FROM PEGGY TO POLLY

Ma Petite Cherie: Somebody called me that—cherie—once and I don't know whether it is slang or something nice; anyway, take it for what it is worth—it meant kindly.

What a wonderful week this has been—opera, dancing, the cafe—Hielnie's. That sounds like the regular gay life that you read about in the New York Times, doesn't it? Well, it is and it isn't. First, the opera. The De Polco Company opened on Monday evening with Aida. Talk about your lovely gowns and all your box and dinner parties! There were Lucille and Paquin models from Paris and Lucille and Paquin models from New York and San Francisco and Lucille and Paquin models from Jeff's and Jordan's. And there were corsages of American beauty roses and diamond lavallieres and pearl opera glasses and handsome escorts. The only thing lacking were duchesses and dowagers or perhaps the President and Mrs. Wilson, but we had everything else that the English novels tell us about. Even the romance part of it was there. You know, more than once a wedding has been the culmination of a romance begun at the opera. Anyway, one of our best-known maids appeared with one of the best-known bachelors and es," you know.

I got a letter from one of the girls the other day intimating an engagement of a California girl, who has a very familiar name to candy eaters, and a Beau Brummell of Honolulu. The girl emphatically denies it and yet— Poor boy, his engagement has been rumored to various and sundry maidens in his all of 25 years and whether or not he has at last been engaged by the net of a charming feminine is yet to be seen. Ah well!

And now about the Chantry Ball. It was one grand success despite the fact that the Schofield and Kamehameha people were deprived of the pleasure on account of the heavy storms. Trains were stalled and automobile traffic was simply impossible. All the lovely gowns and things made by the stylish ladies of the army posts were, planned for nought. But then, there will be other things in the very near future to which those gowns may be worn.

Senior and Madame Giovacchini, who were so popular here last season, are again to be entertained by society. This is the baritone's third season in Honolulu and already he is considered one of the most popular singers who has appeared in the city. Madame Kristoff, too, is being entertained by the people. She was a guest at tea at the home of Mr. Gerrit Wilder last Monday.

Very popular visitors in the city now are Mr. and Mrs. Warren Oakes of Oregon. Mrs. Oakes is a stunning type of Brunette and wears charming gowns. She is a very beautiful dancer and attracted a bit of attention at the armory the other evening while dancing with her husband. Mr. and Mrs. Hines are here from New York. The charming lady was the cynosure of all eyes at the opera on Monday evening when she appeared with Judge Wilder, Mr. and Mrs. Oakes and Mr. Hines. Dressed in a delectable black gown with her jet hair done low at the neck and a wisp of black tulle over her white neck and shoulders, Mrs. Hines presented a very fine life-sized portrait. The Hines are residing at the Manoa and expect to be here some little time.

When is Peggy Center coming back? is quite the common question. The pretty Peggy is having a most enjoyable time in California, it is told and according to society columns is being entertained extensively by many friends. Mrs. Fritz Henshaw, who was here about a year ago, has been hostess at a tea in Miss Peggy's honor and that is only one of the hundred and one things she has done.

Have you ever had your fortune told? Of course that has been a fad ever since there were seers and fortune tellers, but particularly now in Honolulu the girls of the younger set are tramping off to see if it is to be the blue-eyed or the brown-haired man and whether it will be in two years or never. And you can always tell just where they are going, or if they are going there. Halfshrillhr half-bold, they sneak and giggle around the corner, hesitate at the big gate and then with a shy backward glance race up the walk and into the big house. When they come out they are very radiant or very downcast. If it is a good fortune, say a $1 one, they believe it, especially if she hit on the color of his hair. But if stock is low and they only have 50 cents and the "he" won't come for a long time and perhaps never, then they know that it's all a farce and they didn't believe it anyway. But that is the world over. Things are seldom true unless they are the way we want to think them, eh, Polly?

