No Universal Holiday of Business, But Many Houses Are Closed; Grand Ball Tonight Ends Festivities

Quarter of a century after and for the first time since the death of King Kalakaua, his birthday anniversary is today being observed in Honolulu, today being observed in Honolulu with ceremonies and celebration in which the general public is taking part. That honor, esteem and love for the once merry monarch of Hawaii and for his memory survive and are being cherished in the hearts of those who knew him and were his subjects is being manifested. That the older folk have testified something of their own feelings in the minds and hearts of the younger generation is also apparent.

Kalakaua Day is not being observed as a general holiday but it is being appropriately observed none the less. Some of the courts are closed and some business houses did not open, city offices were closed at noon, some employes are absent from their desks. Appropriately it is a Hawaiian day for Hawaiians and equally appropriately some Hawaiian customs mark its commemoration. Naturally interest centered much about those who were of the royal family, about Queen Liliuokalani and the home of Princess David Kawananakoa, where a reception was the chief feature of the morning program, and many called at the home of the queen.

Pa-u riders paraded the streets in gay attire to the home of the queen and thence to the reception. The Hawaiian band played Hawaiian airs and there were miniature yacht races in the harbor, yachting being a sport the late king is said to have greatly enjoyed. The culmination will come this evening at the ball in the armory to which hundreds of guests have been bidden. To hundreds it is a holiday in all but name. Further, it shows what may be done in later years now that a start has been made.

Pa-u Riders Parade
 With ribbons and gay costumes waving in the breeze and riding spirited horses 14 Kachelelani pa-u riders paraded through the streets of Honolulu this morning as part of the celebration in honor of the Kalakaua dynasty. Headed by Princess Theresa Wilcox the gay troupe left the Princess auto stand on King street at 9:30 o'clock and rode to Aala park. From there they returned on King street to Fort, over Hotel and down Bishop to King again and then up Richard to Beretania, where they stopped at Washington Place, the home of Queen Liliuokalani, and paid their respects to the last native ruler of the Hawaiian islands.

The riders then followed Beretania street to Pensacola, on which street the home of Princess Kawananakoa is situated. There a reception was held by the princess for Hawaiians only. They then disbanded until this evening, when they will attend the reception and ball at the armory.

The costumes of the pa-u riders this morning were very gay. The first nine wore black and gold, then came a rider dressed in purple and following her four more with green robes. All wore leis and the horses, too, were decorated with ribbons and leis.

Hawaiian Band Plays
 Because of the illness of Queen Liliuokalani, who could not take part today in the festivities, the Hawaiian band, which ordinarily would have played in front of her residence, played instead at the home of Prince and Princess Kaiulani from 7 to 8 o'clock. From 9 until noon they played at the reception of Princess Kawananakoa.

Sun Brightens Scene
 For three hours, from 9 to 12 this morning, the sun's beams sought out the broad expanses of Princess Kawananakoa's home, playing prettily through the algaroba, coconut and poinciana trees upon the all-white

HARRY ROTHBERG DECLARES HE IS NOT CHRISTIAN

Dr. Li Trial Progresses Slowly and End of Case Seems Far Away

For more than an hour this morning Attorney J. W. Cathcart, one of counsel for Dr. K. F. Li, argued in federal court against the admission as evidence the opinion of physicians as to whether the alleged prescription for a so-called cure for the opium habit, claimed by the prosecution to have been administered by Li, if administered according to directions, be recognized as a proper treatment. This is the so-called "elixir" that Mazie Crystal, alias Annie Halfer of Iwilei testified she was given by Li to break her of the opium habit. Mazie testified she took the "elixir," but that it "hurt her." "It was no good and Dr. Li knew it was no good," she declared on the stand. Judge H. W. Vaughan gave a rather lengthy verbal decision following the argument and overruled Attorney Cathcart's objection.

Harry Rothberg was recalled to the stand today and produced a promissory note which, he testified, he had paid on the same day he asserted he loaned Mazie Crystal $25 in Li's office "to pay for some drug." Several questions were asked Rothberg regarding an alleged demand by Mazie of $20,000 from Li after she had taken an overdose of drug which confined her to a local hospital for some little time. Rothberg, in response to a question, said that the alleged suit was never brought.

"Is your real name Harry Rothberg?" Cathcart inquired. Rothberg said it was. He added that he was born in Russia. "And in Russia was your Christian name Harry?" inquired the attorney. "I'm not a Christian," Rothberg responded.

Other witnesses called today were Dr. W. C. Hobdy and the post adjutant at Fort Shafter. Further trial of the Li case will be had at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Queen Sends Her Greetings to San Diego Exposition For Kalakaua Day

Thousands Pay Respects to King of Fruits; Honolulu Takes the Lead

Queen Liliuokalani of Hawaii sends greetings to the people of California through the medium of the Panama-California Exposition, and expresses her thanks for the public recognition of the Hawaiian islands on the birthday of her brother, the late King Kalakaua, during whose reign the great impetus to the islands' industries was given. My earnest wish is not only for the maintenance of the closest relations between the people of those islands with those of California, but with all who dwell under the protection of the American flag.

