

FIELD OFFICERS IN COMMAND OF ARMY AVIATORS

Will Train For Six Weeks in Flying Schools For Duties

What is considered by army officers in the Hawaiian department as probably an important decision of the war department is an announcement in coast papers to the effect that field officers are to be given a training course of six weeks to direct Uncle Sam's flying forces.

The further announcement, and one especially interesting to the Aero Club of Hawaii, is that one of the first of these officers to finish his course will in all probability be assigned to the Hawaiian department as aviator officer on the local staff.

This must mean, it is pointed out, that the federal government is already beginning to back the plans for aviation in Hawaii on an extensive scale. It is stated that this is the first step in the development of aerial defenses in island departments.

At headquarters today it was stated that no word has been received as yet from Washington regarding the intention to place field officers in command of aerial forces.

General orders have been received recently regarding the aviation corps, and these will be published by headquarters as soon as they have been arranged to fit the department here.

It is understood that six or eight field officers will take the course of instruction in flying, the first two being Col. W. L. Kenly and Lieut. Col. Brook Payne, both field artillery officers. It is not improbable that one of these men will be assigned to Hawaii.

KINNEY SAYS HILO RAIN WAS JUST IN TIME

Before It Came Planters Had Shipped Water By Rail From Crescent City

"The recent rains in Hilo came just in time," says Henry W. Kinney, superintendent of public instruction, who returned to Honolulu today from a business trip to the Big Island. "It was fine for the planters. In some instances, when there was little likelihood for rain, water for the plantations was shipped by rail from Hilo to the dry districts."

Kinney says that everybody in the Kona district is picking coffee and that some of the schools have temporarily closed to allow the children to work in the fields. Some families having several children are making as much as $10 a day, he adds, which is proving a godsend to the poor people in the district. The planters are satisfied with the crop, which, Kinney says, is a big one.

While on the Big Island Kinney visited all the schools and interviewed supervisors, legislators and teachers to obtain data for the budget of next year. He says the supervisors have done excellent work on school buildings and are paying much attention to school work.

WILSON POLICY BEST FOR U. S., SAYS JAPANESE

Believes That Administration Has Taken Right View of Mexican Situation

Capt. Iran, military attaché of the Japanese embassy at Washington, whose term of three years has expired, was a passenger on board the Tenyo Maru Friday afternoon. He has been recalled by his government to take command of the 29th Regiment at Sendai.

When asked regarding President Wilson's policy as to Mexico, he said: "The true American attitude is not to subdue Mexico at the point of the bayonet, but one of reconstruction. The administration has had many opponents, but it appears that the opponents have but little knowledge of the situation."

"The argument for increase of armament in the United States is one that is often discussed. The United States is increasing the armament on account of national defense, not because the European war has had an effect on the situation."

"The war will end some time. That is all I can say. Economists calculate on the time and set dates, but the United States is the only country that can ascertain the strength of all the forces. Japan cannot, and England and France surely do not know," he concluded.

The great trouble with first love seems to be that it's seldom the last. Difference between courage and foolhardiness is determined by results. A charter was granted to the Usoline Products Corporation with a capital of $500,000.

GREAT NORTHERN DEPARTS ON HER HOMEWARD TRIP

Roy Carruthers, the San Francisco hotel man, was one of the most enthusiastic passengers on board and forgot the disappointment of leaving the islands so soon by stoutly declaring he would be back "in a few months" and by throwing more spiral, sailing paper strings and leis back to the pier than anyone else.

Mayor John Lane was one of the largest distributors of leis and before he answered the last call of "all ashore" he had been assured by the returning Los Angeles visitors that the kea key which he presented them would be one of the most prized trophies in the display rooms of the Chamber of Commerce at home.

Praise From Los Angeles Before the last rope had been cast off more sincere tributes for Honolulu and promises of mainland support for the Pacific Isles were heard from members of the Los Angeles delegation than could be remembered.

