Vienna Sends Reports Declaring Austrian Merchantmen Submerged, Unarmed

ARTILLERY AT VERDUN ACTIVE; TROOPS QUIET

Situation Today is Relatively Calm; Greek and French Soldiers Fight at Mytilene

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
 WASHINGTON, D. C., March 14.—Charges that Austrian merchant vessels have been sunk by submarines of the Allies without warning of attack are contained in reports which Vienna has sent to the state department as the latest contribution to the submarine controversy.

According to the memoranda from Vienna, presented through the Austrian charge d'affaires, in two instances Austrian merchantmen have been torpedoed by submarines which it is presumed were British and in neither instance was the vessel warned or ordered to halt.

Unofficial indications today are that Germany will make complete demands to the United States if it is found that a German submarine torpedoed the Norwegian steamer Silius without warning and in violation of German assurances. The Silius was torpedoed last Thursday, seven Americans being aboard and one of them is reported hurt.

ARTILLERY AT VERDUN ACTIVE BUT LITTLE OF INFANTRY FIGHT TODAY

PARIS, France, March 14.—The artillery bombardments at Verdun continue with little abated fury. The Meuse front and also the region around the fortress of Vaux are lively scenes, but there is little infantry activity.

An anticipated German advance into Le Pretre (Priest) wood has been repulsed.

FRENCH AND GREEK SOLDIERS IN QUARREL

BERLIN, Germany, March 14.—According to reports from Athens, fighting has broken out between the Greek and French soldiers stationed on the island of Mytilene and occupied by the Allies as part of the Saloniki-Dardanelles campaign. The French are said to have received reinforcements and imprisoned the turbulent Greeks. Further mingling of the troops has been ordered prohibited.

BERLIN, Germany, March 14.—The developments of the day on the western front were comparatively unimportant. Several enemy aeroplanes were shot down.

ITALIAN MILITARY PLANS AVALANCHED

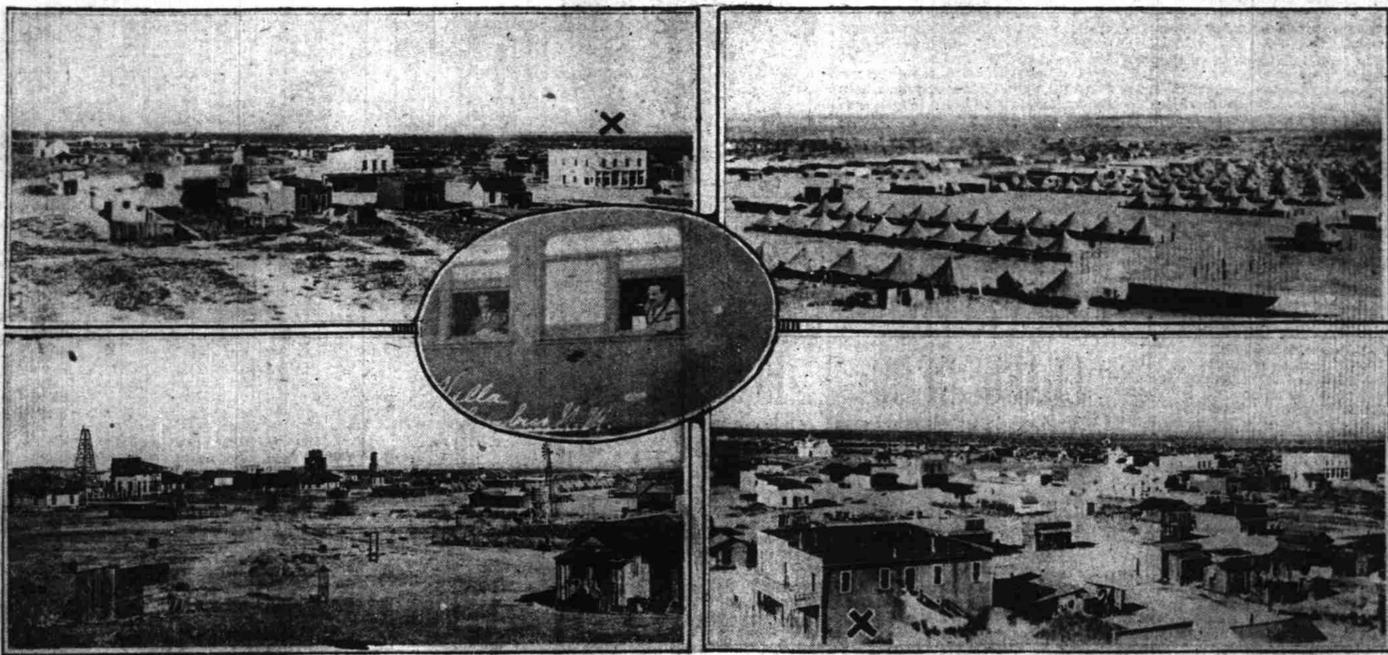

ROME, Italy, March 14.—Military plans have been somewhat upset by a great avalanche which has interrupted traffic on the railway between Cuneo and Tenda, the second best line of communication with France and the provinces of Bergamo, Vicenza and Belluno. Many houses have been buried and the bodies of sixteen dead have already been recovered.

