Followers of track and field sports owe much to the college man, and the same must be said of the high school runners. The majority of our great track athletes of the country have been college stars. There are a few, and they are usually found in the weight events, who have never made their start or records on a campus but they are a very small percentage of the stars of the day.

In Honolulu track athletes have an opportunity to keep in condition the year around. The same may be said of the stars who have come from Southern California, and this has been a big advantage, not that the training is necessarily an all year round thing but the knights of the cinder path have an opportunity to limber up.

Pick of Stars.
 The above teams, as selected by Secretary F. W. Rubien of the A. U., represent the pick of the athletes of the year. The writer has seen seven members of the college team in action, and five of the high school stars. That the prep school stars are taking their place in the world of athletics may be evidenced by the fact that four of the high school team made great marks last year at the A. U. games at San Francisco.

In selecting Harold Smith as the choice for the century, Rubien evidently figured on his showing in the intercollegiate at the Ann Arbor boys showed the prep school stars the way home in the sprint event. Smith follows Bond, Seaward, Craig and Hahn, men who have made a great name for Michigan in the sprints. At San Francisco Smith failed to land a first against Morse, Loomis and Mayer.

Maroon Selected.
 Ward of Chicago is picked for his great work in the furling in the conference games. Ward also showed his heels to a number of flyers in the athletic meets around Chicago. Ted Meredith is given the palm in the quarter on every team picked last year. Leroy Campbell of Chicago was the star of the year in the 880, winning from Caldwell, Bonnett and other stars. Mackenzie of Princeton brought back the muffs to the Tiger camp. For years the Cornell and Pennsylvania contingent have been walking off with the distance events, but the Princeton man led the field to the tape ahead of Windagle, the great little tow head from Cornell.

Moakley showed that he still had some strength left in the intercollegiate when he sent Potter back for a victory in the two-mile run. Overton, who landed the cross-country honors this year, is another star who has made a great record over the two-mile course. When it comes to the barriers, Fred Kelly and Fred Murray take the honors with ease, having a clear title over the best in the colleges. Since Horine and Beeson have retired, Wesley Oler lands in first place in the high jump. Worthington of Dartmouth won every time out last year, making a better mark than Sisson, Adams and others. Bergstrom of the University of California was expected to land the pole vault this year but he failed to show in the San Francisco games, and Foss was given the honor. Those who have seen Arlie Mucks of Wisconsin do not wonder that he can put the shot, and he is given the honors for the year, being second only to McDonald of the Irish-American Athletic Club, Maine, which broke into the limelight again last fall by winning the cross-country, has a high honor man in the hammer. Bailey beating the best of the East in that event.

Prep School Stars.
 There were four high school boys who cut some mustard at the last A. U. games. Three of them were from a point west of the Mississippi river while one lived in Rock Island, which should be mighty close to the Father of Waters. When Smith, Drew, Mayer and Loomis and many others saw young McBride of Denver step out in the junior games, they were surprised, and when he came home in the furling in 21.1 they were more surprised. Owing to the wind the record was not allowed, but McBride showed them something, if he did have to retire the next day on account of a sprain.

The Easterners were surprised once more when Frank Sloman, the San Francisco high school speed merchant, burnt up the track in the quarter, making 47 flat, and he chased Ted Meredith all the way on the following day, and beat out a good field. Then House of Riverside, now at Stanford, made a good showing in the hurdles, and Sol Butler, the colored lad, was the star in the broad jump. High school marks are creeping closer to the college figures every year, and many high school stars have great records for the year in athletics.

LULUS CAPTURE TWO GAMES IN SERVICE PLAY

The Honolulu stayed in the running for first place in the Y. M. C. A. Bowling League last evening. At the same time they gave the Service team an awful jolt in its pennant aspirations by taking two out of three games from the army quintet.

Leslie Scott, the veteran Honolulu bowler, was back from Maui, and his presence seemed to inspire the Honolulu to show the best form they have displayed in recent weeks. Scott bowled himself, and Walter Haney also used his left-handed shoots to good advantage.

Big Score.
 The Service team must have thought they were Honolulu bowling against Fort McDowell, when they scored 964 in the opening game. They played the part of Los Angeles bowling against Honolulu in the second game and made 776. The last game was the real contest of the evening. The Honolulu finally won out 864 to 858.

Haney was high man for the Honolulu. Gear and Clark were also well up in pinfall. Reed did stellar work for the Service and thereby boosted his average. Mosley and Goebig were likewise in good form. Tonight the Intermediate League championship will be settled between the Washington and XX Clubs. The match takes place at 6:45 and will be over by 8:15 o'clock. Last night's results:

Honolulu—	1st	2nd	3rd	Total
Gear	164	172	195	531

OUTBOXED BY SECOND RATER

Freddie Welsh, champion lightweight, who was outpointed by Eddie McAndrews, a second-rater, who has just recently made a flutter in the world of sport. Welsh has been trying to evade the issue in bouts with White and other lightweight, and the fight fans of the country are beginning to believe that Freddie is not a real champ.

