

CHINESE DOCTOR ARRESTED UNDER ANTI-DRUG ACT

40 grains of morphine sulphate to Maxie Crystal and others and recorded the sales under fictitious names. Another charge against Li is that he failed to keep his special stamp tax posted in a conspicuous place in his office and the fourth charge alleges that he failed to make an inventory of the narcotics which he had on hand on March 1, 1915, when the Harrison act went into effect.

It is charged in the last complaint that Li falsely and fraudulently executed an application for registry and special stamp tax under the Harrison act.

With regard to the fifth charge, Assistant District Attorney S. B. Kemp stated today that it is alleged the defendant stated in his application that he was engaged in the legitimate practice of medicine, but that the government intends to allege that he was not engaged in the legitimate practice of medicine, but desired his registration for the purpose of selling and dispensing narcotic drugs in violation of the law.

Maxie Crystal, who is alleged to be one of those who bought drugs from Li, is said to have taken an overdose of some narcotic about a month and a half ago, and that the effects of the drug nearly killed her.

The Harrison Act has the form of a revenue law. It requires that all persons who engage in producing, manufacturing, dealing in, selling, distributing or giving away any opium or coca leaves, or any salt or derivative, shall register with the collector of internal revenue and pay a special tax of $1 a year. There are a great many regulations in the law as to how the business shall be carried on by those who register.

Whoever is convicted of violating any of the provisions of the act is subject to a fine of not more than $2000 or imprisonment not exceeding five years, or both.

It has been nearly two months since the Maxie Crystal incident, the revenue officials say, and they have been working on the Li case ever since. The complaint was prepared by U. S. Attorney S. C. Huber and his assistant, Attorney Kemp, and mailed to the revenue office yesterday afternoon. The warrant was served on Li at his home in Kukui street shortly before 1 o'clock this afternoon by Deputy Marshal Otto Heine.

FORMER HONOLULANS ARE GIVEN DIVORCE

Because she testified that her husband had been sober only once in two years, Mrs. Josephine L. Mitchell of 2227 Sutter street, San Francisco, was granted a divorce from Dr. Hugh B. Mitchell, a former Honolulu dentist, in San Francisco last week. Mitchell lived here last about four years ago. He married the widow of "Billy" Cornell in Honolulu July, 1910.

GET IT FIRST—NOT LAST

When a cold grips your system it is convincing proof that your condition is weakened—remember that. It is risky indeed to simply trust your strength to throw it off, because neglected colds have brought more serious sickness than any other, one thing, while weakening cathartics and stimulating syrups are often depressing and dangerous.

The one best treatment for any cold—the one so often relied on when others fail, is the powerful blood-nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, which feeds the very sources of bodily strength to suppress the present cold and generate strength to thwart further sickness.

Get Scott's first, not last—and insist on the genuine—always free from alcohol and injurious drugs.

Evidence Against Chinese Doctor That U. S. Secured

Testimony of Iwilei Woman Used as Basis for Arrest of Li on Charge of Violation of Harrison Act

Simultaneously with the arrest early this afternoon of Dr. K. F. Li, the U. S. internal revenue officials made public the testimony of Maysie Crystal, involving the Chinese doctor.

The testimony is as follows:
A. Twenty pills.
Q. What size were they?
A. Two grains each, pure.
Q. What instructions did Dr. Li give you about taking these cocaine pills?
A. He said take them as I need it. I had no idea how strong they were.

Q. You mentioned or just stated that they were two grains each. Why do you now state that you did not know how strong they were?
A. Oh! That I found out after I nearly died.
Q. Were these the pills given you on Monday that nearly killed you?
A. No. I got more from Dr. Li at his office at Iwilei on Tuesday morning. Dr. Li didn't have any "coke" on Monday, so he gave me a shot in the arm, but later gave me "coke" as I just told you. I was in bad shape on Tuesday morning, so sent an auto to his office on Monday with a note for more medicine. This he refused, but on Tuesday morning gave me one bottle of "coke" pills, two grains of which I kept, taking one after another until I was nearly crazy.

Q. Why did you take so many of these "coke" pills?
A. Well, I kept taking more and more, but did not seem to satisfy me. That's the reason I took so many. I didn't keep track of how many I took. I kept getting worse and worse until I thought I was dying, when I left the house and started to find my friend who had an automobile. I met him near the main road and that's all I know.

Q. Who was this friend?
A. Mr. Rothberg.
A. Oh, I forgot; about 1 o'clock on Tuesday, when I was feeling so bad, I sent for Dr. Li. He didn't come. I waited an hour. During this wait I kept taking these pills. My Chinese cook told me afterwards that Dr. Li called about an hour and a half later and asked my cook: "Where's Mrs. Li?" He said that "Mrs. sick; Mrs. wait long time you." You no come, Mrs. go mother doctor." Dr. Li asked the cook where Mrs. medicine? "I don't know." The cook said that Dr. Li looked everywhere for the medicine. He found one bottle of the medicine in the bureau, which he took away. The cook said "Dr. Li too much scared." Dr. Li told the cook, "Medicine too strong, too much pilikia."

