MEN FORCED TO STAY IN JAIL BECAUSE OF CROWDED DOCKET

Three young men charged with assault on Officer Barboza several days ago were brought into court Monday for trial, and were accompanied by their attorney, Samuel Chillingworth, who urged the court to try the cases so the boys might be given their liberty if they were found innocent. The court was so crowded with business that the cases could not be taken up and the boys had to go back to jail until Thursday, when the case may possibly be heard.

Attorneys are beginning to "kick" at incidents like this, which are an every-day occurrence, although they do not in the least blame the court or the prosecuting attorney. Cases are rushed through as rapidly as possible, but the calendar is so crowded it is not possible to dispose of them as they come up.

Sixty-two cases appeared on the calendar of the court Tuesday, and while over a third of them were disposed of, the court still faces a formidable list, which is added to every day, so that it seldom goes below 25 or 40.

So congested is business in the police court that time after time cases which would mean lengthy trials have to be postponed so that those newly arrested may have a hearing. When the cases are simple they are disposed of rapidly, but it is an ordinary occurrence that just when the court is getting along well and the possibility of getting the most important cases of the calendar appears, some case comes up in which a lawyer is engaged, and then it is all over. Whenever a lawyer is employed in a case it means at least an hour of the court's time, and it is not an unusual occurrence for a defendant who would be fined $5 if guilty, to employ a lawyer and take an hour to fight the case.

Attorneys who have to appear there and again are insisting that there should be another district court here, as the business is too much for one court.

PARISIANS MUST WAIT UNTIL AFTER NOON FOR STRONG DRINK

PARIS, France.—"No strong drinks for anyone before noon and no strong drinks at any hour for women and young people of both sexes under 18 years of age." Such is the government order that has finally opened the eyes of wine merchants to the earnestness of the anti-alcohol campaign in France. By "strong drinks" are meant all beverages testing over 18 degrees of alcohol. They include most of the "aperitifs" or appetizers, and all brandies and liqueurs.

In the opinion of most wine merchants the measure kills the noon appetizer, and the prospect of the loss of a considerable portion of their receipts has brought about an aggressive attitude on the part of the liquor trade. "If we can't pursue our business," they say, "we can no longer pay our heavy rents." As the wine merchants are among the few who have paid their rents regularly their names have involved protestations from real estate owners.

"Any attempt to suppress the sale of alcohol in wine shops before noon," declares the secretary of the liquor dealers' association, "will simply result in a far greater consumption—exactly the contrary of what is desired. The workman who takes a small quieter glass of brandy in his coffee at the wine shop will take his coffee at home and pour into it without measuring the alcohol that he can buy by the quart at any grocery store; consequently more drunkenness in stead of less."

LAST BUFFALO IN KANSAS DOOMED TO SLAUGHTER

MEDICINE LODGE, Kas.—The last Kansas buffalo will soon tickle the palate of epicureans here. Even now the shaggy monarch is being fattened for slaughter Christmas. It is the last of the herd of Frank Rockefeller, which for years has enjoyed undisturbed reign on the Rockefeller ranch near Belvidere.

The few remaining animals have been sold, with the exception of one, which went to a local butcher.

When the buffalo were on the wane, Rockefeller gathered a few and planned to perpetuate the breed. Disease and hard winters proved too much for them and the herd dwindled until there were but few remaining.

Ten thousand horses are being gathered at Elizabeth, N. J., for shipment to Europe to be used by the various belligerent armies.

The war department named a board of officers to consider plans to enlarge the capacity of the military academy at West Point.

OLD FOLKS NEED 'CASCARETS' FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper Acts in Nostrils

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Bilious, Sick, Headachy and Constipated

Get a 10-cent box now.

Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For age is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic. Also the bowels are muscles.

So all old people need Cascarets. One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.

Age is not a time for harsh physics. Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity. But a lash can't be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they cost only 10 cents per box at any drug store. They work while you sleep.—Adv.

OCEAN-SURVEY SHIP BUILT AT INLAND LAKE PORT

It is unusual, perhaps, for a boat-building firm on inland waters to figure much in construction of ships for deep-sea use. Yet a concern at a Lake Michigan port recently secured a contract to build an ocean-going vessel, which, curiously enough, is not to operate on the Atlantic, the nearest ocean, but far over on the Pacific coast in Alaskan waters. The government desires the boat for coast and geodetic-survey work, and it is to be built strong enough and will carry sufficient stores to cruise three months, or more, at a time through all kinds of weather. The dangerous waters of the Bering Sea are to be charted with the new craft. The vessel is to be named the Surveyor, and will be made of steel with 1000 tons displacement. Crude oil is to be used as fuel, and the engines will be of the triple-expansion type. A crew of 66 officers and men are required to operate the boat.—Popular Mechanics.

BERNSTORFF IS POPULAR WITH NEWSPAPER MEN

The impression that people get of public men by reading the newspapers, and what the newspaper man who writes the article thinks of the public man about whom he is writing, may be quite different.

The public may idealize a man by reading about him, while, as a matter of fact, the man who writes the articles may not have a favorable impression of the public's hero.

The intimate association which some newspaper men enjoy with some public men is probably the most genuine friendship that exists between men. The officials of Washington, whether they are of the presidential family circle, congressional, departmental, or diplomatic, have long since learned to have implicit faith in Washington correspondents.

Count J. H. von Bernstorff, Ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of Germany, who has lately been in the public eye probably more than any man in America, with the exception of President Wilson, owing to the strained relations between this country and Germany, enjoys great popularity with Washington newspaper men.

Notwithstanding the responsibilities put upon the shoulders of the ambassador, his attitude towards newspaper men has always been cordial and has not changed. While with the increased responsibility the ambassador's engagements have greatly multiplied, he makes it a point to find time to see the newspaper men individually or collectively if it is possible to do so.

He is always frank with them and gives them all the news that he can, but quite frequently has asked that he not be quoted, which request has always been respected. It frequently happens that the ambassador in trying to make a point clear to the newspaper men will often give the confidential German viewpoint, with the understanding that his views be not quoted. In this way Ambassador von Bernstorff has won, the respect of the Washington newspaper men, and he in turn can not complain that the confidence he has reposed in them has been betrayed.

Ambassador von Bernstorff's popularity among the newspaper men is probably not second to that of any diplomat who has ever had the honor to represent his country. Count Cassini of Russia, by his democratic manner and cordiality, won a warm place in the hearts of the Washington newspaper men, which is now filled by Count von Bernstorff.—Editor and Publisher.