Mitchell said he had never done so much in five days in all his life and said he would start right in sending his friends as soon as he was home; E. W. Murphy said he and many of his associates had never realized what Honolulu had to offer and said he was coming back as soon as business would permit. "I'm very sorry to leave," he said sincerely.

T. B. Thiele of the Territorial Hotel Company made a very apt reply to this remark by saying, "We are also sorry to see you leave but if you must go we are glad to see you sorry."

Weather Man Glad Apparently Old Sol was proud of the Great Northern and her passengers and goodby guests for as pretty a day as the one Tuesday when she steamed in was given for the occasion and an occasional gusty mist did little damage to the festive, gay-garbed crowd which stayed until the ship had backed out, turned and headed to sea with the last diving boy springing out for his foot-first plunge.

There were a lot of people on that old boat who did not relish the idea of sailing away so soon; there were a lot more on the pier who would like to have them here longer or would like to have gone over the waves with them today, but comfort came to them all when they realized that, with the will of God and the elements favorable, she would be back again December 4 with a bigger, but certainly no jollier, more appreciative delegation of tourists and guests.

SENT TO ASYLUM. Frederick W. Gardsm, formerly of Honolulu, was committed to the Napa State Hospital for the insane on November 4, according to the San Francisco Chronicle of November 5. Gardsm's young wife left him two days after marriage, it was said.

Y. W. C. A. 'STOCK COMPANY' WILL AID HELPFUL WORK IN JAPAN FIELD

A new "stock company" guaranteed to pay big dividends within one year was formed last evening at the Y. W. C. A. where, preceding the business session at which the advantages of the new enterprise was exploited, the members of a special committee outlined the work.

"Capital stock" amounting to $300 will be invested in Tokio, Japan, where an association under the direction of Miss Mary Page is doing telling work. Miss Page is self-supporting, but needs this amount to conduct the various activities.

Four teams were organized to assist in the campaign for raising the stock. Miss Ruth Yeomans is general chairman, with Miss Ruth Benedict captain of the Business Girls' Club, Miss Kathryn Adams, captain of the Professional Club, Mrs. George Waterhouse, captain of the Gymnasium Club, and Miss Margaret Branco captain of the special Club team. Mrs. W. R. Haley is chairman of a general committee.

At the meeting last evening Miss Helen Salisbury outlined the work and Miss Alice Hopper told of the needs for work of this kind in Japan. She said that young girls in Japan work from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10 o'clock at night for 20 cents a month and room and board. This fund will be used to remedy the condition.

Miss Leila Jamison read a letter from Miss Page telling of the proposed work. Talks were given by Miss Ruth Benedict, Miss Ruth Yeomans, Miss Annetta Dieckmann, Mrs. W. F. Frear and Mrs. R. D. Williams. After the business meeting the girls sang "Aloha—Tokio."

An association will erect a miniature Fujiyama in the lobby, and as each share is sold the crystal blocks will be erected until Mount Fuji has reached the necessary height. Tomorrow afternoon a mass meeting for women will be held at the association beginning at 4:30. At this time Miss Salisbury will talk on "How Big is the World?" Mrs. Ingles will give a violin number with Miss Knowles at the piano. Tea will be served after the meeting. No subscriptions will be received from those other than association members.

PRETTY SCHOFIELD PARTY CELEBRATES A WEDDING ANNIVERSARY OCCASION

One of the pleasing social events of last week at Schofield Barracks was a "500" party to celebrate the wedding anniversary of Lieut. and Mrs. W. A. Boyd, 25th Infantry. Those present were Col. and Mrs. Banister, Capt. and Mrs. Blodgett, Capt. and Mrs. Bell, Lieut. and Mrs. Tooley and Lieut. and Mrs. Rossiter.

Flowers used for decorations were African and white daisies, red carnations and white chrysanthemums, and prizes were won by Mrs. Bell and Lieut. Rossiter.

Refreshments were served and during the evening Mrs. Blodgett sang several beautiful solos.
