

SCOUT WORK IN HAWAII TOLD LEADERS OF SAN FRANCISCO

President John Guild of Local Council One of Speakers at Big Dinner

Hawaii's strides in Boy Scout work have received signal recognition on the mainland in many ways. The most recent instance is the attention paid to John Guild, president of the Scout Council for Hawaii, at a big dinner given recently at the Palace Hotel in San Francisco. Of this dinner a San Francisco paper said:

"A local council for the Boy Scout movement of San Francisco came into being last night at a dinner in the Palace Hotel, attended by prominent capitalists and businessmen of the city. Jesse W. Lillenthal presided and 100 diners, conspicuous in the progressive movements of the city, were present.

"The advantages, both educational, moral and physical, of the Boy Scout organization were outlined by John Guild, president of the Scout Council of Hawaii; Jesse W. Lillenthal, Edward B. De Groot, W. S. Wolner, Dr. Hay Lyman Wilbur, president of Stanford University; H. D. Cross, national field scout commissioner, and Dr. George H. Richardson.

"Telegrams and letters of regret and encouragement were read from Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo, Rev. Joseph P. McQuaide, Judge Frank Murasky, Frederick J. Koster, O. K. Cushing and others.

"In a letter to Scout Commissioner Harry S. Hayward of Hawaii, President Guild says:

"The movement here is being taken up in earnest again. They found out in some way that I was in San Francisco and that I knew something of the work in Hawaii, and they asked me if I could tell them something of what had been done and how we had done it. I was very glad to be present and by telling them all that we had accomplished help to put some enthusiasm in the men here who are behind this. With Mr. Wilder almost a national figure in scouting in the East and with your humble president here in San Francisco, both telling people on the mainland of our work in the islands, the fact that scouting in Hawaii has been a great success is certainly being recognized."

Just Talks With Scouts

Conducted by Mabel Putnam Chilson

"No scheme dealing with the training of the youth of the nation—naval, military or merely physical—can leave out the advantage of the finest system of boy training that has yet been devised." So said the lord mayor of London in a recent letter to the Times.

It makes us glad we are scouts when we read things like that and it makes us glad when our commissioner receives letters like the following:

"Mr. Harry S. Hayward, Scout Commissioner of Honolulu, Honolulu, T. H.

"Dear Mr. Hayward: It gives me great pleasure to convey to you, the scoutmasters and scouts of Honolulu, the sincere thanks of the Anti-Tuberculosis League of Hawaii for the valuable assistance rendered us on Saturday, November 11, in the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals.

"I wish personally to add a word of thanks to you and all the scoutmasters and their scouts for their assistance on that day. The boys did good work, which is very deeply appreciated by me.

"Sincerely yours,
"JAMES A. RATH."

Then again we are happy when a report comes in like this one from Fook Ching, the scribe for Troop II. (We are wickered enough to believe that he has helped a little bit, for the letter contains a number of big words, and the editor is afraid of big words.) Here it is:

"At the meeting held last Wednesday there were present three officials, 18 scouts, one Indian and three visitors. After the usual routine business had been transacted we adjourned to the Kaulani school grounds, which we had permission to use, and where we had a very exciting game of 'Relievo.' This is a great game and if any of the other troops want to learn it we will be glad to play a game with them some evening if they will give us warning beforehand.

"After our exertions we adjourned to the gym, had a swim in the pool and then Ah Chee applied a match (only one match, of course,) to the campfire which he had so skillfully built and we formed a circle around it. Pretty soon Quan Chew and his assistant cooks, Hong Ying, Willie Bonovitz and Tom Cheong, appeared with the feast which they had been cooking. This consisted of a most delicious stew, a huge bowl of poi and some very fine coffee. After this was disposed of we gave three cheers for the cooks and the campfire builder, who all richly deserved our thanks. Then Tom Cheong was admitted as a first-class scout and took the oath and obligation. After a few songs we went home feeling that we had had a good Thanksgiving feed.

"There are several candidates who are expected to turn up at the meeting to take their tests as tenderfeet.

"Ah Fong and Hung Quon, who are now at Mills school and cannot attend the troop meetings, have been made veteran scouts with all the privileges of Troop II on condition that they attend any meetings they can and that they live as good scouts wherever they are. This they are sure to do as both are very faithful scouts.

"FOOK CHING, Scribe."

We received word from Troop I concerning its outdoor meeting of Nov. 2, when seven scouts and two officials were present. It seems that Mr. Potter has offered a bronze medal for the best signaling work, so with the winning of this in mind the scouts spent most of their time at that meeting in practicing. Very few mistakes were made in signaling, according to the scribe. He reports that several books were brought by the boys and added to the library, making the number now about 40.

The next regular outdoor meeting was held on Saturday, Dec. 2, at 2:30 in the afternoon. There were present eleven scouts and one official. Mr. Herman von Holt has accepted the position of assistant scoutmaster of the troop. The scouts are glad to have some one so competent to help Mr. Potter lead the troop. Mr. von Holt has recently returned from Yale, where he was attending college.

The signaling contest was not successful, as very few managed to get 50 per cent, according to Scribe Richard Simonton.

