FORCEFUL, SALARIES VETOED

Fern Takes This Method of Expressing Resentment at Messenger Appointment

Attaches of the city attorney's office today were busily engaged in checking up reserve funds or, lacking them, were engaged in attempting to unearth the wherewithal to tide them over a couple of weeks. Reason, they get no pay Monday—and all because Mayor Fern had the temerity to strike from the appropriation bill the significant item, "salaries, city attorney's office."

All this came about at the board meeting last night. And until the board overrides the mayor's veto, which promises not to be until two weeks have passed, the deputies, messenger, clerks and stenographer seem doomed to an empty purse until the next golden day arrives.

Fern's action was a shock to even the Democratic minority and it was apparent that the breach between the city's executive and Republican majority of the board grew wider as a result of the mayor's opposition. The mayor objected to the appointment of a messenger for the city attorney on the ground it was an extravagant appointment, especially in view of the fact that he was to be paid $100 a month. Wherefore his veto.

The Republicans are wrathful because the charter provides for such an appointee. "The mayor has a right to veto any item," said Chairman Arnold, "but I believe he has exceeded his prerogative in this instance. The mayor is attempting to dictate to a city department and say whom it shall hire when the position is fixed by law."

No further action on the veto can be taken for five days, but inasmuch as E. A. Mott-Smith is leaving today for Hawaii on a two weeks' vacation, no action looking toward overriding the veto can be taken until his return, as without him the majority lacks one vote of enough to carry their point.

RESIDENTS OF PUUNUI ASK STREET IMPROVEMENT

A second appeal from the people of Puunui district to the board of supervisors asking that it establish an improvement district was received Friday evening from 13 residents of Liliha street, who, it was said, constituted 60 per cent of the property owners. George McKinley filed the petition.

The former request was from the property owners of Wylie street and during his talk McKinley said that property owners on other nearby streets were circulating petitions to be presented later.

In reply Charles Arnold said that when 60 per cent of the property owners petition for an improvement district it is mandatory for the board to establish it, but as other petitions were coming in he moved that the petition be referred to the road committee and no action taken until they were all in. It passed.

THURSTON'S VIEW OF AUTO CHARGE

Fire Chief Says Blaisdell Car Gets City Gas Only When Used By Department

"Spite work" is the way Fire Chief Thurston sums up his opinion of an affidavit filed yesterday with the supervisors by A. E. Kennedy, in which it is charged that city and county gasoline and oil are being used for a privately-owned automobile. For over a year Kennedy was employed as relief engineer or master mechanic by the fire department and recently resigned. That he has it in for the department is the belief of the fire chief.

That the machine, 2287, of which complaint is made, is not owned by the department, but by Mrs. C. A. Blaisdell is admitted by both the fire chief and his assistant, W. H. Blaisdell, a son of the owner of the car. Both declare that whenever the automobile is filled with county gasoline and oil it is when it is being used for fire department work, which they say is frequent.

"Kennedy, himself, used the car often for several months in going out to the sub-stations on fire department work," state Chief Thurston.

The automobile was purchased by Mrs. Blaisdell on the recommendation of her physician who advised her to use it for the purpose of getting fresh air. She is a cripple, and she had one of her legs amputated last year and was a poor health when it was recommended that she buy the car. At that time Assistant Fire Chief Blaisdell asked permission of his chief to keep the car in the central station garage when it was not in use. He was given this permission with the understanding that it was to be removed whenever it interfered with department business.

It was during January, February and March, while the chief's car was being overhauled, that the Blaisdell car was used almost daily for department work. But both the chief and assistant fire chief declare that whenever it is used by Mrs. Blaisdell and her daughter their own gasoline and oil are used.

Another use to which the car is put is in taking the assistant chief to and from his meals. "This is perfectly proper," the chief says, "as he is always on duty and it is essential that he reach fires immediately."

The Kennedy affidavit was referred to the police and fire department committee of the supervisors.

CITY SUPPLIES BIDS REJECTED, PRICE TOO HIGH

Bids to supply the city and county for the next six months with lumber, galvanized iron, paints, nails, garden hose, were rejected, those for fuel oil, automobile casings and tires were referred back to the finance committee and all other items were accepted by the board of supervisors Friday evening.

The reason for the rejections, as pointed out by McChellan, was that many of the merchants bid higher than the present prices to protect themselves against the next six months as it is generally believed that the prices on these articles are going up in the near future.

Mott-Smith said that what the county wanted was a steady flow of material to the various departments at a minimum of cost.

The fuel oil bid was referred back to the committee in order that the matter might be further taken up with the Union Oil Company, the only company which put in a bid on oil. The members of the board thought as the offer of the company was to supply oil at the price prevailing the day of delivery any contract should not prevent the purchasing agent going out into the market and obtaining a reserve supply from any source.

For the material bids for which were rejected it is the intention of the board to buy in the open market, calling for special bids as the articles wanted are needed.

CITY BUSINESS AND SUPERVISORS' NOTES

The board of supervisors will hold its next meeting Tuesday evening, July 17.

The salary of the animal keeper at Kapiolani park was increased from $75 to $90.

Award for lumber to erect 12 school houses made to Lewers & Cooke was approved by the board.

The bid for school desks was awarded to the Hawaiian News Company by the board Friday night.

The board appropriated $14,709.15 for the Lord-Young Engineering Company in part payment for the paving of Smith street.

Ben Hollinger, chairman of the public buildings committee, reported that the electric light department would not have to look for another building for its repair shop as arrangements had been made to remain in the territorial warehouse after its removal to Allen street.

GIVE TO ORPHANS.