Q. Have you any of these bottles?
A. Yes.
Q. Are there any labels on them?
A. Oh, no. Dr. Li always scraped all writing off the bottles.

Q. How much did you pay Dr. Li for the medicine?
A. At first I gave him $15 every Monday morning. Later, he demanded $25, then $30, and on up until I fit the last couple of weeks he wouldn't give me medicine or anything unless I dug up $50 a week.

Q. This is an awful price. How can you afford to meet such demands?
A. It takes everything that I can earn. I couldn't pay my last week's rent and my friend helped me out.

Q. How much can you earn in your business?
No answer.
Q. Do you earn $150 a month or $200 a month?
A. I usually can make more than $150 a month and even over $200, unless it is bad weather.

Q. Then what happened?
A. The next time I saw him he had no more heroin, so gave me 60 grains of cocaine crystals. Said that would help me until he got some more heroin.

Q. Did you get more heroin or cocaine after this?
A. Sure. I got cocaine crystals right along—sometimes when I called he had no "coke" on hand, so would telephone to the drug store for some. I got also cocaine pills.

Q. Did Dr. Li send for it or did the drug store send it to his office?
A. Some times he sent for it and other times they sent it to him.

Q. You mentioned that you got cocaine pills once. When was that?
A. That was on the day before I was taken sick and nearly died, last Monday (May 15, 1916).

Q. How many did you get?
A. Twenty pills.

Q. What size were they?
A. Two grains each, pure.

Q. What instructions did Dr. Li give you about taking these cocaine pills?
A. He said take them as I need it. I had no idea how strong they were.

N. G. OFFICER CALLED TO WAR FROM VACATION

Major Cowl Arrives on Lurline and Departs on Matsonia For Mexican Border

He sailed into Honolulu and then sailed right out again. Such was the experience today of Maj. Donald Cowl of the New York National Guard and his wife, who were on their honeymoon to Honolulu on the Matson steamer Lurline but are now steaming rapidly back to San Francisco on the Matsonia to answer the call of war.

Two weeks ago Maj. Cowl, a wealthy New York business man, was married and started for Honolulu to spend his honeymoon. Everything was lovely until three days out of San Francisco when the God of War got busy and started trouble down on the Mexican border, and on the heels of that President Wilson called the state national guards to arms. Maj. Cowl was rudely awakened from his dreams by a wireless ordering him to join his regiment on the border.

What Maj. Cowl said when he received the message has been strictly censored by the war office, but orders are orders and he was forced to immediately get busy and arrange for transportation back to San Francisco. He wired to the Canadian-Australian office here and to the T. K. K. office but no boats were leaving for several days and then word came that the Matsonia would leave the same day that the Lurline arrived at Honolulu. Preparations were immediately made for the transfer and as the Lurline came steaming into the harbor this morning the major and his blushing bride were swung overboard into a waiting launch and rushed aboard the Matsonia as she slid from her berth at Pier 15. It was estimated by Purser P. H. Levey that Cowl spent over $100 in arranging for transportation.

This sudden stopping of the honeymoon and the fact that they would not be able to set foot on the island of Oahu greatly amused but aroused the sympathies of the other passengers on the Lurline and as Maj. Cowl and his wife left the Lurline to catch the Matsonia they were showered with rice and confetti.

It is hoped that Maj. Cowl will receive many medals for bravery on the border in compensation for the broken honeymoon.

NAME COMMITTEE ON CELEBRATION 'KALAKAUA DAY'

Organization is Perfected and Will Arrange Details For Observance of Anniversary

Kalaka'ua Day, November 16, is to be celebrated.

A conference of friends of the "merry monarch" and representatives of the Promotion Committee and Chamber of Commerce in the mayor's office this morning resolved itself into the "Kalaka'ua Day Celebration Committee" and elected Mayor Lane chairman.

An executive committee of five, to be appointed by the mayor, is to work out a plan for the celebration of the day and report back to the general committee at its next meeting, on a date as yet undetermined.