This message, published today for the first time, was sent by Queen Liliuokalani to the San Diego exposition for Hawaii Day, to be read at the Pacific building at the Hawaii and Kalakaua Day celebrations, held there this afternoon. The queen had this letter forwarded to President Davidson of the California-Panama Exposition two weeks ago.

ALL ARTILLERY OF GUARD WILL DRILL AT RUSSY

Capt. Lawrence C. Crawford, instructor-inspector of Hawaii's two guard artillery companies, announced today that the Kaimuki company which has formerly been drilling at Fort Ruger will drill henceforth at Fort De Russy, beginning next Tuesday night.

It has been announced by the war department regarding the Hawaii Guard, that in case of war the coast artillerymen would be assigned to intermediate type of batteries on the rim of the crater. Fort De Russy furnishes convenient means for drill with intermediate caliber guns, and so the decision has been made to put all the artillerymen in training at this post. Heretofore the 1st Company alone has drilled at De Russy. In case of actual or threatened hostilities, the guardsmen would not be used as a relief force for the regular soldiers but would be given a separate set of batteries to man, for which they would be entirely responsible. Capt. Crawford will outline new work for the 1st Company tonight to be taken up in the coming weeks.

KING PINEAPPLE REIGNS FOR DAY ON EVERY TABLE

Thousands Pay Respects to King of Fruits; Honolulu Takes the Lead

King Pineapple reigns throughout America today, and from Eastport, Maine, to Kauai thousands of citizens are celebrating the event which places the King of Fruits in the limelight. All of the local hotels featured pineapple day, and a special menu was prepared by the Territorial Hotel Company. The Sweet Shop also arranged a number of tasty dishes including the King of Fruits.

On this day senators, governors and leading businessmen of the nation are sitting down to a dish of delicious pineapple. Last year replies were received from hundreds who were delighted with the opportunity of serving pineapples on their tables, and again this year the leading hotels, railroad and transportation companies are falling in line. Pineapple Day has been fixed as one day in the year in which the general public thinks and eats Hawaii.

Albert P. Taylor, secretary of the Hawaii Promotion Committee, has devoted much of his time to the promotion of the work, and the large number of replies received on Pineapple Day more than assures the success once more in honor of the King of fruits.

Artillery Bombardment Heralds Plans for New Infantry Attacks

(Associated Press by Federal Wireless)
 LONDON, Eng., Nov. 16.—With the fiercest fighting of the month on the south Etilkan front today, the Balkans are the focus of interest now. Despatches from various sources yesterday and today show that the Allies have defeated the Bulgarian army which has stretched through Macedonia in a long line almost from Albania eastward to the Eugurian border along the Struma bend. This army, which has occupied Serbia for many months, following the conquering of that country by the Central Powers, is now being rolled back in defeat.

The Serbians, who have been cooperating with the French and British soldiers from Saloniki, have captured the important towns of Tatavski and Gniles, southeast of Monastir, toward which city they are pressing. Other war despatches tell of the bombardment of Eucharast, capital of Rumania, by German aviators. They dropped a number of bombs on the city, killing four civilians and wounding 20 others. From the sea-zone of war today comes news that the Greek steamer Eorbara and the Norwegian steamer Lekken have been sunk, but whether by submarine or mine is not given out.

BULGARIANS HARD BESET

PARIS, France, Nov. 16.—The French, with their forces augmented by Russian regiments which recently landed at Saloniki, have cut their way forward against the Bulgarians until they are now within four miles of Monastir. The Bulgarian army on this sector, defeated and thrust from its positions, is retreating, pursued by the Allies.

On another sector, west of the Czerna river, where British and French are cooperating, the Bulgarians have abandoned their principal positions, and toward Yaraschok the French and Serbians are making good progress. On still another part of this front, in Macedonia, near the Struma river, the British have assumed the offensive and have defeated the Bulgarians, capturing the village of Karakaska.

BERLIN ADMITS REVERSES

BERLIN, Germany, Nov. 16.—On the Macedonian front, the Germans and Bulgarians have retired to new prepared positions in the Czerna district. On the Russian front a fruitless attack was made by the Slavs east of Putna Valley. Another fruitless attack was started on the north end of the long line, southeast of Riga. On the west front, the British made an attack at Grandcourt today but it broke down under the German fire.

The French lost a section of the Saillisset trenches and the northern edge of St. Pierre Vaast wood.

MACKENSEN IN RETREAT

PETROGRAD, Germany, Nov. 16.—Gen. von Mackensen's army, which invaded Rumania through the Dobrudja district a few weeks ago, is today retreating through the ravaged Dobrudja district, beaten and burning villages as it retreats. On the Russian front, in the region of Kampolung, there is fierce fighting in progress. Along the entire front where Russian is opposing Germany and Austria a heavy artillery bombardment is under way.

RUMANIANS RETIRING

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Nov. 16.—The Rumanians in southern Transylvania have retired toward Areful and Radicnessi in the Alt valley and the direction of Capcacia in the Jiul valley.