SPORTS AROUND THE WORLD

Providing J. Pluvius does not go over the course in par, the followers of the royal and ancient rural game will make an effort to play the matches in the inter-club tourney Sunday.

At the last meeting of the Schofield contingent proved the leading waders and captured the prize. Play will be confined to the lower course, as the upper course at the Oahu Country Club has been leased to the Pluvius Yacht Club for the regatta next Sunday.

Jerome Travers states that golfers should practise with their brain as well as their clubs. That's all right, Jerry, but when a golfer hasn't a club he can borrow one.

The reason Gardner isn't as prominent this year as Outmet was when he first won the title, is on account of the ease with which one can pronounce his name.

In the minds of some persons the greatest trouble in golf has been, and still is, with those who fail to attend the meetings of the club of which they are members, where the needs of the organization are threshed out.

More than 200 golfers of the Cranford Golf Club, New Jersey, toasted Max Marston and E. W. Wald as the two leading golfers of that state recently. Among the guests was Jerome D. Travers.

A novice golfer drew a bye in an invitation tournament. The starting time was 9 a. m. The novice was on hand promptly at 9 a. m. looked around for "Mr. Bye," failed to find him, and after fretting and fuming over the non-appearance of "Mr. Bye," started off alone and played nine holes.

Finishing the ninth, the novice, having failed to find "Mr. Bye," approached a group of players.

"Any of you gentlemen seen Mr. Bye?" he asked.

"Bye," I drew him in the match as my opponent," answered the novice.

"Oh, Mr. Bye—oh, now I understand," spoke up one of the golfers, who had a keen sense of humor. "Well, you see how it is. Mr. Bye is sick. He won't be able to play. Therefore, you win the match by default."

Here is an illustration of the popularity of golf that those prone to argue the question can use to good advantage:

A project is under way in Chicago for the organization of the Olympia Fields Country Club which is having 700 acres of land will be used.

Three Philadelphia golf clubs gave a dinner to the caddies as a part of the Christmas program.

Word from New Orleans says that the Crescent City has fallen in line with other up-to-date towns. The golfers opened their municipal links a short time ago.

"I love golf," said President Wilson the other day.

He then explained that he first took it up on account of its health-giving qualities.

"Now I need no urging to get out on the links," he continued. "I love to hit that ball."

Figures furnished by golf manufacturers lead to the estimate that 2,000,000 persons are playing golf in the United States and Canada. Manufac-

TWO TEAMS WILL ENTER RELAY AT FIRST INFANTRY

J. J. Quinn Announces That Squad of Eight Men Have Signed for Event

Members of the 2nd Infantry who have had experience in long-distance running have announced that they would send a team into a relay from Schofield to Honolulu, and much interest has been taken in the event at Shafter. This morning a letter was received from J. J. Quinn, the long distance star at the 1st Infantry, announcing that two more teams at least would enter the event.

With teams from the National Guard, Y. M. C. A., Coast Artillery posts and the squads from the regiments at Schofield, enough interest should be created to make it the big event of the Carnival for the enlisted men. The winner of the race will necessarily be a team that is well rounded. One that can send four men into the contest able to go the distance in fairly fast time. This will add interest to the event, as at the present time there are three or four teams which rank about the same, according to some critics.

Quinn has taken hold of things in the right way at the 1st Infantry, while Allison is working to line up one or two strong teams at the 1st Field Artillery. With the help of the athletic officers at the various points, the relay race is bound to be a certainty, and one worth working for.

The men of the service always have worked with every proposition to advance the interest of athletic life in Honolulu, and during the Carnival this would be a big event for the men who have helped to make athletics in and around Honolulu. A relay race isn't going to be hard to stage. There will be no heavy expense of any kind to hinder those who would be interested in the proposition, and the rivalry would naturally make it a big event in the minds of the men.

If the men in charge of athletics at Schofield and Shafter will continue the good work that they have started in promoting this sort of athletics, then the race is bound to be a big success, with a capital S. A start at Schofield and a finish at Athletic Park would be the logical program for the feature.

TWO 1ST INFANTRY TEAMS.
 Castner, January 17, 1916.
 Sporting Editor,
 Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

The proposed relay race from Schofield to Honolulu will no doubt be one of the biggest attractions during the Carnival, as it brings out not only the best long distance runners in the service, but from civil life also. The distance is long enough to show the running power of four men, and yet not too long to hurt them.

I have arranged to have two teams enter from the 1st Infantry, and expect to see at least four teams enter from this regiment. In regard to Mr. Allison of the 1st Field Artillery saying he would like to run the full distance alone, let his team enter the event and beat the 1st Infantry teams and then I may give him a chance to show his ability in running the entire distance. Everyone will have the same opportunity to train and there will be no necessity of saying that they were not in condition. May the best team win.

Very truly yours,
JAMES J. QUINN,
 Co. H, 1st Infantry.

U. S. GOLD OUTPUT GIVEN AT NINETY-NINE MILLIONS

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Gold valued at $98,891,100 was produced during 1915 in the United States, according to a joint announcement by the director of mint and the geological survey. In 1914 the total was $94,531,800.