It's very funny how little birds tell things to editors sometimes, but we have heard that Simonton may any day be found singing a pretty little song called "After the Ball."

Master Horner, the assistant scribe of Troop IV, sends in a letter telling us that 24 scouts and one official were present at the Nov. 21st meeting, with the terrific number of 19 absent. (We have our suspicions that more fellows were slugging that little ditty about the ball.)

Tests were passed at this meeting by Van Way, Nichols, Small and Humphreys, who handed in their maps for first class. Cooper passed in size, number, height, distance and weight for first class; Van Way for telling (first class), and Holt in making fire with only two matches (second class). Ault and Drinkwater passed tracking for second class.

Troop XI held its meeting on Nov. 24, every scout being present. They have four new members, namely, Wm. McDermott, Nigel Jackson, Tony Bates and Ben Lurchi. The scouts invented some new rules, one being against playing in the scout house, another being for wearing half uniform while at meeting. Two black marks are to be given for disobeying the latter, while 50 black marks will be given for disobeying the former rule.

Elbert Ching, who writes a good, plain hand, received six votes for assistant scribe.

TROOP VIII TO HOLD CAMP.

At its meeting held on December 1, the members of Troop VIII decided to hold camp in December 8. Most of the boys are going, but those who stay away are supposed to be afraid of spooks, as these creatures always appear after camp-fire stories, even if led by professors. It is to be hoped that Diamond Head doesn't toss up any hot mud, to go rolling down into the tents of this troop, which will be in camp down on the beach.

The editor asks and expects a few good stories from the boys when they return. G. S. Leithead is a man of few words, so the other fellows must help out, when it comes to story-telling.

The scribe reports very few tests having been passed lately.

TROOPS XX AND IX EXCHANGE COURTESIES.

Troop XX of the Normal school appears to be very busy these days. As there was no Star-Bulletin published on Thanksgiving Day, we did not have a chance to hear about their very successful dance, for which the assembly hall had been attractively decorated. Music by the Punchbowl orchestra was furnished for dancing, and the couples on the floor looked quite as attractive as many on the roof garden.

Bugling by Alatau Wilder was enjoyed, and the attention to ladies given by the fruit-punch man and his assistants was pleasing. The troop made a good showing while being received. At their last meeting 26 scouts and 2 officials were present, with 2 scouts absent. The subject of sports was discussed, after which a 10-minute drill was held. The boys voted to extend their good wishes to Troop IX, who are soon giving a dance.

On Thanksgiving morning 15 of the boys, headed by Mr. S. M. Soares and Assistant Scoutmaster P. Zane, visited the Children's hospital, distributing sweet peas to the sick children. The matron thanked the boys for their kindness, and they were more than repaid for doing this good turn. It is to be hoped that Master Cooper will always have as pleasant a good turn to write about.

TROOP V GOES AROUND ISLAND

Two boys were detailed by the scoutmaster to report at the Healan's show to compete against the island record for fire-making without matches. This will be held on the 7th and 8th of December.

A number of extra musicians were selected for the music club. After the meeting was over the boys were drilled and later boxing, football and baseball were demonstrated.

On Sunday, Dec. 3, the troop made a trip around the island on a jitney bus. They started from the Lewis Stables at 7:30 a. m. and went over the Pa'u without mishap as far as Kahului, when the bus got stuck in the mud. The troop reached the Haleiwa Hotel at 1:15, where they spent the rest of the afternoon enjoying themselves. Football, baseball and boxing games were played. Swimming races were among the most interesting events of the afternoon. A number of scouts visited the different places about Wai'anae. Pictures were taken of the trip by Leo de Roo.

At 3:45 p. m. the boys returned by way of Schofield Barracks and reached Honolulu at 8:15. On the trip, both going and coming, songs were sung and music was played. All the boys enjoyed the trip immensely.

The following are the boys who went on the trip: Scoutmaster Bar-

CLEAN SPORT FOR TROOP V

At its meeting on Nov. 24, Troop V took up the subject of transfers, giving the same to four of their members, who went over to Troop XX of the Normal School. Clarence Silva (one of the best scouts in Troop V), Eddie and Henry Silva and Ernest Kaputani all paid their dues and handed over their quartermaster properties.

Joseph Ikeola, William Holt, Samuel Kahanamoku, Steven Matthews and David Naeole were chosen as musicians for the troop. The scoutmaster bought a football, an indoor baseball, a pair of boxing gloves and a punching bag for the troop. A boxing class was formed by Asst. Scoutmaster Daly; a football team and an indoor baseball team have already been formed, and the boys are now practicing.

At the meeting held on Dec. 1, 32 scouts, 3 officials and 3 visitors were present, according to Scribe Mortensen.

MORE MEN THAN WOMEN HAVE APPENDICITIS

Surgeons state men are slightly more subject to appendicitis than women. Honolulu people should know that a few doses of simple buckthorn bark, glycerine, etc., as mixed in Adler-ka, often relieve or prevent appendicitis. This mixture removes such surprising foul matter that ONE SPOONFUL relieves almost ANY CASE constipation, sour stomach or gas. The INSTANT, easy action of Adler-ka is surprising.
