

QUEEN'S DEATH WIDELY MOURNED AROUND ISLANDS

News From Maui Tells of Services at Which Respect is Paid to the Dead

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence.)
HANA, Maui, Nov. 23.—In all the islands there is no place more intensely loyal to the noble traditions of the Hawaiian race than is Hana. A queen of Kamehameha I was born at Hana. Queen Kaahumanu was born in a cave on Kaula Head. Royalty often visited at the home of her parents.

At the Wananalua church, on Sunday morning a large and representative audience gathered to pay the last honors to the late Queen Liliuokalani. The ancient Hawaiian building was very attractively decorated with flags, royal palms and many beautiful flowers.

Wm. Lennox of the Hana store very kindly loaned his valuable and beautiful collection of royal Hawaiian and other flags. "Old Glory" was there floating over all.

The music and all parts of the service were especially appropriate. The sermon of the morning in English and Hawaiian was upon the text Acts 16:14, Lydia the God Queen. Representative citizens of the Hana district spoke. Wm. P. Hala, Mr. Geo. P. Kaumakaole, Rev. Mr. Mitchell and P. Kamohe called to mind the many virtues of the queen. Mr. Kamohe is the oldest Hawaiian in all this section.

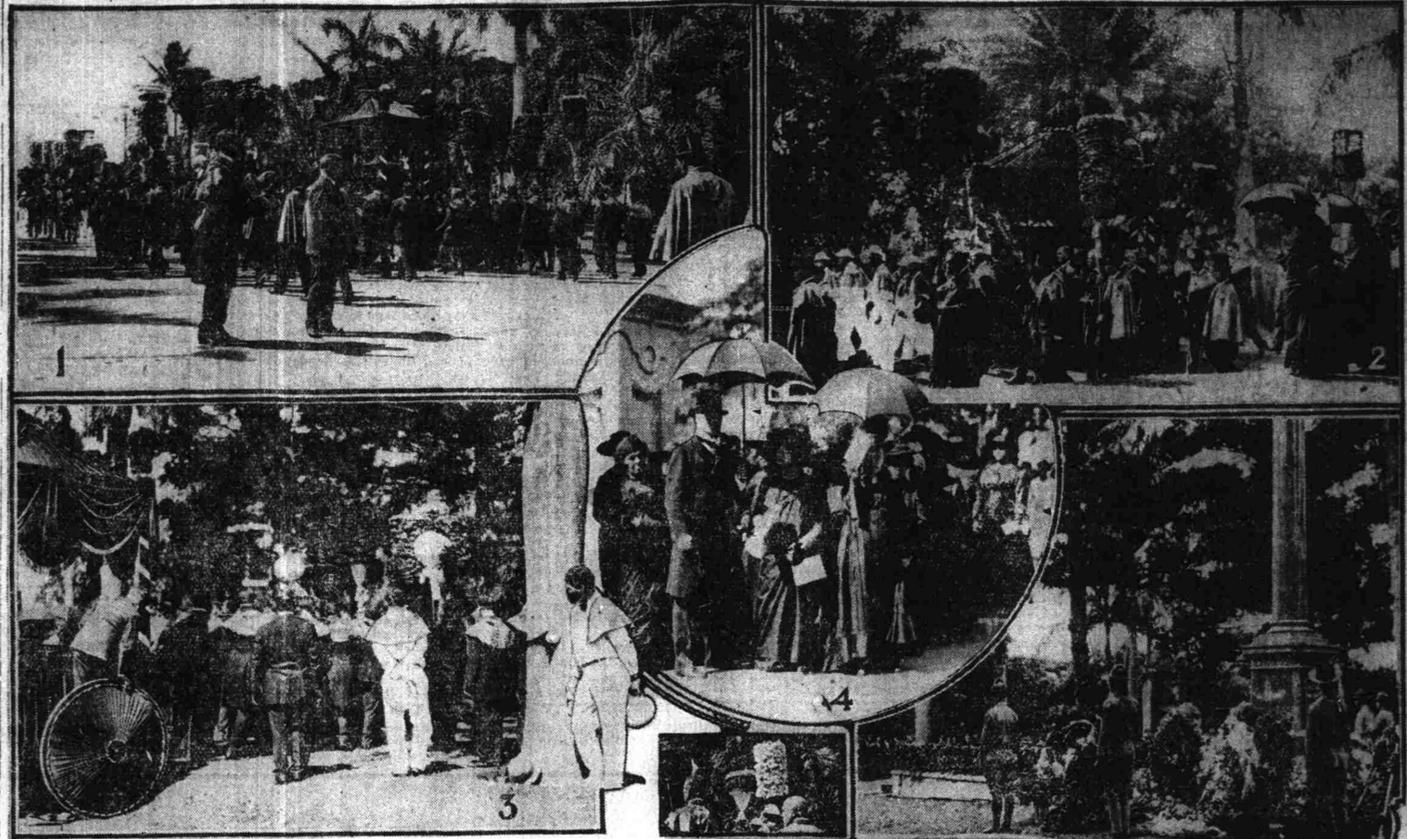

Hana "did itself proud." The occasion was a notable one and the Wananalua church arose to the opportunity. The day and the celebration will not be forgotten in many years.

