

WILL ORGANIZE RIGHT AWAY FOR G. O. P. CAMPAIGN

Central Committee Holds First Meeting Tonight; Results of Primary Please

Determined to lose no time between now and the general election of November 7, the members of the Republican territorial central committee will meet in the Campbell building at 7:30 o'clock this evening to lay plans for conducting the final G. O. P. campaign.

Harry E. Murray, vice-chairman, will preside with Eli J. Crawford as secretary. Tonight's meeting will be for organization only. On Wednesday evening another meeting probably will be held, this time with the candidates, the purpose of the gathering being to decide whether the committee or the candidates shall select the campaign manager.

To Wage Vigorous Campaign The coming campaign will be a vigorous one and the candidates do not intend to lose any time between now and November 7, says Murray. "We have no doubt that, in the general election, all of the Republican nominees will be elected."

A report went the rounds in political circles today that an attempt will be made to "knife" Correa, one of the Republican senatorial nominees, for Ambrose Wirtz, nominee for senator on the Bourbon ticket.

"There is absolutely nothing to this report," says Murray. "The Republican ticket will go through without a doubt." Regarding the primary election, Murray says he would have liked to have seen more persons vote. "This," he adds, "shows that the primary law is not working as it should. The Republican tickets are all strong. We could not get a stronger one than that in the fourth, and the one in the fifth is also good."

See Increasing Majority R. W. Breckons, national committee man, says, regarding the primary election: "A study of the returns shows that, while the vote was slight the Republicans have a bigger majority than ever. Kuhl is now campaigning on the Kona side of the Big Island, but will be back in Honolulu on Saturday to take an active part in the coming campaign under the direction of the territorial central committee."

SAYS SOLDIERS SOLD BOOZE FROM ROOM WHICH THEY RENTED Two soldiers who were doing a rushing business in liquors during the closed-saloon period on election day were fined $100 each in police court this morning when they pleaded guilty to a charge of selling liquor without a license. They were R. M. Hamilton and C. W. Collins of Fort Shafter.

According to Liquor Inspector W. P. Fennell, who made the arrest, the two men bought beer at the rate of 12 cents straight, thus cleaning up a tidy sum. Whisky they bought for $1 a bottle and sold about 20 drinks out of each bottle for 25 cents each, making another haul.

The men had rented a room in a local lodging house which Fennell believes was in no way responsible for the action of the soldiers. Their big business came after the saloons closed.

Charged with assault, Baxter W. Roscoe, through his attorney, today entered a plea of not guilty in Circuit Judge Ashford's court. The case was placed on the calendar to be set for trial.

GOVERNOR LOOKS INTO SCHEME OF BIG KAUAI PARK

Has Interviewed Residents of Kauai and Finds Them Enthusiastic

Governor Pinkham is taking up for consideration the plan proposed to him by George K. Larrison for converting a large portion of the upper Waimea lands, Kauai, into a territorial park. Details of Larrison's plan were printed in the Star-Bulletin some weeks ago.

In brief they propose the setting aside of land at an elevation of some 4000 feet on the Kauai highlands and turning it into a territorial or even national resort for tourists and island people as a campsite.

The governor said today that he is much interested in the scheme which Larrison proposed to him as a citizen and not through any office of the territory. He intends, however, to take time to look into the matter before giving it sanction or rejection.

"I have talked with several Kauai people on the scheme," said the governor today, "and they are all enthusiastic over it. They say it would be a great place for recuperation or for camping in general."

Residents of Kailua beach, through W. D. Adams of the Kawaiioale Improvement Club, have sent a letter to the supervisors asking them to stop the manager of the Kaneohe Ranch Company from plowing up and planting alfalfa on Kailua road, which runs through the ranch to the beach and which would permanently bar access to their property.

Whether the Kailua road belongs to the county or is the private property of the ranch has been a bone of contention for several years. In July, 1912, the ranch management placed a locked gate across the road, but this was torn down by Mayor Fern. A year and a half later another gate was erected, but, according to the letter, nothing was done about it although complaints were made at the time.

At the present time, the letter says, there are three gates across the road.

POLICE ADMIT DISORDER NOT ALL IN IWILEI

Arrest of 13 Women Outside of District Shows That Evil is Not Restricted

By rounding up 13 women who were mostly sentenced in police court to 15 days in the county jail, the police early this morning started a campaign to rid downtown lodging houses of disorderly women.

Chief McDuffie and Prosecutor Chillingworth declare this is only the beginning of a determined effort to restrict vice to the district which exists with the sanction of the police.

Not only are disorderly women to be sought out, punished and forbidden the business streets, but owners of blocks or the proprietors of places where these women are living are to be prosecuted also, according to the police.

Complaints Already Drawn Complaints have already been drawn against one or two lodging house keepers on this charge and arrests may be made today.

The increased activity of the police in this particular field came as the result of a letter which Sheriff Ross received from City and County Attorney A. M. Brown asking about conditions of rooming-houses. The sheriff is finding out.

Early this morning McDuffie, with his detective crew, made the rounds of several places and the 13 women were arrested.

Places visited from which women were taken, according to police report, included the Eagle, Fort street; the Oahu, Fort street; Miyake, Kukuji lane; the Tropic, Nuuanu avenue, and Sakai's place, School street. In the latter place was Mazie Crystal, a notorious Iwilei inmate who is now on trial for robbery.

As the individual cases were called in police court this morning tales of non-support and desertion were told. Occasionally tears flowed, but generally the women took their fates stoically enough. Details and dispositions follow.

