

OFFICER WRIGHT LOW; RELATIVES NOTIFIED LATE

Wife and Brother Dissatisfied With Handling of Accident; Dr. Ayer Explains

Close relatives of Motorcycle Police Officer Fred Wright, who lies at the Queen's hospital lingering between life and death as the result of the collision between his machine and the mail auto driven by John M. Silva at 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, said today that they are somewhat dissatisfied with the alleged neglect of the police department in not notifying them immediately the accident came to their attention.

At 8:30 Wednesday evening, Wright was on the table at the emergency hospital, yet Mrs. Wright, who was at home with her brother, M. Espinda, who lives with the Wrights, received no message until 10:30, when a telephone message from another brother broke the news. Espinda immediately telephoned the police station and they said Wright was not in a serious condition. But Mrs. Wright and her brother got ready and went with her brother to the station.

By the time they had arrived Dr. R. G. Ayer, the emergency surgeon, had decided to remove the patient to Queen's hospital, as serious symptoms had begun to appear. When seen this morning Wright's relatives felt that three hours was too long a time for a patient suffering with so serious an accident as fracture of the skull to lie in bed with the critical condition undiscovered.

Dr. Ayer stated today that from the moment that Wright was brought into the emergency hospital not a minute passed when one or both of his attendants were not at the bedside of the patient, watching for any symptom that would indicate anything seriously the matter, and he himself was not absent more than 10 minutes at a time from the side of the patient.

Complaints of Silva's Speed. Silva has been complained of many times to the police by citizens who have been witnesses of and near victims to Silva's speedy driving. On two occasions the sheriff has complained in person to Postmaster Young, who reprimanded Silva in the presence of the sheriff and cautioned him against violating any of the ordinances.

"It is true that being a federal employe in pursuit of federal business Silva has the right of way in his machine, but that is no excuse for reckless driving and violation of city ordinances," said the postmaster, "and I will have none of my employes violating them just because of their connection with the federal government."

Silva complained to the postmaster at the time of his last reprimand that his route for the collection of mail was so long that he simply had to speed up in order to cover it in time.

While attorneys on opposing sides argued habeas corpus matters this afternoon in the case of John Silva, the mail carrier who has been held in jail since Wednesday night, a big policeman stood outside the door of the judiciary building waiting to arrest him.

Habeas corpus proceedings were stopped abruptly by the bringing in of the warrant by Probation Officer John C. Anderson, who laid it on the desk before Lorrin Andrews, Silva's attorney. Andrews explained the situation as he saw it, saying, "I see the city and county attorney's office hoped to wait here until a decision was given, then go ahead and present its warrant."

CITY ENGINEER DECIDES LANE NOT TO BE REOPENED

"Fowler's Yard," a lane running back of the Bijou theater between Ho and Pauahi streets, will not be opened to the public. The fence across the four foot lane will not be torn down. For it is private property, according to the findings of George M. Collins, city engineer.

He was instructed by the board of supervisors at its last meeting to take steps to have the lane opened. He investigated first and found that it did not belong to the city. He will tell the supervisors so tonight.

18 POUNDS OF BLOOD

is the average quantity in a healthy adult, but it is the quality of the blood that determines our strength to resist sickness. With weak blood we find cold hands and chilly feet; in children an aversion to study, and in adults rheumatic tendencies.

In changing seasons get abundant fresh air and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals, because Scott's Emulsion is a rich blood-food that will increase both quantity and quality of the blood while it warms the body and helps carry off the impurities.

When multitudes of people are today taking Scott's Emulsion to avert winter sickness, and are giving it to their children, it is careless to neglect its benefits. Look out for substitutes. Scott & Bowne, Bloomfield, N. J.

NATIONAL GUARD, CITIZENS' CAMP FUND IS BOOMED

(Continued from page one) of citizens should a military crisis ever arise in these islands. He paid highest compliments to the guard and the men of Hawaii who are supporting it.

"The growth of our National Guard has been most remarkable," declared the general, "and it certainly deserves every encouragement the rest of us can give it."

