

FUJIMOTO CASE CONTINUED FOR PROSECUTION

Alleged Slayer of Waikiki Chauffeur in Court; Hearing Goes Over to Monday

M. Fujimoto, charged with the murder of H. Emoto at the J. B. Castle premises at Waikiki a week ago Thursday, was called in police court this morning and another continuance granted upon request of the prosecution. The case is now set for a hearing Monday.

Attorneys Lorain Andrews and William J. Sheldon, appearing for the defendant, consented to the postponement when they had been assured by Judge Monsarrat and Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth that the hearing would certainly be Monday and that the case would not be presented to the grand jury before that time.

SECOND EDITION OF HIS BOOK PREPARED BY DR. SCHURMANN

Dr. F. Schurmann is issuing a second edition of his book "The War as Seen Thru German Eyes," which will soon be off the press of the Star-Bulletin. This edition is larger, more complete and if possible more forceful than the former. It contains illustrations which the first edition did not and it will be found interesting by neutral, pro-German and pro-Ally readers. The contents of the first edition have been fully revised and there have been more than sufficient new developments to warrant the further additions which he has made.

One Knitted Brow Unraveled!
Dear Submarine Man:
Will you kindly state in the next Star-Bulletin whether one who has hitherto sent in sentences formed of submarine words may, without being ruled out, use cruiser words this week? In other words, is it within the rules to alternate, using one kind for one week's paragraph and the other for the next—and so on?
Thanking you, I am
Yours excitedly,
August 17.
"HEADACHE."
You may use either cruisers or submarines so long as you send in but one set of answers each week and have that set in our office by the Monday night following its appearance in the Star-Bulletin.
—THE AD MAN.

IT'S THE UNIFORM CAUSES GIRLS TO KISS SOLDIERS

Cambridge, Mass.—Dr. Max Bergen of Clarke college, Worcester, has discovered why girls kiss soldiers. He says: "It is the uniform the girls admire and not the soldiers. This wholesale kissing is not premeditated. Girls do not go out to see the soldiers with this idea in mind, but once they gaze upon the good looking, strong young Americans they are moved by an uncontrollable impulse."

Fireworks Maker Appears to Prosecutor to Have Received Nearly Enough Punishment

The case of D. Shimonishi, the Japanese whose firecracker factory near the insane asylum blew up August 5 with such disastrous results, was called in police court this morning and presented a problem of sympathy and law. His case was continued until Saturday.

In speaking of the case Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth says it is one of the few where the proper course is uncertain.

"The man was ruined by the explosion," says Chillingworth. "His house and factory was blown to pieces, his aged wife injured and his neighbors are suing him for damages done to their windows, and so forth. He really has been punished enough.

"On the other hand we cannot properly discharge him or give a suspended sentence on account of the precedent it would set. The old fellow had the powder there for a dozen years and apparently the authorities knew nothing of it. Such practices, clearly against the law, should be discouraged."

"I think I will ask Judge Monsarrat to assess a nominal fine," he concluded.
