P. & O. LINER IS MINED OFF DOVER; MANY DROWNED

Terrific Explosion Rends Hull of Steamer; Rescuer Also Victim of Sea Bomb

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles] LONDON, Eng., Feb. 28.—Striking a floating mine yesterday afternoon within sight of the waterfront houses of Dover, the big P. & O. steamer Maloja sank 20 minutes later, carrying down about 30 of her white passengers and 117 of her Lascars crew. The small freight carrying steamer Empress of Fort William also was mined and sank, after a heroic attempt to pick up from the water the struggling survivors of the Maloja. One of her crew was killed. The rest escaped serious injury.

The Maloja was barely two miles off Dover, bound for Bombay, when the mine struck her well aft of the midship line, blowing a great hole in her quarter. From shore, where the explosion of the mine was distinctly heard, boats put out at once to the sinking ship and arrived in time to be of great service in picking up survivors from the water. The shock of the explosion was felt in the waterfront houses and many windows were broken by the concussion.

Empress Goes Down Quickly. The Empress of Fort William, which at the time of the explosion was not far from the Maloja, immediately swung over her wheel and started for the disabled steamer. She was not far from where the liner was rocking to and fro in the water, settling swiftly, when another mine struck her, close to the bow. The force of this second explosion seemed to lift her bow clear of the water and she began to settle even faster than the Maloja. In the meantime on board the P. & O. boat the passengers and crew were acting splendidly. Women and children were hurried to the boats by the officers and male passengers in an effort to get them all off safe before the ship sank. This, however, proved impossible and when the ship went down she carried with her a number of passengers.

Prominent Britons Aboard. Among the passengers on the liner were many prominent British officials bound for their posts in India and Egypt. One of the most prominent was Judge Oldfield of the Indian High Court, who had been in England on a furlough.

It is known, however, that at midnight last night the bodies of 18 men, 11 women and four children had been brought on shore. Eleven of the men were Lascars, who made up the larger part of the crew.

The market place in Dover was converted at once into a morgue. Several of the injured passengers died in the rescue boats on their way to the shore.

The British steamer Sueriev was another sea victim of Sunday. She was abandoned at sea by her crew when she caught fire. All hands were saved.

KOREAN BAD MAN WANTS HIS GUNS

Yee Yo Keuk, Korean gunman, appeared in Judge Ashford's court Saturday morning to answer to a charge of murder in the first degree. The case was set for trial on March 14.

Noe P. Alui, attorney for Keuk, presented a petition to the court that the Korean's property, which is said to consist of several revolvers, be returned to him.

Judge Ashford announced that he will listen to the petition next Saturday.

Keuk came into the courtroom on crutches and sat through the few minutes before the setting of a date for the case, apparently little heedful of what either of the attorneys was saying. A good-sized squad of detectives accompanied him.

PANAMA REPUBLIC TAKES EXCEPTION TO GOETHALS' STATEMENT

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles] PANAMA, C. Z., Feb. 28.—Foreign Minister E. T. Lefevre has announced that Panama takes formal exception to certain statements made by Colonel Goethals at his recent hearing before the military committee of the house, regarding the joint commission adjudicating land claims against Americans.

Minister Morales is said to have written to Secretary of State Lansing complaining of the proposed Adamson bill, which, he declared, is a violation of the treaty between Panama and the United States. M. Morales is said to have asked Secretary Lansing to try to prevent the passage of the Adamson measure, and to endeavor to secure a law permitting the zone commissaries to sell nothing but coal and oil.

All other sales, he declared, infringe the treaty between the countries.

'FRISCO CONSUL DEFENDS PICTURE BRIDE SYSTEM

Japan's Envoy Declares That Marriages Have Proved Satisfactory

[Associated Press by Federal Wireles] SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Feb. 28.—That the so-called picture bride system of marriage which is largely employed among the Japanese men in the United States is legitimate, according to the Japanese law, is the emphatic assertion made by Yamasaki, the Japanese consul in this city, in response to a question put to the Japanese official by the Associated Press.

Besides being legitimate, according to the Japanese law, as stated above, Consul Yamasaki declared that these marriages have proven so far to be satisfactory to the parties concerned. The allegation made so often that many of the Japanese in the United States make fictitious representations to harbor Japanese women through the picture bride channel for immoral purposes is entirely unfounded, added Mr. Yamasaki.

ADVISE DOVES AND PHEASANTS FOR BIG ISLAND

Supervisor Eugene H. Lyman of Hawaii county has written to Supervisor Logan for suggestions as to the expenditure of the game bird fund for the Big Island county. Mr. Logan replied by Saturday's mail, advising that Harry M. Whitney and Edwin H. Paris, the pheasant and the dove as first and second choice for stocking the covers and groves of the island in question.

Mr. Horner, owing to his experience years ago in importing pheasants into Hawaii, thought the pheasant would not long survive attacks of cats and mongoose. Messrs. Whitney and Paris, on the other hand, from the situation on Oahu, believe that the mongoose has about lost its terror as an enemy of game. The animal is more numerous on this island than on Hawaii, these experts say, and yet pheasants are now abundant here.

Both men say that quail are so plentiful on the Big Island that any additions from importations of the bird would make no material difference. Plover also abound on that island.

NEW OWNER OF SHINPO WILL FIGHT MAKINO'S PAPER "TO A FINISH"

Declaring that he will "fight the Hawaii Hochi to the finish," H. Tsurushima, new editor of the Hawaii Shinpo, has issued his first editorial against Fred Makino's publication.

Trouble which has been brewing for some time is said to exist between Tsurushima and the Hochi, owing to an editorial attack made on Tsurushima some time ago.

Whether or not Tsurushima bought the Shinpo for the sole purpose of avenging war on the Makino publication is not known, but persons versed in the Japanese literature say that the recent editorial makes the threat to fight the Hochi to the finish.