Pvt. Frank Simanek, Troop K, 4th Cavalry, Schofield Barracks, has been transferred by war department orders to the 11th Cavalry, stationed at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. Pvt. Simanek is to be sent as attendant to the authorized mount of Capt. William B. Renzhausen of the 11th Cavalry, who was recently transferred to the latter post from the 4th Cavalry.

During 1915 the New York Central handled 4,507,753 carloads of freight, one very seven seconds.

Little Town Villa Raided, Columbus, New Mexico, Now Center of U. S. Military Activity; Expedition to "Get" Outlaw to Leave From Here

These timely photographs were taken a few months ago on the Mexican border by Samuel F. Ackley, now squadron sergeant-major of the 4th Cavalry, at Schofield Barracks. They show the scene of the depredations last week by Villistas at Columbus, N. M., four miles north of the border and give a good view of the flat country over which the raiders rode on the night foray. The photos are as follows: Left above—Columbus business section, showing bank (marked with x). Right above—13th U. S. Cavalry camp. Left below—13th Cavalry camp, headquarters, custom house and station. Right below—Business section, showing Central (now Commercial) hotel (x) which was destroyed by the Villistas, in the fire which cost the life of the proprietor and several others. The oval center photo shows Gen. "Pancho" Villa leaning from a railway coach during a visit he made to Columbus to secure permission to take troops across U. S. territory.

MASKED MEN IN UNIFORM HOLD UP TWO SHOPS

Bold Robberies Made at Wahiawa Last Evening at 8:30; Bandits Make Escape

With black masks over their faces, and with cloths swathed about their necks, hands and wrists so as to conceal their skin, two men clad in the uniform of United States soldiers last night raided the town of Wahiawa and held up two stores.

DAVIS OUSTED AS CLERK OF COURT

Judge Clemons Requests Resignation, and Removes Official When He Does Not Quit

Because of alleged irregularities in the deposit of court moneys a bid in the reports of his office, Foster Leslie Davis was requested by Judge Charles F. Clemons yesterday to resign as clerk of the local United States court.

Judge Clemons' request was made in a letter to Mr. Davis. In reply, Mr. Davis stated that he could not tender his resignation and "receive vindication." At noon today Judge Clemons issued an order in open court removing Mr. Davis as clerk "for the best interests of the court and particularly of the clerk's office."

In removing Mr. Davis, Judge Clemons said, in part:
 No Financial Shortages.

GERMAN OFFICIAL CABLEGRAMS

GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, March 14.—On the west front the situation is generally unchanged. In a small engagement near Voitye, northeast of Ypres, the English were finally repulsed.

One English aeroplane, east of Arras, and one, west of Bapaume, were shot down by Lieut. Immelmann, the operators being killed. Lieut. Boelke shot down two enemy aeroplanes behind the French lines above Port Marre. The officers have thus disabled their tenth and eleventh enemy aeroplanes. An English biplane after an air engagement near Cambria was forced to descend and the operators were imprisoned.

YESTERDAY.
 GERMAN HEADQUARTERS, March 13.—Clear weather is reigning on the west front. The artillery today was very active on both sides, on a large part of the front, reaching highest intensity on both sides of the Meuse to Mosse. Some patrol combats were recorded on the Somme.

A small French attack in the Priest forest failed.
 Besides reconnoitering, German flyers successfully attacked the enemy's railroad and lodging places, especially on the railroad from Clermont to Verdun. Three enemy aeroplanes were destroyed, two in Champagne and one in the Meuse sector.

HELPED CARE FOR MAILED ABROAD

Mrs. Genevieve Rawak, Now in Honolulu, Served as Nurse on Western Front

From that mysterious "somewhere in France," so close to the lines, that she should describe the location of the place, she has in Mrs. Genevieve Rawak, American born, brought to Honolulu word of the she has in five months of work to caring for the wounded.

"I was in Paris when the war out," said Mrs. Rawak, "and months I saw its attendant horrors as a nurse at the bedside of the wounded. If people feel that they have given more to the cause of Europe than they should, let them remember that each war goes on the misery of the there increases. It is more in that we should help now than a year ago.

"Let me tell you," says Mrs. Rawak, "of a fine young Frenchman, who in one of the hospitals in physical build, young strong, he must have been a French manhood before the war. He came to me with almost

MORE THAN FIFTY TRIALS HELD UP

Shortage of Money Proving Serious Handicap to Courts; No Pay for Jurymen

If "money talks," to quote a time-worn saying, it is not even whispering around the local circuit court.

As a matter of fact, the shortage of money for expenses is proving a serious handicap to the work of the three divisions, shown by an examination today of the calendars in the courts of Judges Ashford, Whitney and Stuart.

Circuit Judge Ashford's calendar shows that there are 16 cases now awaiting trial in that court. They cannot go to trial for the reason that there is no money to pay jurymen. The trial of Yee Yo Keuk, Korean bad man, charged with first degree murder, was to have gone to trial yesterday. It was put over indefinitely because of lack of funds. For the last four weeks there has been no meeting of the territorial grand jury for the same reason.

