BROOKLYN, N. Y., Oct. 11.—Boston hammered two Brooklyn pitchers out of the box this afternoon in the fourth game of the world series, and the Red Sox captured their third game by a score of 6 to 2. Boston had the "breaks," luck and punch at the finish, while Brooklyn pitchers were in hot water at all times.

If you take a glance at the hit column in the box score you will see that Boston out-hit Brooklyn 2 to 1, and this will cause the average fan to believe that Boston had by far the better pitching. The Sox out-hit Brooklyn, but they didn't, and they outpitched Brooklyn, but they didn't! No game has ever been played in a world's series where the breaks of the game went against a team more than against the Dodgers today.

Every time a Boston batter hit the ball to the outfield with the exception of one occasion the ball hit safe. No world series in the history of the game has ever presented a contest where one team secured the breaks such as the Red Sox did today. It was hitting in the pinches that won, coupled with "the breaks" of the game.

In today's game the Brooklyn outfield had one lone out pitch, while Brooklyn batters hit eleven balls to the outfield which were captured by the Red Sox. Gardner, who guarded the outer garden, Brooklyn pitchers outpitched "Dutch" Leonard, who was on the mound for Boston today, on a number of occasions. But they did not do it in the right place. Eleven Boston batters were sent to the bench via the strikeout route, while only three Brooklyn batsmen fanned.

When Boston needed a run this afternoon it was forthcoming, and Larry Gardner, who had hit a home run yesterday, spoiled the hopes of the fans of Flatbush when he hit one of Marquard's shoots over the center-field fence with two men on bases. Home-run hitters have been the downfall of Marquard in a world's series game. J. Franklin Baker of New York, formerly of Philadelphia, now has a rival in Larry Gardner, the Vermont slugger.

Brooklyn fans had been wondering why "Dutch" Leonard, who proved to be a star last year, was held back, and when Johnston, the first man up, hit for a triple, the stands rocked with the cheering. Then Myers singled and scored Johnston, and the fans were on their toes. Merkle walked and there was uneasiness on the Boston bench, but Carrigan was back of the plate and made no sign, and when Janvrin fumbled Cutshaw's grounder and Myers scored, Carrigan only kept up a running fire of encouraging comment to Leonard. He told the California boy how to pitch to Mowrey. Leonard did it and after that inning the southpaw pitcher was never in trouble.

Robinson selected guard to come back for a victory and in the first inning it appeared as if Richard Le Marquand would deliver the ball out, and then fanned Janvrin and the fans gave him a big cheer as he came to the bench.

Leonard steadied himself in the second inning, but the two-run lead proved big for Brooklyn. Marquard could not get the ball over for Hoblitzel in the second inning and the first sacker fumbled. Then "Duffy" Lewis started the Boston fans to cheering when he hit a hard double to center and Hobby went to third. Then Larry Gardner, the home-run hitter, came to bat, and the Boston rooters yelled "Get 'a homer!" They always do this to a batter after he has hit one homer and this was expected. Brooklyn fans were confident that the Vermont boy could not repeat, but a

ARNOLD DENIES ANY DELAYS ON KALAKAUA AVE.

Chairman of Roads Committee Tells Supervisors Impossible to Hasten Under Law

CONTRACT TENTATIVE TILL AFTER HEARING

Conferences Have Been Held and Will Continue With Hope of Early Settlement

Supervisor Arnold, chairman of the committee on roads, at last night's meeting of the board of supervisors, replied to an editorial in the morning paper of that day, which asserted that the board had been postponing action on the Kalakaua avenue improvement from one meeting to another. He stated that the board had been proceeding with the matter as fast as the law allowed. The assessment hearing now being advertised, Arnold went on to say, was set for Tuesday, October 17, or one week from yesterday. With reference to the morning paper's demand that the supervisors order the contractor to proceed at once with the work, paving the makai side of the avenue, while the Rapid Transit Company is waiting for new rails to lay in the middle section, he quoted the law to show that the contract can not be made until 30 days after the assessment "shall have been finally made," the matter of a contract within that period being only tentative, so that the contractor can not be forced to do anything until that time has elapsed.

Regarding the new phase of the matter introduced by the letter of the contractor, Pacific Construction Company, and the reply of Manager Ballew next day—the letter having been read at last previous meeting of the board—Arnold said that the road committee had been in almost daily consultation ever since with the attorney and engineer's departments, and the contractor and the Rapid Transit Company, to find a solution of the difficulty which should serve the public interests in the best manner possible. There would be meetings of the committee on Thursday and Friday of this week, at which the discussion would be continued, with some hope of having some recommendations to report at the next meeting of the board.

As to temporary repairs of the avenue, to make it passable for traffic until the permanent work was done, Arnold stated that before the Advertiser had reached all of its town subscribers on Tuesday morning a road gang had begun work in repairing the thoroughfare.

