

DETENTION HOME NEED IS GROWING STRONGER DAILY

Cases in Juvenile Court Prove That Youngsters Cannot Be Placed in Prison

Honolulu's need of a juvenile detention home is vividly recalled in a case recently heard by Juvenile Judge W. L. Whitney, in which a two-year-old Porto Rican baby boy had been abandoned by his mother. As a result of this case and the manner in which it had to be finally settled, further impetus doubtless will be given the detention home movement.

The baby in question, whose mother resides in Iwilei and whose father is in jail, was brought into court by a woman in whose care it had been placed, but who wanted to give it up because she had not been paid by the mother for her work. After the woman had threatened to leave the child with the juvenile court officials, the mother was arrested and charged with having deserted her baby. She was released, however, after she had reimbursed the child's custodian, who still has the baby.

"If the case had not been settled as it was," says Judge Whitney, "we would have had no place to put the baby. Certainly we could not have put it in jail, and the Lanakila Home, which accommodates only six children, had no room for the child."

Judge Whitney explains that, while there is an appropriation of $7000 available for a detention home, it is impossible to buy land and build a house with this money anywhere near the city, where the home is really needed.

"I am now trying to find some place near town which will come within the appropriation and which I can recommend to the governor," he adds. "But it is going to be awfully hard to find it."

W. H. ("Dad") Hutton, probation officer, declares that the need of a detention home in Honolulu is great, and that such a home would be a decided help to the probation officer in his work.

"If a boy breaks his parole, place him in the detention home and let him think it over," says "Dad" Hutton. "You can't put him in jail."

He adds that the sooner a detention home is erected in Honolulu the better it will be for all concerned.

MOORE MAY SUE SPRING FOR LOSS OF WIFE, REPORT

Millionaire Responsible for Acts of Minor Daughter, Attorneys Contend

Holding that he suffered damages in the sum of $10,000 through the death of his wife, George Moore of this city is contemplating a suit against John Spring, Berkeley multimillionaire, for this amount, according to an Associated Press despatch received in Honolulu from San Francisco last night.

Mary F. Moore was run down and fatally injured on Nuuanu street one night a few months ago by an automobile driven by Miss Dorothy Spring, daughter of the California financier. Mrs. Moore later died of her injuries and Miss Spring and Dr. John C. Peden, formerly a physician at the Queen's hospital, who was the other passenger in the car, were indicted by the territorial grand jury on a charge of failing to assist a person injured by an automobile.

The case never went to trial. At the instance of the city attorney's office the case against Peden was nolle prossed, and Miss Spring, pleading guilty to the charge, was fined $200.

According to the despatch, Moore's attorneys in California hold that, under a territorial law, Spring is responsible for the acts of his minor child and the attorneys, as proof of Miss Spring's minority, intend to produce, it is reported, the affidavit which Miss Spring made at the time she applied for a marriage license with Lyman Covell, a young structural engineer.

Shortly after Miss Spring left Honolulu she was followed by Dr. Peden, and it was then reported that the couple were engaged. It later developed, however, that Miss Spring broke her engagement with Peden and decided to marry Covell.

POLICE NOTES

Sam Kohoanu was found guilty in police court today of stealing a pair of overalls from Joe Kaai in the fish market yesterday afternoon. Ten days was his penalty. The cases of Shimamura and Pedro Puentes were stricken and several more were continued.

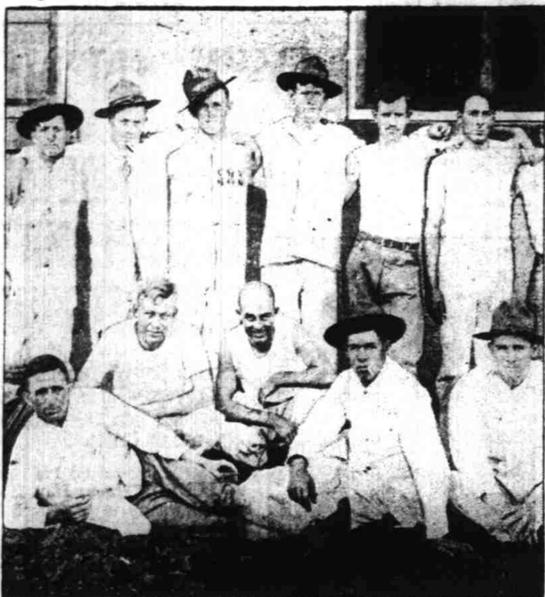

Six cottages and a storehouse filled with fishing boats and tackle were destroyed by fire at Seacomet, R. I.

Hundreds of American automobiles, mostly for use with the army in France, are stacked up in piles ten feet high along the Thames in London.

Cards regulating the consumption of meat have been issued in Wurtemberg, Germany.