BURGLARIES AND ROBBERIES ARE TOLD TO POLICE

Offenses Become So Frequent as to Almost Warrant Use of Word Epidemic

Robbery, burglary and theft are running riot in Honolulu these days, if the large number of cases which have been reported to the police recently is any indication. Only one arrest has been made.

The offenses include house-sacking, safe-tampering, purse-snatching and store-looting. Chief McDuffie, who has all the cases under investigation, believes each is the work of an individual and not the concerted efforts of an organized gang.

The following have been reported to the police: Lionel R. A. Hart's office in the Campbell block entered and $220 in gold coin taken from a cupboard some time Saturday night.

Purse snatched Friday night on Beretania street, near Iolani school, from Mrs. J. W. Manning, loss about $50; victim's hand cut while attempting to fight off her assailant.

Purse snatched Tuesday night from Mrs. E. R. Smith on Victoria street; loss small. A heavy iron pipe was found near the scene of the hold-up, thought to have been carried by the highwayman as a weapon. A Filipino, Igorito Storg, was arrested on the waterfront by McDuffie and identified by Mrs. Smith. He was arraigned this morning and the case continued until Tuesday.

Does Honolulu Want Camels in Kapiolani Zoo?

Supervisor Ben Hollinger, whose effort gave Honolulu an elephant at the Kapiolani Park zoo, has received a cablegram from Ellis Joseph, the "animal man," offering Honolulu two female camels of the double-humped variety, two years old and declared fine specimens, for $1500—$750 each—landed in Honolulu. He asks for immediate reply.

Hollinger said this afternoon: "I believe in giving the people of Honolulu a zoo but some of the residents have kicked so much about the elephant, though it didn't cost the city anything, that I now want to know what the public would like done about the camel. I ask the citizens and taxpayers to express their opinions to me personally and to the newspapers, either by telephone message or letter. Does Honolulu want the camels or not? I have a possibility in mind of getting the Shriners to take one if the city will take the other. I will get Joseph to hold this offer open for three days and meanwhile I hope to hear from the public."

So now, public, it's up to you! Let Hollinger know.

Through testimony of Gilbert J. Waller, secretary of the Hawaii Meat Company, to the effect that the Inter-Island Steamship Company had attempted to get larger individual shipments of cattle from Hawaii, especially from the Parker ranch, a new feature was introduced into the public utilities hearing this afternoon.

Attorney Warren of the Inter-Island Company put the question, asking if it was not true that the steamship firm had tried to get larger shipments so as to allow the markets here a sort of reserve from which they may draw in emergency. Waller answered in the affirmative, and stated that his company had taken the matter up with Manager Carter of Parker ranch, but that Carter had refused to ship more cattle at one time because he considered 75 head all that could be carried properly. Waller added that he had known of the Hamakua's carrying 150 small cattle, but he did not think she could carry more than 90 steers of Parker ranch size. Eben will take the stand tomorrow afternoon as a witness of the Inter-Island Company.

28 DANCES FOR $2 HER FEE AT LILIIHA RESORT

Russian Girl Tells Probation Officer How She Earns Money Each Night

Asserting that she receives $2 for 28 dances with the habitues of the place, a young Russian girl, about 14 years old, last Saturday night told Miss Agnes E. Maynard, girls' probation officer, something of the life in one of the two Filipino dance halls in Liliha street.

Miss Maynard, who made a partial investigation of one of the halls which, she says, is conducted by Filipinos, engaged the young Russian girl in conversation and asked her if she would not like to go to a better dance. Miss Maynard had in mind one of the classes in dancing at the Y. W. C. A.

It was then that the girl said she had only to dance 28 times to earn $2. At this point in the conversation several Filipinos, evidently in charge of the hall, interrupted and told Miss Maynard that the Russian girl was the wife of a Filipino. But the girl denied the assertion.

Miss Maynard learned that dance tickets sell at the rate of three for 50 cents and that young girls are employed as partners for the men, being paid so much for each dance. The Russian girl said, when she informed the proprietors of the hall recently that she could not dance until midnight, as she had to go to work the next day, they tried to persuade her to give up her work and earn her living in the hall.

"I'd like to know," says Miss Maynard, "what the sentiment of the community is with regard to a place like this."

The probation officer says she intends to make further investigations.

EVANS TO VISIT PHILIPPINES ON HIS RETIREMENT

Commanding General and Wife Plan Trip to Japan and China as Well

Brig-Gen. Robert K. Evans, commanding the Hawaiian Department, together with Mrs. Evans will sail on the November transport for a visit to the Philippines and the Orient, including China and Japan. This was stated today at Army headquarters.

Gen. Evans, who came here some few months ago succeeding Gen. John P. Wisser, will retire for age on November 19, this year. According to his son, Capt. Hornsby Evans, he will probably not apply for leave of absence before the date of his retirement as is often the custom with retiring officers.

The present commander saw duty in the Philippines from 1899 to 1901, having an active part in the fighting in the northern Luzon district. His visit will take him over some of the ground he saw in those years. The November transport will probably leave here about the 13th of the month. As yet no successor is named for Gen. Evans from the War Department at Washington.

EVANS WILLING TO AID IN RECLAIMING SWAMPS

Aid to the plan of Superintendent Charles R. Forbes of the public works department for enlisting the army in the reclamation of the Waikiki swamps makai of Kalaheo avenue is given in a proposal from Gen. R. K. Evans to detail Col. Rudolph G. Ebert, medical department, to work with the territory in sanitation inspection of the district.

Forbes had a talk with the general today following the latter's return from Kauai and found him enthusiastic to help in the reclamation scheme.

Subject of lesson for Sunday, October 15, 1916: "Doctrine of Atonement." The first papers at the armory. These Filipinos are all members of the guard.
