Wanted

There's a big want in many families and it reads something like this:

Wanted—A drink to take the place of coffee. Must taste right and must not be harmful to either children or grown-ups.

It is interesting to know that while numerous cereal drinks have come and (most of them) gone, only one has stood the test of the years and forged ahead into world-wide popularity. That one is

POSTUM

This wonderful health beverage has a delicious, rich flavor, very similar to mild Java coffee, although it contains no coffee, caffeine or other harmful substance.

There are two forms of Postum. The original Postum Cereal, which must be boiled. Instant Postum—the soluble form—is made instantly in the cup with hot water; sugar and cream added to taste.

Thousands now use POSTUM instead of coffee—