As an editorial in one of the daily newspapers said, the weather has been no topic for polite conversation. Well, girls, I think you can bring the subject of weather up again without getting shocked at the ejaculation from your companion. The sun seems to have had his way about it after all and is coming out to visit us more often. Let's hope so because the wea-

SCHOFIELD SOCIETY

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence]
SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, Jan. 21.
—On Monday evening a very attractive dinner was given by Capt. and Mrs. Harry Knight in honor of Maj. and Mrs. Francis Lacey, who are new comers to the 1st Infantry. A gracefully arranged cluster of daisies of varying shades decorated the table, around which were seated Maj. and Mrs. Lacey, Capt. and Mrs. Edward Carey, Maj. Charles Tayman and Capt. and Mrs. Knight and Lieut. James Uilo.

On Tuesday evening, Lieut. John Smith entertained the officers' mess of the 1st Infantry at dinner. Later, as the weekly hop in the club had been postponed, Lieut. Smith's guests went to Lieut. Bankhead's quarters and to the music of the 1st Infantry orchestra, enjoyed a delightful informal dance.

The many friends of Lieut. and Mrs. Clarence Tinker are sending them their hearty congratulations upon the arrival of a baby boy, born on Tuesday, the 18th of January. The little lad is to bear his father's name and be Clarence L. Tinker, Jr.

Lieut. and Mrs. Franklin Rice were dinner hosts on Tuesday, entertaining in a most delightful manner for Capt. and Mrs. William Chitty and Capt. and Mrs. George Kumppe and Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Bonesteel. The color scheme of the daintily appointed table was carried out in white and yellow, a basket of white asters making an effective centerpiece, while the yellow note was observed in the fluffy tulle bow which tied the handle, and in the yellow shades of the candles.

On Wednesday Capt. and Mrs. Charles Lloyd entertained at dinner for Capt. and Mrs. William Chitty and Capt. and Mrs. Clarence Day. The table's attractive color scheme was carried out in pink and white, with a cluster of white cosmos for centerpiece and dainty pink tulle shades on the candles.

Lieut. and Mrs. Fred Pitts entertained on Tuesday evening, giving a dinner for seven. Shasta daisies were used in the centerpiece, and the flowers' yellow centers were reflected in the tints of the candelabra shades. Those present were Maj. and Mrs. E. H. Hartnett, Maj. and Mrs. Francis Lacey, Maj. Charles Tayman and Lieut. and Mrs. Pitts.

On Wednesday evening Lieut. and Mrs. John Hauser were dinner hosts, entertaining for Lieut. and Mrs. William McCleave, Lieut. and Mrs. W. E. Shedd and Col. and Mrs. Frank Keiser. An arrangement of lavender periwinkle made an effective centerpiece while the lights were shaded with white candle shades.

Lieut. and Mrs. Harold Vandever had a silver case of delicate pink roses for central decoration of their dinner on Wednesday evening, the same shade of pink being visible in the candles. Their guests were Lieut. and Mrs. E. G. Cullum and Lieuts. George Palne and Frederick Stewart. In spite of the very inclement weather the hop in the Mounted Service Club, was very well attended, most of the dinner parties appearing at the club later in the evening.

Capt. and Mrs. Arthur Casseles were among other Wednesday evening dinner hosts, when their guests were Capt. and Mrs. Chalmers Hall and Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Janda. The decorations of this dinner were carried out in yellow with a large brown basket overflowing with Shasta daisies as a centerpiece and the candles shedding a golden light from under yellow shades.

Mrs. William Forsyth gave a greatly enjoyed five-table tea-bridge on Tuesday afternoon of this week. The progressive game of auction was played for a number of changes, and later a delicious salad course was served with the tea. The high score for the afternoon was made by Mrs. George G. Bailey, who was presented with an attractive pottery bowl for flowers. Mrs. Clarence R. Day was second with highest score and was rewarded with a dainty desk set of papers and sealing wax, while Mrs. William Nalle was consoled with a booklet on bridge. The guests were Madames George Bailey, John Fair, Edward Carey, Clarence R. Day, Chalmers Hall, Roland Gaugler, Rawson Warren, James Fehet, William Chitty, Jerome Pillow, Charles Naylor, St. Claire Baumgartner, W. H. McGill, Robert Cheney, William Nalle, John O'Shea, William Renziehausen, Swift Martin, John Boniface, and De Russy Hoyle.

Miss Elsie Lydgate of Kauai, whose marriage to Mr. Frank Clark will take place in the spring.