Gen. Wisner pointed out the manner in which guardsmen could work to best efficiency for the protection of these islands. He explained that there is special need for mountain scouts among the citizen population, men who understand signal work, and also men trained in work with Hawaii's big coast defense guns.

"Nations do not enter into war to-day for slight reasons," he said, "but when war does come it comes as a struggle for existence. Preparedness for this struggle is the first essential of a country, and there is no reason why the training that guardsmen are receiving should not fit them for work with troops of the army in the first line."

"Many men would be placed at various duties here, before being placed in the first line, the idea being to give the regular army opportunity to take the offensive against an invader. I have been particularly impressed with the work of the guard here, and I believe that any effort the citizens can make to foster it will go down to the lasting credit of the territory."

What Hawaii Must Do. Governor Pinkham said in part: "Here in the island of Oahu has the national government, more than elsewhere, brought into evidence by constructions, armaments, equipment and units of officers and men of the regular army of the United States its convictions that defense must be a matter of action and not words."

"Not many months ago the citizens of the territory were urged by the secretary of war to become a most effective factor in national defense and local defense."

"When it comes to action the line of demarkation between the Regular Army and the National Guard must, of necessity, relatively disappear, and that this may have minor significance the National Guard of Hawaii must be in constant training and numbers."

"The war department is doing its utmost to aid us speedily, but Congress is in no haste."

"The problem of tiding over to July 1 and possibly later is before you. Others will present the special necessities."

"Be our destiny out here, alone, beyond our borders, in the midst of the Pacific, what it may be, let the inhabitants of these islands, to the utmost, prepare for our own defense and the defense of the coast and communications of the United States of America, and dedicate our means and our lives to peace and honor, as patriots and the Almighty has heretofore illumined the world."

ECONOMY PLAN PUTS FATE OF BAND IN DOUBT

Supervisor Larsen's Retrenchment Policy Would Discontinue the Service

Supervisor William Larsen has started something. He has an elaborate program of retrenchment for the rest of the term of the supervisors and he is going to present it at a caucus to be held tonight. Prominent among the items in it is the elimination of the Hawaiian band, at a saving to the city of about $24,000 a year. The rest of the program includes cuts in the garbage and park departments and the elimination of a few items in the road department's program, totaling an additional $7000.

Larsen declared this morning, in discussing the retrenchment program, that he knew the elimination of the band would create a public furore, "but," he said, "it is an extravagance that the city in the present state of its finances can very well do without. I know all the objections to withdrawing the band from the city payroll, but as I see it, it must go."

Wallace R. Farrington, president of the Ad Club, does not take the same view of the situation. "It would be a mistake, a mistake from a community standpoint," he says. "The band is one of the greatest assets we have. It has been associated with the life of the city for 40 years. It is not an extravagance, as Larsen thinks, but an asset—a tourist asset and a community asset."

Mr. Farrington points out that now, when the city has just commenced to reap the harvest of its years of promotion work is the poorest time of all to eliminate the band. "The strongest impression the departing tourists carry away with them is the scene at the dock—the leis, the swimmers diving from the steamers and the band playing, with the soft strains of 'Aloha Oe' floating out over the water," he declared today. "If the band is eliminated, it will not be long before the divers and the leis are things of the past. Then the individuality of Honolulu, the greatest tourist asset it has, will be gone."

He suggested that if the supervisors wanted to save money they might take steps to improve the efficiency of the city departments. "It is not the expenditures by the board that the people of Honolulu are objecting to. It is the fact that they are not getting value for their money that causes all the kicking," he declared. He pointed out that the last board before leaving office hired a great many men in different city departments and that there has been no effort to eliminate this surplus, with its enormous overhead cost. "That is why the present board is in a hole," he asserted.

"DOING POLITICS"

"Judge Stuart seems to be in a frame of mind to do McCandless and Stuart politics rather than to act as a jurist," was the terse comment made by Governor Pinkham this morning when asked what he thought of the decision made by the circuit judge yesterday regarding the Steven labor recruiting case.
