

RAYMOND LOSER IN CONTEST AS MAUI DELEGATE

High Sheriff William P. Jarrett, candidate for national committeeman, and Dr. J. H. Raymond, candidate for delegate to the national convention, lost out Saturday night when the Democratic territorial central committee gave the Maui delegateship to Morris K. Keohokaloie, postmaster at Paia. So far as the recent Bourbon primary elections are concerned, this decision gives the McCandless-Wilson faction of Democrats a clean sweep through the territory. The appeal of Attorney Eugene Murphy of Waialuku against the election at Hana was sustained, the votes in that district were thrown out. The committee did not disturb the election of T. B. Lyons as alternate from Maui, as the votes thrown out were not sufficient to beat him. Doctor Raymond wanted the Kahului and Paia votes thrown out, but the central committee held that they should stand. It is understood that, as a result of Saturday's meeting, J. H. Wilson's plurality over Jarrett is now greater than ever, but the exact number will not be known until the complete Hawaii returns are received.

Mrs. Kealohaauka Kanakaloa Punial, who died yesterday at her brother's home in Kailiwaena, was born at Waihee, Maui, May 24, 1862. The funeral is this afternoon. Burial will be in Kawaihahoe cemetery.

Two drunks paid $5 fines and another $5. F. P. Hopkins forfeited $6 bail. Trial of Chow Kim Moon was set for tomorrow and Mrs. Gonzales and Rachel Miller will be arraigned Friday.

CHINESE-GERMAN MOVE HERE SAID TO RAISE FUNDS

with blowings of spray from their copper water-bowls. Yuen worked in the rear of the room, and when the interviewer approached him, was reticent about replying to questions. But friendly conversation finally thawed him out, and fishing out a key from his inner jeans he crawled under his bench to the safe. Judging from the time it took Yuen to unlock the safe, the lock is a good one. He rose finally, however, and brought out his papers to the light of day. They were wrapped in the form of a scroll, and Yuen unrolled them. Papers Show Society Membership. Upon a background of German script, the visitor saw the name of Yuen Wo written in a big round hand with black ink that stands out and catches the notice of the reader. "Society of the Iron Cross" is the translation of the certificate heading. The rest of the certificate is to the effect—loosely translated—that the bearer believes in the German cause and in German heroes, and expresses the prayer that Germany may conquer.

Yuen Wo allowed a reading of the certificate but not for long. He refused to let it be copied off, saying in explanation, "You no German—You American," and proceeded to roll up the paper.

Eight papers of this sort are in his possession. Yuen says that he signed them for his family, some of whom are in Honolulu, and some in the homeland, but all staunch believers in Germany.

"Japan and Germany fight—you no like Japan. So you like Germany?" ventured the visitor, and Yuen Wo smiled faintly, saying, "No like Japan."

Says Abtu 100 Strong. Yuen Wo says that he thinks about 100 Chinese of the city belong to the "Society of the Iron Cross." Many of these, like himself, have purchased the certificate for their families across the sea. He says that a man—evidently a stranger—came to sell the certificates to him and also the iron badge. The papers are signed by men who bear German names—George Rouskal and Dr. Gustav Scholer.

The first report had it that the certificates were distributed by a German agent and the money collected by him, but a Chinese businessman who has one of the papers says that the active agent here is a Chinese, and that the headquarters of the movement are in San Francisco. He also believes that the work is more to raise funds for Red Cross activities than for the German military cause.

Now as to the funds being raised here for sending a German doctor to the fatherland. A few days ago Dr. F. H. Schurmann of Beretania street informed the Star-Bulletin that Chinese of the city had come to him with money, asking that he go to Germany for work there in the military hospitals among the wounded soldiers.

Dr. Schurmann's specialty is massage work. In an article printed in the Star-Bulletin of April 17, the doctor's father, who is an aged German professor, urged him to come home for work of this kind, stating that many of the wounded men will be crippled for life on account of stiff joints which would yield to treatment if cared for in proper time.

The Chinese who came with the money—approximately $300—told Dr. Schurmann that they had seen the article in the Star-Bulletin and that they wished to send him as their representative for the work outlined by his father. They have been bringing money to him since, and now has more than $320.

Express Sympathy With Germany. Their petition, printed in Chinese characters, is in possession of the Star-Bulletin. A general translation of it reads as follows:

"To show their deep sympathy with his majesty, the Emperor of Germany, and with the German cause, the undersigned Chinese residents of Oahu, Territory of Hawaii, take great pleasure and pride in sending Dr. F. Schurmann of Honolulu, T. H., to his native land so that he may lend his aid and assistance in the military hospitals there."