Here's What Comrades Say of T. Jones, Cupid-Plumber

T. G. Jones, soldier-plumber, who posed as the heir to a $35,000 legacy dependent on his speedy marriage, is shown in the group above, photographed at Schofield. Jones is the man with the medals across his chest.

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]

SCHOFIELD BARRACKS, May 17.—I dropped in at the barracks of the Machine Gun Troop, 4th Cavalry, to find out something about the "bride-chaser" who has been raising such a stir in Honolulu. "Is there a fellow from this troop on furlough named T. G. Jones?" I inquired.

"Sure," was the reply, and I was immediately surrounded by a crowd of smiling troopers, all ready to give me any inside information I desired.

"What sort of a chap is he?" I inquired. And I was immediately assailed from all sides by a rapid fire of comments.

"He's a wind peddler. He's a windy chap. He's a loud one. To hear him talk you'd think he was the king bee of the army. We never knew before that he was a plumber, but it ain't no surprise, 'cause we haven't heard of anything he can't do. Undertaker Jones we call him, 'cause he worked as an undertaker at Shehela, Wash. (maybe it was Chehalis), for six years. Some bronco-buster, too; I saw him sit on a bronco for more than 20 minutes trying to make him buck. Of course he knew the poor skate didn't know how to buck, or he wouldn't have been on him."

"According to him, he's some news."

PINKHAM TELLS GRATIFICATION FOR CADETSHIPS
Governor Writes to Adjutant-General at Washington Expressing His Appreciation

Expressing his appreciation of the offer made by the war department, whereby the National Guard of Hawaii is to be allowed three out of 28 militia cadetships in West Point, Governor Pinkham today forwarded a letter to Brig.-gen. Henry P. McCain, the adjutant-general at Washington.

"I have the honor to acknowledge your cablegram," says the letter in part, "and have given it suitable publicity."

"I highly appreciate the honor bestowed on Hawaii by your tender of three out of 28 militia cadetships in the United States military academy at West Point.

"While our organization is an old one, I fear those who come within the terms of your offer are few, so we may not be able to fully qualify."

"Should a similar offer be extended next year, the great comparative additions to the National Guard and their age and acquisitions will enable us to enjoy the advantages presented."

"I have the honor to remain, 'Very respectfully,
"LUCIUS E. PINKHAM,
"Governor of Hawaii."

JONES NOT AT WORK, TIME UP; HAS HE MARRIED?

Is there a "Caroline Brown" Is Thomas Gather Jones to marry her? Is she an old sweetheart of his? Or is she one of the numerous young women who have applied for his heart, hand and supposed $35,000 legacy?

These are questions that are bothering those of the Honolulu public who have followed the matrimonial adventures of Mr. Jones, and despite the sneers of the "highbrows" their name is legion. Mr. Jones has not, apparently, stuck too close to the truth in his tales, in fact, has admitted that much of his story is purely imaginary, and there are doubts in many breasts of the existence of "Caroline."

According to Jones' first story of his coming legacy, he would have to be married six months by November 16 to get his uncle's $35,000. That meant he would have to be married by May 16, yesterday. He took out a license but so far as can be learned he did not use it. Inspection of Board of Health records failed to reveal the name of "Jones" among those married last night and the several ministers who would be likely to be called on declared that they had not married him.

If he has a $35,000 legacy coming he will not get it, according to his own statements, for he failed to marry within the specified time.

Does that settle him or will he come back with some other story with which to startle the public?

Jones did not appear for work this morning, according to his employer, E. R. Bath. "He may be getting married, but if he is he didn't say anything about it," said Mr. Bath this afternoon.

BAD ROADS GIVE 'BLACK EYE' TO CITY, HE SHOWS

papers in that section say many nice things about Hawaii, and end up by stating that the roads are in no condition for touring. That is the one objection that I have to Honolulu, and so long as your roads are kept in their present condition, just so long will the tourists hesitate in coming here.

"Hawaii is a paradise in every respect but the roads. I wanted to bring my car here, but on every hand I heard that touring here was impossible. Gentlemen, I believe that the most important question you have to solve is that of good roads. Solve that and Hawaii will be a veritable paradise.

"Southern California has the best system of roads in America, and they have been made because the men worked for them in opposition to those who believe that taxes would be too high. At first I opposed the measure to increase the road bond to $3,500,000, but when it came to vote I favored it and I believe that it was one of the best investments that Los Angeles county has made.

"One man said to me before I left for Honolulu that if Hawaii had good roads that he could load a ship full of passengers for Honolulu at any time. I believe that if you could vote a bond issue of $1,000,000 here that it would be worth while.

Women have taken a great part in boosting for Hawaii, and their value as advance agents, was appreciated today by the Ad Club members who gathered to hear the speakers of the day. Mr. Lindley stated that he had come to Hawaii because his wife had visited this city, and she was so much impressed that he decided to make the trip.