Circuit Judge Stuart's court is, perhaps, suffering the greatest from the absence of money. The calendar in that court shows that there are now 37 cases pending in which trials by jury have been demanded. There are also numerous other cases on the calendar in which, it is presumed, jury trials will be asked.

In Circuit Judge Whitney's court it was announced that there are only two cases pending for trial by jury. "We consider ourselves fortunate in this respect," declared Clerk A. Kael Aona.

PERSHING LEAVES EL PASO QUIETLY

Is In Command of Expeditionary Column on Line--Carranza is Placated

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
 EL PASO, Texas, March 14.—With the certainty that a large expeditionary force is massed on the Mexican border for a quick dash on the trail of Gen. "Pancho" Villa, further reports are clouded by a strict censorship imposed under the orders of Maj.-gen. Frederick Funston, in charge of the border troops and now directing the "punitive expedition."

Gen. Pershing, who is to be in active command of the expeditionary column, has left here, presumably for Columbus. Information concerning his movements is refused by the army authorities.

It is understood that there are now 4000 American troops at Columbus, New Mexico, the scene of the Villa raid, ready to ride across the border and take up the chase for Villa.

GEN. FUNSTON CLAPS STRICT CENSORSHIP DOWN ON SITUATION

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 14.—Gen. Funston has established a strict censorship regarding the movements of troops and the situation at Columbus. The army is guarding all wires and stopping messages which do not pass the censors. Gen. Funston said today that in future all information regarding the departure of the expedition will be refused.

Brig.-gen. George Bell, Jr., commanding the 5th Brigade at San Antonio, has been ordered to El Paso to command border troops in Pershing's absence.

SAYS VILLA'S MEN USED THE "DUM-DUM"

CHICAGO, Ill., March 14.—Gen. Villa's raiders at Columbus used "dum-dum" bullets, according to Pvt. Wiczkorkiewicz, who has arrived here from the border, en route home. He exhibited a number of bullets which he asserted he had taken from the belts of dead

Remember "Baby Week"

CAUSES OF INFANT MORTALITY.
 By Mrs. E. D. Kilbourne.

This is the second of the series of short papers published this week as educational work in preparation for Honolulu's "Baby Week." The third will be published tomorrow, the topic being "The Purposes of Preventive Organizations," by Miss Jessie Rae of the Pacific Sanitarium.

The majority of deaths in infants is due directly or indirectly to derangements of digestion, brought on by improper feeding. When breast fed, the baby may be a victim of a disease of the mother, or may not derive sufficient nourishment from the mother's milk, and so has little ability to combat acute infectious disease, as tuberculosis, measles, scarlet fever, et cetera. A like condition may result from the baby's inability to nurse properly because of nasal obstruction, or cleft palate. A baby may take plenty of nourishment, but because of some congenital inability to assimilate it, may waste away helplessly before the eyes of its parents.

In bottle fed babies, the milk, the bottles or the methods of feeding may be at fault. Milk may be deficient in fats or proteins, adulterated or dirty from bad handling. The dirty milk is germ laden and causes intestinal putrefaction. A very common mistake in feeding and one that contributes largely to the infant death rate is the pernicious habit of some mothers of warming over the milk for successive feedings. Such warmed over milk is necessarily half sour and indigestible.

Overfeeding contributes as largely as underfeeding to digestive disturbances.

The acute infectious diseases—measles, scarlet fever, whooping cough, et cetera, although serious at all times, furnish a smaller mortality in these islands than in cold, wintry climates. However, each year they cause the death of many infants, and many of these could be saved by proper care and treatment.

The sad feature of infant mortality is that, by proper methods, most of it could be prevented.

The duty of the "grown-ups" is not alone in the study and contemplation of the statistics but in the making and enforcing of ordinances that will prevent unsanitary milk from reaching the babies, and in a general education of mothers, so that the little helpless ones may not fall victims to diseases easily preventable.

Let us work to give the babies a chance!

REPUBLICANS WIN FIRST BOUND IN PROVINCE OF HUPEH

(Special Cable to Liberty News)
 SHANGHAI, China, March 14.—Revolutionary troops from Kwangsi made an attack on Han Fong, Hupeh province, this morning, and won a signal victory over the monarchists. Hupeh is one of the strongest centers of the monarchy movement and this victory gives the Nationalists their first hold in this province.

Troops from Kwangsi, comprising the 1st division of the Republican forces under Lee Let Quan, made an attack on the monarchists under the command of Lung Gen Koog, and after several hours fighting occupied a strong position which gives them an advantage in making an attack on Lu-chau. Two Republican victories are reported in the Sze Chuen district.

WILL STOP JAPANESE OWNING LAND WHILE ACTING GUARDIANS

(Special Cable to Nippon Jiji)
 SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., March 14.—Attorney-General Webb, when asked his opinion regarding the alien land law act, said today that non-eligible citizens have no right to hold land if they use guardianship of minors to evade the alien land law. Many Japanese in California have asked to hold land as guardians for their children who are American born, but this opinion, as handed down, states that Japanese may not hold land in this manner.