HUGHES VICTORY IS FORECAST BY MAINLAND DRIFT

Sentiment Swinging Toward Republican Candidate, Frank C. Atherton Comments

ADAMSON EIGHT-HOUR LAW IS PROVING BOOMERANG

Heard Hughes Speak in Seattle and Was Impressed With His Sincerity and Forcefulness

Victory for Charles E. Hughes in November is foreseen by Frank C. Atherton, who, with Mrs. Atherton and their children, returned on the Matsonia today from an extended stay on the Pacific coast. Most of the summer and early fall Mr. Atherton spent in the Northwest, particularly Seattle, where he heard Mr. Hughes deliver an able, forceful address and one which, he thinks, should impress the presidential candidate upon thinking men. The local impression that the president is losing support because of the Adamson eight-hour bill for railroad employes is confirmed by Mr. Atherton, who says the bill is proving a boomerang for the administration. Speaking of political conditions and prospects on the mainland, as viewed on the West Coast, he said this morning: "It looks to me from what I have learned during my recent trip to the states and from conversation with many people in all walks of life as though Hughes was gaining in strength daily and had a splendid chance of being our next president. I believe the election will be a close one, but I also believe that Hughes will win by a fair majority. "People both East and West concede that the Eastern states will go decidedly Republican, but that the close contest will be in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and a few of the more western states. "I learned that betting in New York is three to one in favor of Hughes, which will give some indication of the way the wind is blowing. A prominent New Yorker told me in San Francisco that just before he left the East he was at a dinner party where 21 men were present.

"Naturally the talk drifted on to politics and one man asked how many voted for Wilson in 1912. Twenty of the 21 raised their hands. Then he asked how many planned to vote for him this year, and just one raised his hand and he was a Democratic congressman. The belief is expressed by many that the Adamson eight-hour

ROME, Italy, Oct. 11.—After two months of comparative quiet, Italy suddenly took the offensive in a smash toward Trieste today, continuing the march marked a few months ago by the fall of Gorizia.

Several Austrian lines were captured in the rush of today and more than 5000 prisoners taken. The Italians stormed and conquered strongly fortified heights between the Vipacco river and Hill 308. BUCHAREST, Rumania, Oct. 11.—South of Hermannstadt the Rumanians have repulsed the enemy with heavy losses, and have made progress east of the Jiu valley. Around Kronstadt and the Galician mountains the Rumanians are retiring.

BERLIN, Germany, Oct. 11.—Following the victories begun by Gen. von Falkenhayn in Transylvania and the smash of the von Mackensen troops in the Dobrudja section, the Austro-German forces west of the Rumanian border have taken the initiative and invaded Rumania. An Overseas News Agency despatch says that the invasion has been well launched. The Bavarian troops who captured the Rotenturm pass from the Rumanians after two days of hot fighting have pushed further south, crossed the border and are cutting their way inland.

The pursuit of the second Rumanian army, which was beaten at Kronstadt, continued. At this point the Teuton troops are well within the curve of the Transylvanian Alps which burrows into Rumania in a long crescent. In the Alt valley, where large forces are operating, the Rumanians have also been defeated.

House of Commons May Be Called to Debate Irish Conscript

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 11.—The House of Commons today is in session considering war problems, particularly those of finance. Premier Asquith introduced for vote a motion for a new credit of $300,000,000. It is expected that the question of government for Ireland will be brought up for debate. There is a suggestion that conscription will be extended to Ireland.

Great Battle Raging Now For Possession of Forts of Lemberg

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 11.—Despatches from Vienna say that Russian attacks in Galicia have been repulsed. The greatest interest centers in a great battle which meager reports indicate is raging for the possession of Lemberg. The Russians have steadily forced their way in on this fortress and indications are now that they are making a strong effort to surround and bombard the city. The Germans report that capture of the village of Herbutov, the southeast of Lemberg.

Germans in West Front Salient Cut Off

BERLIN, Germany, Oct. 11.—The Germans in the salient reaching toward the town of Vermandovillers, on the west front, have been cut off by the French. Here the French steadily cut their way on three sides of the German positions.

British Make Progress in Balkans

SALONIKI, Greece, Oct. 11.—The British have occupied Papalova and Prosenik, two important towns east of the Struma river. Two miles south of Seres the British mounted troops are slashing their way against the Bulgarians who are vainly attempting to check them. On the Doiran front an enemy post near Krastali has been successfully raided.

May Be Traces of Kingstonian Crew

NEWPORT, R. I., Oct. 11.—The Spanish steamer Antonio Lopez wireless in today that she has found five abandoned ships' boats in good condition, which suggests that these may possibly be traces of the crew of the British steamer Kingstonian, believed to be abandoned after having been torpedoed by a German submarine off Nantucket. The naval authorities, believing that further search is useless, have called in the destroyers which were combing the seas.

