'GETTING RICH' RICH IN MUSIC

"A Deal in Stocks," or "Getting Rich," both are the same at the present time provided the proper war stock is the one handled, will be the next bill by the Ingersoll Musical Comedy Company at the Bijou theater. It is heralded as another of those banner bills that have done so much to popularize the Bijou and the Ingersoll players during the last several weeks. The title gives a good line on the theme of the play, which is merely an excuse for a lively bundle of musical numbers, eccentric dances and snappy dialogue.

Each of the leading artists is billed for at least one song or dance number, several for more than one. A majority of the songs are recent mainland successes and new to Honolulu audiences. In the ensemble there are promised several catchy numbers, the kind that the audience whistles and hums as it leaves the theater. New costumes have been made for the chorus especially for this vehicle.

Tim Moore, the negro entertainer, will be there with a new line of patter and is promised to please in both monologue and song. Moore has proved a valuable addition to the already classy personnel of the Ingersoll Company.

FOX SENDS STARS OF FIRST WATER

William Fox, in combination with the Hawaii theater, is presenting in Honolulu some of the greatest stars of the American stage. Among the leaders in this class are Robert Mantell and his beautiful and equally talented wife, Genevieve Hamper, who are now appearing at that theater in "A Wife's Sacrifice." Artists and offering combine to make one of those Fox films in which the interest is sustained from start to finish.

The sacrifice of the woman costs her her all, but it is made to protect the good name of her mother who, in her youth, had committed the error that is always fatal to a woman. The husband, refusing to be the recipient of any explanations, shoots and kills a man in whose arms he discovers his wife. He then secures a divorce and marries an adventuress who has manipulated matters so that the discovery is made. Years later he learns that the man he killed was his wife's half-brother. Incidentally the adventuress and her fellow-conspirator eventually pay for their sins.

"The Strange Case of Mary Page," featuring Edna Mayo and Henry B. Walthall, continues the week-end feature serial at the Hawaii.

FAVORITE ARTISTS BACK AT LIBERTY

"The Selfish Woman," the new Paramount feature which comes to the Liberty theater this evening, presents two of the favorite Lasky stars. They are Cleo Ridgely and Wallace Reid, both finished artists and both well known to local theater-goers. The photo-drama deals with the efforts of a woman to wreck her husband's work and career on account of her selfish love for wealth. In her efforts she has the support of her husband's father as the plans of the boy are at variance with those of the father.

A majority of the scenes are laid in the West, where the young man is engaged in engineering work. How the wife connives to lay at naught the child of her husband's brain and how, finally realizing that her husband is, to her, the greatest man in the world she comes to his support and rescue when the days are darkest and the dramatic elements that contribute towards a story of more than passing interest.

The clever Miss Jackie Saunders in "The Grip of Evil" is one of the popular stars of the serial world with Liberty patrons. This is her initial local appearance.

KAWAIAHAO PLAY PRETTY FEATURE

Girls of Kawaiahao Seminary, Manoa, celebrated the beginning of their vacation last night with the staging of a pretty Christmas operetta. About 40 girls were included in the parts and choruses.

The little play represented a trip around the world in the "Wilhelmina Christmas Ship," which merry craft landed at various countries and greeted in turn Siberians, Japanese, Jewish folk, Spanish, Germans, Scotch, Irish, English and Americans, to say nothing of happy bands of elves and sprites from fairyland.

Several folk dances were cleverly done by groups of girls. A solo by Jennie Hanay and a highland fling, danced by Carol McGuire, were features of the evening. Elfrida Pilger did credit to the leading role as ship's captain.

Much credit is due to all of the Kawaiahao teachers who helped to make the entertainment a success, and especially to Miss Ruth Tabbs, who had charge of the music and who presided at the piano during the evening.

An Old English Handbill

advertised a public warning about coffee in its early days as a beverage in England. It said:

"You are not to drink it after supper unless you intend to be watchful, for it will hinder sleep for three or four hours."

That was 250 years ago. Today it is a well-known fact that sleeplessness, brought on by coffee drinking, is due to the presence of the drug, caffeine, in coffee. It is also known that coffee drinking is a common cause of various other ills.

POSTUM

was devised especially for people who should not use coffee, but who like a hot beverage with meals. It resembles mild Java coffee in its snappy taste, but contains no coffee, caffeine, nor any harmful element.

Postum is good for old and young, and can be drunk freely at any time of the day with pleasure and comfort.

EDISON ON WORK SPREE; TOO BUSY TO TAKE GIFTS

NEW YORK—Off on another of his non-stop, non-sleep labor orgies, Thomas A. Edison is too busy to accept a gift that his associates went to a $7000 expense and no end of trouble to get for him.

that a "big party and a big present" awaited him at the Ritz-Carlton was, "Too busy, working on something new. Create the present and send it to me. Much obliged."
The present was an exact replica of an antique hand-carved cabinet Edison saw at the Chiny in Paris and of which he said, "If money could buy it, I'd have it." His associates sent a wood-carver abroad who made a duplicate from the original, with an electrical lighting system and a phonograph mechanism installed within it.
About once a year Edison goes on one of these work sprees and nothing can stop him. He eats very little and sleeps not at all.
Arthur Ponsby, member of the British Parliament, resigned his seat because of the unpopularity of his peace advocacy.