Silver production in 1915 amounted to 67,485,500 fine ounces, a reduction compared with 1914 of $4,969,500 fine ounces.

California led in gold production with a value of $23,005,800. Colorado was a close second with $22,191,200; Alaska third with $16,626,700, and Nevada fourth with $11,314,700. No other state produced more than $8,000,000.

Nevada produced the most silver, having mined 13,793,000 fine ounces. Montana was second with 12,594,200 fine ounces. Utah third with 11,168,500, and Idaho fourth with 10,595,300.

STRONG CONSTITUTIONS.

The constitution of the United States, with all the amendments of a hundred and twenty-five years, contains forty-four hundred words. The United States has worried along for a century and a quarter on a body of fundamental law little more than one eighth as great as that with which it was proposed to burden New York state recently.

Becoming angry and despondent when rejected by his sweetheart, Viola Deverik, Herman E. Pense, aged 25, shot and slightly injured the girl at her home in New York and then committed suicide.

Bonaparte and Xerxes Follow Camp's Method

Walter Camp, in an article in Collier's magazine, says: "Since I made my selection of an All-American team, I find that Oliphant and Weyand were left out. I am very sorry. Will you see that this is corrected in your next issue?"

Now comes the Shade of Napoleon: "Since the battle which took place in Brabant province, which is sometimes called Waterloo, I have discovered that four of my men were off side and I also wish to state that Wellington and Blucher were coaching from the side lines. Inasmuch as this is directly against the revised rules of 1812, I wish to voice a protest. Will you kindly revise your next histories so that it will read 'A victory for Napoleon.' Hoping that this will not cause you any trouble in revision, I remain, very truly yours, N. Bonaparte."

A call from Xerxes:

Mr. Historian: "I find that you have neglected something in your histories, due perhaps to the great amount of work that I have had on my hands. I notice that I did not furnish you with the information that I made a mistake sending my troops against Leonidas at Thermopylae. Thessaly was my downfall owing to the storm on Mount Oeta. Will you please change this, as the mistake was unintentional. I hope to see the result in the history book for next year read: At Thermopylae, 480 B. C.—Xerxes defeated Leonidas 60, 6-1, 6-0."

It is expected that Wright will take an active part in the tennis tournament, and he will begin his work on the local courts as soon as weather permits. In the singles and doubles he will be pitted against some of the leading tennis players of this year, and the tennis fans who have watched his work in the past will be interested to see what the former champion can do.

FREDDIE WELSH OUTPOINTED BY KID M'ANDREWS

[Associated Press by Federal Wireless]

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 18.—Freddie Welsh, world champion, was outpointed in a six round bout here by Eddie McAndrews, a second rater. Time and again the Englishman would make an effort to penetrate the defense of his opponent, but Eddie dodged away, and then came back with some stiff jolts to the jaw, which pleased the crowd.

Welsh still showed a bit of his skill in boxing, but he appeared to lack the punch, and in the fifth round McAndrews made him look weary. Fans at the ringside continually yelled at Welsh to show something, but the critics failed to see anything in his work, and McAndrews received the popular vote as the winner.

BEALS WRIGHT HERE FOR PLAY IN TOURNAMENT

Former Champion Arrives on Wilhelmina; Has Great Record in Tennis

Beals C. Wright, famous tennis star who arrived in Honolulu this morning on the Wilhelmina, has a great record in the racket game. Although he has not played in the big tournaments during the past few years, he has kept up his game, and is acknowledged to be one of the leading players in the Northwest at the present time.

Wright's record in the ranking in the first 10 runs through a period of 10 years. The following shows his rank from 1899 to 1908: 1899, eighth; 1900, fourth; 1901, second; 1902, third; 1903, fourth; 1904, fourth; 1905, first; 1906, third; 1907, second; 1908, second.

Beals Wright has appeared in a number of international matches for the Davis cup, playing in 1905 with H. Ward against France and Australia; in 1907, with K. H. Behr; in 1908, with F. B. Alexander; and in 1911, with Maurice McLoughlin.

Wright has announced that he will play baseball with the Punahou team during the Olympic series, and as the racket star has been working out at North Yakuima, Washington, he is in good condition for the diamond game.

It is expected that Wright will take an active part in the tennis tournament, and he will begin his work on the local courts as soon as weather permits. In the singles and doubles he will be pitted against some of the leading tennis players of this year, and the tennis fans who have watched his work in the past will be interested to see what the former champion can do.

INJURED AMERICAN WINS LEGION CROSS FROM FRANCE

PARIS, France.—Russell Greeley of Boston, director of the American distributing service of Paris, who recently was injured in a motorcar accident, in which Dr. C. R. Cross of Brookline, Mass., was killed, and who is now convalescent, has been formally presented with the decoration of the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

The emblem was pinned on his breast by Justin Godart, Under Secretary of State for Sanitary Service. In a little speech Mr. Godart, in the name of the French government, thanked Mr. Greeley for the noble humanitarian work which he and a goodly number of his fellow countrymen have done since the beginning of the war.