"I knew nothing of any movement of this kind," says Dr. Schurmann, "until they came and explained it to me. I do not even know the names of the Chinese who are circulating the petition, nor whether it is being done by a united society or by individuals. Different Chinese have come at dif-

PALAMA GIRLS RENDER "A VIRGINIA HEROINE"
"A Virginia Heroine," given by the Palama girls in the Palama gymnasium Saturday evening, was successful in many ways. Funds were realized by the Girls' Club in charge, each part was played well and a large crowd of admiring friends and relatives was present.

"In spite of a dance at the armory and another at Kamehameha, to which many of our people go, we had an exceptionally good attendance and saw many new faces," said one of those in charge today. "The audience was quite appreciative and enjoyed the efforts of the girls."

Miss Cunningham, as Topsy, and Mokihana Daniel, as Nora, were the leading characters. A dance followed the entertainment.

Dr. Schurmann says that he has heard no details of the Iron Cross Society among the Chinese here, save for brief remarks of Yuen Wo, his laundryman, who has spoken of it occasionally when he dropped in with the week's washing. If he can make satisfactory arrangements for the care of his family he will take up the new work, he says.

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST
When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other, one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous.

The one best treatment for any cold—the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness.

Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from alcohol and injurious drugs.

VAUGHAN AND HUBER SWORN INTO OFFICES

New Officials Take Oaths Before Representative Gathering in Federal Court

In the presence of nearly 100 attorneys, jurists, federal and circuit court officials and businessmen, Horace W. Vaughan and S. C. Huber were sworn in federal court today as United States judge and district attorney, respectively. Federal Judge Charles Frederick Clemons administered the oaths.

The judges' bench was prettily decorated with bases of cut flowers, while at the left of the big American flag was hung a handsome portrait of Hon. Sanford Ballard Dole, who recently retired as United States judge. On the bench with Judge Clemons was Governor Pinkham, Chief Justice A. G. M. Robertson and Judge Dole.

Mr. Vaughan took his oath first and upon its completion was congratulated and led to a seat on the bench by Judge Dole. The administration of the oath to Mr. Huber followed immediately after. Judge Dole then made a brief address in which he stated that a judge is supposed to have no enemies or friends, but that, if he have either, he has to ignore them completely in carrying out his duties. "Justice," he added, "is always a support to the ideal things in life."

In replying, Judge Vaughan expressed his appreciation of the kind and unflinching courtesy tendered him by the members of the bar and others since his arrival in Honolulu. Governor Pinkham told of the value of bringing new blood into the federal judiciary. He pointed out that Hawaii has problems of race, financial control and defense; more prominent in Hawaii, perhaps, than in any other part of the world, he added. It is well, he concluded, that the mainland have some connection with these problems through the introduction of new blood. W. O. Smith and other members of the bar also gave brief talks.

Judge Clemons spoke, in part, as follows: "Were it not that Judge Dole must have become hardened to the constant approval of his fellow men, it might be embarrassing for us to utter these praises in his presence. But what we can say will add little to his preeminent place in the respect and affection of the people, both old and young. When one in public life attains such a place—like that of Washington, first in the hearts of his countrymen, he himself—none whose exact place cannot be filled nor anywhere near filled—and, with reference to Judge Dole, we do not mean his place as a mere judge, a mere expert who knows the law and how to apply it, but a public figure who stands for the very highest ideals, for dignity, self-respect and those admirable and endearing qualities of personal charm and force of character that in happy blending tend to strengthen our government and our institutions through the glorification, so to speak, of the public office held."

"It is a gratifying fact, as I believe an examination of the cases will confirm, that Judge Dole has never been firm in any case in which he did not have a considerable body of authority with him, and in any case that has gone through all the appellate courts he has had in support of his view at least three of the judges who have passed upon the point at issue. Counting as one case certain recent habeas corpus proceedings all involving the same question, he has in all his 12 years' service on this bench been reversed but very few times, and very few times even with these cases."

"Hawaii has been fortunate, and so has the nation, and so have the foreign nations with whom we have been in close contact, that through the days of the provisional government, and of the Republic of Hawaii, the transition period on annexation, the beginning of the territorial government, and 12 years of administration of a judicial affairs of high responsibility, the affairs of these islands have been in the hands of a man of his character, sound judgment and statesmanship, qualities the negative of which might easily have tended to international ill-feeling if not to disaster."

"To the incoming judge of this court I can only say that we wish him all the satisfaction that a successful career on the bench may bring—which means benefit to himself and to us all. From his proven disposition to be tolerant of other people's views and considerate of their feelings, and jealous of due respect for the court and the judges, I am led to believe that he is a broad-minded and fair-minded man from whom we may expect justice at all times and such mercy as occasions may require."