Varying ideas were expressed by the nine men, besides the mayor, present, but all were united in the belief that the day, as the birthday of the man who set the sugar industry on its feet and thus brought a flood of money into the country such as it had never known before, should be celebrated. The following resolutions were adopted:

"Whereas, November 16, generally known as 'Kalaka'ua Day,' has been observed in the past throughout the territory and particularly in the city and county of Honolulu, with aquatic sports; and

"Whereas, the late King Kalaka'ua during his reign secured the Reciprocity Treaty from the United States of America, thereby safeguarding and guaranteeing to the sugar industry, our main industry, a prosperity which it has enjoyed to the present day;

"Now, Therefore, Be it Resolved by this conference that the 16th day of November, 'Kalaka'ua Day,' should be observed as a mark of respect to the memory of the late King Kalaka'ua;

"And be it Further Resolved, That those who are here today hereby are constituted a general committee to be known as the 'Kalaka'ua Day Celebration Committee,' with powers to add to its membership and to carry into effect the purpose and object of this gathering."

Those present were: Mayor Lane, A. G. M. Robertson, C. B. Wilson, Col. C. P. Lauke, Capt. R. W. Parker, Raymond C. Brown, A. P. Taylor, Daniel Logan, James W. Robertson and Henry E. Bertelmann.

ISHIHARA TAKES 'PICTURE-BRIDE' WHO WAS STOLEN

Kauai Japanese Gets Girl Who Had a Temporary Husband

Shoden Ishihara, whose "picture bride" was stolen from the U. S. immigration station last Saturday, took her back yesterday and the bogus husband who substituted himself at a psychological moment—for him—apparently is going to get scot-free.

The outraged husband was not outraged enough in feeling to call his countryman, Toyama, out for a duel, and so far the immigration officials have made no known move to arrest Toyama for the ruse by which he stole the pretty 19-year-old Ushi from the U. S. station.

Inspector Halsey would not say this morning whether Toyama would be arrested.

Toyama, who was the husband of Ushi for about two days and a half, is back at his plantation work at Heela, according to information from Japanese sources today. Ishihara and his wife were today at the Komeya Hotel this morning, friends said.

Ishihara told a Star-Bulletin reporter today that he has taken back his wife and they will live happily hereafter. He says he will take her to his home on Kauai. Though apparently angry at Toyama, his wrath does not appear to be sufficient either to reject his wife or take steps to punish the man who stole her before the American ceremony was performed.

U. S. Officials Retient.
When asked for a statement at noon today, Richard L. Halsey, U. S. inspector in charge of the federal immigration station, said he is not in a position to say anything about the case.

Halsey refused to say whether his office has sworn out a warrant against Toyama for falsifying the marriage records. "The matter is still under investigation," was all he would say for publication.

According to federal authorities, the U. S. immigration station here has positive evidence that the girl in the case, Ushi Ishihara, wrote to Toyama after she landed here, and that both knew each other very well. Ishihara says Toyama is a relative of the girl.

From an authoritative source it was learned today that instead of abducting the girl, Toyama married her because Ishihara had written her not to come to Honolulu, as he did not want her to become his wife, having changed his mind.

The girl, according to this version, after she received the letter from the intended husband, telling her not to come to Honolulu, wrote to Toyama from her home in Japan and told him how matters were and that she did not want to marry Ishihara, either.

Toyama is said to have replied in a letter advising the girl to come to Honolulu anyway and marry him if she did not like the idea of marrying her intended husband according to schedule.

The girl came to this city, after which Toyama showed up at the immigration station, claiming to be Ishihara or Ishihara. Had he given his rightful name and explained to the immigration authorities how matters stood, there would have been no trouble and they could have been married without breaking any immigration laws, it is said.

COLLINS FIGURES COSTS OF MUNICIPAL GARAGE

A municipal garage would save the city about $400 a year and the cost of a building and equipment would run to about $5500, according to figures compiled by George M. Collins, the city engineer.

Last year maintenance and repairs of the city's 35 machines cost about $17,000. This figure can be reduced to $13,000 or $14,000 at the most, according to Collins' calculations. He put in nearly a week of work on the figures and has handed them over to Charles N. Arnold, chairman of the road committee. Arnold will probably present them to the board shortly.

ADVISE TRUST COMPANY BONDS WILL BE ISSUED

A letter advising the Lumberman's Trust Company of Portland, Ore., of the authorization of the issue of the $146,000 Manoa bond issue went out on the Matsonia this morning. The trust company has been inquiring about the bonds since they were first contemplated. O. G. Ritchie, brother of the coast contractor who is to do the Manoa work, declares that they make a specialty of improvement bonds and often bid large premiums for them.

'PROSPERITY' IS AD CLUB TOPIC; SPEAKERS GOOD

A. W. T. Bottomley Declares Islands Will Develop More Resources

"Prosperity" was the topic of discussion at the Ad Club luncheon today at the Alexander Young Hotel. Three speakers handled the subject in three different ways. A. W. T. Bottomley, Albert F. Taylor and James Nott, Jr., talked prosperity and what to do with it.

