted, and the steamer cleaved the water at a great rate with clouds of black smoke pouring from her funnels as she made up time lost because of rough weather.

Cabin passengers arriving on the Wilhelmina numbered 125. There were 38 steerage passengers, 158 sacks of mail and 6690 tons of cargo. Of this amount, freight for Honolulu was 3888 tons; for Hilo, 179; Port Allen, 888; Kapaemahu, 88.

In the cargo were included two 14-ton caterpillar tractors for the Kilauea Sugar Company and Theo. H. Davies & Company, both at Port Allen. There were three auto belonging to passengers, also 4320 bales of hay for the quartermaster's office to feed army mules and horses.

The trip was made enjoyable by dances every night except Sunday and deck sports. Mail was transferred to the Matsonia at noon Saturday. A heavy thunderstorm Sunday night some distance from the ship was awe-inspiring, and caused many passen-

The great Army and Navy football game will be a topic for discussion by local officers and their ladies who are cordially invited, as well as the society folk of Honolulu. Tables may be reserved for Thanksgiving dinner by phoning the manager, phone 4986. -Advertisement.

$375,000 IS GIVEN FOR FOUR COLLEGES

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Four colleges will share the bulk of an appropriation of $375,000 announced by the general education board founded by John D. Rockefeller. Lafayette college, at Easton, Pa., which is trying to raise an endowment fund of $1,000,000, receives the largest gift—$200,000. Carlton college, at Northfield, Minn., gets $100,000 toward its endowment fund of $400,000. Hobart college, Geneva, N. Y., is awarded $50,000 toward its $200,000 fund; and Kalamazoo, $25,000. Lafayette is a Presbyterian college, Hobart, Episcopalian; Carlton, Congregational and Kalamazoo, Baptist.

The 7,000 men of the New York street cleaning department will have a medical corps consisting of a physician and seven medical advisers, beginning Jan. 1.

Kinney's Monkey Winner of Pool On Wilhelmina

"George Junior" Holds Lucky Number, Gets Cash; Comes in Charge of Raymond

Money won by "George Junior," the diminutive monkey which George S. Raymond, inspector-general of the public schools, brought from San Francisco today in the Wilhelmina for Superintendent of Public Instruction Henry W. Kinney, will pay in part for the simian's domicile here.

Yesterday when a pool was being made up on the ship's steaming record, Frank O. Boyer, manager of the Dearborn Chemical Company's local office, put in a dollar "for the monkey." The monkey won the pool, which amounted to $10. Mr. Boyer has promised, as a result of the good luck brought him by George Junior, to pay in part the cost of building a home for him.

Passengers named the monkey "George Junior" about a day after Mr. Raymond boarded the steamer, carrying his purchase in a box under his arm. George Junior, who is about the size of a Chihuahua dog, was allowed to land without delay at quarantine today, as he was purchased from Robinson Company, animal dealers of San Francisco, and his freedom from dangerous microbes was guaranteed.

STUDENTS HOPING TO BE ALLOWED TO "RAG"

America, Japan, China, England, Germany and various other nations will be represented in the "dance of all nations," to be given by the junior class of the Territorial Normal on Wednesday evening in the school hall.

Several hundred invitations have been distributed, and a large gathering is expected. The members of the class giving the dance are divided into groups, each group consisting of about 10 pupils, and each is to represent a nation in costume and custom.

In dances recently given by the school "ragging" was absolutely prohibited, the teachers giving as their reason that it is vulgar.

Efforts are being made by the pupils to allow the rag dance to be used next Wednesday evening.

HENS' TEETH NOT MORE SCARCE THAN QUORUMS OF UTILITIES BODY

Owing to the absence from the territory of a sufficient number of public utilities commissioners to provide a quorum, no meeting of that body will be held this afternoon. Chairman Charles R. Forbes is on his way to Washington, and Commissioner J. N. S. Williams is on Hawaii inspecting sugar mills for Davies & Co.

Scarcity of members seems to be a feature of the public utilities commission. During the summer just passed Chairman Forbes spent several weeks on the coast, and soon after his return Commissioner A. J. Gignoux left for a trip to the exposition. About the time that Commissioner Gignoux was returning, Commissioner Williams departed on a similar trip, getting back in time to see Forbes leave for Washington. A quorum consists of at least two members. At present only Mr. Gignoux is in the city. Mr. Williams will return in two or three weeks. According to Secretary Henry P. O'Sullivan only minor accident reports are being filed in the office.

MILLIONAIRE GOES BROKE ON WAR STOCK, AND KILLS HIMSELF

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Richard H. Reid, 49 years old, a stock broker at 52 Broadway, and until recently reputed to be a millionaire, committed suicide at his home at Williamsburg. He told his wife before he ended his life that he had been caught short on war stocks and his entire fortune swept away. Reid was found lying dead on a table in the butler's pantry. He had attached a tube to a gas jet, drawn over his head a heavy pillow case, taken the other end of the tube between his teeth and, after making a pillow of his overcoat, laid down to die.