On Saturday (this evening), an informal dinner will be given by Lieut. and Mrs. James Chaney of the 25th Infantry. Their guests will be Lieut. and Mrs. Carl Ballinger, Lieut. and Mrs. Walter Frank.

Captain and Mrs. Hugh Wise will also entertain at dinner on this evening for Major and Mrs. Frank Albright, Major and Mrs. Vernon Caldwell and Capt. and Mrs. Americus Mitchell.

On February first, the first matches of the Tennis Tournament, which will have as entries ladies from all of the cantonments of Schofield, will be played on the 25th Infantry courts. This tournament will be played for the Schofield cup.

The bi-monthly hop given in the 25th Infantry Club, took place on Friday, with Mrs. William Gano and Mrs. Charles Wyman hostesses for the evening.

Lieut. and Mrs. Franklin Rice's dinner guests on Saturday, this evening, will be Lieut. and Mrs. Gustav Gosner and Lieut. and Mrs. Charles Eyerit. Pink and white characterize the decorations of this dinner table.

Mrs. Edward Carey will entertain with a bridge-luncheon on Saturday in honor of Mrs. Russell, mother of Mrs. William Gano. There will be four tables for auction, and later other ladies who are not bridge devotees will join the players for luncheon. Among those who will be present are Messames Russell, William Gano, Thomas Lowe, William Forsyth, Frederick Strong, Byard Sneed, Clyde Crusan, Elvid Hunt, Joseph Janda, Waldo Ayer and Harry Knight.

On Friday of last week, Mrs. Joseph Janda entertained at dinner in honor of Mrs. Alexander Patton and Miss Edith Patton. Invited to meet them were Lieut. and Mrs. Thomas Lowe, Miss Carrie McMahon and Lieut. Edward Rose, Charles Bankhead and Frank Riley. The decorations were carried out in red, with favors of a comical nature at each cover, and original verses upon the place cards.

Colonel and Mrs. D. L. Howell entertained at dinner on Friday of last week, preceding the reception to Gen. and Mrs. Frederick Strong. American beauties decorated the long dinner table, around which covers were placed for Maj. and Mrs. Francis Lacey, Lieut. and Mrs. Gustav Gosner, Mrs. Howell Clinton, Lieut. Walter Pridgeon, Lieut. John Simmons, and Majors T. N. Horn and Charles Tayman.

On the same evening Capt. and Mrs. John Boniface gave a dinner for Maj. and Mrs. Lewis Sorley, Col. John McMahon, Capt. Leo Mudd and Capt. and Henry S. Kilbourne.

Capt. and Mrs. Kimball entertained most charmingly at dinner on Friday evening in honor of Capt. and Mrs. Fehet, who leave on the February transport for the states. A lovely bowl of pale pink carnations graced the center of the pretty round table and pink shaded candles further car-

Social Notes

The calling day at the Kamehameha Schools has been changed from the last Saturday to the last Friday of each month.

Mrs. C. P. Overton has arrived in Honolulu recently from San Francisco where she closed her handsome home on Jackson street. Mrs. Overton contemplates spending the next three months in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Sproul and the former's mother, who left here on January 4 on the Matson steamer Manoa, arrived in San Francisco recently. The party had been enjoying a brief visit in Honolulu.

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Mowry Rodgers, whose wedding on the coast was an event of social importance, are in the city on their honeymoon trip. The couple were married on January 4 in Claremont, Cal., and proceeded to Honolulu immediately. Mr. Rodgers represents a large packing concern of the East and is of a prominent Philadelphia family. Mrs. Rodgers was Miss Myrtle Smith.

Mrs. Katherine M. Yates, the popular authoress, who for five years claimed Honolulu as her home, has been heard from at Murfreesboro, Tenn., where she is visiting a niece. Mrs. Yates expects to leave shortly for Washington, D. C. A new Marjorie story by Mrs. Yates will probably be out by summer and she is also working on a number of short stories to appear in monthly magazines. She has many friends here as in other parts of the country who are always glad to hear of her through her work if not from her.

BAT THE RAT

Join the Clean-Up Club and Kill Off the Rats

Boards of health everywhere are trying to exterminate rats, because of their menace to health and destruction of property. But without waiting for the health authorities to do the work for you, do your duty and use the only effective weapon in the war on rats, Stearns Electric Paste.