Another such incident was told when S. C. Huber, newly appointed district attorney, stated that he had first become interested in Hawaii through his daughter, who had visited the Paradise of the Pacific and had been so charmed with the people and the climate that he had decided to come here some day.

Consequently an application was made for the position of district attorney, and in his talk before the members of the Ad Club, he said that he was glad to be with a crowd of "live wires" such as could be seen at the Ad Club luncheon.

"I am impressed with the 'push' of the Ad Club, and although I had always believed that I would like Haimplicate Irishmen in the United States of high standing, according to a statement made from an authoritative source. Although the arms and ammunition involved in the plot were from Germany, it is declared that some prominent Sinn Feiners in America were active and participated largely in its administrative ramifications.

CASEMENT HELD FOR TRIAL UPON TREASON CHARGE

When Casement's trial is held it is promised that documents the authorities have will bring about sensational disclosures and be very embarrassing to certain persons in Ireland who have not yet been outwardly identified with the plot which came to a head at Dublin recently.

With the effects of his recent exciting experiences in a submarine and a collapsible boat wearing off, it is said he had considerably regained his composure and is now leading the ordinary prison life. He grew somewhat excited when he announced the belief that traitors in his own camp had thwarted his plans.

Casement would not discuss the extent of the German plans in connection with the Irish disaffection, but he indicated the extent of German hopes in that direction when he stoutly maintained that 100,000 men were to have participated. The German vessel, it is said, had aboard arms and ammunition for fully 5,000 men. The German officers in charge of the gun-running expedition are said to be of a distinctly inferior class.

German Silently Watching Ireland.
LONDON, Eng.—The German press has not been permitted to comment on the Sir Roger Casement incident, says the correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company at Amsterdam, but prints telegrams from Dutch papers with regard to the trouble in Ireland.

The Cologne Volkszeitung is quoted as saying that the situation in Ireland must be watched by Germany, especially in view of the present American crisis. Had the adventure succeeded, declares the newspaper, it would have "had immense influence on the feeling in America toward Germany, but as things have happened it will do little good."

"The Cologne Gazette appears to expect no success from the revolt," Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent telegraphs. "It cautions its readers not to overestimate the effect which the disturbances will have on the political and military situation in England, and points out the strength of the British forces in Ireland."

The Gazette continues: "One must ask, however, at a moment when a solution is being sought of the tense situation between the United States and Germany, what impression news of the disturbances in Dublin will have on millions of Irishmen in North America. We must wait to see what attitude they will take toward President Wilson's demands, and how far their influence extends on the parties which must reckon with this factor in the elections."

PUNAHOU STUDENTS MAKE GOOD PROGRESS IN MILITARY TRAINING

[Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.]

OAHU COLLEGE, May 17.—Gallery practise, which precedes range firing, is rapidly nearing completion at Punahou. Military drill is progressing well in all departments and there promises to be a good exhibition of the cadets in tactics at the seventy-fifth anniversary, for which event all companies are preparing.

The companies are keenly competing for three splendid cups. One was offered by W. F. Dillingham for the best company average in rifle shooting; another was offered by W. R. Castle for the academy company and the preparatory school company making the highest scores in daily drill and maneuvering and the best display at the public contest during the anniversary. Each company is graded on the carriage, attention, accuracy in drilling and knowledge of facings, steps, commands, etc. These scores are kept and will be totaled at the time of public competition in drill.

In addition to these company cups a medal will be awarded to the best marksman in school. Capt. Hickman will give to the cadet making the best record in signal corps manual a signal corps flashlight.

The target requirements for gallery practise have been changed from the requirements of the regular army to those of the National Guard and organized militia. Instead of the 40 shots according to regular army requirements, 10 shots are fired prone, five kneeling, five sitting and 10 standing—making a total of 30 shots and 150 possible points, with a score of 90 required before a cadet will be permitted to do range shooting.

The Man Who Looks Ahead

Most persons have some goal to which they steer their hopes, but many thoughtlessly unnerve the hand, and dull the brain by faulty living, then wonder why success is not achieved.

Among the everyday habits of life that often upset health is coffee drinking, an ancient and respectable custom, but harmful to many.

The average cup of coffee contains about 2 1/2 grains of caffeine, which, gradually accumulating in the system, often causes nervous prostration, heart trouble, mental depression, etc.

There's an easy way out of coffee troubles—quit the coffee and use

POSTUM

This pure food-drink is a simple combination of whole wheat roasted with a little wholesome molasses—nothing else. It has a snappy, aromatic flavor similar to coffee but is entirely free from the drug, caffeine, or any other injurious substance.

There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal must be boiled; instant Postum, soluble in a cup of hot water. Both have equal flavor, and cost about the same.

For those who appreciate the opportunity and power that goes with health

"There's a Reason" for POSTUM
