

SOCIETY

RECEPTION FOR MRS. J. A. SCOTT
 LIHUE, Aug. 22.—One of the largest midsummer social functions was the reception last Wednesday by Mrs. Richard Lyons Hughes of Elelele, in honor of her mother, Mrs. J. A. Scott of Hilo.

The two ladies received the guests in the coconut grove fronting the house, where rugs, comfortable chairs and tables with bowls of flowers made a delightful spot.

Inside the house, in living room and dining room, small tables for serving refreshments were set about. Here flowers were used in profusion—white phlox, fragrant white carnations and cream-colored snapdragons being noticed, while African daisies and pink roses lent a bit of contrasting color.

Mrs. Harold S. Truscott poured the tea and coffee, and her table was decorated with a tall silver vase of beautiful roses. Mrs. Allen Creevey also assisted at refreshment time.

MRS. F. A. LYMAN'S BRIDGE PARTY
 LIHUE, Aug. 22.—Mrs. F. A. Lyman of Waimea entertained on the 18th with a most pleasant bridge afternoon, complimenting Mrs. J. A. Scott. At the close of the games Mrs. Guy Rankin held highest score and was presented with a crystal and silver vase. The consolation prize was a silver pepper shaker which went to Mrs. Truscott.

For the ladies who did not care for bridge there was a guessing contest, for which Mrs. Black won a silver tray as first honor and Miss Strayne a brush for consolation.

The Hawaiian orchestra played during the afternoon and was enjoyed by Mrs. Lyman's guests, who were: Mrs. Scott, Mrs. Hughes, Mrs. Donnel, Mrs. Black, Mrs. Dunn, Miss Lindsay, Mrs. F. A. Alexander, Mrs. G. S. Thiele, general manager of the Alexander Young, Moana and Royal Hawaiian hotels of Honolulu, and party of friends, including Noel Sullivan and E. W. Stevens of San Francisco; Mr. Charles Adams of Pasadena and Col. McNamara of Chicago. They attended the tea and dance given by Madame Paderewski for the Polish relief fund on Saturday at the Paso Robles Hotel, and returned to San Francisco by motor on Monday."

MISS SIBYL ROBERTSON A TEA HOSTESS
 Mrs. Douglas Baldwin of Kaula is the motif for a very charming tea that is being given by Miss Robertson at the Robertson home on Alexander street. Mrs. Baldwin as Ruth Johnson was a great social favorite in the younger set. As a girl at Punahou she was very pretty, as a young matron she is even prettier.

TO WED NAVY MAN
 The engagement of Miss Doris Devereux and Lieut. Commander Stanley Parker of the coast guard service was announced Thursday in Vallejo at a card party given by Mr. and Mrs. Evans Ames (Vida Smith), who were married about two months ago. Miss Devereux is but 19 and was graduated from the Vallejo High school in 1915. The card party was attended by a number of the classmates of both Miss Devereux and Mrs. Ames. The announcement was a real surprise to the guests, who did not suspect that a romance had been growing under their very eyes.

The young couple will be married next Sunday at the home of the bride and will leave at once for Mobile, Alabama, where Lieut. Parker is expected to be assigned for duty.

Miss Devereux' father is a well-known architect and she is also well known in San Francisco society.—San Francisco Examiner.

VANDERBILTS ON COAST
 Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., accompanied by her children, Misses Muriel and Consuelo and William K. Vanderbilt III, arrived yesterday for an hour's stay in San Francisco before leaving for Del Monte. She will enjoy a visit of six or eight weeks at that place, and will return to San Francisco before going to her home in New York.

It was a matter of keen disappointment to Mrs. Vanderbilt's many friends that her stay in San Francisco did not permit them the opportunity of seeing her. She arrived in her private car, which was attached to the Overland Limited, and leaving it at Oakland, came over to the Fairmont, returning almost immediately to Oakland and leaving in the afternoon for Monterey.—San Francisco Chronicle.

THE FRANCIS GAY POI SUPPER AND DANCE

Of Mr. James A. Gibb and his bride, who arrived last week and are being warmly welcomed by their friends, the San Francisco Examiner says:

Mrs. J. W. Swofford was matron of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Edith Gibb and Miss Lauretta Boyd. The groom was attended by Mr. B. T. Sinclair, the bride's brother.

"After a short stay at Del Monte the couple left for their future home in the Hawaiian Islands, where Mr. Gibb is interested in a sugar plantation."

"The bride attended Miss Head's school at Berkeley and the Dominican College at San Rafael. She is well-known in east bay circles."

"Mr. Gibb is a Stanford graduate and a member of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity. He is now connected with a large sugar plantation in the Hawaiian Islands."

Mr. and Mrs. William Danford (Jean Harwood), who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Godley (Mamie McMullin) at Vallejo, will spend a week or so in San Francisco before their return to their home in Honolulu.

As Miss Jean Harwood, Mrs. Danford was a belle of about ten years ago in San Francisco, and she has many friends here who will want to entertain for her and rekindle the light of other days.