"To the new district attorney I can only express our cordial welcome, our hope for his success and efficiency in office and our desire for the friendliest relations officially and personally."

Among those present were Judge Dole, Judge Clemons, Chief Justice Robertson, Associate Justices R. P. Quarles and E. M. Watson, Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kemp, Judge Vaughan, Circuit Judges W. L. Whitney and C. W. Ashford, Huron Ashford, Atty. Joseph Lightfoot, Federal Clerk G. R. Clark, Governor Pinkham, Deputy Federal Clerks W. Ladd Rosa and R. Baker Rietow, Attorneys Claudius McBride, A. L. C. Atkinson, L. L. Burr, Bert Lightfoot, J. Wesley Thompson and John T. De Bolt.

H. F. Nietert, Immigration Inspector Richard Halsey, Immigration Inspectors Edwin Farmer and Harry Brown, Goo Wan Hoy, Miss Edith Pratt, Special Examiner Henry McConnell, Mrs. Sara Holland, Leslie P. Scott, H. G. Middleitch, W. O. Smith, Lorrin Andrews, J. A. Magoon, George French, Marshal J. J. Smiddy, Deputy Marshals Otto Heipe and Albert Harris.

POSTMASTER IS LEAVING SOON; MAY NOT RETURN

my wife will return to Honolulu I will be delighted to serve the balance of my wife could return to Honolulu I will years. My appointment runs until May 1, 1918. To the best of my knowledge and belief my successor has not been yet been selected."

Speaking of the possibility of his taking a postmastership on the mainland, Mr. Young said: "Mr. Roper has notified me that at the present time there are no vacancies to which I could be assigned; that is, vacancies in the same class as the Honolulu postmastership, with a salary commensurate with the services performed."

Mr. Young stated that he will not leave here before 15 days, and that he will not go on a transport. From this city he will go to Washington and from there to see Mrs. Young, who is now living at Mr. Young's summer home in the Blue Ridge, at Altapass, N. C., 100 miles from Spartanburg, S. C. Mr. Young's "home town." Mrs. Young left Honolulu May 11, 1915, to benefit her health, which had been poor here.

Postmaster Young will have been a Honolulu two years on May 26. He assumed the Honolulu postmastership June 1, 1914. His salary is now $3450 a year and July 1 will become $3550, the increase being due to gains in the volume of business done by the local office. Total receipts of the local office for the year ending March 31, 1915, was $200,390.08, against $179,390.08 for the same period of 1914. The Honolulu postoffice also has cost the government only 48.8 per cent of its total earnings as expenditures for the year ending March 31, 1915, were only $78,932.02. In other words, the local office has earned the government $121,458.06, above all expenses, in the year ending March 31, 1915.

After Postmaster Young leaves Assistant Postmaster William C. Peterson will be acting postmaster, in charge of finances, and Superintendent of mails Frank T. Sullivan will be in charge of service, delivery and dispatch of mails.

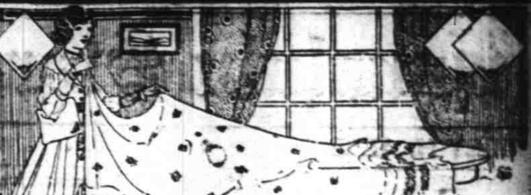

Several Honoluluans are ready to shy their hats into the ring as candidates to succeed Mr. Young, who is conceded to be a most popular postmaster here, as well as a most efficient one. Among those mentioned as possible candidates are M. C. Pacheco, Frank E. Colby and Palmer Woods. Superintendent of Mails Frank T. Sullivan has also been mentioned prominently for the position and is understood to stand in well with the department by reason of his long training in postal affairs, both in Manila and at San Francisco.

HUSBAND OF HONOLULU GIRL KILLED IN BATTLE
Dr. F. L. Miner, who is revisiting Honolulu after a long absence, has received a newspaper clipping with news that his son-in-law, Capt. Gilbert McGibbon of the Royal Highlanders had been killed in action at the front. He was 23 years of age, and but a short time before leaving for the front married Miss Gladys Miner. Capt. McGibbon was the eldest son of the late R. D. McGibbon, K. C., of Montreal. His widow was born in Honolulu in 1889.

City Attorney A. M. Brown, Deputy City Attorneys Will T. Carden and A. M. Cristy, U. S. Commissioner George S. Curry, Deputy City Attorney Charles Chillingworth, Ben Kahale-Juna.