ASQUITH HINTS NO EARLY PEACE PATCHED UP
LONDON, England, Oct. 11.—In moving for a new vote of credit in the House of Commons today, Premier Asquith said: "This is no time for faltering counsel or wavering purpose. This war cannot be allowed to end in some patched, precarious, dishonoring compromise masquerading under the name of peace. No one desires to prolong the tragic spectacle but we owe it to those who died to so conduct affairs to prove that their supreme sacrifices have not been unavailing."

JAPANESE FREIGHTER OUTFRONS GERMAN SUBMARINE
How his steamer outran a German submarine in the Mediterranean which pursued it for 40 minutes firing 3-inch shells all the time and then sunk a nearby British steamer when it saw the Japanese cargo boat could not be captured, was told this afternoon by First Officer M. Araki of the Fukugawa Steamship Company's freighter, Eifuku Maru. In port today for bunkers en route to Tientsin, China, from Port Arthur with kerosene. The Eifuku sighted the submarine at 9 a. m. July 17, when 82 miles out of the port of Algiers, Africa, bound for Barry, England. The submarine was running on the surface. She gave chase, but could make only 10 miles an hour against the Eifuku's 14. Shells from the submarine dropped within 10 to 20 fathoms of the steamer in the first half mile. The submarine then gave up and stopping an English freighter in the same vicinity sent it to the bottom. It fled when it saw the smoke from an approaching English transport, thinking it a cruiser. Captain T. Itani is the Eifuku's master. Her second officer is N. Katsuragawa.

OUTDOOR CIRCLE PROTEST CAUSES CONCERT CHANGE

Because announcements of the benefit concert for war orphans were placed on billboards of the city, the Outdoor Circle notified Mrs. A. B. Ingalls, who arranged the concert, that its members would not patronize the performance next Saturday night. Mrs. Ingalls told this to the billposting company which handled the billboard advertising and the company at once agreed to cover the sheets which had offended the tastes of the Outdoor Circle members. When the Outdoor Circle was notified of this it withdrew its protest, and its members are now able to patronize the concert, the proceeds of which are to go to needy babies in the war zone.

UNION LEADERS AGAIN CALL OUT SOME OF GANGS

Employers Quickly Fill Places With Other Men; Deny Discrimination

Insisting that some union stevedores be employed, union leaders today called out working gangs after the waterfront strike had apparently all been settled and the new wage scale of the employers accepted by the union organization. Union men claim discrimination is being shown. Employers say that the affair is nothing more nor less than an effort on the part of the union to enforce what is expressly abandoned—the "closed shop" position—and that after having said that the closed shop issue would be waived, the labor leaders are trying to work it by protesting whenever a union man isn't hired. After a big meeting had been held last night in Aala Park, at which the strike leaders formally pronounced the strike at an end and told the men they were to go back to work this morning, trouble developed today when the Matsonia docked. Some union men employed on the Matsonia quit at 7:30 and again at 10:30 this morning. Hawaiian union stevedores walked out and this afternoon strike-breaking Filipinos and Japanese to the number of 180 are working the Matsonia at Pier 15. At 7:30 this morning, a quarter of an hour after the Matsonia docked, three gangs walked out because, they asserted, the stevedoring firm was hiring strike-breaking non-union Japanese in preference to the union Nipponese longshoremen. Their walkout left six gangs of union men at work, who refused to go out at that time. The three gangs quitting then were replaced by Japanese and Filipinos.

RETURNED ONES ARE WELCOMED AT AD CLUB LUNCH

Riggs, Levenson and Cannon Present at Meeting; Mill Engineers are Guests

Members of the Ad Club welcomed three returning clubmates, who arrived on the Matsonia this morning. They were J. Morton Riggs, J. D. Levenson and Frank Q. Cannon. In addition to welcoming the returning members the Engineers' Association was extended a cordial welcome at the meeting today at the Alexander Young hotel. J. Morton Riggs was called upon by President Wallace R. Farrington, and in a few words told of the road conditions on the mainland. He said that he had motored through California and Nevada and appreciated the value of good roads to the communities in these states. He told of the interest that is being taken in the establishment of permanent roads on the mainland. Riggs said that he knew of 25 people who were coming here this winter, but none of them will bring their cars on account of the reputation Hawaii has for poor roads. Cannon told of the gas convention, which was held at Santa Barbara and announced to the members that the gas people were very much interested in Hawaii, and that there is a possibility of a convention being staged in Honolulu at some future date. J. D. Levenson told of the many interesting sights he had seen on the mainland, and stated that he was pleased to return to Hawaii. Rev. Samuel Kamakais, who was a member of the Hawaiian Band before the arrival of Henry Berger, and who visited the volcano for the first time during the Ad Club's trip to Hilo, talked to the members. Short talks were given by Renton Hind, A. E. Eberling of Kaula, Hamilton McCubbin of Maui and W. G. Winterbottom of the Marconi Wireless Telegraph Company of America.