WAILUKU, Maui, Nov. 23.—Most interesting services were held on Sunday in memory of Queen Liliuokalani. At the Church of the Good Shepherd at the usual hour of service, Rev. J. Charles Villiers preached a most interesting sermon, speaking of the good life of the queen and what she had done for her people and for Hawaii. There was a large and most appreciative audience.

At the Kaahumanu church there was also an unusually large audience, many coming from Wailuku, and the Japanese church in Wailuku, in honor of the queen. Revs. L. B. Kaumehefwa and Rowland B. Dodge spoke upon the queen's life and how much it meant that after the changes that had come in the government here the queen should have done so much to welcome and assist all the people of Hawaii irrespective of nationality.

References to the queen were also made in the Kahului Union church and the Mak was Union church by the pastors, though no special mem-

SOME STRIKING SCENES AT FUNERAL OF QUEEN LILIUOKALANI

Above are pictured some of the incidents in connection with the ceremonies at the funeral of the late Queen Liliuokalani last Sunday. 1.—The catafalque being drawn through the streets by "poolas" or stevedores, to the Royal Mausoleum, surrounded by kahili bearers and followed by the members of the Order of Kamehameha. 2.—Another view of the catafalque as it passed up Nuuanu street. 3.—Removing the coffin from the catafalque at the Royal Mausoleum. 4.—Members of the Kaahumanu Society who marched in the procession. The man is Speaker H. L. Holstein of the house of representatives. 5.—Boy Scouts guarding a portion of the splendid floral tributes sent by friends and relatives of the late queen, and organizations and societies. 6.—The beautiful koa coffin in which reposes the remains of Hawaii's last queen. orial services were held.

On Sunday evening at the Wailuku Union church, Rev. W. B. Coale of Lahaina, preached a strong sermon upon "The Divine Silence." He was listened to by a most appreciative audience.

GIRL BOOTBLACKS IN BOSTON MAKE MONEY

[By Associated Press] BOSTON—Girl bootblacks appeared before the city council last night to oppose Mayor Curley's proposed ordinance to prohibit the employment of girls in shoeshining shops. Miss Harriet A. Duffy, manager of one establishment, said she received a salary of $15 a week and with tips her earnings averaging between $25 and $30 a week. The girls told the council that they earned nearly $30 a week.

An advisory committee of licensed officers in the merchant marine was formed to work in conjunction with the United States shipping board's recruiting service in obtaining officers and crews for the new ships to be added to the country's cargo fleets.

CHICAGO BANKS PAY $1 FOR 97 COPPERS

[By Associated Press] CHICAGO—Tables have been turned and the banks are now going to the newsboys for money. Moreover they are offering a premium for this privilege, as they are giving one dollar for ninety-seven cents, with the proviso that each of the ninety-seven shall be a copper coin. The shortage of pennies is the cause, the mints still failing to meet local demands caused by the imposition of the new war tax.

SUGAR TAX PROCLAIMED

HAVANA, Cuba, Oct. 23.—The special war tax imposed on sugar production by the government of Cuba

SAYS T. B. WILL BE ELIMINATED IN LOCAL HERDS

Figures submitted to the board of agriculture and forestry by Dr. Leonard N. Case, assistant territorial veterinarian, show that during the month of October out of a total of 953 cattle tested for tuberculosis 188 were condemned.

The influence of the compensation act for owners of condemned cattle is reported to be making itself felt in that owners are desiring more frequent tests and are more willing to cooperate with the board in its efforts toward the eradication of tuberculosis. Considerable opposition which has been experienced in some quarters has apparently melted away, as the dairymen are realizing the board is making to help them establish for the territory a safe milk supply. Dr. Case reports that the intrapleural tuberculin test, a method originated in this territory and practiced for a number of years, has again demonstrated its efficiency in accurately detecting the tuberculous animal. This test, working in conjunction with the compensation act, he believes, will in a short time eliminate tuberculosis from the herds in this territory.

becomes effective November 1. A decree putting it into effect on that date was promulgated by President Menocal Saturday.

The tax is divided into two classes, ordinary and extraordinary. The ordinary tax is 10 cents on each sack of centrifugal sugar and must be paid by the producer as soon as the product is sacked. The extraordinary tax, of 10 cents a sack additional, is to be collected only as long as centrifugal sugar is quoted at 3 cents or more a pound in Havana.—Facts About Sugar.