"Hold on to your dividends until you are sure that you are not going to lose them," said A. W. T. Bottomley, the first speaker. He stated that all should be prepared for a rainy day, and cited as an instance the economy that was in force during 1913 and 1914, when it looked as if everything was going to rack and ruin. It was at this time that economies were worked out that have been a lasting benefit.

"Both investors with large amounts and those with a small capital should be prepared. Be ready when the time comes for an investment. Develop the island by our own resources! I foresee the time when the railroads will open up a valuable country that has never been touched in the islands. The time is coming when the people of Hawaii will own their own steamship lines. To the man with something to invest it is wise to be ready for the opportunities that will be presented in the future," he concluded.

"Prosperity follows in the footsteps of the tourist, and the tourist follows in the footsteps of prosperity," said A. F. Taylor in his talk on promotion. "Tourists never go to a dead town. Tourists go to the towns which advertise, and they go because of the advertisements."

"Every business in Hawaii benefits from the tourist business. The musicians, hotels, bakers, butchers, automobile men, in fact, there is not a business that is not receiving the benefits of the tourist every day. There is the sugar crop, the pineapple crop and the tourist crop. This is one of the big industries of the islands, and this crop brings thousands of dollars to Hawaii every year. There are instances of a single tourist who spent more than $10,000 in Honolulu on one visit."

James Nott, Jr., pointed out that inasmuch as there is so much prosperity and more money the laborers and mechanics should receive more money, owing to the higher cost of living. He said that although there is increased prosperity on the islands, the wages of the laborers, except on plantations, have not been increased.

Richard Quinn of the U. S. engineer's office stated that the work of investigation on the currents and swells on the harbor at the Kuhio wharf is going along, and that a report would be ready perhaps in the next 30 days. Albion Clark spoke on the road question. Fred Bates played two violin solos, accompanied by George Schrader on the piano. All these features were much appreciated.

MACADAM FOR ROAD TO ROUND TOP, NEXT MOVE

That the macadamizing of Round Top road, the territorial highway leading to Tantalus from this city, will be completed in three months, provided no more heavy rains occur, is stated by Charles R. Forbes, superintendent of public works.

"We have 40 men working on the job now," said Forbes, "and the only thing delaying the work is the rain. We can't roll the road when it rains. With good weather the macadamizing should be down in the next 90 days."

Forbes said the valuation of the Honolulu Gas Company's plant will not be completed before his return from his vacation.

The public utilities commission, of which he is chairman, made an inspection of the company's plant late Monday.

"After we make the valuation it will be submitted with a final hearing to the commission," he stated, "and before we write our findings."

FORBES RENAMED UTILITIES HEAD BY GOV. PINKHAM

Only a few hours before the chairman left on his vacation, Governor Lucius E. Pinkham this morning re-appointed Charles R. Forbes as commissioner and chairman of the public utilities commission for a term of three years.

Forbes' term would have expired Friday, June 30, two days from today. The term of one commissioner expires each year. Next June A. J. Gignoux's term will end.

In April of last year Forbes took office as a public utilities commissioner to serve out the unexpired term of E. A. Mott-Smith, who resigned from the position.

CONSUL-GENERAL MOROI STARTS INVESTIGATIONS

Consul-General R. Moroi has ordered a special investigation made on the details of the railroad accident in Maui in which two Japanese were killed. Mr. Moroi has delegated K. Kiyohoro, special agent at Hana, to report the case to the consulate.

There have been a number of deaths and injuries on Maui in the past year, and although the compensation act was in effect, the laborers or their families were not paid one cent, according to a local Japanese. Consul Moroi will send a delegate to Maui in case the information of the special agent is not satisfactory.

Announcement was made by the Kansas Free Employment Bureau that the wheat harvest will need 15,000 men and 1,700 teams from outside the State.

KOREAN IS ARRESTED, SOME LIQUOR DESTROYED

O. Goo Kyung, a Korean, was arrested yesterday afternoon at Camp No. 5, Kahuku, by Liquor Inspector W. P. Fennell and brought before Judge Monsarrat this morning on a charge of selling liquor (swipes) without a license. He will be tried in police court tomorrow.

Fennell went to Kahuku yesterday by auto in company with Detectives Woo and Ben Jacobson and made the raid there with assistance of Deputy Sheriff Luahwa and Policeman Logan of that place. Fennell reports that they bought three bottles of "swipes" from Kyung and his wife and then discovered a tub containing about five gallons which they poured into the road.

TIME LIMIT ALMOST UP FOR REVENUE TAX

Only two days more are left in which to pay corporation and individual income taxes, emergency and liquor taxes, at the office of Collector of Internal Revenue J. L. Haley.

Physicians are also required to register under the narcotic act, and only have the same time limit left on which to comply with the law. They have been slow about registering.
